freedom man that's what it's all about welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of the choice and now here is your host Marc Pascoe welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com today is Sunday May 20th 2012 this show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time today we have a great show lined up for you ladies and gentlemen we're going to be continuing talking about solutions we're going to be continuing the topic of the non support of dominators and we are going to be continuing to talk about moral culpability who is really to be held to account in the event that orders are given and then orders are followed who is really truly the responsible party who is more morally culpable is what we're really going to be discussing today and we're going to get into some behavioral and psychological experiments that were done over the last several decades to understand that there's this religion that is so strong in our world that it has people giving themselves over to it entirely giving their entire being over to it abandoning their conscience abandoning their personal responsibility to act within the confines of conscience and to simply obey orders and this religion is of course the religion of authority it's a fake religion it is a religion that does nothing but hold the species back in its evolutionary development always has and always will and yet the vast majority of human beings continue to completely abide by this religious dogma so that's coming up on what on earth is happening I do have a couple of quick event announcements we have secured a venue for the truth freedom prosperity documentary night here in Philadelphia the is a local meetup in in the Philadelphia area and it's a different documentary film is screened every month and then it's followed up by a discussion on the film so this documentary discussion screening and discussion evening will now be taking place every last Thursday of the month we've moved it from Wednesday to Thursday every last Thursday of the month from 6:30 p.m. to around 9 o'clock p.m. at a scene food market and cafe a scene food market and cafe is it 719 South 4th Street again I talked about the syncro synchronous synchronicity or syncro mysticism of 4th Street here in Philadelphia simply being a seemingly being a focal point for energy in this area but we've now moved to a scene food market 719 South 4th Street the last Thursday of every month this month May 31st we'll be having our first meeting at our new venues and we will be screening transformation the new documentary film by max Egan will pick up with a couple other quick announcements on the other side and then we'll jump into our topic for today we'll be right back folks stay with us the open welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio before the break I was getting into some event announcements for this area so the first one was that we have a new venue for the truth freedom prosperity documentaries it's going to be the last Thursday of every month instead of the last Wednesday and it is now moved to a seen food market 7:19 South fourth Street and it is a new time also 6:30 p.m. sharp start time the first meeting may 31st 2012 at 6:30 p.m. we're showing the movie transformation by Max Egan a great new documentary put out by Maxwell Egan second event announcement I have is that I will be making a radio appearance on two guys one girl out of Montreal Quebec Canada hosted by Franco Huard and this is going to be taking place on Monday May 28th 2012 from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. East Coast time on the radio h2o Network I've been on two guys one girl before it's a great radio program great hosts very knowledgeable and uh going to be glad to be back on there for another two-hour interview the ad-free sponsorship offer for what on earth is happening is still on the table I have had a couple of people a couple of interested parties contact me I'll actually be contacting them to see what we can actually make a car make go through with the the owners at Oracle so you may be seeing what on earth is happening go ad-free people have requested this a lot of people have endlessly complained about it and a couple of weeks back I made the offer put the offer on the table that if you wanted to put your money where your mouth was and sponsor this show to go commercial-free that you could get in touch with me at mark at what on earth is happening calm my email address and inquire about it and that I would get you to the appropriate person within Oracle to discuss the rates for doing that I have since the rates they're not that bad they're fairly reasonable and as I've said we do have a couple of tentatively interested parties so this may be happening I'll leave it at that and just state that if you are still interested you can get in touch with me at my email address about ad-free sponsorship just put ad free sponsorship in the in the subject line of the email so those are the event announcements I want to direct everyone now to the what on earth is happening website where as always underneath the player on the radio show page there are images for today's show listed as numerical links you can click on those links it will bring up a slideshow that you can follow which deal with the images their deal with the topics that I'm going to be discussing today on the show as I said many weeks ago for the section on the non-supportive dominators because this is such a critical an important solution to have a deep understanding of and a deep understanding and what these dominators are actually creating in our world that I would not be taking any calls until I have satisfactorily covered this topic according to my own expectations and I'm going to be continuing for the next few weeks at least on different topics related to the non-supportive dominators today we'll be continuing talking about culpability and consequence I'll be talking about these experiments that deal with authority and man's perception of authority mankind's perception of Authority next week on the show I'm going to attempt to shift to trauma and bullying traumatic experiences and bullying and how these affect human consciousness and how we become identified with either abuser or victim and this is such a big part of why people do the things that they do related to domination and abuse of rights I'm also going to do an entire show at least an entire show about repressed sexuality and how this plays a huge role psychologically in why people do what they do regarding domination I'll also be doing an entire show about the loathing of personal responsibility and how much people want to cast away what cannot be cast away something that is forever ours personal responsibility whether we like it or not to create that which we are creating we are always co-creators with the universe we are always co-creating our experience whether we are doing it consciously or unconsciously is the only question and personal responsibility goes hand-in-hand with that level of co-creation and can never truly be abandoned it can never truly be abandoned someone can only make the claim that they are abandoning it but why would they ever want to do that we're going to be talking about that why do people hate and loathe personal responsibility how does that play a huge role in the dominator culture so I'll do a whole show on that and I'll also be doing an entire show on at least one show probably two on the occult aspects of this the occult mockery of the military and the police so that's at least five to six shows right there minimum then we'll do a couple of call-in shows on this topic of the non-supportive dominators as I've promised but that's coming up several weeks from now so no calls for today so don't call the calling number again to entire what on earth is happening call-in shows on the topic of the non-supportive dominators in several weeks that having been said let's jump into the slideshow as always in this section I have simply begun with the way out and the grassroots solutions for real and positive and lasting change these two slides have begun the entire section on solutions and will continue to be presented at the beginning of the solutions section the third slide is simply the non-supportive Dominator which is the present solution that we are covering and slide number four I'm gonna briefly review something that I talked about last week which is really a master key for understanding why we are experiencing that which we are experiencing in our world at the current moment the understanding of this law not opinion not perception but a law that is inherent to creation itself it is the law of cause and effect and it is the understanding of the plane of effects versus the higher plane of causality which we must raise our consciousness to in order to understand why the reason that certain effects are manifesting themselves and playing out in our experience this is a as I've said a master key this is the the the understanding of this principle unlocks all the keys that bind us in Chains it is a master key sadly so few people understand the simple truth and I broke it down last week that as long as your mindset is operating in the physical manifested effects that which has already occurred and which are already surrounded by and it it stays there you're going to be trapped in a cage you're going to be trapped in a prison of your own making through your own ignorance of how things actually manifest from a higher level of reality from a higher plane known as the plane of causality we'll continue to look at this principle on the other side of the break you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcast we'll be right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark Hasse oh I was reviewing the differences between the plane of causality and the plane of effects if we stay in the plane of effects we have absolutely no power in order to manifest real change and unfortunately that's where most people have had their mind lured and trapped there they continue to focus on what has already occurred and that's don't get me wrong that's an important thing you need to see that which is you need to be honest to yourself about that which already is but if you stay there and you don't ask the question why why is it that way why has it become that way what factors have gone to work to caused that particular reality to manifest itself if you don't ask those questions and therefore raise your mind up to the plane of causality you remain powerless to effect change in the realm of effects this is a deep understanding of how manifestation operates and the direction that manifestation flows it always flows from the higher plane to the lower it flows from the plane of causality to the plane of effects causes go to work first then effects are created as a result of those causes it's a one-way direction the direction our mind must go is yes observe the effects but ask the question why and when we learn why then we're going to be able to create on a conscious level and not a moment before so that's a very brief review of I talked about last week regarding this dynamic and what I would simply state is a law of manifest station okay this is on slide number four let's look at start to look at the main thing that I basically left people on last week toward the end of the show which was moral culpability who is at fault or who is to blame whenever actions are taken that are completely out of harmony with natural law and I asked the question who is more morally culpable you have to listen to the question as it is asked who is more morally culpable I didn't say that an order giver has no moral culpability in the situation the question was who is more morally culpable the order giver or the order follower one who barks out the commands and tells someone to do something that ultimately both of them really know that they have no right to perform that they have no right to do an action that they actually have no right under natural law to take I would say the order Giver most certainly knows that in most cases the order follower almost always knows that as well but some little trinket or bauble is dangled over their head or before them like you know a carrot dangled before a donkey you know to get them to continue to pull the cart and they completely abandon any conscious thing conscience they may have had they don't exercise their conscience and they just decide to go along for whatever reward earthly reward is promised to them so in that instance who is really truly responsible who is the truly responsible party who is the more morally culpable party in that instance and as I said last week and I I will continue to reiterate and I asked people to bring this topic of discussion up in your own circles bring it up to your family members bring it up to friends see what responses you get and I guarantee you your result will be similar to mine you will have a dichotomy almost right down the middle whenever I've done this I've seen a dichotomy a split in people and just about 50% sometimes it's a 60/40 split one way or another but it's rare when it's an overwhelming split to one side okay it's usually a near 50/50 split or a 60/40 split and I would say that's part of the problem is that too many individuals don't know immediately the answer to this question and can answer it at the snap of a finger because there is a correct answer to this question it's not a matter of opinion the order follower is always always more morally culpable not sometimes here we go again blanket statement put your emotional mind control detectors on because this is where people fall into emotional mind control he's making blanket statements yes yes because some blanket statements are true ladies and gentlemen not all but some are and this is one that happens to be true all ways every time an order is given that is outside of the boundaries of natural law and an order follower obeys that command and then actually performs that action every time the order follower is more more morally culpable I didn't say that the order giver has no moral culpability in the instance but I did say every single time this instance occurs no matter where it occurs or when it occurs the order follower always takes on more moral culpability and the word culpability we saw last week comes from the Latin word culpa which means fault or blame who is more to blame who is more at fault this is part of the problem that the quote freedom movement cannot get around the fact that it is not it is not not not the 1% or the high ranking masters of whatever hierarchy or oligarchy that you happen to be looking at okay it is not ultimately the high level dark occultists it is not ultimately those who are really behind the priest class or the religion of the day meaning money Authority etc okay they are not the ones who really are to blame for this situation do they make it worse oh uh sure idli they make it much worse okay they actually compound the problem by stepping into this role and continuing this cycle of abuse and violence which humanity is trapped within but ultimately they're not the highest level problem they are not ultimately the people who are bringing about this negative reality you you could tell yourself that all day long and that will never make it the case you have to be honest and start looking at what really is the causal factor here and the causal factor in all of this is that there is anyone that is willing to follow orders that are outside of the parameters of natural law and attempt to usurp or crush someone else's inherent natural law rights 100% of the time when those orders are followed those unjust unlawful orders our problem is 100% at the time of order power which people have a very hard time with that and don't want to accept welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening on your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're talking about who is more morally culpable order giver or the order follower and here's a very easy experiment to just do very easy contemplation to do yourself right here you do it right now take a look at slide number five which poses this question right on the what on earth is happening radio show page underneath the player click on number five and look at the scene in the background behind the words take a look at a stream a river of dead bodies probably all people or I would say definitely all people that did not deserve this fate this was done by dominators two people that they wanted to cleanse or who refuse to obey their unethical orders as I said last week it certainly does matter the situation and where this was I'm not trying to you know say that that's those things are not important we need to understand everything we can understand about specific events in history to understand what was really going on and taking place what I'm saying is this could be any mass cleansing event throughout time the same thing applies the same ideologies the same basic principles apply when it comes down to understanding why things like this occur and who is responsible for them so you could look at this as just an archetype or image of what happens when orders are followed because that's what this represents this scene you can get all hung up about where it was or when it was and and who did it and all of those details as I've said are important to know but not to get hung up on the specifics but to understand the general principle that this is the result of following orders now knowing that and looking at that scene you know and really think about a scene like that don't try to cast your eyes away from it look at it think about it and answer the question honestly honestly who did this who did this I'll repeat the question one more time who did this an order giver or an order follower and if your answer is an order giver did this my response to you would be Wow he must have really had a super powerful voice to do that and I would also say to you you're not being honest with yourself you want to tell yourself what you want to hear you're not listening to the question and you're not giving an honest response to yourself most of all because an order follower always has done this no order giver has ever done that in history no matter where it took place no matter what place no matter what time do you understand that that that is not my opinion that is the truth an order giver can bark out whatever immoral commands they want to bark out and it's all irrelevant and meaningless unless there is an order follower there who is willing to actually take the action that was ordered the action cannot occur the immoral action can not occur unless an order follower is willing to do that now okay you can say well maybe the order giver might follow his own commands and then go do it himself well he's not really an order giver then is he he's someone who's owning his own actions as are the order followers whether they want to claim they own those actions or not they still own them this is what I'm trying to get across the people you are always responsible for your own actions and behavior always now is the order giver responsible for what he's telling people to do yes he is but let me tell you something ladies and gentlemen and again this is gonna be another hard pill to swallow for people the order giver while he is still doing something he is not right to do by even issuing a command like that trying to get other people to do his dirty work for him he will never be as much as morally culpable listen to the statement don't hear what you want to hear hear what's actually being said he is not as morally culpable he is less morally culpable than is the person who actually carried out the action who did that and who did that was order followers if you're being honest with yourself which most people don't like to do they want to tell themselves what they want to hear and they want to blow smoke up their own rear end and have other people blow smoke up there too that's the sad case of what this species is right now what they have become you want people want to hear what they want to hear they don't want to hear the truth again this isn't a popularity contest and never has been I don't do this because I'm trying to make friends with people personally I don't care about what anyone thinks about me for stating that which is you could believe and think whatever you want and you could believe and think whatever you want about me I have nothing to do with whether this is true or not you need to set aside opinions set aside what you've been conditioned to think and ask yourself is it true am I being honest with myself have I really looked at the truth regarding who's more morally culpable do you have an opinion or do you know that and I'm telling you I don't have an opinion regarding that I know the answer it's a simple simply being honest with yourself as all you need to do take a look look at the image tell me if an order giver did that and if you're being honest with yourself the answer is no way an order giver did that only a group of order followers could ever have done that but sadly like I've said most people want to lie to themselves that's part of the problem the entire overarching dynamic that's one of the biggest problems people will not be honest with themselves they want to tell themselves what they want to hear so do this experiment ladies and gentlemen you'll be amazed at what you find you will be amazed at how many people will give the answer of order giver to that question that's part of the dynamic that keeps freedom away from the human species because we do not understand the right answer to that question let's start to look at some the experiments that we're going to talk about for the remainder of this program these are experiments that have been done they're social experiments they're behavioral experiments psychological experiments done to try to get at why the reason ok look at the answer to the question of why people give over their own responsibility for their own actions or a tempt to give away that responsibility to someone else that they see as an authority figure and they actually believe in their own distorted thinking that they can give up responsibility to this other individual this authority figure they've actually bought into that notion somewhere along the line in their irrational illogical thinking that is not in keeping with reality they're conditioned thinking because this is how people are conditioned to think from the moment they're born and parents are a big part of that conditioning teaching children to obey a why and yet they never give the answer why not because I have more experience and I understand a lot more about how the physical world works and you might understand a lot more about how natural ball functions Thank You Pat well to learn and understand that don't take that construction and go suffer as a result not because I speak but because people have to experience negative consequences of break natural talk most parents will never attempt to explain any of that dynamics to a child we'll just tell them do it because I said so and plus the false doctrine of obedience has a virtue comes in great right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio we're going to start looking at a few social experiments that we're done to try to get a deeper understanding of why people behave the way that they do in situations where orders are being given and thus it revealed an enormous amount of data about how people perceive Authority and the sad revelations that came with these experiments show us that ultimately humanity has not really evolved much over millennia were stuck in a morass of slowed evolutionary progress some would say it is not just slowed but it has reversed and we were once more moral of a people than we are today because this religion this universal religion known as Authority infests every nook and cranny of planet Earth the first experiment I want to look at today is known as the Milgram experiment mi LGR a.m. the Milgram experiment this was conducted by the Yale University psychologist Stanley Milgram he did this experiment in the 1960s I believe he started in 1961 and the the this experiment basically went on I think for a couple of years I think he published the results in the mid-60s sometime anyway what Milgram did was he put out an ad and had some people respond to the ad he told him that he would pay them money to help them help some scientists perform a study of memory and this was basically a bait put out there it was it was a lie because what he was really doing was trying to find people who he could conduct the experiment on blindly that we think they were helping conduct the experiment but really they were the test subject themselves so the people who answered this ad were the test subjects so what he told them when they entered the experimentation area is we're conducting a test on memory you're going to read some questions to the person who were conducting the test upon and based on their answers okay if their answer if they were able to memorize the answer to the question okay or the series of words that they were asked to memorize and they give the correct answer you continue with the test if they give the incorrect answer you're going to give them an electrical shock they're hooked up to this machine okay here's the button that you or the switch that you press in order to administer the shock and they told this person that the shock would be an impetus or kind of like a spur to help them to nudge their memory and remember better so that they would be able to give the correct answer later on in the test so it was like an electric stimulus that you know they said well perhaps this will help jog people's memory that's the ostensible reason for the experiment clearly that was a lie and all they're really trying to do is see how far they would be able to push this person okay to continue to administer increasing in their intensity electrical shocks all the way up until on an over hundred volts shock which would be deadly I think the 450 volts shock or 450 volts shock was the highest-end shock that could be given and that's a deadly shock so you give 450 volts to someone you'll kill them okay so I posted on image number six a little image that shows basically how this experiment was set up in the main room is the person who is ostensibly conducting the experiment the scientist okay so that he's labeled either okay I guess that stands for Executive okay the person who's in charge okay now the letter T stands for the teacher of the experiment this is the person who answered the ad okay who answered the fake ad so he's actually the subject of the experiment at the letter T there and the learner the one who is being given the shocks sits in another room okay now the learner is an actor as is really the the executive okay the person who is ostensibly in charge of the experiment the person who's giving the orders in other words okay they're all just in on the experiment okay they know what the experiment how the experiment is really set up okay and who's really the subject so okay it's a single blind the only person who's blind to the experiment is the teacher they're at letter T who's giving the shocks because that's who we're trying to see how far is he willing to go how many shocks is he willing to give before he says no I won't do this anymore before apophysis is realized within him and he says no to Authority before he exercises his conscience by saying no okay so they start the experiment and you know he might give a wrong answer and so the person is told okay administer the shock they shock him read him the right answer at some point in the experiment the person on the other side okay who's being shocked now III hear that they didn't actually do this in person they had a taped a tape recorder playing on the other end loudly what would depending on the shock that was given it would present whales or screams or and eventually it would be saying I don't want to do this anymore okay the person at L would be heard saying the person in the other room who was being given the shocks would be heard saying upon being given a mid-range shock I do not want to do this anymore I do not want to be part of this experiment anymore let me out of here let me out of this chair I'm done with this okay so now he has expressly said he has expressed meaning put out there for others to hear that he is no longer a free will participant in the experiment that is being done and now he is being held against his will okay that's the line of you have crossed natural law even if you did say okay this person is willing to do this okay to participate in this experiment you might even ask the person you're a willing participant no one is coercing you up to the point where the person has now said I'm done with this that's immediately where anyone should have stopped even if you did any of it at all you you really have not broken natural law until the person said I'm uncomfortable now now I'm being harmed and I have asked you to stop I do not wish to prove seed I am no longer a free will participant in this experiment let me go that has been spoken to the person conducting the experiment and they have heard it okay and it has also been heard by the person who is the order follower who is pressing the levers okay what the executive okay of the experiment then says the scientist says to the person who's giving the shocks is he says please continue and he was actually given ratcheted up variants of the I want you to continue in other words he's telling orders in a more progressively harsh manner there were four basic responses orders given please continue which is like you know saying it at a very nice level then the second one was the the experiment requires that you continue the experiment requires that you continue if they still didn't want to continue they would be pressed further and the the executive would say it is absolutely essential that you continue and finally he would tell the of the teacher you have no other choice do mosses continue okay so we'll pick up with the Milgram experiment on the other side of the break you're listening to what on earth is happening stay with us we're back folks this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio we're talking today on the show about moral culpability who is more morally culpable the order giver were the order follower and we're looking now at three different experiments conducted to attempt better to understand the psychological motivations in the mind of an order follower why do they behave this way what are the implications regarding the belief in authority that is inherent to this understanding of human behavior that was gleaned through these experiments and it's quite disturbing actually and it really tells us a lot about the path that we're on so we were looking at the Milgram experiment by Stanley Milgram conducted back in the early 1960s and I explained how the experiment was set up and that these shocks would be given to an actor who was supposedly the subject of the experiment but the real subject was the person who was chosen to give the shocks okay and when they give a shock that the person who is receiving the shock has finally said I'm not comfortable with this anymore I want to stop so they have expressed their free will and said no I do not want this done to me anymore I'm through with this experiment the person giving the commands would say please continue to the person giving the shocks and if they said no I don't want to continue I'm uncomfortable with this they would say the experiment requires that you continue then they would say if he still didn't go on it is absolutely essential that you continue and if he still didn't go on finally the conductor would say or the commander would say you have no other choice you must continue now if he still refused after those four prods okay after those four commands if you will then the experiment would end and the person would basically be given the status of one who decided to say no to Authority now they made some predictions before they did this experiment okay as to how many people would stop and would not go past a certain point and certainly would not go all the way through to the lethal shock the Milgram's team made a prediction that only three and a half percent of people approximately would administer the lethal shock so he thought only three and a half percent of people would agree with Authority and bow to Authority and give away their personal responsibility in other words they thought that ninety seven out of a hundred people would have would exercise their conscience and wouldn't go all the way in this experiment to administer you know although it'd be fake they didn't know that what would be considered lethal shock to another human being who had already said I don't want to be part of this anymore just by being prodded by a so-called authority figure you know what the actual results were how many people went through to the end of the experiment sixty five percent of all of the people that act is the subjects of this experiment and both treats in an administered means shop just close link between to think about the implications of that for a little while ladies and gentlemen the other side stay with us alright folks we're back this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio talking about the Milgram experiment a social experiment conducted to find out just how deep the belief in Authority is entrenched in human beings when it comes to conducting immoral behavior and the results were enormous ly disturbing if you're even paying the smallest bit of attention because it really showed the people bow to authority as a dogmatic religion and believe in it so strongly they actually believe that they can give up their own moral culpability they actually believe they can give away their own personal responsibility for their behaviors to another human being people actually believe this misguided and completely confused and ignorant as they might be that's their belief system so there was a couple other very enlightening results of the Milgram experiment as I said in his initial experiments sixty-five percent of human beings went all the way through to the deadly shock just on prodding from a so-called authority figure that they must continue even after the person who was acting as the the person being shocked willfully stated I'm through with this let me out of here I'm going to put a video reenactment of some of the Milgram experiments online with this podcast podcast 108 so a couple of other really interesting aspects of the Milgram experiment was what would happen if the person who was the subject of the experiment first witnessed someone else saying no and what would happen if the person who was the subject first witnessed someone else saying yes and going all the way through with the lethal shock would this have any bearing on the outcome on the percentages of people that would continue all the way through to the lethal shock and the answer turned out to be yes very definitively yes it would have a significant impact so listen to this this is actually I would say more important than the original percentages of the experiment alone this is the more interesting aspect of the experiment when people would be allowed to see other people saying no to the authority figure so what they would do is they would take other actors and put them in the role of the person who is administering the shocks and that they would arrange it so that the person would sing know upon the other the person being shocked would say he didn't want to be part of it anymore okay so they would watch a couple of people say no and exercise conscience and say I'm not gonna continue with this because this person has just told me he doesn't want to be part of this anymore so I'm gonna respect his rights I'm gonna respect that he does not want to participate in this and he cannot be held any more against his will and I'm not going to help you do this when a couple of people in front of the person of the the test subject would say no would engage in apophysis okay and say no the percentage of people that would go through with the lethal shock dropped to 20% now that seems encouraging but you know what that's still one in five so it's not too encouraging but it is somewhat encouraging what that means is people are affected by what they see by example that is being set so if we set an example of good conscience of following conscience instead of orders okay of exercising conscience there will be a better probability that other people will decide to take a that same course of action because they'll see it an example being done and then they'll say hey this is an example I should follow whether they even understand that or not at that point it's a good start they should we need to understand it consciously but setting an example for someone is the next best step to a conscious level of understanding ultimately we want to build them up until they get to a conscious level of understanding that this is simply the right thing to do under natural law because they have discovered how natural law operates in the physical domain now here's the really disturbing part of the experiment if you weren't disturbed by the 65% number which seems to be our human baseline sadly of how many people that much are conditioned to the overarching belief in authority you know I I think if they did this experiment again today I think they have in certain instances I have to look at the published results I'll bet you would be up over 70% today if not more but when the opposite was true regarding a plant in the experiment before the actual test subject so actors being brought in sitting in the in the order following position and the person who's administering the shock in their chair and then going all the way through to the end okay if if the real subject of the experiment would see this being done a couple of times before he went into the room the proclivity to go all the way through to the end with the lethal shock would jump from 65% are you ready for this ladies and gentlemen are you ready for this number to 92% and why am I not surprised that the number either why am I not surprised at that number okay for those who paid attention when we talked about occult numerology they I need to say nothing 92% of people would be willing if they had seen someone else do it would be willing to go forward with the lethal shock absolutely amazing and disgusting at the same time but that is what authority does to people that's what the belief in authority does to people does to their own mind that's what they allow it to do to their mind is what I should say it doesn't do anything it's just a claim that is put out there by someone else oh you're not responsible I'm responsible oh you have to do this I told you so these are all just claims ladies and gentlemen not resembling reality whatsoever what we allow by taking the claim and accepting it and saying yes to it yeah I'll go along with that what we are allowing that belief in authority to do to us is what's driving this dynamic by their nature it would seem only about 35% 3 and 10 people would actually say no overset 6 out of 10 people between 6 & 7 out of 10 people will unquestioningly obey Authority because that's how they've been conditioned since the day they were born just do what you're told just follow orders following orders is a virtue we have to do better than that a lot better than that we need to get that number by default up over 90% who will say no and will not go along with orders let's look at a couple other very enlightening experiments on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening stay with us welcome back everyone they're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark Cassio my website what on earth is happening DOM we're taking a look at social psychological experiments that deal with the belief in authority and what people would be willing to do what behaviors they would be willing to do if they were told that they weren't responsible for them we looked at the Milgram experiment a similar experiment not quite the same thing but something that showed when you give power over other people okay where you claim you're making the claim that you're giving power over other people to a group of individuals what will they do with that how will they behave so in a in an experiment that might involve prisoners and prison wardens okay or jailers prison guards let's say how would all involve all parties involved behave what would their psychological states become like this brings us to the Stanford Prison Experiment just incidentally images six and seven were depictions of the Milgram experiment on the slides we're looking at slide number eight the Stanford Prison Experiment this was an experiment conducted by Philip Zimbardo a psychologist he did this back in 1971 and he was trying to look at the psychological impact of be either being a prisoner or a prison guard and what would this level of authority or the loss of control over ones freedom what would that do to the human psyche but this was basically a obedience experiment okay you give you give this assumed authority to a group of individuals and tell them they have authority over or someone else and they could basically do whatever they want what's gonna happen what's gonna result and basically he put 24 people okay into a mock prison okay and he made some of them guards some of them prisoners and it was going to go on for two weeks they had to stop the experiment after only six days less than one week elapsed okay Zimbardo the conductor of the experiment the actual psychologist who set the experiment up didn't want to stop the experiment at first see what happened was the guards became so overly abusive to the prisoners and were completely degrading them doing all kinds of subtle tortures to them in in as little as five days that's all it took for them to become enormous ly verbally and then physically abusive and the prisoners brought down into categories as well some of them would blindly follow whatever the guards told them hoping hoping the guards would just be easier on them and other ones became very you know staunch in their refusal to go along with things that they knew that these guards had no right to do but all of them ultimately became very depressed and saddened all of the prisoners because they were being completely dehumanized degraded looked upon as something less than a human being just because some other people were told you could do whatever you want to these people and accepted that claim accepted that false belief see the reality was they're all in the prison together they're all prisoners whether the prison guards knew it or not and there are all creating a hell world in the prison because they wouldn't recognize the false aspect that needs to be recognized that there is no such thing as Authority that authority is that falsehood is that false aspect that they're told is real Zimbardo told them hey there's authority here there's a breakdown here the prisoners you're the guards well none of them had to accept that they could have said I don't have authority over anybody why do I need to be a prison guard why can't we all just treat each other as equals and then we could have a good time in here for two weeks no they accepted the claim and played the role and it turned into hell does it sound familiar it should welcome to your life Zimbardo himself did not want to stop the experiment he was like the person pressing the button in the Milgram experiment people had said in this experiment in the Stanford Prison Experiment I'm done with this I don't want to participate in this anymore this has crossed the line of an experiment to me and it is gone real world it is gone real life and I don't want to be part of it let me out of here I want to go home now I'm done with this Zimbardo was fully prepared to just make them stay there for all two weeks he was just going to ignore their free will as people who had willingly decided to take part in a an experiment of psychological behavioral experiment and he was going to just totally usurp their free will and just continue the experiment through to its conclusion for 14 days thankfully cooler heads prevailed I should say more conscience people with higher conscience prevailed when one of one of them as Umberto's colleagues got involved okay it was a female colleague her name I should have it here with me her name slips my mind right now but a female colleague of Philip Zimbardo the psychologist heard about the experiment and when Isambard ou told her that you know some of the members want to stop but I'm gonna keep it going she said to him you know are you are you nuts are you crazy what is wrong with you that's so immoral you can't do that this is this is a person with freewill they're telling you I'm done with your experiment I want to be let out of here I want to go home you can't keep them in there you're turning it into a real cage you're turning it into a real prison and you're the warden and you don't have a right to do that these people have done nothing wrong they're trying to help you conduct an experiment and they're telling you now that's it enough it's undone so he was gonna be one of those people that would just you know continue and let it go on just because he wanted to get his results he wanted to you know he wanted to know more about what was going on in their minds and was ignoring their actual pain and suffering to left brain not enough right brain okay he was all about the logic all about the you know let's conduct the experiment you know according to the protocol I've designed but he wasn't actually paying attention to the real experience experienced by the people in the experiment so finally this female colleague of Zimbardo can convinced him you can't do that you're absolutely wrong you're immoral for trying to do that and he finally saw through the help of this woman that what he was doing was wrong and he decided to step in and stop the experiment after six days thankfully because he was putting these kids through some bad traumatic experience this was trauma just like it is now in our world except it seems no one is here to stop the experiment so a very enlightening experiment the Stanford Prison Experiment I'll try to also post a video about that I have a pretty good one I'd like to think about that some great resources on experiments on projects it would check that out if podcast goes up and links to some of the resources you know you'll definitely be enlightened by what you find it's show of another experiment about following blurs and arts level on the other side of the break we'll be right back this on the oracle broadcasting rate welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening talking about some social experiments that really show us the result of following orders instead of conscience we looked at the Milgram experiment and in the last couple of sections we looked at the Stanford Prison Experiment conducted by Philip Zimbardo in 1971 now during the break I was able to look up the individual who reached the conscience of Philip Zimbardo and got him to stop the Stanford Prison Experiment and lo and behold will wonders never cease her name was Christina Christina Maslach a graduate a graduate student convinced Zimbardo to stop the Stanford Prison Experiment her name ladies and gentlemen was christina synchro mysticism in action it's amazing the third experiment is known as the third wave or some people simply refer to it as the wave okay this was conducted by a a high school history teacher his name was Ron Jones okay he had a sophomore class at a high school in Palo Alto California this was done in the late 1960s 1967 and he was teaching the the name of the high school was a Cub Earl a high school in Palo Alto he was teaching his students about fascism and as an experiment he decided to basically knock democracy knock democratic republics say they're really not as strong as other forms of government and there's there people are weaker and their societies are weaker he was saying this to get the students to basically go along with his experiment and show them what fascism really is okay what following orders is all about and what he did is he formed this group within his class of students and it then propagated beyond that class and it was a group that was based on non democratic principles okay it was based on following orders discipline Authority okay playing your part playing your role taking pride national pride et cetera all of these dynamics that's what he hammered into this group that he called he gave it a name they gave a gave it a a symbol you know like a sigil for themselves okay they had mottos he called the third wave okay to make it similar to the Third Reich all right there's a great television special about this known as the wave this was done in 1981 and I'll try to post a link to that I think it's up on YouTube but it's a great TV special about this experiment conducted by the high school teacher Ron Jones so he made a group he called it the third wave he gave it a sigil like a big wave okay you know like a big cresting wave okay and he developed a motto for the students their motto was strength through discipline strength through community strength through action and strength through pride that was their motto for the group called the third wave what happened is these students became more and more collective mindset oriented they punished even the smallest deviation from the group norm okay they got in fights arguments over this it created stress in their family created stress in their personal life with their friends certain students were ostracized not allowed to take part in social activity if they weren't members of this wave group they self policed themselves and basically put themselves into strict rigid rent regimented routines and rules and ostracize whole other groups of students that they had once befriended and gotten along with harmoniously just because they identified more with the group think with being a member of that group you know because this gave us benefits and it made us stronger as a tight-knit community but everybody else who's not part of that Oh cast them aside push them to the wayside we'll walk all over them and this went on and on and became progressively more abusive people also asked Ron Jones to stop this experiment and finally he did he gathered them all into an auditorium and basically told them that this was an experiment about fascism and how it works and how it got them to basically create a completely disharmony is community and they were willing to do all kinds of wrongdoing to their former friends just because this groupthink dynamic took over and he likened them to German citizens during the Third Reich who were willing to follow Hitler the authority figure just because he was their commander he was their Fuhrer he was their better and he was their authority figure he was going to lead Germany to ever you know bigger greatness and they just had to shut up follow what he told him to do just like every other dictator throughout time whether it be Mussolini or Gaius Julius Caesar or Genghis Khan or you name it anybody now say Tung Joseph Stalin the whole idea was they gave their jewelle selves over to group think this is another show I'm probably going to do what does it mean to abandon the self that's something that needs to be understood in this section on the non support of dominators the abandonment of the real self because that's what all collectivist groupthink mindset does to someone it ultimately gets them to hand over their own free will to the group collective dynamic and they're no longer thinking are my actions that I own whether I want to own them or not I'm responsible for them are they in alignment are they in accord with natural law am i harming someone as a result of what I'm doing taking on this groupthink dynamic because that's always how the oppressive Dominator mindset works it's divisive it looks at everything in terms of us and them this is what the military and the police have to get out of this is an illness it's a psychological illness people don't want to look at it like that but that's exactly what it is these individuals are diseased they have the disease of separateness they actually believe that there is such a thing as groups of people that were not all in this situation together that's the only thing that really makes us alike we all have the same basic needs concerns once dreams hopes and we all want to be free but that's never going to happen through collective groupthink dynamic that's only going to ever happen by each individual truly of their own willpower developing an understanding of natural law and making the freewill decision to live in harmony with those principles that's it it's the only thing that will ever do it get is angry about that being the case as you want that's the case that's how the laws of this domain operate I'm not telling you that because it's my opinion I don't care whether you believe it or not believe whatever you want to believe I'm telling you this domain operates according to law and if you want to live in harmony if you want to live in order if you want to live in peace if you want to have freedom you need to understand how those laws operate in this domain and stop thinking with collective groupthink dynamic that says everything is separate and this group being amount as a member of this group we have to do only what's good for us and screw all these other people who cares what happens to them and that's exactly the mindset that the military is in that's exactly the mindset that police are in protect our own care for our own and anybody that we have to step on to get our way and get what we want or to get what we need to get done done because we're being given orders and that's how we get our paychecks okay we'll step on whoever we have to to get there this is collective groupthink dynamic and it's the same in every totalitarian society it operates the same it doesn't matter whether you're talking about Soviets whether you're talking about Roman centurions whether you're talking about Mongols on the plains whether you're talking about you know secret police in fascist Italy whether you're talking about SS guards a concentration camps during the Third Reich in Nazi Germany it's the same collectivist mindset that brings on that chaos we'll be right back with the last segment and wrap it up they're listening to what on earth is happening okay folks last segment of this edition of what on earth is happening time really does fly we've been talking about some fairly famous and some lesser-known experiments that show the effect of claimed authority on the human mind and behavior we looked at the Milgram experiment we looked at the Stanford Prison Experiment in the last section we looked at the third wave experiment and I just want to go back to a couple images in the Stanford Prison Experiment in the slide show image number eight shows some of the prisoners and the guards in the experiment and the roles that they took on how some of the prisoners were completely dehumanized given numbers you know dressed in in bedsheets etc okay and basically just treated as animals and it Philip Zimbardo himself saw the parallels to the absolute human rights atrocities that took place in Abu Ghraib prison and image number nine shows the famous image from Abu Ghraib and how it has overtones to the Stanford Prison Experiment but even more deeply sad is the fact that this is a real-life situation and not a psychological experiment that was an image number nine image ten showed a frame from the television special called the wave from 1981 and again I will try to post these references on the podcast page for this podcast it shows the teacher Ron Jones standing on the stage where they he then projected behind him the image of Hitler and was explaining to his his audience of students that they would have made excellent Nazis during the Third Reich because they made such excellent fascist in the wave experiment so that's what that image represents a couple of resources that I really highly suggest people look at I can't suggest lark and roses work highly enough when it comes to this if you're not familiar with Larkin Rose become familiar with his work I interviewed him here months ago on what on earth is happening you can search his name on the podcast page and his book the iron web is an excellent fictional allegory about authority okay in the claims that it makes and how people have bought into it so willingly that they don't understand that their own actions are immoral an excellent book for people to check out even better than that again that's an excellent allegorical fictional work but his book the most dangerous superstition is perhaps one of the most enlightened books written on the topic of the disease of authority the disease that Authority actually is of the belief and that the belief in Authority is I should say this psychological illness needs to be healed in humanity if we're going to have a chance at continued survival and at progressing our evolutionary development so please check out Larkin Rose's work especially the most dangerous superstition I mean this book is of vital significance everyone should have should already have read that book hardly anyone has even heard of it but if you haven't read it yet you really need to pick it up and read it because it so eloquently and logically explains how this belief in authority is a complete illusion and that's what's holding this entire species back so to conclude here some of the statements that I made last week and in the weeks before I want to just reiterate by definition it is an impossibility an impossibility to be an order follower and simultaneously be exercising conscience it cannot be done if you think that that can be done you are wrong that's it it's like saying I think that I can drink this glass of water okay and after drinking it it can simultaneously be in my stomach and the glass at the same time that is the equivalent the two things are diametrically opposed you either have still have it in the glass or you have drank it already okay so if I drink a glass of water the water is not present in the glass anymore the whole old adage of he wants to have his cake and eat it too meaning you want to eat the cake but you still want to present on the plate after you've eaten it well the universe doesn't work that way and you are either a exerciser of conscience meaning you have the definitive knowledge of the natural law difference between right and wrong in hand and in mind and in heart and you obey your conscience you say I know what's right I know what's wrong and I'm going to choose the right over the wrong not I think this is right or untold this is right listen listen the word was I know which is right I know right from wrong and that's the problem the problem is most people don't know the difference between right and wrong definitively because they have had their mind so convoluted by erroneous belief systems but that statement is immutably 100% true you can not be exercising conscience if you are an order follower because even if the order is within natural law you followed it because you were following the order not because you definitively knew it was in harmony with natural law and if it's outside the parameters of natural law right then you have no business taking that action at all whether you're commanded to or not so if you're commanded to do that and you follow that order and it's outside of natural laws boundaries of course it's wrong it's going to be going to be wrong whether somebody gave you that order you did it on your own but if you do which if you happen to stumble into doing what's right just because you were following orders that doesn't mean you did it in consciousness in knowing you did it in an unconscious state haphazardly that's not what we're talking about here we're talking about getting to conscious conscious creation of our reality through consciously making the decision to operate within the parameters of natural law the the phrase I was just following orders shown in slide number 12 is never a valid excuse or justification for immoral criminal behavior never never it is never an excuse it is never a justification ho people will try to claim it all the time he'll continue to try to claim it I was just following orders it's just my job just doing my job if I don't do this I don't get a paycheck if I don't do this somebody frowns down upon me and tells me I'm a bad boy for not obeying if somebody if I don't do this I might lose not be able to make the payments on my house if I don't do this oh I might not be able to send my kid to this fancy school he's attending or maybe I might not even be able to feed my family well you know what you put yourself in that position by even joining a herd think a collectivist think group that's your responsibility what you need to do to unmake that situation is also your responsibility it doesn't make a difference you can give all the justifications in the world slide number 13 shows what justification means you're pretending to make it right you're making another claim just like the claim of authority is only a claim and doesn't exist justification is only a claim and doesn't really exist you're pretending to create a right that isn't there you want to make something that is a wrong into a right and you can never do that now I ended the show on this for the last two weeks and this is the yet another week I'm on it maybe this will become the closing statement for the show there are only two mistakes one can make on the path to truth not starting and not going all the way remember that folks that's all for today we'll see you next week on what on earth is happening thanks for listening

What On Earth Is Happening Show #109

freedom man that's what it's all about welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Marc Pascal welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com this show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time that's 4 to 6 p.m. Central we have a great show lined up for you here today we're going to be continuing our solutions section on how to change human consciousness for the better and get out of the situation that humanity has been trapped in for eons of time and we're going to be continuing to look at the non support of dominators why it is so important not to have respect for the dominators of our world not to have respect for authority at all to recognize authority as illusion to recognize government as illusion okay to recognize physical power over others and the desire for it as illusion that only leads to suffering and chaos in our world so this section is one of the most critical in the solutions section and we've been covering it for many weeks and will continue to do so for several more weeks today on the show I am going to be getting into the cycle of abuse and victimization or what has traditionally been called in the world of psychology simply the cycle of violence because that's what this is all about violence people doing actions that they have no right under natural law to take that do in fact cause harm to other people so today on the show we're going to look at trauma bullying and the cycle of victim and abuse okay that's coming up on the show I have a couple of quick event announcements that I'd like to read the truth freedom prosperity documentary night will be taking place at its new venue and new time this thursday may 31st at a seen market and cafe here in philadelphia that's at 719 South 4th Street it will begin promptly sharply at 6:30 p.m. because we are on a limited time schedule at a scene we have to leave the store when it closes at 9:00 p.m. so 6:30 p.m. sharp start time for those who will be attending arrive a little bit early to get a seat and we will be screening the new max Eagan documentary called transformation a great film that really analyzes the problem and proposes great solutions so we'll be screening that this Thursday at a scene Market & Cafe I will be appearing on two guys one girl interviewed by Franco hard on Monday May 28th that's our mark night welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark Hasse oh I have a couple other quick event announcements I talked about the truth freedom prosperity documentary night and the fact that I'll be on two guys one girl tomorrow out of Montreal Quebec Canada radio h2o dot CA that's tomorrow evening at 8:00 p.m. eastern time looking forward to that interview and something I want to let people know about is the status of the Tesla Science Foundation's Tesla conference for this summer the Nikola Tesla energy independent celebrations people have been asking me about this and I have not had much information to tell them until recently because there was kind of a sort of a conundrum and a near disaster but it looks to be averted we lost our event space for the scientific conference recently so we usually have it at Liberty to place here in Philadelphia we usually have the entire second floor reserved for the science conference portion of the event however that space will not be available to us this year or probably not any year in the future unfortunately I won't get into why that is but that building is no longer of availability to the Tesla Science Foundation so we have been talking with rubra Hall which was the location of the free your mind conference in 2011 and I will be having an announcement about a potential for your mind to coming up next year here in Philadelphia but to go back to the Tesla conference information we are talking to rubra Hall and it looks like this is the potential occasion for the Tesla energy independence celebrations for this year it is not confirmed yet we are working out you know details and logistics but I will have an event announcement for this within a week so I will probably know for sure by the end of this week the the event location and then we'll begin announcing further details so that's a quick update about the Tesla conference for this summer it will be taking place July 7th 8th 9th and 10th with the main events taking place on the weekend of the 7th and 8th the science conference being that weekend and there will be some Tesla birthday celebration style events on the 9th and the 10th so I'll have more details in the next week or two lastly the ad-free sponsorship offer for this show to make the show go commercial free is still on the table I started this offer because people had endlessly complained about the commercials not just the fact that there are commercials on the show but the frequency of them this was explained many times about you know the the necessity for this being bandwidth costs for the network and I decided to think outside the box a little bit try to come up with a way to rid the commercials get rid of the commercials for the show if there was still the support for the network obviously so I put out the offer that if people wanted the show to go commercial free that they would put have to put their money where their mouth was and get in touch with the network to find out what the costs of that those commercial spots would be it's quite reasonable actually maybe not for one person to plunk down all at once but it is not even in the $2,000 range it's under under that okay so I'll just give you the approximate figure okay it's it's under fits between a thousand and $1,500 so this is not a gigantic sum of money to do this for a three-month period of time that's what the network worked out that someone would have to sponsor that for a three-month period of time in order for them to change their programming okay so if we get a bunch of chip ins for this maybe we can make it happen if someone can't put down that much you know initially maybe I could set up a fund on the website to have a chip in to reach that amount and then you know I'll give that to the network after you know it's donated and maybe we can make it happen like that you know with a group effort if anyone is interested in doing this on their own get in touch with me mark at what on earth is happening com or perhaps in the next week or so if I don't see any further interest I will decide to go forward with a possible chip in effort on the website itself that being said a once this three month initial period is over okay I believe the network will possibly work a month at a time I'm not quite sure of that but you know once the main programming style of the show has changed perhaps they'll do a one month at a time thing and it will be less expensive for an individual to sponsor for a month so that's the update on the ad free sponsorship offer it is still open no one has officially taken it up so if anyone is interested get in touch with me mark at what on earth is happening dot-com and if I don't see any individuals coming through with you know wanting to actually go forward with this then again perhaps we'll do a chip in effort and try to make it happen that way so those are the event announcements let's start looking at the material for today and as always you can go to the what on earth is happening web page what on earth is happening and you can underneath the player on the radio show page you can click on the links where it says images for today's show these are numeric links they will bring up images that act as a slideshow to go along with the topic of conversation for today which is the non support of dominators once again this is part of my solutions section image 1 shows what this entire section of solutions I've called it the way out it is the way out of the degraded form of consciousness in which humanity currently finds itself as a species and the actual grassroots solutions are listed in slide number 2 we have gone through all of the ones on the left-hand side and now we are beginning with the right-hand column non-supportive dominators we've actually covered the development of mindfulness so that is also one that has already been covered on the right-hand column there image three shows a allegorical some symbolic image that to represent this concept the non-supportive dominators and you're looking at stormtroopers from the allegorical film Star Wars because that's what dominators are people who are actually have destroyed their own sense of selfhood individuality they have gone into groupthink or collectivist mindset and they operate basically as a hive mind in order to destroy human freedom that's what the Dominator culture the entire Dominator mindset is home now spotty snow silence deprivation it I love it's gotta keep my cool ii think i made up stop okay folks we're back this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio over the last several weeks we've really taken a deep look at conscience and the exercise of conscience and I would dare to say that these have been quite effective shows because according to the listener feedback that I've been getting it seems that many people really are appreciating how in-depth I've been going on these topics and they're coming away with some additional understanding that they had not gleaned previously perhaps in their own study or just you know in looking at these topics on their own so that's pretty encouraging and I think it's very important for that to be taking place when it comes to this topic in particular because that's what this is all about is really the true birth of conscience within the individual and the de-identification from a collectivist mind state that ultimately has no conscience there is no exercise true exercise of conscience in a group setting groups don't have conscience individuals have conscience that's why one of the topics we'll be getting into over the next couple of weeks probably in two weeks or so will be the abandonment of selfhood the abandonment of selfhood itself giving away one's own individuality to the group mind to the the hive if you will and we'll be looking at that in relation to some allegorical films in a similar way that we looked at apophysis allegorically when it came to some movies that contain that concept and actually express it quite brilliantly we'll be looking at group hive mentality and how this completely takes over the individual and gets them to abandon their own individuality and self hood to the group it's a very important dynamic for the dominator culture to have in place if they're if they want to be effective in taking over the individual and therefore taking over the society so with that having been said let's go to a couple of quick review topics and then we'll jump into the topic for today which is the cycle of violence and abuse what we're trying to get to is the why behind everything why do dominators act the way that they do if you're going to change their behavior if you're going to change any negative behavior whether it's about yourself and what you do on a daily basis or whether you want to look at someone else's poor behavior they you know that they should not be engaged in you need to ultimately understand why that behavior has become present why is this individual in the condition that they are in and so behaving such as they are without that understanding without the understanding of why that situation is the way that it is if you do not have that knowledge in hand you are powerless to change the active manifested reality that is currently taking place so people will say well it's you know it's not my job to know about what's going on in someone else's mind well if you want to effect change in the outer world that is your job that must become your job you need to understand their psychological state of mind you need to understand their motivations you need to understand the conditions that led their mind into the state that it currently is now why are they behaving the way that they are behaving and if you want them to change you need to ultimately get them to understand why they are like that now that will work for a large percentage of people if this work is done there is a tiny small percentage probably around 1% that no amount of understanding no amount of coaxing no amount of educating even in the true sense of education will be able to create a change in them because they are primary psychopaths and we are setting aside that tiny anomaly okay because if you were to affect the people that are not actual genetic or primary Psychopaths okay you would change the vast majority and you would have you would have this tiny seed of psychopathy perhaps left in the world okay but it would be easily mitigated it would be easily kept in check by the vast majority who was operating in conscience unfortunately we have a psychopathic society at large the vast numbers of people are in some state of psychopathy whether it be primary or secondary the vast numbers of people are actually in a low-level state of secondary psychopathy they don't care that's why the situation regarding freedom and regarding the chaotic and disorderly state of our world that's why it continues to go the way it has been going because not enough people have turned on the generative principle in order to change the manifested result this goes hand-in-hand with the understanding of the two basic planes of reality planes PLA and okay meaning like a dimension if you will and without this understanding in hand don't expect that external reality to change don't expect to be able to reach people on a wide level because all you would be doing is treating the symptoms just like conventional medical science does now they don't look for the true cure they look for treatment of the symptom so that you'll keep going back to them they don't want to cure anything really that would be them being out of business if they did that and that's why there's so many charlatans and fraudsters in the in the New Age movement in the even the alternative media community they they want the problem to continue so they're still in the spotlight or in the limelight or and you know making money they're not they don't have the key in hand which is the understanding of why certain mind states are present they're not operating on the plane of causality depicted here in image number four on the radio show webpage website or with the podcast this is podcast number 109 if you're looking at the effects if you're looking at the manifested results of a cause okay if you're looking at the symptoms you are powerless to effect change that is not where change is effected from you have to rise up in your understanding rise up in your level of consciousness in order to understand how that condition came about why is that symptom present why is this condition the way things currently happen to be without the Y there is no power and therefore there's no ability to create positive or lasting change you would be spinning your wheels going around in a cycle which is what we're going to talk about today we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting don't go anyway sleep stay asleep Oh bang would he look civic with his eyes is what we see when he looks it into the sunglasses we saved the same things all the way through the subliminal sympathy couldn't see from bein no he defended oh don't welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening heroes let's jump right back in to our subject material we were talking about where a problem is ever solved from a problem no matter what it is is never solved from the level of effects once something has already manifested itself you're not going to solve that you have to understand why that happened the way that it did and then solve the problem from that level that's where a solution gets implemented from the plane of causality what caused this what was the cause of that set this situation into motion we need to look at the Y that underlies and precedes the manifested reality that's where all the power to affect that change that we are seeking lies none of the power lies in the plane of effects so that's something we talked about for the last several weeks and the last couple of weeks we looked into a topic that always sets off a great amount of debate but I'm I'm happy to see that more people agreed with my statement not my and I'm not going to call it my opinion on the matter on my statement that when we look at the question of who is more morally culpable okay I understand both groups of people in this dynamic are morally culpable but that's not what the question is see people have a hard time hearing what's actually asked a question gets asked and they hear what they want to hear as opposed to the real question that has been been asked and the question posed over the last couple of weeks was who is more morally culpable maybe I should take this slide down in the slides and take it back into my editor and underline the word maybe make the word more red and hot and underline it like six times and then maybe people will hear the question properly when they read it in their mind maybe that's what needs to be done people need visual cueing like that okay the question is who is more morally culpable the order giver or the order follower and I've made the statement over the last couple of weeks that there is a correct answer this isn't a trick question it's not a matter of opinion there is a correct answer to this question and the correct answer is the order follower is always always more morally culpable because he is the individual that is performing the action actually doing the thing that is commanded by the order giver the person who takes the action bodily in the physical world to make the request or the order however you want to look at it a manifested reality and put it into the plane of effects to allow it to manifest itself whereas if they were not to have done that action it could not have manifested itself that individual who is the order follower in our scenario is always not sometimes always 100% of the time blanket statement another thing people hate hearing and they think there's no such thing as a true blanket statement and this is mine control okay 100% of the time is the one who is more morally culpable that doesn't excuse the order Giver as being not morally culpable they most certainly are but they are not as morally culpable as the order follower that is the truth and we under we looked at the reasons why that is the truth last week so I encouraged people to show that slide to other individuals and try to set off a debate about that and it won't be hard to do because people have wildly differing views on this and there are some individuals who understand the correct answer and why that what I just explained is the correct answer to that question and there are many people who have a completely uninformed brainwashed and mind-controlled opinion about that answer because they've never really sat down and thought about it from a perspective of conscience they've never really looked at it from a true logical point of view because you could solve this conundrum seeming conundrum I should say with pure logic alone but if you bring conscience into the equation if you have an awoken conscience at any level you could simply look at that image that's behind that question as I encouraged people to do last week contemplated really look at it imagine the scenario regardless of where it is or what time in history that happens to be and ask the question who did this who actually did the actions that led to this manifestation in reality and I guarantee you it was no one who gave the orders I guarantee you it was everyone who followed them is who did that action depicted there in slide number five so with that having been said let's move on to the real meat of the discussion here today which is why and we're going to look at this over many weeks okay we're going to look at this in different sections okay why do dominators or if you will order followers why do whether there are even order givers or followers why do dominators in general behave in the ways that they behave now one of the first things that of course you will need to look at and understand especially when you're dealing with the high-level dominators is that as I talked about earlier on the show there is such a thing called psychopathy and there is primary and secondary psychopathy today we'll deal a little bit with looking at what makes a secondary psychopathy but we will not be touching on primary psychopathy perhaps I'll do a show on that in the future but again that is a small percentage and it is the exception to the rule let's call it primary psychopaths are so small in number that again their actions could be mitigated easily if we took the vast majority of people who are under secondary psychopathy or not caring and healed those individuals because they are capable of being healed secondary psychopathy has a solution it has a cure it is possible with great effort with work to heal individuals in a state of secondary psychopathy there is no known cure or reversal for primary psychopathy it seems to be a genetic disorder or a disorder that is inherent to the human genome the way our genes currently are written so to put a whole lot of time into looking at primary psychopathy I almost see as pointless you know it's like trying to say why are there Lions on the earth why are there these types of animals why do birds exist while they do primary Psychopaths exist we could do a show where we look at the possible potentials of why they exist it would be quite interesting and a lot of speculation has been done on that and that's what a show like that would be it would be a great deal of speculation as to why that condition exists the why we're looking at is why do people who aren't primary psychopaths behave the way they do keep that in mind okay we're not talking about primary or genetic Psychopaths we're talking about people who currently are in the condition the psychological condition that they don't care that they don't want to know and that they want control over other people and this describes the vast vast majority of police and military personnel which is who we're really talking about here the order followers who are the ones who are really assuring in the dark new world order see it's called an order for a reason the people who are trying to bring it in who are bringing it in are the followers of that order and it has nothing to do with genuine order meaning orderliness as a matter of fact it means chaos for everyone we'll pick this up on the other side don't go anywhere you're listening - what on earth is happening we'll be right back welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm so we're just about to get into the the heart of the topic for today which is why do dominators behave the way that they do and I preface this by saying we're not talking about primary Psychopaths here there are different reasons for why they behave the way they do so this could apply to the general population this could apply to secondary Psychopaths and it most certainly applies to all of the individuals who operate in positions of quote power positions of quote Authority and I put those things in quotes because there's no such thing as power over other individuals there's only a claim of that there's no such thing as authority over other individuals that also only exists as a claim in someone's mind and then that claim must be accepted in the mind of another individual who doesn't understand reality who has a religious belief system last week we talked a little bit about the very concept that Authority is not only a religion it's a it's a cycle it's a psychological illness and people will upon entering a section like this in general people will immediately start making claims like I'm unqualified to speak on the subject because I'm not a clinical psychologist okay and my answer to this is no you're absolutely right I am NOT my knowledge goes a lot deeper than 99% of those individuals because it is derived from occult teachings that predate any of those quote Sciences okay and ultimately deals with human the science the true science of the human soul so I would say I'm eminently more qualified to talk about that as our other deep Oh cultists who are using a cult knowledge for the correct reasons what it's intended to be used for and you could even say who are using knowledge that was once occulted for the correct reasons because what I'm doing is do cultic this information so you could look at me as a light do cultist there's a new term for you okay and that knowledge is deeper than anything that's coming out of medical textbooks and scientific textbooks in the modern world it predates it is ancient and people have been working with this knowledge since time immemorial and the understanding of this knowledge has actually degraded into what you would call scientific knowledge scientific knowledge has pieces of occult knowledge but it is not the totality of it and I would say it doesn't even go as deep as a lot of the understanding that is contained in occult schools goes so I don't put any stock in somebody just because they have a degree I listen to what they're actually saying just because it's even written in a textbook doesn't make it legitimate doesn't make it real the question of who are you going to listen to ultimately has to go down to who has achieved results what works what actually creates the manifested reality you want to create so this is just like talking about addiction in 12-step programs it's the same thing we're trying to get people out of an addiction here that's what a cycle is a cyclical pattern of behavior isn't an addiction so a lot of these 12-step programs and you know programs under this guru or that guru they don't necessarily have the key in hand the true understanding of why that it became that way which is what you need if you're going to ultimately change that addiction to break that cycle and free yourself from behaviors that you don't want to currently see because they create more and more chaos and never create true order so here's an image number 6 the mascot for what on earth is happening ok the Merovingian is now the official show mascot I hope people like that okay because as we talked about this allegorical this fictional character in the allegory the matrix gives people the deep occult secret the deepest occult secret really he explains to them the causality is everything that if you don't understand the laws of cause and effect you have no power you are powerless to affect change and that's all the choices really are in our world that's all they're about those with power those without power those who have power to actually effect real change that's real power that's where real power lies not the illusory power of controlling other people you don't have the right to do that you have the right to control your own thoughts emotions and actions and exactly nothing else self control is legitimate and real that's what real power is ultimately derived from self control self-love mastery of self embracing true self hood an individuality and sovereignty and the understanding of natural law rights and the rights of all others choosing how to behave within that context within that framework within those parameters of natural law and deciding the right over the wrong actually choosing the right over the wrong that's what the exercise of conscience is as we talked about on previous shows so in image number six here I put the Merovingian up because what we're altering here is we're trying to get one of those keys that met if you will the master key is the answer to the question why and most people don't want to look that deeply they want to look at the symptom they want to look at the actual external circumstance and say oh I just don't want that to be that way well good luck to you because without understanding why it's that way you'll never change it good luck enjoy what you have it's not going to get any better if that's your your level of digging for what what made it that way is you say I don't well I don't need to know why it got that way you know what I liken this to I fix computers for Federal Reserve notes since that's what people generally take for food because they're under the mind-control that money is real but I'll fix computers for individuals and I'll sometimes see things that they did to create a problem and say you know I could explain why it got this way and perhaps that will not make it happen again and you know I don't have to do that because that could potentially avoid me a customer it can make this customer not experience that problem again and then I won't be I won't be needed or called again and I'll make less money but I still offer to show them and you know what over 75% of the time the answer that comes back is I don't want to know just fix it and then you know it'll probably happen again and I'll just call you to come and fix it again and that doesn't make me happy actually you know I I don't really want it to be that way I would rather the person want to knows to avoid the problem because I'm genuinely trying to help keep something running smoothly and orderly I'm not just about the money I'm trying to do a good job but over 75% of the time don't bother me with that I don't want to know I don't want to know how it works just fix it and that is almost assuredly going to result in a reoccurrence of the problem a real manifestation of the same issue because in their knowledge or I should say I'm sorry in their ignorance in their lack of knowledge of the cause of the problem they're operating at the plane of effects never getting to the understanding of why that reality manifested that they don't want and therefore they're trapped in a cycle a sigh kill yeah green language a cycle killing of the mind to do things over and over and over and over again with the same result is does result from the mind being dead the psyche being dead not being in touch with the inner recesses of the human psyche to understand the why so the Merovingian is our official host for this section the cycle of violence the cycle of abuse and victimhood we'll pick this up on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening we all behind the girl I'll make my mind that's why they call me ladies and gentlemen this next hour of what on earth is happening is brought to you by the Merovingian the person who challenges and taunts you to understand the why because without the Y you have no power and you are just another link in the chain so let's continue let's look at what is this cycle this cycle the thing that ultimately crushes the human psyche and we go around and around and around this is all about preventing another cycle or another revolution of the great wheel of suffering I tell people everything I do on this show is to avert another revolution another forceful revolution we need a solution we need the soul at ion a solution to be implemented at the soul level of the individual and only a solution will take us out of the cycle the revolution of the wheel we're doing the same thing over and over and over expecting different results never looking at the cause never rising up to the plane of causes to look at the why well if we see behaviors taking place in other people and we want them to change we first of all have to really ask ourselves are these behaviors present in us you have to look within first because if you're part of the problem you're not part of the solution you're helping to perpetuate that dynamic which is leading to more and more disorder more and more suffering more and more chaos ok so the first thing you have to do is be willing to look within and be honest with yourself about what has happened to you how you've reacted to it how you've dealt with past trauma how you've dealt with past situations are you in the present moment a big part of this of what we'll be getting into is present moment awareness this subject ties directly in with present moment awareness on so many different levels people can't let go of a painful experience that happened in the past they keep reliving it they want to somehow make up for it by a new action it's called transference you're transferring a traumatic thing that happened in the past you're projecting it into a new situation and then you're treating that situation as if somehow doing this kind of destructive behavior here in the present moment is going to make up for that past trauma or it's going to make it right or it's gonna rectify it somehow this is flawed logic it's flawed thinking this is all because of the unwillingness to accept that which has already occurred and that which has already occurred we've talked about many many many times is called the truth truth is that which has occurred people don't want to accept truth they want to make up they want to be the arbiters of it they want to deny it most of all we can't slip into patterns of denial this is about direct confrontation with what is the embrace of truth that's the first step we need to make when looking at why certain behaviors are present we'll take a look at the the chart that is the hub of this information on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting we're just about to get into the crux of the matter or today which is the abuse victim cycle why do people who desire power over other people act the way they do what made them that way and the this is not the entire answer to that question but it is a big part of it okay we're going to look at some other things that contribute to it but you could say as a general guiding dynamic the thing that makes them that way is the experience of trauma and then they develop the desire to control because they're trying to regain power that was denied to them during the traumatic experience they had no power in that situation they had perhaps had no control at all and it was done completely against their will and therefore they go into a low state of consciousness that is in the r-complex of the brain fight-or-flight mode and you're not thinking critically you're certainly not asking why at that point you're just reacting you're not actually taking any action you're reacting you're taking reaction it becomes a stimulus response game at that point so let's look at this flowchart that I've put together for the show today in image number seven so we can understand how this abuse cycle perpetuates itself it's almost a it's almost a mechanism that runs itself that's how insidious this is it's like it's like a machine that is so difficult to break out of this pattern and so few people understand this pattern so a few people have ever looked at this information from a psychological standpoint at the top of the flowchart we're talking about situations that involve an abuser and a victim so I call it I say this is where traumatic or chronic abuse occurs the type of abuse does not even have to be it for an extended period of time it could be sudden and traumatic or it could be chronic it could be prolonged over a long period of time whether deliberately or other circumstances you just led to the formation of certain conditions and you're trapped in that condition we're all in a condition of chronic abuse chronic stress okay right now our whole society is a system of chronic stress that is ultimately trying to push us into one of the two negative pathways as you can see just by glancing at the image there are two negative pathways and one positive one the middle pathway that comes off of the top of the flowchart is the solution but unfortunately it is taken by the least amount of individuals and it is very rare for individuals to go down that metal path very rare I would say over 95 or greater percent of individuals that's an educated guess go down the left-hand path or the right-hand path on this flowchart and end up repeating the cycle so let's take a look at what these negative pathways are and then we'll briefly expect expand on what the solution is which is really this whole section of this podcast is the solution of how we need to change our self in our mind through knowledge we will get to that later let's talk about the the results that are generally seen in the world the vast majority of people manifest these results when chronic trauma or abuse is taking place what occurs in the mind of someone who is the victim of abuse what actually takes place within their psyche often they're in such a physical if it's physical abuse they want to try to make the physical violence go away therefore they may try to escape and if they are incapable of escaping they will go into sometimes a psychological condition of an altered state of consciousness this is a defense mechanism of the mind we talked about this when we talked about trauma-based mind control and how they dark occultists deliberately tried to put people into this physical abusive situation this physical trauma that they have no ability to escape from because they're being physically held captive and that will fracture the mind into multiple personalities or alters that can then be programmed when the abuse is physical the person either attempts to escape if they can't escape they might go into an alter but ultimately one of the things that is happening underneath the surface of the fight-or-flight mechanism that they inevitably go into everyone practically everyone does when there is some kind of trauma or abuse situation present one of the things that takes place is the beginning of a psychological state known as identification the person is trying to make some sort of semblance of sense with the events that are taking place that are chaotic and painful that result in suffering the mind wants to say how could I possibly bring a resolution to this what are my options so a Hegelian dialectic of sorts starts to be formed when in fact these two dialectical choices that most people form within the psyche are both incorrect they're both wrong they're both negative pathways and the positive pathway often never occurs to them simply because they don't have enough knowledge of self there are not already in possession of enough knowledge of self when the trauma is occurring had they been in deep knowledge of self upon the time of the trauma being experienced they may not choose one of these net to negative pathways of identification see the middle path is the path of the true self the one who has a self who has not abandoned himself and we're gonna see as we move forward on this chart why this applies to people in positions of so-called authority or dominators who think that they have a right to do things to other people that they have no such right and again mostly what we're really trying to get to the heart of it who are talking about is military and police so we'll pick up and continue to expand the ideas on this flowchart in slide number seven on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting stay with us we'll be right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark Hasse oh my website what on earth is happening dot-com we're looking at the abuse victim cycle understanding why dominators often behave the way that they do why is there this desire for control over other individuals why will people continue to do things that are not within the parameters of natural law and inherent rights to other individuals and it isn't just because they're being paid that's part of it because that's another religion that they have the religion of money that's their God in this world but a deeper motivating factor can be understood if we understand the factors that perpetuate the cycle of violence in general what I call on slide number 7 the abuse victim cycle so traumatic circumstances or chronic abuse occurs the person goes down one of three pathways almost never taking the middle pathway but going into one of the two extremes the middle pathway leads to healing true healing the extreme pathways lead to identification and the two things that someone who is experiencing trauma will choose to identify with one or the other is either the abuser or the victim the one who is being abused think about it let's look at a situation with a child right who is watching his mother be abused by his father this is a good example of this form of identification that involves a third party that is an experiencer now I didn't I didn't put that the person is necessarily the victim I I deliberately left that term out of this flowchart because I'm calling the person this chart is basically applying to the experiencer of the traumatic circumstances or the experience or of abuse you can be a third party experience er to abuse and this is a perfect example of it a child who may not be being abused himself he's in an abusive environment the mother of the child is being physically abused by a dominator father let's say the child and the mother are both probably going to go into these states of identification with either victimhood or abuser but the child moreover is going to look at the situation if they're old enough to even understand that at all even if they're not old enough to really understand it at the subconscious level they're going to be already in this state of identification and be making this dichotomous choice as I say this is a dialectic at work in the human psyche they will say I want I'm going to identify with either the abuser the father or the victim the mother in this situation of abuse or trauma and if the individual in any traumatic circumstance we could continue with this example of the child looking at someone else being abused or even them being abused themselves whether it be physical mental verbal emotional sexual abuse it applies in for any of those situations if the identifies the experiencer identifies with the abuser the one who is doing the wrong doing the harm he will often do that because somewhere in the psychological makeup he's saying I have two choices there's two dynamics there's abuser and and victim these are the dynamics that are taking place someone doing the abuse someone receiving the abuse so the mind the psyche tries to break down this data by saying I need to make a choice I need to identify with one or the other of these roles when both in fact are the wrong answer okay and if they identify with the abuser they're doing that because they have chosen what they have perceived erroneously to be the person who is in the superior position who is stronger because they were able to do this violence to the other individual that's flawed erroneous logic obviously but nonetheless this is how someone who does not have a lot of knowledge who does not have deep knowledge of self arrives at an erroneous conclusion so they have identified with the abuser in this circumstance now let's take a look at what happens once someone identifies with the abuser for whatever deep psychological reasons that occurred okay we know that this is a wrong choice just as the experiencer becoming identified with the victim would also be a wrong choice but let's take a look at what the manifested results are upon this false choice on the left being made okay the person still has undergone the trauma that's not has not changed so they have residual effects from the trauma see once you get out of fight-or-flight mode that's not usually the end of trauma the limbic system which is where emotion are made possible to be generated and then experienced in the body it holds on to traumatic circumstances as well and and exchanges information with the both the higher-order brain the neocortex which is trying to rationally analyze the situation if that can ever really be done with trauma because it's not a rational act okay abuse is not a rational act certain traumatic events that happen in nature have you know reasons for them that aren't you know because of madness of people but we're leaving that aside for a moment we're talking about human generated events here the limbic brain communicates both with the neocortex or the telencephalon actually the higher brain and the lower brain which is the r-complex so in turn in trauma the arc complex is dominant in fight-or-flight mode in abusive situations and circumstances therefore the negative emotions are going to be predominant in the neocortical part of the brain in other words you're going to be experiencing a lot of fear and anger and hatred and what we would call negative emotion not necessarily emotions that should never ever exist or be present but just ones that produce negative situations and things that in the body produce more suffering more illness more disorder these negative emotions can be channeled in various ways they can be truly dealt with through knowledge most of all knowledge of self or they can be funneled in two directions which they probably should not be funneled in they could be sent outward and directed against other P or they could be directed inward against the self not actually dealt with and transmuted but actually used against oneself we're going to look at both of these situations as regarding negative emotions on the other side of the break we'll be right back don't go anywhere you're listen welcome back you're on Oracle broadcasting talking about the abuse victim cycle and what happens when the experiencer of abuse identifies with his abuser the negative emotions that have built up during the abuse or trauma are usually funneled or channeled into one of two equally erroneous paths they're not actually dealt with from a perspective of knowledge and willpower because this requires higher level knowledge of self especially this is especially true for trauma that takes place during childhood because the the individual has not really had that much experience to take in the knowledge of self so when this happens during childhood it's even worse and unfortunately that's what has occurred in a lot of people who go into these positions police military government agents etc in a lot of ways they're all still in a state of childhood because they have not really dealt with this at a psychological adult level at an emotional adult level and still don't have the knowledge in hand to be able to deal with the trauma that they have experienced they need to do a whole lot more work upon the self a whole lot more digging about the nature of consciousness and reality and self you have to look in the mirror and most people don't want to do that but to go back to the negative emotions they could either be channelled outwardly in which you're then looking for someone else to take out this negative emotion upon or you can channel it in wordly and start looking for ways to do a number on yourself and a lot of people fall into that category as well they do abuse to themself so when the negative emotions are turned outward the experiencer of the the initial trauma becomes like the abuser I shouldn't have even written becomes abuser that's almost like somebody might think well he is now the abuser and that's his actual self that's his essence that I should have put double quotes around the word becomes okay he takes on the role of abuser now he is not only identified with it and turned his emotions as negative emotions as a result of the initial trauma or abuse outward to other individuals he has now fully stepped into the role of the abuser and decided this is how I'm going to live my life and these are the kind of behaviors I'm going to live out in the world because I've decided my my you know he doesn't know it but his erroneous choice his completely wrong choice of the identification with the abuser has told him well you have to go out and be the abuser otherwise this will happen to you again and again when in fact he can can choose to break that cycle again most people fall into one of these left or right pathways and never go down that mental pathway to the solution so when the experiencer becomes an abuser right he could experience himself either way he's taking on the role of the abuser he's going to do abuse at this point he's going to actually start abusing someone so he'll do it to whoever's present usually - if the truth be told when an experiencer becomes an abuser and now they are the new abuser they are abusing both others and self if you look at any form of abuse it's it's both because we're all connected we are all ultimately one at a fundamental level we're all in the same situation there is one consciousness here at a fundamental level as one suffers all are experiencing suffering there's just individuals who have not recognized that truth yet still living on planet Earth as a matter of fact they're the majority the vast majority so once the experiencer of trauma or abuse steps into the role himself as abuser he looks for others to abuse and he can also do some abuse to self either way the cycle is perpetuated it goes through another stage and now as he abuses others they go back to the top of the flowchart and the cycle starts over again and therefore you have more and more accumulation of not only these negative emotions not only these negative pathways of dealing with those traumatic experiences but you have more and more abusers and victims being created so of course let's look at the other side how is the victim created well the top of the chart really starts with the victim it's an abuser end victim situation but trauma for it to be done to someone that person has been the victim they didn't deserve it it was done to them you know and you could look into enabling there is such a thing as a CO abuse you know where the person is actually not really doing anything to get out of the situation they're allowing it to continue I would say the American people are Co abusers of themself they're not only being abused their rights are being abused but they're doing it to themselves at some level by not saying no and it's ultimately because they don't know their rights that knowledge isn't there they don't know what right and wrong actually is the definitive knowledge of objective right and wrong under natural law they're certainly not on that middle pathway they're in this right-hand path where the experiencer of the abuse has identified with the victim not with the abuser and if they identify with the victim they may be doing that because they're saying well look at what's being done to this person they don't deserve that I would rather be in that situation than the person who's doing the wrong at least in this situation they recognize the other the abuser has no right to do what they're doing but they're still making an erroneous dialectical choice by identifying with the victim and that's not to say please don't confuse this with me saying don't sympathize or empathize with a victim okay it what I'm saying here is there's they're projecting themselves into the role of victim and saying if given the choice between abuser and victim I'll choose the victim that's what the that's what the process of identification is so when the person steps into this identified choice of choosing the victim instead of the abuser their negative emotions that they've experienced during the trauma are not being directed outwardly but they're turning them inward upon themselves so they're still not dealing with the actual situation the actual trauma the actual emotions that were generated as a result of that they're taking all of that bawling it up keeping it inside the selves not dealing with it turning it inward upon themselves and then what happens as a result of that is they start actually doing abuse to themselves they become the victim now there's two ways to do abuse to oneself directly or indirectly so when the experiencer quote becomes the victim okay they taste up into the role of the victim after this abuse or trauma has taken place to them and they've turned their emotion their negative emotion inward they could either do direct abuse to themself okay which they're the victim see in that middle one at the bottom in that middle part of the flowchart at the very bottom experience or abuse itself in that instance they're both the abuser and the victim that's why they both come together there at that point and that's what our society is abusers and victims on the far right hand side underneath when the experiencer becomes a victim they could allow themselves to be victimized by others by never standing up for their rights self-loathing is a big part of this welcome back folks last segment of what on earth is happening for today's show time does fly we're talking about the abuse victim cycle and we completed the flowchart in the last segment and what I wanted to reiterate was that anywhere you end up as a result of taking these two pathways at the bottom of this chart whether an abuser of others an abuser of self or one who allows themselves to be abused by others to be victimized by others the cycle perpetuates and continues you have not broken out of that actual cycle and the suffering and chaos experienced with continued abuse and trauma continues only through applied knowledge care and willpower can this cycle ever be broken and it starts with knowledge ladies and gentlemen you have to actually have the knowledge of self you could say actually that's even you could say that that's not correct it really has to start with care you have to care enough to want to break the cycle want to understand enough about the self so that you don't make one of these false choices in this false dichotomy between identifying with the abuser or identifying with the victim that's the only way that you can get out of this cycle you have to understand why this cycle perpetuates itself by knowing enough about the human psyche and this false dichotomies choice refusing to identify with either the victim or the abuser because you are neither of those at your fundamental essence the higher self knows that this game should not be played that all end up being played by it as a result of stepping into either one of these rolls these identifications you have to say they're both bunk and I want no part of any of this I'm not going to play the control game where there's all abusers and victims I'm going to step outside of it and recognize I am a true unique individual that is that is sovereign under natural law rights and other people also are sovereign as am I and I have no right to engage in these abusive tendencies that may have been done to me in the past but I'm going not I'm not going to do that to other people so the only way you ever get out of the cycle is by understanding why you have to know what creates this false choice and why it only leads to more suffering in the perpetuation of the cycle those who don't understand that are gonna make one of those false choices and they're gonna go right back into the exact same situations circumstances and manifested results let's look at a couple of quick situations okay a boy is beaten by his father throughout his childhood he identifies with the abuser the father his negative emotions about being beaten throughout his childhood ultimately are turned outward against other people he may become a bully okay then he's going to want to try to take on a role later in life that allows him to continue to channel those negative emotions outward against other people so he becomes the abuser he may join the military or the police where he perceives that he's going to be allowed to take out physical aggression on others and therefore he may abuse others externally so he may go into the army and commit some atrocities under orders that he follows ever so readily because that's all he's being he wants to do is just being be unleashed on someone else to take out this pent-up aggression and frustration then when he comes home he may become a cop or a mercenary right and continue that that which he's always known perhaps the only thing he's always known or maybe he'll be come home after doing those atrocities and at some subconscious level recognizing just how wrong they are he may go and drink and become an alcoholic and abused the self let's look at an example how about a child who watches their parent their parent their mother be abused by an abusive father okay well he identifies with the victim let's say not the abuser and then hit let's say it's a female child right the negative emotions of seeing this happen turn inward they become reclusive they become pent up they become isolated perhaps maybe even self-loathing thinking well I didn't couldn't do anything about it etc all kinds of thoughts can creep in but in in any event the person takes on a self-loathing attitude and ultimately becomes like the victim and then they'll either fall into a pattern perhaps will fall into a pattern of self abuse maybe through alcohol or drugs or they will fall into the same pattern and find you know a significant other that may be abusive and then they stay in the role as victim because that's all they've known and the cycle repeats itself in their life this happens so much more frequently than anyone realizes there's a couple of examples what about the example where the person who witnessed the trauma identifies with the abuser then they will become like an abuser and maybe perpetuate the same abuse in relationships that they have child watching his father beat on his mother saying oh look that person is the weaker this person is the stronger I need to make sure I don't end up like my mother I'm gonna you know step into the role of my abusive father that he you know takes on I'll be more like him because I don't want to end up like mom so his negative emotions or you know pent up and he turns them outward on other people through this identification he becomes the abuser in the relationship that he is in and again that also goes hand in hand with self abuse as well because so many of these people who have this kind of mentality this psychology drink as well they become alcoholics they become drug addicts and that perpetuates the cycle as well because they're in a state of not understanding in an imbalanced mind state brought on by the abuse of substance and they can't break that cycle ultimately see on image number eight I put there this is the flaw that our that most people step into regardless of which side of this equation you're on since I've suffered I need to cause suffering in some way that is the the absolute wrong negative erroneous mindset to take on I didn't have time I was rushed in getting these image images up today I wanted to put jail cell bars across this image to show that this is the mentality of a person who is trapped in a prison cell in a cage that they're never getting out of as long as they think like that maybe I'll do that and repost the image okay but that's the mentality of a slave that can never actually break their chains the only way the only way to ultimately break this cycle is to heal the psyche the psyche is in a cycle it has been destroyed if the psyche is healed through knowledge of self then you will begin to understand why these situations and circumstances not only were created but are perpetuated and then you're in a position with that knowledge in hand to break that abuse victim cycle but not a moment before until that knowledge is grasped as the key to creating this change in the realm of causality not in the realm of effects where the abuse and victimhood takes place but in the understanding of the psyche which is the causal realm that leads to that negative manifested reality if we understand the circumstances and situations in the psyche or causal realm that led to that manifestation then all the power flows into our hands and we're in a position to create great and lasting change that's all the time we have for this week folks I'll see you here next week on what on earth is happening right here on Oracle broadcasting freedom mat that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Mark Pascoe [Music] welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website Oracle broadcasting dot-com the show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time that's 4 to 6 p.m. Central here on Oracle broadcasting today is Sunday June 3rd 2012 we have a great show lined up for you here today we're going to be continuing talking about solutions we're going to be continuing to talk about the non support of dominators as one of the most important solutions for us to understand and to enact in our lives if we're going to really change the manifested realities that we are experiencing right now in this world that we do not wish to experience and part of what we're going to talk about today is more reasons why dominators behave in the ways that they do this is so critically important to understand the why what is going on in the psychology of a Dominator in a person that wants to coerce and control other people what is taking place in their mind what has taken place in their past that that compile it drives them that gives them the compulsion to want to do these types of things to want to enact these types of behaviors often times they don't know it themselves so us becoming aware of it is a huge part of the solution to that problem I have a couple of quick event announcements and I'll try to get through this in this segment if not we'll pick it up in the next one I was interviewed this past Monday evening May 28th on the radio show out of Montreal Quebec Canada called two guys one girl on the radio h2o network and that went really well the interview is up on the news section of what on earth is happening calm topics of the discussion on two guys one girl included the current protests that are taking place up in Canada right now we talked about the planes of causality in effect we talked a lot about natural law and I got into a little bit of the dark occult mockery of the military and the police so if you're interested in checking out that show it is the podcast is linked up on the news section of what on earth is happening also finally I have the finalized information about the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 here in the city of Philadelphia coming up next month in July July 7th through 10th the the Nikola Tesla energy independent celebrations and it's going to comprise it's gonna be comprised of basically three different events there's the Tesla science conference the awards ceremony and concert featuring the divine hand ensemble and a Tesla Knight birthday party thrown right in front of Independence Hall at the independence Visitor Center here in Philadelphia I'm going to tell you a little bit more information about these three great events as part of the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations right after this break stay with us they're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone we're back you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm before the break I was telling everyone a little bit about the upcoming conference here in Philadelphia in July around Tesla's birthday the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 hosted by the Tesla Science Foundation I'm going to be a part of this event I'm going to actually be hosting sort of a a workshop or a brainstorming session if you will in a in a secondary area of the conference not in the main conference hall but I'm gonna be leading a discussion group about Tesla Royal Raymond rife Edward Leedskalnin and Wilhelm Reich all individuals who work with advanced technologies and who worked with resonance and frequency and we're gonna have a brainstorming session about how we can really bring these four gentleman's incredible visions for a brighter human future to manifestation because they all had solutions to problems which plagued humanity and they were all basically stopped from accomplishing for from implementing those solutions and accomplishing that uplift of humanity that is so desperately needed through such technologies as they championed and pioneered and discovered so that'll be a smaller part of the conference but I want to tell you a little bit more about the three main events the Tesla science conference there's going to be many speakers to be announced will be taking place the weekend Saturday and Sunday of July 7th and 8th and it's going the whole day from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and it will be taking place at rubra Hall we did secure a new venue again I let people know a few couple weeks back that we had lost our venue at Liberty to place one of the big skyscrapers here in Philadelphia we had a whole floor that we were doing this Tesla science conference in previous years but we are now going to be moving it to Ruby Hall which was as people will recall the location of the freer mind conference and worked out very well for that purpose so we're working with the folks at Ruby Hall and the Tesla science conference will be taking place there Ruby Hall is at 414 Green Street here in Philadelphia tickets for the conference are only $25 per day if you buy them in advance through the Tesla Science Foundation website and they will be $30 at the door on the days of the event there will also be social gatherings that will be taking place at the end of each day's conference from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. the cabaret room at rubra will be open on both days of the conference for discussion and just social gathering so the next big part of this event is the awards ceremony and concert a theremin concert featuring the divine hand ensemble who played for the last two Tesla celebrations and they're phenomenal act people really have to check them out to even believe it what this gentleman mono Davina can do with the the theremin which is an incredible beautiful instrument this is uh this concert will be taking place July 7th that's Saturday night at 8 p.m. after the main conference is over for that day and it will go until about 10:30 p.m. also at rubra Hall in the upstairs in the upstairs conference room tickets for the conference I'm sorry for the concert are separate and are only twelve dollars and then finally there'll be a Tesla night birthday party on the evening between July 9th and 10th from 10:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. at independence visitors center lawn at fifth and Market Streets here in Philadelphia this event is free to attend for the entire public and will feature live music and the demonstration of a large Tesla coil so that is the events for this year's Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations I hope to see a lot of people out there and get involved in a lot of great consciousness expanding discussions on Tesla and much more so for more information on this great conference coming up here in the city of Philadelphia you can visit wlwt's Tesla Science Foundation dot o-r-g okay let's jump into the subject material for today's show which is once again the non support of dominators if you're following if you want to follow along as always with these shows there are images for today's show posted underneath the radio show player on the radio show page of my website at what on earth is happening calm or you can look at these images with the podcast if you're following on the podcast page this is podcast number 110 so this section as always as the way out it's just solutions for changing consciousness and creating real and lasting change and positive change the solutions are listed on slide number two the section is depicted on slide number three the non-supportive dominators these would be been the three introductory slides for the last many weeks as always there are no for this section there are no calls from the public today because I'm putting - all call-in shows at the end of this section because I want to present this material uninterrupted but I am going to make an exception today for a special instance okay in keeping with the theme of the non-supportive dominators I have a very important question to ask a specific group of individuals so I'm going to open the lines only for a specific group of individuals and if none of them call I will tell you why I open the line at the end of the show okay but I don't want to present the question I want them to call in and allow me to ask question that they don't know what it's going to be until I actually ask it to them on the air this call-in line will be open and listen very specifically please to who I want to call only those who have served in world war ii only those who have actually served in world war ii in any capacity of combat operations I don't want a World War two veteran who is had a desk job or you know some other ancillary position I want to combat someone who saw combat in the European theater of operations preferably if you were in combat during World War two in the European theater of operations that is the only person I'm people I'm opening up the lines to today so if you call in and you're not someone who saw combat during World War two and the European theater I'm hanging up on you okay immediately that's and I want you to tell a little bit about what you know you are involved in okay what capacity you served in in in the World War two okay so if you meet that criteria you can call into the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five toll-free eight six six eight four one one zero six five I'm only taking calls once again from World War two combat veterans who operated in the European theater of operations okay that's it you're not that individual don't call but I know that that limits it and obviously the person want to be probably fairly elderly at this point this far along it's almost difficult to find people who are still alive from from this era but if you meet that criteria call in world [Music] we're back everyone we were talking about the abuse victims cycle and how it is perpetuated through the identification with the abuser or the victim and how the way out of that is through true self respect and knowledge of self knowledge of how these issues build in the human psyche if they're undealt with if they are not confronted if they are not looked at so that is the answer healing through applied knowledge knowledge of the psyche knowledge of the self through care the wanting to correct an imbalance that is present and then will actually taking the time to work upon the self and to actually do that healing it's a rarity when anyone takes that narrow path toward that healing most people take the approach that is shown in image number six which I showed at the end of the show last week which is the person who has been beaten down and then takes on the attitude of since I have suffered therefore I shall cause suffering to others and what I said last week is that I didn't really have time to before the show last week to put the bars that I wanted to put over this image like a jail cell so I got around to doing that for this week's show image number seven shows exactly what that mentality is that mentality is the mentality of a slave who is locked away in a prison and will never get out of that prison for as long as he takes that attitude since I've caused since I have experienced suffering that I have to cause suffering to other people and perpetuate that cycle of abuse and violence and as long as that's the attitude taken by individuals they're gonna end up just like that jail the cage and I don't mean in an actual physical jail cell or prison I'm talking about they're going to be jailed within their own consciousness and the conditions that they dwell in are always going to be confining they're always going to be like a prison their experience is going to be like a prison and that's why humanity is in the situation that it's in because most people take this attitude I called it the attitude of a slave last week you know people who think that they're gonna somehow make it better by becoming abusive or even the opposite way by allowing the abuse to just continue unabated not get involved to actually do something to correct it I'm gonna play the victim role the woe is me role well what can I do things are so bad what can I do its victim mentality and that's largely the two states of imbalanced consciousness that most people in this society are trapped in either I'm going to go out and do harm to other people because people suck and that you know they've done bad things to me so why not go out and just do whatever I can get them before they get me and the other approaches well things are so bad and I've been beaten down so bad and everybody's so beaten down why bother to do anything let's just allow it to allow it to all fall apart and again this mentality is the prisoner mentality I shouldn't even say prisoner a prisoner may not want to be confined it's the willing inmate mentality that's actually a better description because a willing inmate goes along with all of the conventions and rules of the prison and through that mental attitude through that psychological state they're ensuring that the prison cage bars stay locked and sealed you know prisoner necessarily doesn't want his imprisonment he may just happen to be in in that condition of being in prison but he wants to get out so there's prisoners here on earth and there's willing inmates I would say if this is your attitude you know since I've suffered I'm gonna go and cause some suffering then you're a willing inmate not a prisoner who seeks really true freedom so let's look at why people take this attitude that's the important thing understanding that there's people out there who have this attitude is one thing but let's understand why they have it okay so one of the reasons that people again there's many reasons for this psychologically what we really want to look at is a couple of the deeper seeded psychological aspects of why people think this way okay so one of the first things is feelings of inadequacy dominators often have deep-seated innate feelings of inadequacy and sometimes those feelings are well-founded okay that they are inadequate in certain ways but they don't want to do the real work to improve upon those inadequacies in self okay and it is true that inadequacies can exist and be real okay yeah not everybody is born with the same innate talents capabilities and gifts it's that's just the case some people have to really work on doing something that is beneficial for themselves you know they have to really apply themselves in many cases far in far greater ways than some people who things come naturally or easily too but we want to look at specific forms of inadequacy that is that are foremost when it comes to a Dominator a person who is turning those inadequacies toward the coercion of another human being that's the main thing we want to look at so these two specific and addict wheeze inadequacies that I'm going to be talking about some people will have a problem with some people will be offended by this and again I say go ahead if you want to be offended be as offended as you want I'm talking about things that are real things that are actually going on and things that we need to look at with a mature perspective and a mature attitude if we're going to understand what is happening and why so one of the inadequacies is and you know the first image that I've put here dealing with this is image number 8 and it's kind of a comical one there's a gentleman sitting there and he's looking depressed and he says I feel so inadequate and that one of his friends or one of his associates says to him everyone thinks that and he answers and he says everyone feels inadequate and his friend says no everyone thinks you're inadequate and you know it's kind of a comical approach but to kind of lighten the mood but the whole point here is there are real inadequacies in certain individuals and they don't want to deal with them in proper ways in channels that are in harmony with natural law and that main way of dealing with it is through direct confrontation and introspection through developing true respect and looking within they want to take it out on other people because they feel bad so they you know the whole saying misery loves company they want to then take out their aggressions and their feelings of inadequacy of inadequacy on other people so that they make them as miserable as they are you know that's the entire problem here so one of the first inadequacies that we need to look at is intellectual inadequacy and intellectual inadequacy means is what it sounds like someone who happens to be challenged when it comes to being able to understand things and this is real this does exist there are different mental capacities for different individuals not everybody comes into the world having the same intellectual acumen or capabilities some people can learn things really easily some people really have to work a lot harder you know they have to really spend a lot of time and effort like building up a muscle okay building up the brain is very similar to building up the body you know if you sat and did nothing with the body muscles would atrophy and if someone threw you a medicine ball you know like an exercise ball you wouldn't be able to handle it it would practically knock you on your rear end because the muscles hadn't been used and they were not built up and they were not strong well some people who already are kind of weak physically you know they have a hard time when they first start to start to try to work out or to try to you know build up their muscles physically in a physical capacity and then they get discouraged so they don't bother you know this is hard it's hard to do it takes a lot of time it takes a lot of effort you know I have to use a lot of energy to do this and so they stop it's the same thing when it comes to building up the mind making the mind more powerful and stronger it takes work it takes time it takes effort we'll pick this up on the other side don't go anywhere folks we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Cassio my website what on earth is happening calm talking today about the reasons why dominators those who want to control and coerce others psychologically feel the way that they do why do they have these desires this is so critically important to understand we're talking about innate inadequacies within the individual that either they possibly cannot or will not work out on their own or with the help of others now one that can be helped is intellectual inadequacies because the mind can be worked upon it can be improved it is as we said like the muscles of the body that will atrophy if they are not used but if they are put to use they can be built up and made stronger you can look at an example of you know an individual who doesn't come through any form of Education whether it be even you know typical indoctrination outcome-based education even knowing the slightest little bit like it's like how they even got through the indoctrination techniques and and schooling is a miracle in its own right they were basically just pushed through by educators who don't want to see them left back so it makes a bad name on you know the educational institution the so-called educational institution that they're a member of you know we hear the stories of people reaching high school and they still really can't even read people getting to college on purely let's say sports scholarships just because they're good at a particular physical activity or sport and really they you know basically done ha throughout their entire schooling and again in no way am I even suggesting that this is real education but even in that left-brain intellectual capacity you could see the absolute inadequacy in the individual you know the dumb jock you know in high school who's the star of the football team but you know can't do basic algebra something like that there's a reason someone ended up like that it's because they started at some point in the past attempting to really use their mind attempting to understand things attempting to put their intellectual capacities into use and they saw it in relationship to perhaps someone else's and said wow I'm not good at this I'm not this is this is somehow really hard for me I don't understand not even nearly as well as maybe this person over here does and in their own mind they basically gave up at an early age and they said all of this thinking stuff isn't for me I just want to do things and the problem here doesn't even lie esses airily all with the individual it also lies with the system that they're involved in and it lies with the people that they were around because those conditions led to this feeling of inadequacy that could have been helped to go unaddressed and never to be dealt with certainly never to be dealt with by that individual through encouragement and through helping them to overcome this inadequacy because intellectual inadequacy can be overcome just takes more work for some individuals than it does for others so no one ever encouraged them or help them to give birth to that desire for self-improvement within themself oftentimes their parents or friends or teachers gave up on them and said all this person's beyond help and that isn't the case that isn't true everybody is capable of working with the mind everybody is capable of deeper levels of understanding some just may have to work on it harder than others that's all it isn't true that some people just are incapable of grasping it now maybe you could say if the brain deteriorates to a point where the conditions of the brain are so horrific so badly damaged that could be partially true and a lot of work would need to be done to help the person even get back to basic cognitive functions that would help them to understand anything deeper or anything at a philosophical level of understanding but it still can be done with enough effort and work the brain is very very very plastic meaning it can bounce back from even some of the most egregious abuses you would be surprised at how pliable and plastic the brain is and how it can come back from different self-imposed injuries to it and I don't necessarily mean physical injuries I'm talking about the kind of things that you see on in brain scans and the kind of things that diminish intellectual function in the brain and I've shown images of these types of scans before in the past on image number nine here I just put up another comical image of sorts with a person's brain looking completely empty it's actually an x-ray and it says space for rent and unfortunately this is where most of the people fall into the class of dominators really are people think oh they're oh they have to have a certain level of intelligence to do what they do actually many of them now have to prove that they don't have a certain level of intelligence to be admitted into doing what they're doing there are actual places in the United States where if you test above a certain IQ level you cannot go into the police force in that area this is actually what's taking place they don't want intelligent people capable of understanding what's really going on they want people who will listen to orders and follow like a robot or in other words what they really want is what is referred to generally as a posthuman someone who is completely annihilated the self the true aspects of the self within themselves and they don't have the qualities of humanity anymore we're going to talk about this we're going to talk about post the post human being one who has succumbed to the destruction of the self of true self hood the condition known as self less Ness the loss of the self that's going to be coming up probably next week on the show depending on what I whether I get through the material I want to cover today but that's going to be one of our next topics so I don't put an image up like this to to mock anybody but it is really the case that we're working with really damaged and I'm not talking about even metaphorically damaged individuals like they're damaged goods or something like that I'm talking about real brain damage real physical brain damage and that's exacerbated by the conditions that they're even going to be going into which is adrenaline pumping into the body in the brain and the bloodstream doing even more damage look at the diets of some of these individuals to understand why they think we're more accurate accurately don't think the they do their diets are horrific in many cases GMO Laden tonnes of sugar tons of artificial sweeteners like you could not believe in the diet of dominators particularly police i've sat and watched police near a police station here in philadelphia going over to a 7-eleven convenience store and just drinking diet soda like it's going out of style and eating hot dogs laden with nitrates and preservatives and you know all kinds of other horrific food additives Mountain Dew donuts full of hydrogenated oil unimaginable damage that they're doing to the body and brain and don't even know it in many cases that's another factor that plays into this why these people don't have the cognitive function that they should because they're destroying their body through poison that they're putting into it on a continual basis and then you know their television watchers you know they are you know they're and on any of their off time they're going right to that idiot tube and sitting there and worshiping at that altar with many of their other friends who think or I should say don't think just like they do I know it sounds harsh folks and I know it sounds like it's completely insulting but I'm just telling you the truth about what's really going on in these people's mind it needs to be healed by bringing it to people's attention we'll be right back don't go anywhere ound the world people are it [Music] okay everyone we're back jump right back into the subject matter which is looking at the reasons that dominators think the way that they do and we're looking at perceived or actual inadequacies in their makeup so some of them can be perceived I'm just not a good person they may have been told that you know I just can't understand things and it may not actually be true they might have the intellectual acumen to really grasp things or it could actually be real because of what has been done to their brain through certain conditions what they're doing to their own brain by putting themselves in chronic situations of stress which routes us in the r-complex of the brain where we can't do any higher-order thinking because higher-order thinking is done with the higher brain the telencephalon the neocortex of the brain particularly the prefrontal cortex as well which governs conscience moral thinking ethics you know a great book to check out by Malcolm Gladwell is I'm trying to think of the name of it was a about thin slicing about a blink it's called blink bri NK he talked about how we use the intuitive capacities of the brain to make judgments when we don't have a lot of information and this is what a part of a cop's job often is to thin slice the situation because they can't sit there and you know try to analyze every detail about what's going on and most of the time they don't come to accurate conclusions about what's really taking place they make a snap judgment that is out of harmony with truth because they're not don't have a developed intuitive capacity of their brain they're very left brain dominant and the intuitive capacities come from the right brain hemisphere they're not working with those elements of thought they're not working with that emotional empathic side of the personality they're always in linear left brain physical world survival mode that's all left brain in our complex the right brain and the emotional brain is largely left out of the equation in their line of work so all of these factors contribute to why these individuals don't have good logical thinking and also don't have good intuitive thinking and that's what holistic intelligence is about combining it's about combining logic with intuition or in other words left brain thinking with right brain thinking to come up with a holistically intelligent human being and I have to say ladies and gentlemen there really aren't any holistically intelligent dominators it doesn't matter what level you're at whether you're all the way down you know at security guard or police or you know a rent-a-cop or whether you're at general of an army up to you know a CEO of a bank or a Federal Reserve Chairman or somebody working at the International Bank of settlements or a high-level priest of the dark occult it's all left brained it's all none of it is holistic intelligence so yeah there is an actual inadequacy present in most of the people who do a job like this it isn't just imagined part of it can be a perceived thing that went on addressed and they do actually have the capacity for understanding but it's very few if any actually have a balanced brain and I have already arrived at a condition of true and balanced intelligence coming from both sides of the brain so we're going to look at other forms of inadequacy to contribute to their decision-making and patterns of behavior on the other side of the break that's coming up on this next hour of what on earth is happening stay with us everyone [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on the host mark passier okay we're talking about perceived or real inadequacies of people who join coercive institutions basically go and take out their pent-up frustrations out on other people against their natural law rights this is part of the abuse victim cycle but it's driven not necessarily by abuse but on not dealing with an inadequacy that is either perceived or real can be a form of abuse this just goes untreated this goes undealt with in the person's life and they build up those negative emotions by not dealing with it and then therefore they look to perpetuate that cycle of violence they want to take it out on someone we looked at intellectual inadequacy now let's take a look at another form of inadequacy that really has to be dealt with when it comes to trying to understand the psychological mindset of dominators and that's sexual inadequacy so when we're talking about sexual inadequacy we could basically be talking about two basic things we could really be talking about three basic things we're gonna get into the third a little bit later in the show but we could be talking about physical inadequacy and we can be talking about performance inadequacy when it comes to sexuality so for physical inadequacy you don't need to really have me spell it out or hopefully you don't but for a Dominator you know they may not feel like they are equipped in certain capacities there is an inadequacy there and they want to deal with that situation in a way that they don't have a right to deal with that situation okay I think most people can understand what I'm talking about without me really just coming right out and say it but this can also be performance related when it comes to bedroom issues okay and maybe they couldn't get the woman that they wanted to get maybe they couldn't keep the woman that they wanted to keep for certain reasons and therefore again there's this pent-up frustration pent up feelings negative emotions inadequacies that they're feeling within their psyche they don't want to address them they're often embarrassed by them whether physically embarrassed by them or embarrassed by certain situations that have taken place in their life in those capacities and they they don't want to deal with that they want to shove that emotion away they want to press repress it this is all about repression of negative emotion not actually dealing with things as they should be dealt with by looking at the self even if there is a real inadequacy there there are techniques and methods to make it better now with this physical aspect that I'm talking about part of that just involves accepting yourself for how you actually are and many people just cannot bring themselves to do that it isn't the end of the universe in most people's minds that seems to be all they're concerned about and that's why they go on the types of rampages that they do because they can't accept the way that they are we're going to talk about repressed homosexuality as well that's the third aspect of this sexual issue when it comes to why these people act the way that they do they don't want to deal with their own sexuality and embrace it and admit that they are a certain way because of the way it will be perceived or the way you know it will be seen by their family or friends or religion you know the way it's viewed in their religion in its dogma but when it comes to sexual inadequacies again some may be actual some may be perceived it also could be feeding the desire in a completely unhealthy way that leads to wanting more and more and more you know not actually tempering it not actually balancing it with anything of higher than physical higher than the physical domain people falling into the just the giving into the pleasures of the flesh that can lead to all kinds of other mental psychological disorders because they're out of balance it's all left brain it's all physical there's no dealing with anything spiritual or emotional there so out of touch with the emotional side of the self that they just want to rack up as many women in the sack as they possibly can and that could lead to deviant sexual behavior if that's not fulfilled that can lead to all kinds of other deviant mentalities and what and desires for control these aspects of the psyche have to be looked at openly and honestly it's something this is something we haven't talked about much on this show but it should be openly discussed so some of these individuals may feel like they're just not up to you know par in many ways okay performance wise maybe their girlfriend left them for a particular reason maybe their wife left them for a particular reason all kinds of ecological issues going now you say oh they give them a psychological test to make sure that they're psychologically sound well that isn't necessarily the case that this test actually proves that they're psychologically sound it proves that they're in a psychological condition that is adapted to the task that the people who are hiring them want them to perform that doesn't mean that there's real psychological balance present don't confuse the two things and think one is the same as the other because it's not psychological health and balance that I'm talking about is of a far higher standard than what someone is hired for a to be a cop or a military personnel upon they want to make sure that you're psychologically adapted in the ways they want you to be adapted so that you're pliable mentally and emotionally for their deeds that they're going to put you to task on they don't want real psychological balance present otherwise if you are in that condition of true balance you won't even be there asking them to give you a position in their dominator institution so they certainly don't want you in that level of balance they want you in a state of mind that you are willing to obey because you're going to an institution and giving yourselves over to them you're giving your body to them you're giving you actions to them ultimately you're giving away your conscience and saying I will obey I will do what you command whether it's in harmony with natural law or not something I know absolutely nothing about that's evident by the fact that I've shown up asking for this position [Music] we continue to look at this on the other side stay with us ladies and gentlemen G is the symbol for silver on the periodic [Music] [Applause] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark passio we're talking about perceived or actual inadequacies that are present in dominators who that they're basically fester within them and drive them to go into the institutions that they do so that they can take out pent-up frustrations and aggressions out on other individuals and for people that say oh this isn't psychologically accurate you need to go and do your homework and research what really goes on in the human mind and be honest about it because this is exactly what's taking place in other people's minds then make these decisions I know them better than they know themselves and I'm not afraid to say it trust me there's probably nothing going on in the minds of these individuals that I don't completely know about and part of the reason is because I've been there and I conquered that condition in myself true healing through introspection and self-awareness and hard work through an enormity of effort and through great suffering so we were looking at intellectual inadequacy and now we've shifted the focus and started to look at sexual inadequacy in these individuals whether perceived or real and you know look at these symbolic correlation to this hasn't anybody ever really looked at the fact that weapons of war and destruction are almost always phallic-shaped think about it Spears clubs gun and gun barrels bullets bombs missiles all of them are phallic-shaped do you think that's a coincidence or an accident or do you think something that is nested in the psyche is manifesting outwardly well if you think that's a coincidence I say you're a very naive individual to think that that's just a random coincidence because what's going on within the psyche always has an outward physical manifestation and because these individuals may be upset about the size of their gun or about their ammunition or something to that effect they want to go and take it out on other people they have that issue they have that problem and they need to go and take that aggression out because it hasn't things haven't worked out well in their life as a result of those things and they're not sated in certain ways so therefore I need to go and take out my frustration by making someone else's life miserable in some form and that will put me on equal par because I'm miserable in this way that'll put us on equal par the same slave mentality that I talked about earlier I have suffered and therefore I shall cause suffering to others let's make the big wheel of the abuse victim cycle turn again and again and trust me ladies and gentlemen there's nothing that these individuals or you could possibly bring to my attention that I don't already know about what's going on in their mind I've studied human psychology probably more than most people who would live a thousand lifetimes have and there's probably nothing these individuals could tell me about why they do what they do what they have experienced that I don't already know and I'm not saying that to be cocky or arrogant I'm saying that because it's the case because deep understanding of the occult is the deep understanding of the human psyche that's what it is that's why they're using these techniques and these manipulation efforts upon us that all hinge upon deep recesses of the human psyche to actually go to work and work upon us to get us to do what they want us to do that's how mind control operates you could call it psyche control if you want this is more than just the control of the mind it's the control of the decision-making capabilities and qualities of the mind that lead to the control of human behavior which trust me these dark occultists have an are gonna let go of easily the only way you're gonna get them to let go of it is understand the things that drive your decisions and the things that drive the decisions of these people who who think that they're in control and are being mocked and abused ritually and symbolically by these occultists who are really running the show and yet there's still people who will deny that the occult the dark occult lies behind the conditions of the world they're not the puppet masters many people deny the existence of the dark occult altogether because there are no nothing's and if they were in certain situations like I've seen or people who I've known seen they would take a crap in their pants like a two-year-old in his diapers to put it quite bluntly so we need to understand the deep-seated psychological motivations that are taking place in the recesses of the human psyche that are being preyed upon and manipulated by the dark occultists they understand these things they understand them as well as I understand them possibly better than I do because that they're holding some knowledge that is so ancient has been around for thousands of years within their bloodlines within their families within their institution that they're using against us they know us better than we know ourselves and that's the problem people aren't learning about these drives and desires within themselves and feelings of inadequacy and trying to work through them instead of taking out these aggressions on other people when they're there just pointed it in a direction just like a gun and then let loose and say go and do your worst go and take out your aggressions on these people that's why the dark occult call them their dogs literally call them their dogs their pets you're my pet my dog and it's not a slang term like yo dog no it means I own you like an animal on a leash and you sit when I tell you to sit you eat when I tell you to eat and you attack when I tell you it to attack and they say yes master right away let me sit when I'm told so I get my treat and let me attack and bark when on command and bite on command which isn't the hallmarks of a man that's the hallmarks of a little boy a little baby acts like that who's never grown up an animal acts like that who's never grown into anything better than an animal and these are the hallmarks of an animal acting on command trained very well and the occultists detest and despise them like you could not imagine I talked about this briefly on the show with up in Canada the two guys one girl show hosted by Franco Huard and you know I told people I saw these people mocked and ridiculed want to try to get a picture a painting of it maybe I'll ask an artist out there to try to paint me something that is reminiscent of what a scene I actually saw with a cop not too far from the scene who was actually outside of the place where we were at and he was being left that's so hard a statement that I knew was crying with tears streaming down his cheeks laughing at this person and other people like him who he knows would obey his commands no matter how ridiculous and absurd it was he could he can make him dance on the strings like a little puppy and he was practically pissing in his pants [Music] all right everyone we're back before the break guys [Music] was talking about a situation that I really want to have painted or drawn or you know something for that effect so I could post it I said maybe I'll even attempt the belly laugh that I heard the blood-curdling belly laugh out of the mouths of a Satanist at a ritual who was practically peeing his pants laughing at the police knowing how much they owned them and direct their behavior and totally control their mind and they don't even know it and you know I told this story briefly on the two girls one two guys one gal girl web interview that I did with Franco Huard and others this past Monday you can go back into the new section that checked that out but tears streaming down this individuals cheeks laughing uncontrollably hysterically at how much they mock the police behind their back and they can't even perceive it we'll be getting to that too on a future show I'll probably look at a cult mockery of the police and military in a couple of weeks and perhaps represent my presentation from the freer mind conference then so the next aspect of this the sexual reasons that people have for acting the way that they do and wanting to take out these pent-up frustrations and inadequacies out on other people is repressed homosexuality now this is going to probably open up a big can of worms because there's so many people who have their head up their rear end when it comes to sexual orientations and they buy into the BS religious dogma they buy into the total BS divide and conquer techniques and strategies that the elite the so-called elite you know want to propagate to keep people fighting amongst each other and people buy into this nonsense you know that somehow certain sexual orientation makes you a bad individual okay the whole idea here is be what you are so long as you're not harming other people so someone has a homosexual orientation and there is total compliance with that on the part of the other person the other individual is also the same persuasion once to engage in the activity and behavior there it is it is not coerced okay it is something that is agreed upon all right so it is a behavior that is completely agreed upon by all parties involved it's not compulsory it's not coercive it's mutual well there's no wrongdoing in there then because it doesn't fulfill the requirements of natural law transgression which has to involve coercion it has to involve the coercion of the will it has to involve some form of theft which all forms of natural law transgression involved taking something which does not belong to you so rape yes is coercion is theft of someone's sexual freedom to engage in sexual behavior with who they wish to who they will but homosexuality itself does not fall into that transgression so is not a transgression against natural law as long as it is mutual as long as it is consensual both parties consent they're both actively wanting to be involved in the activity there's no coercion it doesn't hurt anybody who doesn't want to be involved well then that's acceptable behavior whether you find it tasteful behavior or whether you find it attractive is is irrelevant if you don't find it tasteful of are attractive don't be involved with it see this makes me always go back to the notion to the psychological understanding that if someone's really talking out so heavily against homosexuality I have to start to think in my own mind that there's some reason that that individual who's speaking out against it so heavily might hate it so much probably because they have this latent desire or maybe active desire within them that they do engage in participation and homosexual acts okay which again I'm not saying there's anything wrong with or against natural law but the people who do make this argument and who do talk against this are often people who are homosexual themselves and repressing it now let's look at Rick Santorum as an example Rick Santorum is so rapidly anti-homosexual homophobic that there is no way that I can help but think that this person is gay and just hates himself and so he wants to take out his pent up sexual frustration because of whatever whatever complete crap religious dogmatic notions he's bought into and other people have gotten him to buy into in his own pathetic mind okay and now he doesn't want to act on his own desires and admit what he actually is and therefore he wants to go and take up all of those pent-up frustrations and desires out on other people who don't deserve it so he wants to control them and he wants to target that to what he really is he wants to take it out on other people who are like him that's called classical classical identification and transference in psychology classical I mean this is plain - this is plain to see for a heist school student that would be taking a course in psychology 101 that's how blatantly obvious it is and the same is true for dominators same is true for police and military who go and join these institutions and are often latent ly homosexual don't want to admit their orientation for a number of reasons so let's look at the reasons why people won't acknowledge their sexual orientations well one they have this notion of it's wrong in some capacity it's been they bought into this it's been told to them and again that's religious dogma there is no basis for this in logic or natural law this is religious dogma you can only really think that if you've bought into a religious notion as most people do and I guarantee there's people who listen to the show who do well congratulations you have a religion which means you're being held back from higher level understanding particularly that of natural law you'd still don't know what wrong is because wrong always involves coercion of someone's will and there is no coercion in homosexuality but yet people religiously and dogmatically accept this notion and therefore they act upon it and suppress their actual sexual drives desires and orientations which is a completely unhealthy thing to do another reason they do it is they're afraid of what other people will think of them oh you'll be called fag you'll be called queer etc or any of the other insults thrown at people by other people who just you know want to do this because they're inadequate in some way and they want to take it out on someone else through verbal abuse you know it's all done at many different levels doesn't have to be physical abuse and the person so afraid of what other people will think of them that they don't actually just act as who they are so then that emotion gets built up it gets pent in there not talking with people about this they're not dealing with it they're not accepting it they're not working with it and therefore they want to take it all out on someone else they want to direct all of that negative emotion outward now and say well since I can't have what I wanted because of whatever ridiculous notions I'm thinking in my own distorted mind I'm gonna go and physically actively toward this person so I could make them feel miserable in some way and that will equate to the misery I feel internally and this is always nonsense and it's always the mindset of a child and the mindset of a slave as I've said and I don't use that word lightly taking on this mindset and staying there keeps you a slave you think you know what a slave is you think it's only certain instances or circumstances that you have notions over pictures of in your head and put there by Hollywood or through certain books or images and I'm telling you that's not what a slave is a slave is someone who is chained by something that is embedded in their own mind they don't have to be necessarily shackled by physical chains and that's part of why what's going on on a grand scale is happening because people won't deal with these internal issues and accept themselves as they are if they're not hurting someone [Music] we're back ladies and gentlemen this is what on earth is happening last segment for this edition at the beginning of the show I asked for calls on the line only if the individual was a salt combat in the European theater of operations during World War two I know that limits the potential callers to a great degree because you'd probably have to be in your late 80s by now something around that so we haven't had any callers that fit that description so I'm going to extend that offer to next week I'm not going to tell why I wanted that and again that's the only reason I'll be taking your call don't even try to bother to call in because I'm not going to take the call and I'm taking no calls until the call-in show that is going to be after I'm finished the section on non-supportive dominators please understand that and respect that wish and don't bother to try to call in because I'm not putting you on the air so then the next thing I want to put on the table to ask people is please try to find me someone for next week to call in who did see combat in the European theater during World War two I would really like to do an experiment here on the air live without the person knowing why I'm asking them to call if someone can get a World War two veteran who saw combat in the European theater of operations during World War two I would like them to call into the show next week I'm sure with all the listeners to the show we can find one person who is still out there alive and with it who can call in to my show and I could ask them a question on the air next week okay that having been said let's jump back and I'll wrap up the topic for today so repressed homosexuality is a gigantic part of why individuals behave as control freaks okay they can't deal with who they are they want to deal with they want to keep all of this desire and emotion pent up they may lead secret lives that they don't want to come out in the open about okay in hence the picture on image number 10 of the closet okay the the traditional closeted homosexual homosexual okay that's in the closet because they're in fear this is all fear-based mentality in case you haven't put that together as well okay so an individual like that has to be in fear to act the way that they do and then what's the next stage after fear confusion you don't know what to do so then you want to reach out and try to control something external to yourself that you have no right to control and you have no natural law right to create coercion and oppress other individuals let me tell you something ladies and gentlemen and listen very carefully to what I'm saying there is so much more closeted homosexuality in the police and military than you would ever imagine that if you knew the real number you would be practically knocked unconscious okay let me tell you that for certain if you even came close to cognizant the amount of repressed homosexuality that exists in the military and in the police you would not even believe the figure because I'm telling you people think it's like in the single-digit numbers it's probably a lot closer to like 30 or 40 percent of the people in the police and military and they're all inundated with these religious notions of this being wrong they're all completely afraid of being found out quote-unquote okay god forbid you be found out that you would rather give your love and a fan affection and a sexual energy share that with someone who is of the same gender than the opposite oh whoa let's uh you know let's stop the presses here god forbid and again as I've said the people who repress this they're doing it because they're afraid of what people will think they can't accept themselves they don't have any self-respect they haven't looked at the reasons why they want to control and and why they want to dominate the way that they do they don't even many of them don't understand that why they want that themselves like I said I understand more about what's going on in these people's minds than they probably ever will unfortunately because they don't want to come out of this state they love the depraved state they're in and so many other people don't want to help in assisting them to come out of that state everything I'm doing and explaining here is is not to mock ridicule or in any way put anyone down it is to say you need to accepting of these things even if they're only perceived inadequacies or perceived things that you think are wrong about yourself and in this case it's there's nothing wrong with you being homosexual if that's your sexual orientation it is not against someone else's natural law rights so long as you're not raping somebody and you're doing it with someone consensually then go right ahead please I could care less what sexual acts people do in their own privacy you know if you're not trying to involve me against my will then go right ahead by all means the reason I don't care about that is because I'm not someone who has repressed homosexual emotions that wants to take out my pent-up sexual frustration because I'm not expressing my actual sexuality and I don't want to take out that aggression on someone else I'm not that person rick santorum is that person you know and many people in the police and the military are that person but it not me I know my sexual orientation i express sexuality I'm not repressing something that is natural in myself that I don't want to deal with so if your sexual orientation happens to be homosexual and you're repressing it it's one of the big reasons that you want to do damage or some form of harm to other individuals and it only makes sense you're depriving yourself of something that you shouldn't deprive yourself of because of ridiculous notions that are antiquated and totally based on religious dogma and this is uh you know this is it's not even I would say it's 19th century it's not even 19th century you know this is me this is Dark Ages stuff okay folks this is Dark Ages when are we gonna get past this stuff and what are people who shouldn't have anything to do with someone else's private sexual life or orientation gonna get out of their business no because they want to have control they want to make themselves feel better about themselves being a closeted homosexual and and also they fall for this all the other people talking about this somehow being wrong fall for this divide and conquer strategy you fell for it you got played you got divided and conquered okay you don't really understand what's going on in the world you don't really understand the chess moves that are being made against you because you're quite frankly not psychologically sophisticated enough to even understand those chess maneuvers you're not psychologically sophisticated enough as a human being you're intellectual and into intuitive acumen is not developed enough quite frankly if that's still your mindset you're still worried about race and you're still worried about religious orientation you're still worried about sexual orientation and class and gender and all this other crap that only serves to divide and conquer people you got played you got played right into a corner and it's checkmate you didn't figure it out never figured out the mindset of your enemy how they're playing you so to wrap up finally like I said last week the only way to break this cycle of abuse and victimhood is to understand why these people feel this desire to control and that's what we've been doing and exploring and ultimately the solution is self-respect respect comes from the Latin word

SPECT re which means to look at and re is a prefix meaning again so you need to take another look at yourself to look within to really deal with the real self the true self that lies beneath the facade and all the masks that you're putting up in all the closets that you're hiding in you need the closets are for clothes as they say keep your clothes in your closet be who you are as long as you're not hurting someone else take another look at yourself and develop real respect because that's the only way you can ever truly respect someone else that's all the time we have on this edition of what on earth is happening thanks everyone for listening we'll see you here next week [Music] [Music] that if you're in the Philadelphia area and especially if you haven't seen the film PSYWAR yet I will be making a radio appearance on occult Empire with Bob from Cincinnati good friend to this show June 21st the night of the summer solstice on any matter broadcasting Bob and I will be discussing natural law and I'll be going in-depth on the topic so you won't want to miss that on the antimatter Broadcasting Network that is on June 21st that is also a Thursday evening Thursday evening and I believe it will be from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. I'll be posting more information about that radio appearance on my website this week and I will be announcing it again to remind everyone next week so one other quick announcement I made an appearance on the Bob Tuscon show this past Thursday night and it got very interesting in the second hour I got into a heated exchange with some callers to the show specifically callers who advocated the practice of carnism or eating the flesh of animals and I haven't made a big deal about this on this show yet I've made my views pretty clear how I stand on this topic but the ignorance of some of the callers started to get to me and I I started hammering back so you can hear that it's in the new section the top item in the new section of the show and I definitely got angry and I feel it's justifiable anger because if you understand and know that the principles of Correspondence and cause-and-effect are in operation in this realm it's part of the big reason why humanity is farmed this is a farmed species ladies and gentlemen whether you understand that or not is irrelevant we are farmed animals who don't have actual freedom certainly not in the physical domain you can be free spiritually you can also be free mentally you can free your mind but you're still on a farm let's make no mistake about it and let's not mince words about it either earth is a farm and the farmers who control us will continue to do so for as long as we continue to embody the domination principle that we own the life of another and that's all it really comes down to you could talk about dietary nutritional needs and all the other things that go along the ancillary or secondary topics until the end of time until the end of all time but if you'll notice when you listen to this show the principal meaning the first thing is ignored by the callers all except the caller Mike from New York who is actually brilliant and really should have his own radio show I would listen I'll tell you that much okay but all the other the other callers who called in and advocated for this practice and again this will set off a big chain reaction and a hot heated debate among people I don't want to spend too much time on this because I'm gonna do probably either an entire show or maybe even two shows I'm tacking that that on to this section on the non-supportive dominators because what better practice to explain the entire mindset of domination than the killing of another animal and eating it there is no better example of domination than that and we don't understand as a species we still can't really truly grasp the nature of the universe as a mirror the law of Correspondence is a law it's a principle and a law that which is above is that like to that which is below it's not up to you it's not a belief that is not my belief ladies and gentlemen the universe is like that and I'm stating that as fact it's not my belief system effect invariably follows cause that's not my belief that's a fact that's the way things actually are that's natural law that's universal law another thing people don't understand is that natural law doesn't mean dog-eat-dog it doesn't mean survival of the most ruthless it's not macro biological Darwinian evolution in the physical domain that's not what natural law is natural law is the laws of the consequences of the behaviors that we choose with our freewill and how that those decisions are always being reflected back to us so if you go to the first item in the new section where it says mark is interviewed on the Bob Tuscan Show June 7 2012 I posted there my response to the to the show okay and I'm just gonna briefly read that I posted a note there and I said I would like to stand behind every word that I said on this show every word and if it offends any of you feel free to get as offended as you like there's the tagline for the show I would also like to point out how not one person who advocated the taking of animal life on the show addressed the fundamental the fundamental primary natural law issue that the taking of another the taking the life of another being does not belong to you it belongs to that being and thus the taking of it is theft and therefore a violation or a transgression against natural law when listening to the podcast please take note of how this primary issue is completely ignored by all but the last caller I think he was last caller Mike from New York the previous callers only offered endless justifications and non sequiturs also note one caller claimed to understand the natural law principles of correspondence and cause and effect yet stated that he doesn't believe in them he doesn't believe that those principles actually exist and are in operation in our lives I asked my listeners to please try to understand that this level of ignorance is the very reason and here's the magic word ladies and gentlemen why we are an enslaved race of beings and unless and until we evolve in consciousness to truly grasp natural law without making endless justifications for actions which violated our situation is never going to change but indeed it will become progressively worse chew on that contemplating and I'll do a whole show on this topic in this section coming up in a few weeks we'll be right back [Music] [Music] okay we're back everyone they're listening to what on earth is happening to view on oracle broadcasting without belaboring this point but for too much longer I just also want to point out that on the news item for the Bob tuscan show which i appeared on this past Thursday June 7 I also posted underneath the show X excerpts dealing with the concepts of nutrition assimilation the law of assimilation which is something we have not covered here on this radio show as of yet but I have posted a little bit of information on that natural law and natural law itself on these were excerpts from Max Hine Dells book the Rosicrucian Cosmo conception a magnum opus of occult information and these three sectional excerpts actually really give the take on why we really should not be engaged in the eating of animal flesh in general but moreover they explain the deeper reasons that this is particularly when you look at the law of assimilation you'll understand why it's not good for you and to when you look at the natural law issue that dominates above everything else that that is just the that is the end of the discussion as far as I'm concerned and you know before I go further let me just say I didn't become a vegetarian overnight and that's not what I was advocating for either that's not what I'm telling everybody to do what I'm telling you to do is if you recognize the fundamental natural law issue involved in this topic to begin mentally to even transition away the desire has to be born first to want to get away from that cultural practice of eating meat then you could take baby steps in order to do it and begin to wean away and understand you have to make a study of this this isn't something you just do out of the blue willy-nilly you don't just do this you have to make a study you have to make a plan a game plan I didn't just automatically stop eating meat one night and I wouldn't tell anyone to do that and I'll tell you another thing I struggled with this at first to the extent that I'm telling you and when I made the mental decision to do this to stop eating meat I never thought I would have the courage to or the strength to be able to do it I didn't think I would have the will to do it I sold myself short and while I knew that I was still engaged in a practice that was helping to continue to perpetuate enormous amounts of suffering and pump that energy into the morphic field of the morphogenetic field of the earth okay and and really was taking consciousness down as a result of Minh Tinh Ewing to do this practice I was still eating me having known that in my own mind I was still doing it so I was in contradiction and that's a painful place to be I remember one day barb had left for work she works in the evening and I was going to make myself dinner a late dinner and I went to my freezer and I pulled a hamburger out of the freezer and I literally began to weep I literally wept like a child because I was thinking to myself I'm so weak how am I ever gonna do what I know is the right thing to do this owns me is what I was thinking I sat at the kitchen table and wept like a child literally tears streaming down my face because I said I'm too weak to do this I don't have the willpower to do it I'm never going to be able to change myself and I'm all I'm gonna eternally be in contradiction I'm gonna eternally be a hypocrite is what I was thinking in my own mind I'm going to teach the law of love I'm going to teach natural law and I'm gonna continue to put this kind of suffering into the world by by engaging in it by adopting it and I sold myself short and that's just a little Prelude you know to what I'll do on a future show but I did have the willpower to do it and when I began when I actually looked into what I needed to do and then started to do it it was one of the easiest things I ever did I had all the willpower to be able to do it and again I'm not commanding anybody to do this I'm explaining there's a natural law issue that is bringing certain eventualities into all of our lives as a result of our practices as a result of our ways of being in the world it's the law of cause and effect and for as long as we do these practices they will be done unto us that's the law of

Correspondence so as long as humanity farms humanity will be farmed and I mean for the farming of animals so check out that very enlightening information on the news page the excerpts dealing with nutrition assimilation and natural law by max Heindel he was absolutely brilliant and I don't but I don't believe in or acknowledge every single thing that this gentleman ever said but he had it right about most things okay and these are some of them so with that being said I want to tell people about the policy on the call-in number today I am provisionally accepting calls okay and here are the provisions if you saw actual combat meaning you actually engaged in combat operations in the European theater of operations during World War two only okay then please call in to the following number during this show eight six six eight four one one zero six five I want to ask you a blind question you have no idea what the question is and if no one called no one called in last week I asked for callers on this topic last week I will screen the call to you you will need to show me in some way that you were in your world war two okay I'm not going to just take the call on the air I'll take it off air if you were in World War two European theater of operations you saw actual combat then call in to this number eight six six eight four one one zero six five I'm not taking calls until the dominator section of solutions is over then we'll do two whole call-in shows about the non-supportive dominators but for this show only if you saw combat in the European theater of operations feel free to call in okay let's begin with the actual topic for this show today and as always you can go up to the what on earth is happening radio show page where there are images for today's show posted under the player on that page and the first slide was the Tesla energy independent celebrations poster feel free to print those give them the friends repost them okay the second slide of course is the way out that's this entire section of solutions the third slide is the grassroots solutions for real and positive change listed there we've covered the majority of them we are now on the non-supportive dominators slide number four shows the section the non-supportive dominators and slide number five is what we're going to be talking about today the concept of selflessness and I've hyphenated it and you will please take note that the s in the word self is capitalized because we are talking about the higher self in this instance okay part of what I want to get into is that people don't listen to the actual meaning of words as they are being used by an individual they will try to make their own definition up or they will go with what they already think something means in their own mind without actually listen to the person's state what they're talking about so people will see this word and they'll say all that that's all about being good to others that's not what this word means you have to look at the context that I've written it in i've hyphenated the word I've put a capital S at the very beginning there's a reason this doesn't look like the normal English word selflessness because it's not it it's different its self nests see we need to stop hearing what we want to hear and actually listen to what's there actually see what's there okay so I'm gonna break down the difference between these two terms selflessness and self less nests this concept on the other side of the break don't go anywhere folks we'll be right back [Music] behind the girl I'll make my mind stay [Music] you know folks we really are in bad company III really do believe that humanity is come almost completely retarded and you know get as offended about that as you like as well because it's it's true I went for literally probably three minutes explaining that I wanted only callers who had seen combat in World War two in the European theater and yet still people call in you're not gonna get on the air I'm gonna screen the call in an off air segment and and make sure that you meet the requirements so people are still trying to call in to make whatever point they want to make and I'm not interested in hearing anything anyone has to say right now I have a question for a world war World War two combat veteran if you're not a world war two combat veteran who saw combat in the theater of operations in Europe I don't want to hear a word from you right now I don't know how much clearer I can be about that you know like it's it's children we're dealing with children this is why you're in a cage you're in a cage because you don't even understand your own language let alone the language that your owners are using to dominate everything around you the wordless language of symbolism that they use on you and on the other people who control you every day of your life you can't even understand verbal language it's sad it's really sad so without getting too much without focusing too much attention on that back to the actual topic at hand which is selflessness part of what makes people not able to comprehend simple language I guess okay so self selflessness the normal in the normal sense that people use it okay means having exhibiting or motivated by no concern for oneself by oneself we mean the lower self the body the ego okay it means selflessness means unselfish altruistic this is on slide number six now we're focusing on in the traditional sense this word without any hyphens or capitalization okay it means you're not concerned for yourself your concern is toward others it's altruism okay it's it's being unselfish okay it's motivated by the desire to improve and evolve one's higher self which we all really share we're all one at that fundamental level the higher self is what you're aspiring toward when you engage in this modality of consciousness which is selflessness okay what we're going to that's not what we are going to be talking about today on the show this is a wonderful high-minded ideal that we should strive toward this is good this is what is really going to unite us this is what's going to bring us toward a solution to our problems in consciousness selfishness is selflessness is what we should strive toward but what we should try to avoid at all cost is self less Ness the hyphenated form where the S at the top is capital this is a construct this is a an idea it's a concept that means something that we're going to be talking about today that dominators are all trapped in this modality it's the exact opposite of selflessness okay selflessness I've shown a picture of Orcs in Lord of the Rings these completely degraded beings who what used to be like elves which are magical and high-minded creatures yet these beings are completely destroyed they are degraded they have they have gone so low in consciousness that they have devolved into something which they were not originally intended to be like but they're low consciousness brought them into this form of degradation okay so self less nests in its hyphenated form is the condition of having lost the connection to the true self you've lost the connection to your real being you're completely identified by the lower nature the the lower animalistic instinctual elements of the being okay you're motivated only by base instincts of the lower self self less Ness okay is complete selfishness it's selfishness you're only concerned about you what it means for you that's all that is of any import to you you are driven only by lower self preservation meaning the body the ego that's all you're concerned about this is a satanic ideology in the purest sense of the term it is that which destroys tears apart create strife creates opposition creates suffering this is the whole entire dynamic that leads to all of the creation of suffering in our world so what we need to do is transcend this condition of selflessness but before we can do that we really need to understand what it is we need to know what its characteristics are I'm going to explain this in allegorical terms and I'm going to use two popular fictional allegories now if you look at the slide that I gave for the concept of selflessness okay you will see there a picture of the character Gollum from Lord of the Rings okay Gollum now who Gollum was was a being that used to be a hobbit type creature if you're familiar at all with the Lord of the Rings series the Lord of the Rings trilogy in the in the book The Hobbit the prequel Gollum was so attached to the desire to possess the ring which is power over others control wealth okay only focusing on the physical world and trying to maintain control and dominance and physical wealth that's what the ring represented in Lord of the Rings which is why it had to be destroyed it had to be destroyed and there were so few that were even worthy of attempting that task because it's so tempting to hold that power in your hands so of course the character Frodo eventually is decided that he will take the ring because he's the purest among them and even he ultimately is isn't truly up to the task the ring weakens him and it has to be given back and forth between people but to go back to Gollum Gollum is a destroyed being he had the ring for so long in other words had this desire for power for so long power over others that it destroyed him and it turned him into something that he wasn't it turned him into Gollum he used to be Smeagol and it turned him into Gollum the ring he is a complete husk a shell of his former self he is nothing like Smeagol was Smeagol may have had some desires and some tendencies toward power but in general he wasn't the kind of essentially wicked and depraved creature that Gollum is so that's why I chose Gollum for this image because it really does depict a true slave it depicts a true destroyed being it's a perfect example of a destroyed being and in all honesty this is the closest thing there owners or claimed owners the people who think they own other people okay let's make that distinction they're not really our owners they're people who would claim to be our owners they're people who think that they have the right to be our owners and farmers okay this is how they look at people this is how they look at most people out there they look at people as this creature their creature a creature of their making of their design a golem or a golem one who has life breathed into it but it was just clay it was molded it was formed by the hands of the master and then they animated it like a flesh robot a biological robot and you know what it depicts the condition of self less Ness perfectly it depicts people's modern servitude perfectly this is a perfect example a perfect allegorical symbol of what a person in this state of consciousness actually is like they're like Gollum or a Gollum it's a very accurate depiction so let's look at a little bit of the allegory of Lord of the Rings and how all of the the beings in it are kind of degraded the ones who are working for the Dark Lord in this movie stay with us folks we'll be right back you'll be getting to the star wars allegory which are not going to want to miss later on [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com getting ready to explain the characteristics of selflessness the loss of the connection to the true self through a couple of popular science fiction allegories and these are beautiful allegories really that most people do not understand the allegorical nature of the information contained in these works of seeming works of fiction they're not fictional at all when you really look at it they're fables they are parables to tell a story about what's really going on in the world but to just put it in fictional terms so it seems more exciting and people will be willing to pay attention to it for longer periods of time you know most people don't want to hear about what's really going on in this world but maybe if you make up a story and you throw in the lesson you throw the moral lesson in there maybe people will pay attention you know it's the example of art imitating life and how you could slip something into someone's subconscious mind and that could be done for good or ill that's true but in these cases I'm telling you that these are done for light purposes these are done to enlighten the reader or the watcher if it's in movie form people often have the wrong ideas of allegorical fiction often it's these stories are told by people who really do know what's going on in the world and they're trying to explain it to people but they know they you know that people have such a shut down mind and are so unwilling to listen and have such a short attention span they can't just tell it to them straight out they can't do what I've been in essence attempting to do for the past two years just treat someone like an adult it's that they can understand that they actually have the the acumen to even grasp a conceptual idea and just tell it straight out that's my approach I treat the listeners to my program like rational thinking adults with the capacity to understand and change because I have respect for them I think many still need to have more respect for themselves in general in the world most need to have more self respect I mean I did a whole show on the concept of self respect that's what this is altom utley going to boil down to folks in the end is to look in the mirror and decide to make that change toward the higher self to bend the lower self to your true will to the will of creation and help it to evolve so if you have the will to do that because we've lost that connection to the higher self the people who listen to this show though I believe their intent is to go up in consciousness to make that climb to make that ascension and you know so the you know I don't want to be too hard on people who are trying to get it you know that they're doing the work and and doing the work even slowly is better than not doing it at all most people aren't making any progress they're not moving they they love where they're at they want to stay exactly where they're at they love it they don't even see the problem and that's why the dark occultists call them the unbe gun they have such a destroyed connection to the true self they haven't even started attempting to make any change there's not even any desire born in them to make any changes in their life or in society in a wider sense and that's why all of us are enslaved and it's our job not to say well well whatever who cares about those people we need to help them to to give birth to in themselves that desire to want to change themselves and to want to change society for the better we can be influences for that process it isn't all about just working on ourselves and saying well who cares what anyone else does yeah you do need to work on yourself first okay but well if you're in a position where you're you've built the strength up and you have a deep enough understanding you then have a responsibility to help assist others up in that climb who may not be as strong as you and that's a hard hard level of consciousness to get to I understand that believe me I struggle with it all the time all the time and I have to make a continual renewal of that effort a continual renewal of that will it's horrible sometimes I'm not gonna lie but I'm gonna keep doing it because the the people who think they own this world and who own me are never gonna break me you don't understand the will you're up against it's a transhuman will it is it is epic human is beyond human the willpower that imbues me it's not of this world it is of the higher self that's where we need to get to so let's look at this allegory of Lord of the Rings by JRR tolkien a Dark Lord wants to take possession and control of every body in the realm that they call middle-earth he wants to enslave everyone okay Sauron his name is and you don't really see him you see him in a physical body at the beginning of the movie but he's a dis incarnate entity meaning he doesn't really have a body throughout this series it says he was slain but not fully conquered or beaten because the ring that he held was still kept and held onto by man he's supposed to be like Satan he's supposed to be the the concept of the true adversary of all freedom in all life the destroyer okay you could call it Apophis were set in the in the Egyptian tradition Satan okay he's been called many many different things Kali is a destroyer in the Hindu tradition you have apollyon another destroyer I believe that's Greek and you can go on and on I like the name Apophis personally because it's all about the opposite side of that god apophysis Isis and Apophis okay and that's that process that truth is a destructive process the concept that truth is a destructive process truth breaks down everything it doesn't create anything new it just shows you what's already there by chipping away at all the nonsense that you covered the truth up with and the ability to see it all that the grime that's covering the ability of us to perceive the truth has to be destroyed us to be wiped away what we're talking about here in Lord of the Rings is the actual destructive process the thing that actually creates disharmony and strife and chaos and discord and destruction in our lives suffering it's the force that tears us apart from within and then gets us to go to war with each other and try to have control over other people because we're so destroyed from within the self is in such a state of disarray and chaos and an internal confusion then all week then do all the lower mind the base mind the reptilian mind does is say well I'm gonna go and turn out all my aggression on someone else and I'm gonna try to control them since I have no inner self control that's what all the desire to control stems from internal anarchy anarchy within there's no ruler in the self because there's no connection to the self so you're not actually governing yourself you've lost that ability to govern yourself and therefore forces are going to be rearranged through the laws of correspondence and cause and effect to bring you this the scenario that you need to learn those measures of self control and that's gonna be since you're out of control within and you're looking for control without you're going to be controlled without that's what the universe is going to bring you and let me tell you folks this is not a belief system this will people have to get out of their heads this is how nature works this is how the living universe that you are part of operates whether you like it or not it's not about believing anything it's about the discovery of natural principles that are inherent to creation we'll pick up on the Lord of the Rings allegory and then get into the Star Wars stuff coming up stay with us [Music] okay we're back you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're looking at image number seven on a slide show which is the allegory of Lord of the Rings and how it embodies this concept of selflessness the loss of the connection to the higher self the abandonment of self the giving of oneself over to another entity that is commanding you keeping you on a leash keeping you chained keeping you in Chains as a slave to their will and let's look at some of the beings in this allegory we took a look at Gollum this creature who was one Smeagol lost his connection to that self to his higher nature in any way and became Gollum because of his desire to possess the ring and he held it for hundreds of years it gave him this unnatural long life and you see the result he's this totally crippled hideous deformed degraded sheller husk of his former self okay he's in the upper left corner there that's Gollum and then the orcs I touched on them already a little bit these are like the police of the order of Sal Ron okay they do his bidding unquestioningly many of them look alike they have all the same qualities they wear similar uniforms they wield weapons and they attack on command like dogs and they were once higher beings they once had an elf like nature magical it is explained in the books and in the movie series and yet they lost that connection they be Kame degraded because of their desire for control because of sour ons influence so we have to understand this is all this entire work that's going on is all about influence nobody can truly make anyone change but their's influences at work where are we going to be on the side of the negative influence letting the negative influence us and then negatively influencing others by propagating their poison or we gonna be positive influencers I'm not trying to tell you you can make anybody change you can't assist that process however that is possible you can be an influencer you can be an inspiration meaning help to help someone to imbue themselves with the spirit to put the spirit into themselves to open themselves up and receive the spirit which is what the path to truth and higher consciousness is all about it is about opening up and that can only happen if you have the courage to open up that courage is inspired often by others by others influence that's what alchemy is it's not making forcing something to happen it's influencing it to happen and then it becomes an organic process that's self-running once somebody starts setting foot on the path forget about it you know that it's going to snowball it's going to gain momentum it's going to start picking up steam accelerate and the exact opposite is true for the dark process that process can also steam roll and accelerate as it starts picking up that's what I think that's where we're at now people say oh there's a rapid acceleration in consciousness taking place well there's certainly a rapid acceleration and the degradation of this species taking place I'll tell you that I see it ending in small pockets for those who are on the path to higher knowledge certainly not to the extent to the acceleration that it's that people are going down into the abyss right now and we have a lot of work to do to reverse that process ladies and gentlemen don't kid yourself we'll pick this up on the other side stay with us [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio let's jump right back into the subject matter we're talking about the concept of the destruction of the true self the loss of the connection to the higher self the higher mind the soul if you will and we're using Lord of the Rings as an allegory to express these concepts and I'm going to be getting into Star Wars as a perhaps an even better allegory to explain this loss of self and what it leads to which is slavery so continuing with Lord of the Rings the orcs they are completely given over to this dark force they're like the police minions of Sauron just turned loose whenever the Dark Lord wishes them to be used and that's exactly what they are used used and abused doesn't care what happens to them you know treats them as his pets just like the dark occultist treat the police as theirs and you know they they may have someone lower than them you know in the chain of hierarchical obedience you know that they get to give orders to and and clobber and cut up and you know etc these works that's the general people who live in the population who lives in middle-earth but they have owners they have masters Sauron is their owner and master they do his bidding they're even commanded by his general the I don't have him pictured here he was a sour man the white wizard who became the Dark Wizard okay and we look at some of Sauron generals in his army like the ring wraiths now look if you notice you're going farther and farther away from the self as you go higher and higher up this chain of obedience or command because you start with Gollum Smeagol you know he's some looks like his former self but he's held on to the ring for so long he's become Gollum the orcs look even more hideously deformed than even Gollum does if you compare them certainly to elves they're a world apart and now we get into the ring rates that don't even have a body they're like just this husk of a former self they're just cloaked beings that seem to have form like a body but there's no face they're like all the same there's no actual face and it says they were once men so you compare them to men and you get down to a wraith that's just a shot a hooded shadowed figure that looks like the semblance of a man but it's nothing that's why they call it a race it's a husk a shell there's nothing left nothing there okay and they do Sal Ron's bidding they are slaves and then of course Sauron is depicted throughout this series this trilogy has simply an eye a disincarnate eye at Mordor the mountain of doom okay he doesn't have a body at all he's just this concept this eye and again it's all to represent the ego eye that's the thing that keeps people in this slavery mindset you think he's not enslaved he thinks Sauron is Lord of anything really he's bowing down to the force of the desire to want to control which is fear which is chaos which is confusion ultimately it's the loss of the connection to the real either real self so Lord of the Rings is a great example and it goes a lot even further than this I mean this is just the tip of the iceberg when it comes to the allegory well what I really want to get into is a favorite allegory of mine because it even better explains the chain of obedience see we got to stop looking at the chain of command and start looking at the chain of obedience okay so the chain of obedience is what's really driving this slavery system I posted a video to it previously and I'm gonna post it with this podcast again I think because it's so important to keep that concept in in mind the chain of command isn't what's controlling things it's people's willingness to have respect for the chain of command to think that they should obey that they have any moral obligation to obey people who think that they are authorities to give any respect to these institutional authorities that's the entire problem that's the nature of the problem is that there is a chain of command that there's a chain of obedience I should say I'm sorry we have to get out of the willingness to obey that's what's keeping this dominator culture so entrenched in our world so Star Wars I put a classical depiction a drawing of the characters and Star Wars here great montage great collage there of some of the characters in the first movie that's image number 8 in the slides if you're following along or if you're following in the podcast which will be podcast number 111 so we're going to look at two aspects of this great allegory we're going to look at the master/slave hierarchical relationship that's contained in the allegory and I really wanted to make a pyramidal structure with this but maybe I'll tack it on to the end and show you know this in pyramid form but what I just did is explain some of the characters and who they have control over or at least seeming control over okay and who they are slaves to who they have completely given themselves over to so if we start looking at this master/slave relationship that is throughout the Star Wars saga one of the first beings that you'll recognize is the stormtroopers okay they are again supposed to be the police or and military they're the the so-called dominators the ones who are ostensibly the control forces okay and they're called stormtroopers which is very very German in its implications or I should not use even the term German it's not C in its implications in the Third Reich the SS okay was the the police of the Nazis okay and they came from they were actually derived out of the SA which is the former contingency of German police and that's storm optin that's what sa stands for SS was the Schutzstaffel the secret police but the the SA stood for the storm opted along which is the storm forces the storm contingencies in other words storm troopers that's what they were called so they're the master of the citizens and they bark out and give the orders call the people who they think are under them but look at how many people they're enslaved by and who they answer to and who they bow down to they bow down to their generals they bow down to Darth Vader they bow down to the Emperor and ultimately they bow down as do all in this chain of obedience to the dark side of the force itself we'll pick this up on the other side don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone if you're sitting out there listening and you have a grandfather or a great-uncle or someone who was in World War 2 ask them to call in we're calling for them and put them on the line I have a question I want to ask it may be somewhat uncomfortable to hear but I want to get their take on it and I'll keep the lines open until maybe someone calls in I know it's probably rare to find someone that is uh you know still alive and kind of you know with it and together to want to call into a radio show they would have to be probably up near close to their 90's at this point at least but if anyone is out there listening call in eight six six eight four one one zero six five only for combat veterans I don't want to talk to someone who worked a desk job someone who actually fought in World War two in the European theater of operations that's only who the lines are open for that means if that's not you don't call you will not make it onto the show because I'll take the call off the air in an off air segment to verify and then I'll ask you the question on air okay so let's get back to the material we're looking at the allegory of Star Wars and how most of the beings that are fighting for the Empire the Galactic Empire or I shouldn't even say most of us should say all of those beings have given up their former selves and are slaves so the stormtroopers very clear illusions in Star Wars allegorically to the Third Reich throughout you'll see this on the next slide as well a uniform that looks quite like a Gestapo uniform as well but in image number nine we see the stormtroopers they're all alike and as we learn later they're all clones of each other we learned that later in the series okay they're all the same actually underneath their inner essence is the same even even as well as them looking the same on the outside okay the the stripping away of all individuality again the destruction of the self self less Ness no connection to the true self this is all about conformity herd conformity giving away individuality giving away thinking for oneself giving away one's own conscience giving away one's own personal responsibility to some other force that you're going to take commands from whether they're in harmony with natural law or not whether they cause harm or not the stormtroopers are quote master of their the commanders quote unquote of the citizens of the Empire which was once the Republic they are slave to all of these individuals the generals who command them the emperor a Vader I'm sorry Darth Vader who is the Lord of the Sith the commander of all the forces of the Emperor the Emperor himself and the dark side of the force itself which all of them are as a slave to we look at image number 10 we see the next level up of this master slave hierarchy the generals okay so there's the infamous Grand Moff Tarkin there on the left in his Gestapo uniform all right he's the master of the stormtroopers and the citizens or if it's not closer to a Gestapo uniform maybe closer to a Wehrmacht generals a uniform possibly but you look at who he is the quote master of he commands the stormtroopers and then of course the citizens below them and again this is only if people believe in this claim a lot of the citizens of their this quote Empire do not acknowledge the claims of these individuals and are fighting them okay so who is who is a general like Tarkin a slave - well he certainly a slave - Vader and so were all the other generals because if they do the least thing that Vader doesn't like he kills them as seen there on the right you know that that general didn't do a good job bowing low enough to his holiness Darth Vader or unholiness as the case may be he didn't do a good enough job as pet as dog for his owner so his owner dispatched him he did away with him I don't like the job you're doing goodbye and we bring in another selfless fool to fill in the the position that I just nullified that I just emptied with your shell I got rid of your shell your husk is now gone goodbye husk I in comes another husk now ready to just give himself over and all of these people actually think they're tough they think they're men that's the funniest part they think this is all manly when they're little girls little girls cowards a no bear is a little look I don't want to insult the female persuasion by this that's actually wrong of me to say they're not little girls that is so insulting to girls and women everywhere and to even say that they're animals is insulting to the animal kingdom you know how much lower do we want to go bacterial slime molds well that's insulting to bacterial life as far as I'm concerned there's nothing as low as somebody who obeys someone else nothing you're not making the decision on your own and you're obeying because then I'm given orders and that's what I do I obey you're lower than every form of life as far as I'm concerned so this the the generals are slave to Vader first and foremost who commands them directly and they're also slaved to the Emperor and they're also slaved to the dark side of the force as again are all of these individuals or I should say the opposite of individuals are all of these collectivists okay now we move to Vader himself one of the key characters and the whole both trilogies the the first trilogy of episodes four five and six and then the second one of the prequels one two and three Vader plays a great role so you look at who he is the quote master of or the commander of well he commands the generals below him the stormtroopers below them and the citizens below them so he's up there in the hierarchy now whoa we're getting up there right getting up to the real tough guys it'll have that many people over them but he's still a slave and you see him bowing down genuflecting on his knees praying to his God his Lord the Emperor so he's a slave Vader's not a real tough guy he's a slave who gets on his knees when commanded he does the bidding of someone else he's not really making his own decisions he's a slave to the emperor and of course the dark side of the force let's not forget that force of fear internal confusion internal anarchy and ultimately the severing of the connection to the higher self that's what the dark side of the force is selflessness every one of these people are self less the self is the true self is gone in them otherwise they would not do what they are doing they would not even put themselves in this position of being a collectivist agent for an agenda that they are a part of and have given up their conscience to so we'll look at the emperor on the other side of this break well certainly there's no one above him he's the top of the food chain right wrong we'll look at the Emperor and then we'll start to look at what led to the creation of beings like this they all have their story of what led to their creation how their original self was destroyed stay with us ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back [Music] [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark pass yeah we're talking about the master slave hierarchy as it is embodied in the allegorical science fiction series star wars one of my favorite allegorical works of fiction and we are looking at the character of the Emperor who seems to be at the top of the food chain and he may be at least in human form right at least in human form something we haven't gotten really too much into in what on earth is happening but we will in the future if we have a future the emperor is the seeming master of all quote-unquote master okay he's the seeming master of all because he's the master of Vader the generals the stormtroopers and the citizen he commands the entire Galactic Empire who's higher than him but you know what this old broken-down puppet of a man is a slave himself he is still a slave see this is what a lot of people would aspire to I want to get to the top of the food chain where there's nobody over me well you know what as long as your mindset is I'm gonna own other people I'm gonna give them commands and they have to obey me I control them I'm their authority you're never gonna get out from being on your knees you're never gonna be free you're never gonna be a slave you're never not gonna be a slave I should say you will always be a slave you will always be enslaved by that dark force itself which is fear and here's the one with the most fear that it's all trickling through him down to the other people he is a slave to the dark side of the force the force of fear itself which is why he has the greatest desire to control and he has to subjugate everybody under him because he's so fearful just like when Yoda is first introduced to Anakin Skywalker who became Darth Vader he says I sense a lot of fear in you and that's the path to the dark side he also says that to Luke but Luke is able to overcome that fear eventually see there's another phenomenal allegory in Star Wars the main hero who ultimately brings real freedom to the people is Luke light in other words knowledge he has to wield the green lightsaber not the red one not the blue one are we getting it yet you know when we talked about colors and frequencies in the past red is the left brain that's why Vader wields the left one blue is the right brain which is why obi-wan wields that one an event why Luke starts wielding that but then ultimately wields the green saber which is the middle of the frequencies of light and the heart chakra it means you've really forged the connection between the mind and the heart and he's fighting for the right reasons I'm not that obi-wan was not but he allows himself just to be taken out at some point thinking that I'll do more work in that in the higher realms you know then right here down here on the ground it's it's it's the allegory is that the spiritual pole is stronger than the the middle way for him for obi-wan but Luke is grounded he has the connection to the higher self but he's doing his work here on the ground on the earth so he's the real magician and his name means light that's not an accident nor is it an accent that the person George Lucas lucious light created this entire world of beings and allegory that's not an accident either because he knows what's going on he's in the know so let's look at who these people were before they became what they are now and just by the way if anyone is gonna call in on the call-in number if you've seen combat in World War two European theater of operations that's all the lines are open for do it now and get it get on the line because I'll have to screen it after this segment and then bring you on in the last segment so let's look at who the Emperor was the Emperor used to be Senator Palpatine who worked in the Senate of the Galactic Republic and he became the Emperor this husk this shell of his former self self you can see the comparisons between Palpatine would he used to look like in the Emperor now I'm not saying Palpatine is any uh you know anything to really look at you know he's an old man typical of like you know what a politician might look like but he certainly doesn't look like what the Emperor turned into you know this is showing you he's degraded and he's all wrinkled and he's a husk a shell of his former self because of this desire that's within him to control everything it has destroyed him has destroyed a significant part of him at least all of these characters share similar characteristics and again the main character who Star Wars is really all about is Anakin Skywalker the father of Luke okay he you know this whole thing is who the darkside is now was your ancestry and he and Luke doesn't want to look at that when when Vader finally tells him I'm your father I'm where you came from he doesn't want to look at that he doesn't want to acknowledge that at first he finally accepts it but we have to look at our past to really understand what's going on now and there's a lot of horrors to be found there you know we want to think it's all glory of even how this country was founded on supposed principles of freedom and yes principles of true freedom were contained in the founding of this country but look at what we did in practice we took this land took something that wasn't ours that other people were using that other people were living on we conquered this land from the indigenous peoples who were living here and we don't think we're gonna reap any consequences as a result of that karma is not going to come back to bite us natural law is not gonna have an effect in that situation we're living proof that natural law is in existence and that the sins of the father will be visited upon future generations this concept is contained in the story of Star Wars as well Luke's father brought about the whole scenario of the Galactic Empire that he's living in so showing you the father is enslaving the child and this is a great allegory for people in the military and the police you're putting your children into a cage you're putting your children in Chains by what you're doing in your state of unconsciousness in your left brain prison hood so Vader used to be Anakin Skywalker and he was a decent looking young man a strapping young lad okay and he was on the right path at first and then his desire okay to want to make things better and put things the exact way he wanted them not to allow for freedom and the ability to people to make mistakes which is what the military and police is all about especially the police force actually believe that nonsense that you're going to help people through controlling them you're going to physically put them in Chains or behind bars and somehow you're gonna change their mind about things or somehow you're going to make the world better and that isn't going to come back to bite the entire world that you're not trying to address the nature of the problem you're not trying to address the causal factors that led to the conditions of these people's imbalances that led them to take negative behaviors you just want to control them you just want to put them in a cage not actually do any real digging any real work upon the self nothing of that nature let's just segregate them from the rest of society and think we don't have to deal with that problem you're a fool little boy a fool how's that is that simple and straightforward enough you have no idea how the laws of nature work if that's what you think that's how you think you're gonna make things better zero zero and you better start learning because the level of ignorance that we are at and that these people are at in this hierarchy is so great that nature will is not going to tolerate this scenario for that much longer and yeah you can say oh there here comes the doomsday prophecy and you're blowing this up into something bigger than it is and fear-mongering but let me tell you something at some point nature finally says no no that accept it because it's the truth at some point it says you've had enough opportunities and the light was present and the knowledge was present and you decided to spit in its face you decided to slap that gift out of the hand of the universe put it on the floor kick it to the floor trample it spit on it and ignore everything that could have gotten you out of your situation finally nature's gonna say enough is enough at some point [Music] so we see what Anakin became the husk of his former self that he became the destruction of his inner being we'll pick this up on the other side stay with us [Music] [Applause] [Music] welcome back everyone this is the last segment for this edition of walk on earth has happened we're talking about the destruction of the true-self how people hand themselves over to institutional bodies hand themselves over in the chain of obedience abandon their conscience and become a husk of their former selves so we were looking at the characters from Star Wars and we saw that Darth Vader was once Anakin Skywalker who had all positive intentions wanted to do good things but thought that he was going to do them through control and he became Vader this husk of his former self the shell as you see there depicted on the right and image number 14 we finally see what Vader looks like when he is unmasked at the end of episode six Return of the Jedi the stormtroopers are perhaps the most interesting and we did we did not get any callers from World War two I'm that's unfortunate I'll keep that open next week and you know since I'm still gonna be talking about the dominator culture and how to stop supporting it and I'm not I won't be taking calls from the average listener I will continue to keep the line open only for world war two veterans next week and I promise not to put you on the spot too badly it won't be insulting okay all I want to ask a simple question regarding how you feel about something and get your honest on-air opinion about it okay so if anybody is hesitant to call them because they think I'm gonna come down on them real hard or anything like that that's not the case okay so if anybody's out there who did serve in that capacity call me and I have a simple question for you that's all okay so the stormtroopers are perhaps the most interesting part of this allegory one because there are many of them and they're they're all the same you know you could even look at okay there's only one Darth Vader there's only one Emperor there are many generals yes but they generally look different from each other the most non individuated the most conformist character in this entire series is the stormtrooper because we learn in I believe it is episode 5 attack of the clones we learn that all of the stormtroopers are in fact the same being they are cloned from the same man Jango Fett so if you took the stormtroopers helmets off you would see the same being underneath they all look exactly like Jango Fett there's none of them who are any different at all so this isn't a hinting that or an allusion to the fact that people in this capacity are the most controlled they're way down on the hierarchy and they've given up all aspects of individuality they're just part of a herd they're just slaves who just because they are given this tiny little bit of power here you have you could have this group of people under you will tell you you're allowed to command them ok and therefore okay that that fulfills your little beastial animalistic requirement to have some physical control over someone else so you'll give yourself over as a slave to us and you'll give away all of the uniqueness of your being all of your individuality and that's what the stormtrooper represents and that's exactly what the police are clones and I would I would go so far as to say so are the military clones of each other you could see this just in their uniforms that's why they make them wear these same uniforms bring him into group identity train them in the same way Brit to bring him to breakdown their former self and and build this new husk that they're going to have them in half which is a biological robot or a golem it's all cult techniques one of the things I want to look at perhaps I'll look at it next week is that the training techniques of military and police are identical to every cult in existence the techniques that are used to indoctrinate someone into a cult are identical to the training techniques of the police and military whether in police training or boot camp military boot camp same thing and it's provable so they're all clones they're copies from this character Jango Fett who is Boba Fett's father in the storyline okay if we look at image 16 I'm trying to show the example here of how exactly identical this this is not just an allegory this isn't seemingly far-fetched it's exactly what is happening in the world to these individuals they all look alike they all look the same there is no individuality tolerated you don't step out of line your little wind-up toy soldier wear your uniform one form don't break out a form formation don't be free-flowing don't be a true self don't be a true individual that's the message here oh yeah we'll give you we'll throw someone to you so you could beat on them sure why not we'll put you in combat you can get all your aggression out there because you know you're a slave subconsciously you know you're a little lap dog pet and you're not nothing like a real man zero people think that this is somehow manly there's nothing like a real man in this belonging to an institution a real man a real woman a real being a real human is a unique sovereign individual that takes pride in their uniqueness and standing out from other people not going and being a herd member of a group that's gonna dress you the same cut all your hair off so you don't look you don't maintain any individual look to yourself so you all look the same in basic form dress you up the same like a little doll and then go send you to die the same way kill and die the same way on the altar we made this altar of sacrifice for you so we don't even have to do it for you we don't have to march you up pyramids anymore and carve your heart out with an obsidian blade Oh remember those days that was tough on us we'll just send you out into the battlefield to do it yourselves and you do like well-trained little lap dogs that you are and for people who think that's harsh like I said get his offended as you want that's exactly how it is and I'll continue to tell it exactly how it is the bottom line to all of this ladies and gentlemen regardless of what you want to think or believe is that it comes down to respect it comes down to self-respect okay you need to take another look at your own self and your own actions and that the answer lies in the mirror the mirror is where that's going to be found image number 17 is what it's altom utley all about okay Latin it comes from the Latin language again the word respect it means to take another look at and that's ultimately what we have to do to take another look at our own actions so my final words here in all of this is stop trying to be something that you're not stop trying to fit in stop trying to belong don't be a copy be a unique individual not a clone okay because trying to continuously fit in and be like everybody else and not express your own uniqueness not express your own individuality is the problem here not allowing for that is the problem we need to step outside of these confines of these hierarchical institutionalized structures and express our own unique individuality and stop identifying with collectivist think and with groupthink and to do that one has to have true self respect respect for themselves is where that ultimately comes from the philosopher Vernon Howard perhaps put it best that human sickness is so severe that few can bear to look at it but those who do look at it will become well the answer lies in looking within looking in that mirror and being honest about what you see and remember as we head out because that's all the time we have for this episode there are only two pants that one can make only two mistakes one can make on the path to truth not starting and not going all the way we'll see you next week on what on earth is happening thanks for listening everyone [Music]

we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Marc Pascal welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com today is Sunday June 17 2012 the show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time 4 to 6 p.m. Central we're a great show lined up for you here today going to be continuing to talk about solutions today we're going to be discussing groupthink the abandonment of personal responsibility and the techniques of cults to indoctrinate and brainwash their followers as part of our ongoing discussion of the non support of the dominator cult sure we have to stop supporting the entire concept of domination if we're ever going to get out of this mess that we have worked our way into as human beings in consciousness and the subsequent loss of freedom that goes hand in hand with that level of unconsciousness is really what it needs to be called so those topics coming up a little bit later on this edition of what on earth is happening I have a few event announcements that I want to go over the first one is that I will be making an appearance on a cult empire with Bob from Cincinnati on the summer solstice coming up June 21st this Thursday at 8 p.m. on the antimatter broadcast broadcasting network so I posted a news item on my news page of what on earth is happening as a reminder for people to check that show out Bob and I are going to be discussing natural law and really going into natural law what it is how it operates in our lives and how we really need to bring our will into alignment with it we're gonna be going into that in depth on the show this Thursday night on a cult Empire I did make an appearance on down the rabbit hole a last-minute appearance this Friday that just passed which was June 15th down the rabbit hole with Popeye a great show that discusses problems similar to what I discuss here on what on earth is happening and proposes solutions and Popeye and I also got into natural law a lot on this show I don't have the archive yet but I will have it within the next couple of days and I will post it to the news section truth freedom prosperity as always a group that I work with here a group of activists I work with here in Philadelphia presents their documentary screening and discussion night the last Thursday of every month at a scene food market fourth and Monroe streets here in the city of Philadelphia this month we will be meeting on Thursday June 28th and the film that we will be screening is PSYWAR an excellent film about mind control and propaganda so I have one more big event announcement on the other side of the break and then we'll get get into our subject material you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm energy independence celebrations for 2012 please visit the Tesla Science Foundation website at Tesla Science Foundation dot o-r-g okay I have one other quick announcement that the phone lines will be open again today only for military veterans who engaged in combat operations in the European theater during World War two only that's the only people I'll be taking calls from today okay so we will have a - all Colin shows coming up on the topic of non support of dominators shortly probably within less than a month because I only have two more basic topics that I want to cover in this section and that is the after I finish for today that is I want to cover the occult mockery of the police and the military and how they are owned by dark occultists and they are ritualistically mocked through their symbolism that they are made to wear and I want to talk about carnism the practice of eating meat and how that is one of the ultimate forms of domination that is keeping humanity as a farmed species so those two topics will be coming up and after that then we will have to all Colin shows there will be a free-for-all on the topic of the non support of dominators so for today I just want to ask a question to military veterans who served in World War two but actually actually saw combat in World War two that's one of the stipulations so if you actually engaged in combat during World War 2 in the European theater call in to the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again if you saw combat in the military theater of uh in the European theater of operations during World War two call in two eight six six eight four one one zero six five I have a simple question that I want to ask and I want to get your honest answer on the air live I realize that that's limiting the number of people because obviously whoever served in that capacity will be quite old at this point in well into their 80s most likely and perhaps into their 90's so if you know anyone that can call with an open mind and just allow me to ask a simple question and get their honest response on the air have them call in okay as always I'd like to direct people up to my website at what on earth is happening comm where if you click on the radio show tab underneath the player you will see images for today's show and a bunch of numeric links you can click on those to follow along with the slide show presentation that goes hand in hand with the topics and ideas that I'll be talking about here today on the show so let's jump into the subject material image number one is simply the poster for the Tesla energy independence celebrations here in Philadelphia if you have anyone you want to share that with download it print it and give it to other people share it on your website or whatever you'd like to do with it is there for you to do with as you will image number two shows this whole overarching section of solutions which I call the way out image number three is the list of the grassroots solutions for positive and lasting change okay and we've covered most of these we're on the non-supportive dominators now in the future after we exhaust this particular topic I will be talking about the use of entheogenic conscious context the importance of attempting to keep our thinking on the positive end and not get into 100% doom think I know that's pretty difficult believe me well where we're at I understand that but it is something we should strive to do and then helping others to awaken which is part of personal responsibility once you understand enough to at least be able to elucidate it verbally and communicate it to other people then you have a responsibility to help other people out of their trance so those topics will be coming up in the solutions section and then I will be looking for people to come on that talk about solutions and I'll be interviewing many people and having a lot of interviews that I'll be conducting with other guests and we'll have some you know people call in and ask guests questions I want solution oriented approaches that's really what I want to cover people who already obviously know the problem but are really talking about how to make a dent in the problem so that we can move toward a solution in consciousness okay so this section of course has been the non-supportive dominators which we have been covering for the last several weeks and we have a couple more weeks at least to cover on this topic and then we'll finally be reopening the phone lines as I said last week on the show we covered the concept of selflessness and how it differs from selflessness which is the concept of really being unselfish and altruistic motivated by our desire to improve and evolve our higher self that's true selflessness we talked about self less Ness this concept of the abandonment of the true self the condition of having lost the connection to the higher self okay and the in this state the person is only motivated by lower instincts by base consciousness they're only motivated in toward selfishness they're driven by self-preservation only such a preservation of the lower self the body okay the ego in the body but they're not motivated for anything higher not to add truth or trust justice toward freedom only what they can get out of the situation this was called selflessness as we described it last week and I'll continue to be talking about that a little bit before we jump into our techniques of cults that are used against willing followers we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Cassio I was briefly reviewing the concept of selflessness the loss of the true self becoming self unless before the break and image number five shows that very clear distinction between the concept that I was talking about last week of selflessness and what we traditionally think of as selflessness and in fact they are really polar opposites they are antitheses of each other so image number six I kind of wrapped up with a you know explaining last week that we really have to develop a true sense of uniqueness and individuality and treasure that and not want to be part of a group groupthink mentality can you work with other people absolutely but to identify with that group is something altogether different that means you're taking your identity from it and you're not a unique individual anymore you've been dissolved into the group and a group really doesn't truly have a conscience all only people only individuals individual people have a conscience once you're involved in a group the group has its own direction that it wants to go that's all about preservation of the whole preservation of the the group and its directives its agenda now on that isn't to say that there's no such thing as a group of people that can accomplish good aims that that is certainly the case that is possible but it that only happens when the people in the group continue to see themselves as unique individuals working toward a specific goal that they know to be correct they know to be right and they're not identifying with the group and its preservation and unfortunately this is what all of our institutions in the world today are all about there are all about self preservation which is a low modality of consciousness you know just survival only is is base brain modality of consciousness that's the r-complex mode of behavior and it doesn't take into consideration any higher minded ideals or philosophy so the warning I gave at the end of the last show was we have to strive not to be a copy if you your that's your motivation to be like everyone else to fit in to be a copy to be a clone okay you're gonna fall into the scenario where you're ultimately doing the bidding of evil and often without even realizing it and that's why I put these images here in slide number six of police and military being remarkably like the clones called the stormtroopers in the allegory of Star Wars and this is meant to be disturbing or shocking or even insulting because people need to be snapped out of the trance I mean when you look at an image like the lower left there of Marines standing there in formation you should not be getting a warm fuzzy feeling and looking at that with admiration and respect there's nothing to be respected in being a hard conformist there's nothing to be respected respected in giving up your individuality as a unique human being that that actually is to be loathed it's something that we should be trying to avoid at all costs because again it leads us no matter how good our intentions are down the path of following whatever the group wants of us and we can't be group think followers herd mentality is the problem here that's why we're in such a mess as a people because none of us are actually truly listening to our conscience and acting in accordance with it we're going along with the group and following its dictates following its agenda what it wants of us and and we're basing our behavior we're basing our decisions and our actions on what we what we think the group expects of us and it can't be like that if we're ever really going to prosper if we're ever going to move into a way of being where we thrive and we're not creating an unimaginable self-inflicted suffering for ourselves and ultimately by this group think by this herd mentality and behavior that's exactly what we're doing is creating a self-inflicted wound we're doing it to ourselves we're putting ourselves in chains it's not something really that's being done to us is there are there groups you know covert groups and dark occultists working toward an agenda of enslavement you better believe it but the whole point is that they are an expression of our willingness to obey of our herd mentality and wanting to fit in wanting to go along with the group they're bringing us all into that herd into that big farm and getting ready to lead us to the slaughterhouse if we don't turn this around real quick so today we're going to be looking at again just knowing that people are like that isn't good enough we in this section we've been trying to understand why they are like that because without the Y there's no power there's no deep understanding and you're never gonna be able to reverse that situation without knowing why the problem is not enough people know why people are in that state of mind they don't not have enough information about human psychology and certainly they don't have enough information about the techniques that are employed against them by people wielding techniques of cults of heard conformist mentality that's really what a cult is it's a herd conforte conformist group that is acting on behalf only of the group and has abandoned their own personal responsibility their own responsibility to truth their own responsibility to what is right and they'll go along with whatever the group wants of them whether it's right or wrong whether it's in a Gordon's with natural law or in flagrant violation of natural law so I subtitled this or gave it an alternative title if you're looking at slide number seven now it's called the techniques of cults this section or alternatively how to brainwash willing followers who want to give away personal responsibility for their own actions that's what all cult members are that's what all people who join a dominator group are and I'll read that again cult members ok people who join a cult ok are willing followers who want to give away personal responsibility for their own actions that's what a cult member is ok and this is everything I'm warning against everything I'm trying to explain to you for as long as you continue to exist in that modality of consciousness that you believe that you can give away personal responsibility to do what is right to someone else you're you're walking willingly over a cliff into an abyss that's what you're doing whether you know it or not whether it's that it's at a conscious level or not you are literally going over the edge of a cliff so there the part of it is that this whole desire to do this is an illusion it can never be done it's not possible it's someone who thinks that they can do something that isn't possible like live outside of the boundaries of natural law and somehow prosper and not suffer that is impossible you can believe it's possible all you want and it will never make it so the same goes with the abandonment of personal responsibility you can only believe and imagine that you can do this it's one of the really negative uses of the imagination okay we have this powerful imagination and it's there to make us capable of doing great things but it can it be abused yes it can be abused people imagine that they can do things that they cannot really do that are isn't possible they can engage in illusion through the abbé use of imagination there is no such thing as giving away your personal responsibility you're always responsible whether you like it or not whether you know it or not or whether you want to accept it or not we'll be right back folks stay tuned you're listening - what on earth is happening [Music] [Music] okay everyone we're back you're listening to you what on earth is happening we're talking about the techniques of cults today on the show or in other words how to brainwash willing followers who want to give away their personal responsibility for their own actions something that can never really be done giving away your personal responsibility with something that absolutely can be done is how to brainwash someone who thinks they can give away their personal responsibility see people will ask well you said you're gonna talk about solutions so why are you talking about the techniques of cults you know what in this go hand-in-hand with the problem yes that's true but understanding these techniques and moreover understanding the mindset of the person who allows themselves to fall for these techniques shows you why we're doing what we're doing and that's part of the solution is to understand the psychological factors at work in people who join group think institutions in people who continue to obey orders without actually listening to their conscience we need to know why they want to do this if we're ever going to help them to come out of this brainwashed condition it all comes down ultimately to self respect at some level people like this don't like who they are don't like themselves and in many ways they shouldn't like who they are but they don't have yet that developed willpower to want to make a change they haven't developed enough love for themselves for the high the connection to the higher self that I don't I'm not talking about love for the physical body or the ego self or the little identified role that we happen to play I'm talking about love of self higher case s the true self the real essence of one's being okay which isn't just the sum of your thoughts emotions actions it's a higher connection to oneness to to the divine if you will that is a spark that exists within all of us and the person who is in this condition doesn't has not made that a connection to that divine essence within them they may may be even bought into the idea that it doesn't exist or it's not there in other words that they don't even have a soul and there's this self-loathing component within them that makes them want to then turn that self-loathing outward and take it out on someone else we need to understand the psychological factors at work within someone's mind if we're ever going to help them come out of that condition if we're going to be assistance to the process of change we need to know why they're already there without that Y in hand you come to the situation powerless so let's look at techniques that are used against people who are in this low state of self esteem and why they're so easy to reel in why they're such you know joiners they run when there's herd mentality present to go and join it okay instead of actually really thinking for oneself and really acting in accord with one's own conscience so the four main overarching techniques of cults are there more than this absolutely these are the four big ones okay that form the umbrella under which a lot of the other techniques are a subsection a subset of techniques okay but these are the four overarching techniques that every cult every herd mentality group uses against their joiners were followers and these four techniques are isolation that's number one isolation number two conformity number three indoctrination through repetition and repetition is key here this is a key element we're gonna get into all of these separately and break them down one by one over the course of the show and number four is trauma traumatization of the follower so isolation conformity indoctrination through repetition and trauma are the four overarching or umbrella techniques if you will of cult initiation and no I'm not saying the word occult this is an occult initiation this is cult member initiation okay in other words how to make a robot a human robot a biological Android someone that will follow orders unquestioningly give themselves up give up the true-self give themselves up even bodily hell not even just give up the true-self give up the lower self to give up both selves okay the higher the connection to the higher self is abandoned already and they're giving up the body as well you know and any of the actions and behaviors that can be taken with the body to the the group or the master see that this is what I'm this is what this entire show is all about I'm not looking for followers I don't want you to follow me I don't care whether anybody quote believes what I'm saying because belief has nothing to do with any of this and I'm not asking anybody to believe in and what what I say here I said that on show number one the worst thing that you could do is just absolutely believe what I'm saying without actually discovering these things for yourself through seeking the truth I want people to become seekers of truth themselves not followers of anything okay if you want to follow anything follow where the truth leads you that's what you need to follow except that which is not what you want to leave is there and certainly I'm not looking to be anybody's guru or master it's difficult enough to master oneself without trying to hold other people up okay now that also doesn't mean I'm not saying once you understand what's really going on you have no responsibility to help others to get to that level of understanding you do that is our personal responsibility that's what part of our responsibility is and I'll be talking about that on a future show but you know what I'm talking about is wanting to directly control somebody control their actions that comes from a deep state of the lack of self-respect and self-esteem for oneself even having that desire at all wanting to control somebody else's behavior I'm not interested in controlling your behavior I am I trying to influence people toward looking at the truth and looking at what's really there yes I'm trying to be an inspiration to do that but I have no desire to want to form a group and have that group follow me believe me you wouldn't not be following anybody who is unique or special in any capacity except maybe that I have a drive to seek the truth a little bit more than most other people do that's about it and that I shouldn't be special in that regard and nor do I want to be I think other people should develop that capacity and I should be no one special even in that capacity so this has absolutely nothing to do with me saying you need to believe me I don't want you to believe anything I want you to know that which is that's it the whole reason we're in this mess is because of belief people believing in things they can't really don't really have any empirical evidence to support so the firt let's look at these four techniques and break them down individually the first technique is isolation and this is they're all really equally important this is because if you don't do this it's very difficult to continue the other techniques without anyone disrupting them or breaking it up or saying hey why are you letting this happen why are you doing this and to the person who's doing it and why are you letting this happen to the person that's being done - most people would would recognize this for what it is if it was really out in the open but because it's done in secrecy and private for the most part it's done in an isolated section of the world it removed from the rest of the community see that that's the key point is that you have to be not allowed to be in constant contact with anyone who's outside of this group that's why all cults isolate their members in some respect or another whether it be you know a religious cult that makes people go and live with them okay in some kind of a communist something like that or whether it be military boot camp in which you removed from the general population the civilian population or a police academy which i believe is what this image is a depiction of on slide number eight so physical separation from the rest of the community is absolutely essential otherwise people will be questioning what's going on they'll be able to compare notes you know those outside of this little separatist group you have to create an us-versus-them mentality this is also the key this is also essential to create the imagination or the perception of separation between self and others brakes coming up wilt it will stop it right there we'll pick this up the breakdown of cult technique number one isolation on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcast and don't go anywhere we'll be right back [Music] [Music] welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're talking about the techniques of cult member initiation on the show today we're looking at the first out of four overarching techniques the technique of isolation from the rest of the community this also involves the creation of an us-versus-them mentality you have to demonize people who are Outsiders you have to demonize those who don't belong you always need an enemy a cult needs an enemy to point their finger out and say see there the entire problem see it sounds so similar to saying that followers are the problem but there's a difference when a cult does it they're pointing at people who really aren't the problem of humanity's woes the entire problem is the entire dynamic of wanting to be a follower unfortunately that does exist and so to say yes that is the problem is not like trying to indoctrinate somebody into a technique of a cult it happens to be true what they're doing is saying this person's the entire problem and that isn't the case they just want somebody to believe that to get them to follow with their will and get them to do what they want them to do you know Hitler had the communists you know we have the Arab Arab fundamentalists everybody always has somebody that they're gonna try to demonize and it's almost always even a contrived situation because the Communists didn't burn the Reichstag down Hitler's own secret police did Arab fundamentalists did not do 9/11 rogue elements within the United States government and occult forces did so it's always an invented enemy as well but they need an enemy there to create that dichotomy that opposition the oppositional consciousness of us versus them this always gets people to look outward never inward see I'm always asking people you need to look turn your gaze inward are you part of the dynamic that's creating the problem and if you see any part of your your self that is part of that dynamic you need to withdraw from it saying no that's what the process of apophysis is all about taking a good hard look at the self stop pulling the finger outward we need we need to point the finger inward upon ourselves as individuals and then help other people to do that same process that's what development of respect is about taking another look at oneself and there's too little of that and there's too much external finger pointing I coined a term on the down the rabbit-hole Show on Friday night with Popeye I coined the term the my freedom movement so we don't have a real freedom movement of people who really want to affect a true lasting positive change a true solution we don't really have that yet in mass numbers we have what I call the my freedom movement because it's people who are interested in them selves being free but when it comes to the freedom of all and it comes through being told that hey you're a part of this dynamic that's destroying human freedom in certain things you're doing they don't want to hear that then I'm the bad guy for bringing that message then I get demonized for pointing something out that's in contradiction with natural law see everybody will listen to somebody up to a point where then you start telling them hey there's something you're doing here that is problematic that is contributing to the problem and then I don't want to hear anything I don't want to hear a word forward from that because you touched a nerve you know so from now on I don't call it the freedom movement whatever we call this thing this alternative research community that we have I call it the my freedom movement because it's largely a group of people who have recognized that their freedom their personal freedoms being accosted but when it comes to the freedom of all it's you know a very little consequence or significance to them you know my wallets being affected you know my personal liberties are being affected but hey if it's been done in that country or this place or over here and I don't see and it doesn't really affect me then I'm what so what the my freedom movement but to go back to these techniques isolation is probably one of the most important because without that again these all of these techniques would be would come into question they would be called on these techniques in doing them again on both sides both you know halves of this group think dynamic the the master and the person who's being conditioned into the their form of slavery would be questioned by outsiders you know the master you know would be you know it would be put to him why are you doing this you know do you think you have a right to do this to another human being and the follower would be questioned something would be said to him like why are you allowing this to be done can't you see what this person is trying to do but in an isolated setting you know no objections ever get raised and it just can continue on unabated the indoctrination techniques you know so let's move on to cult technique number two cult technique number two is found on slide number nine and it is the dynamic of conformity bringing people into a semblance of sameness which can be very difficult to do because people are all individuals and they're all unique in one form or another you're never gonna find two people that are exactly alike doesn't exist we're all unique beings we're all unique creations and we should treasure that uniqueness and not try to squander it and give it away see and here's another I just want to you know interject with this whenever the words I talked about this on another show the dynamic of you should this is something that people insist insist should never be said to another person because it's the immediate engagement of the ego and I say that that's utter bunk because this is the problem ladies and gentlemen no one is ever saying you should not do this you should not be acting like this they don't want to step on somebody else's sensibility and wound their ego because then they just say oh that that's turning them off the problem is that you're a - accepting of their bad behavior and nobody's calling anybody else on their bullshit to be quite frank that's the problem nobody's willing to step up and say you should not do this this is wrong this is against natural law you don't have a right why do you even imagine that you have the right that's the problem there's no no one's stepping up and calling people on that by saying you shouldn't do this okay and it's more about saying what you shouldn't do again it's it's apophatic in nature the negative the wrong things that people are doing they should be called on them so this whole thing of you know you should never say to anybody you should or shouldn't do this or that is his New Age garbage okay it's walking on eggshells around evil and nobody should walk on eggshells around evil they should look evil in the face and call it what it is so this technique of conformity works in a number of different ways the first is you set all the ground rules in the environment so that people you know if they act outside of those ground rules they are they are completely ostracized and isolated and punished given either physical punishments or you know again ridiculed in in the group dynamic so no individuality can be tolerated in groupthink in herd mentality all right the old identity is to be broken down completely this is why they're there this is why they're in that state of isolated separation from the rest of the community it's to break down the uniqueness of the individual to get get rid of this the true self any connection to it whatsoever so one's old identity has to be completely shed so that this programming can be accepted the cult programming can be accepted this is how all cults operate and you're looking in that example of two of the biggest cults in the world and that's what they need to be seen as what they are the military and the police are cults make no mistake about it we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening you're on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm we're talking about the techniques of cults today on the show they're used to indoctrinate their followers their cult members who want to give away their personal responsibility bring them into a conformist or herd mentality mind-state so that they will abandon their conscience and do whatever the cult leader or the group demands of them whether it is right or wrong whether it is in harmony with natural law or in complete opposition to natural law so we're looking at cult technique number two conformity how no individuality may be tolerated by the group and the old identity that the person you know brought in when they first joined the group has to be completely shed it has to be broken down so that a new molded personality can be built up that can only act in accordance with the group's agenda that's why there has to be total conformity and the stamping out of any uniqueness among the members and some of the methods that are used to accomplish this are uniforms the shaving of heads as we see in the military uniforms make everyone look the same externally even though they have unique features can have unique body shapes it gives the impression upon immediately looking at the individual that they're all completely the same symbolism put in the same places on the body is another technique used to do this it creates sameness and appearance that's really all this is about that that's the reason for uniforms one form bringing the group into one form not separate forms not separate individuals but getting them to act as one mind one controlled mind so that's what uniforms and the shaving of heads and the symbolism put on the body etc that's all there to create that illusion really of the sameness in appearance there is also techniques used to employ sameness in speech and behavior this is the idea of you have to answer a question in a particular way you have to answer it you know with a certain level of volume you have to stand a certain way when you say it you have to start and end with sir sir yes sir sir no sir you know all of these are techniques to induce conformity in the herd and again get them to completely look at whoever the instructor sergeant or you know the drill instructor perhaps or you know whoever their master happens to be at any given time that's the authority and you follow you get in line the chain of obedience is what this is about forget the chain of command it's the chain of obedience that we're talking about here so sameness in speech and behavior has to be emphasized as a value this is what you have to aspire to you know and again this is all done to get the person to eventually abandon their conscience that's why this is all being done you got to abandon they've already abandoned personal responsibility by even coming to the group you know and asking the group to handle their problems for them to give them you know you know the conditions of security and the conditions of predictability etc that's another reason people join groups and cults like this you know they don't want any surprises in their life they what they want that sameness it's all based on fear ladies and gentlemen all based on fear of a person who really doesn't want to take a look at themselves and deal with the world as it really is we'll be right back after these words stay with us [Music] welcome back everyone we're listening to what my life has happening today on the show we're talking about the techniques of cult indoctrination how would be God's turn their followers brains into mush because they're the follower is so intent on giving up their personal responsibility something that's not even possible trying to do the impossible thinking that they're gonna get away with it thinking they're going to be successful in doing it and so that they can claim wasn't my fault I was only following the orders of the master it doesn't work that way ladies and gentlemen it never has and it never will so we were looking at technique number two which is conformity no individuality tolerated the old identity must be completely stamped out use uniforms and other techniques to create complete sameness and appearance and then re-emphasize sameness in speech and behavior get people thinking inside the box acting inside the box hell even looking like they're inside a box because they are let's move on to cult technique number three indoctrination through repetition repetition is one of the most critical techniques of all cult brainwashing you have to do things and say things over and over and over and over and over again and people will say hey you do a lot of repeating that's right I do because one of the methods of deprogramming the brainwashed mind is also repetition people need to hear things many times over for it to sink in and they need to hear things for it many times over to get something out of their mind that doesn't belong there that is doing damage that is insulting to the soul that is destroying the individual's unique individuality their uniqueness okay and who that is really destroying their conscience their connection to the higher self and their ability to act in accordance with conscience with right and wrong principles so how do people indoctrinate others we talked about this a lot when we talked about the section on indoctrination and you will take note if you're listening to this presentation whether live or in the podcast this is podcast 112 by the way that all of these techniques are also used in schools and corporate institutions the techniques are the same no matter what kind of hierarchical structure we're talking about no matter what kind of hierarchically structured institution no matter what kind of compartmentalized institution we're talking about these techniques universally apply so by all means these are the techniques that are used in schooling and I notice I'm not saying real education there the techniques techniques used in modern schooling or indoctrination so we talked a lot about what indoctrination was but we want to talk about how does this work through repetition because that's the main methodology that indoctrination is used in in the military and the police here you see images of military cadets and training on the left there is sitting in a class at rapt attention and there on the right you see an image of a drill instructor at a police academy marching his his unit in step and chanting so let's look at the word indoctrination first to get a better understanding of what this really is about indoctrination means speaking in two through three ways that's what indoctrination is or simply just simply speaking into three ways that's what the word indoctrination actually breaks down to in its etymology three methods of speaking into so indoctrination isn't real education if you look up the etymology of the word education it comes from a Duke Oh in Latin which means to lead out a do care a in Latin means to lead out of and what education is doing is to lead someone out of ignorance out of darkness that's what real education does that's not what indoctrination does that's speaking something into someone that's putting a program there that ultimately doesn't belong there if they're going to be led out of Darkness the real education could also mean to draw out that which is within then this goes to you know back to a great concept that was spoken by words in the Gnostic gospel attributed to Christ that if we bring forth that which is within us that which we bring forth will save us will be our salvation in other words if we bring forth the inner self what we will save ourselves but if we do not bring forth that which is within us that which we do not bring forth will destroy us this is all about self-respect this is all about making the connection to the higher self if we do that we're going to be okay if we don't do that we're gonna be doomed we don't deal with our inner self with our psychic garbage we don't look at the shadow self at the demon sides of the self that's gonna come back and bite us we have to deal with our own darkness and negativity it can't just be brushed off repeatedly and not dealt with not looked at which is what a lot of the New Age movement wants never look at the negative oh that battle you'll draw more of it too you know the whole problem is is most people aren't dealing with the negative that exists within them and trying to transmute it into something more positive to work with the shadow material and eventually integrate it so that it's not ruling you could even have it be there and continuously making a freewill decision to conquer it to veteran to be better than that shadow self to be better than that lowercase s self I mean if you think I don't have a lower self or lower instincts you're crazy you're out of your mind I make a continual renewal within myself to be better than those lower instincts every day of my life so that I'm not I recognize that they're there I'm not ignoring them I know those instincts are present but I don't let them rule me that's what what we have to do that's what Y we have to work with that shadow material and anybody telling you that that's not important work to do and you shouldn't be doing it or is lying to you and trying to deceive you and that's a big part of why the New Age movement is out there now I mention that because that's another I keep mentioning the New Age movement because this is another cult that is out there that is trying to keep people back from a lot of the real solutions to get us out of this because a lot of these New Age movement techniques are put out there by the dark occult and we have to understand that repetition gets us into the reptile brain you're speaking into somebody through in three ways to control their thoughts their emotions and their actions that's where the three comes from and the best way of accomplishing that is to put them in the r-complex of the brain the base mind we'll look at how that's done this is done on the other side don't go anywhere folks you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back [Music] rear die radio with Lee Rogers the most dangerous top show in America weekdays at 9:00 p.m. central on Oracle broadcast [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone I'm your host mark Cassio you're listening to what on earth is happening through an Oracle broadcaster we're talking about the techniques of cults today on the show we're at overarching cult technique number three out of four the indoctrination through repetition this works through again indoctrination is speaking into through three ways or speaking into to change three things that's the best way that you could put the definition of indoctrination if you look at it from its etymological perspective and the things you're trying to change or the things you're trying to control is thought emotion and action and you do this by speaking into not trying to lead someone out of not trying to draw someone out something out that is within the being okay the draw out the essence of the true self okay and and allow the person to work with that higher essence you want to completely stamp that out and just program them through words okay so this is programming through words in three ways all right through thoughts emotions and actions telling people things that aren't true so that they believe them in their mind okay and then working through the technique we're going to talk about which is a physical exhaustion in many cases traumatization through physical exhaustion also because keeping some somebody in a same place seated in a certain position or walking and telling them something while they're walking you're working with the mind and the body and these people become emotionally traumatized as a result of all of this as well and emotional abuse goes along with this technique as well and again this can be found in school settings today in the way that we continuously try to put our children through a form of Education that really isn't beneficial the human brain so some of the ways that repetition is used in military boot camp and in police academy training is through rigorous schedules and instruction you have to have people going through the same thing over and over again on a daily basis again regimented behavior is stressed things being the same all right conformity always doing it the same way never diverging no uniqueness so rigorous schedules are part of it repetitive behaviors obstacle courses you know a very demanding physically demanding things obstacle courses drills formation marching in step all while being told things speaking into okay words being used while these repetitive behaviors are going on push-ups I should have put push-ups on there talk about repetitive behaviors you know that's another thing calisthenics you know all different exercises I guess that goes hand in hand with obstacle courses and drills as well getting people to form specific formations with their body so that you are you are looking at yourself as just a member of this group you know and that's part of the reason that reinforces this person's abandonment of personal responsibility that's what they want they want to just get lost in the herd lost in the group so there no one unique see it's all about giving up your uniqueness because they're trying to give away their responsibility and they think oh if I just looked at as a member of this one unit this group that acts as one then it's not me who's doing it you know I can't be blamed I was just one in that whole bit look at that big huge formation of people are just this one tiny tiny little insignificant being in there I can't be held responsible this is where people's mindset is at ladies and gentlemen they actually believe their own BS that they can somehow give away that their own responsibility for their actions and it can't be done you're always responsible for your own actions doesn't matter what group you belong to doesn't matter who told you to do it doesn't matter why you did it does not matter why you did it if you did it you're responsible for it the end that's the truth and the truth is extreme and no one wants to hear that because that forces you to point the finger at yourself not at anyone outside yourself and that's why we don't have a freedom movement that's why we have a my freedom movement and that's why that my freedom movement is unlikely to make any damage in the huge agenda for global human slavery it's unlikely to do it I'm not saying that to discourage people or to make you feel bad I'm saying until it stops being the my freedom movement and still people start pointing the finger within and say how am i part of this entire enslavement vehicle how am i giving my energy to it don't look for any change don't look for any lasting positive beneficial change that leads to more an increase in freedom and a decrease in slavery because you're not going to see it as long as the finger is pointed outward so another method of this repetition techniques is literal the repeating of phrases chants or songs and you see this in the military and in police academies when we march in step we're gonna you know keep chanting left right left right left right you know or we're gonna sing some ridiculous song over and over and over again during the march non-stop repetition it puts you into the r-complex of the brain doing the same thing over and over not only are you doing the same thing over and over again with your with your body with your extremities you know you're doing it with your mouth with your voice and this is all going into the ears and going into the subconscious and it works their nests there it's all about getting you in the box and believe me people are there they're in that box they're in the cage it's about getting you into the cage so you can't even ever think of getting outside that cage now hand in hand with these repetitive methods I broke cult technique number four down into part a and B because trauma has really two components to it physical trauma and psychological trauma or what I called mental / emotional trauma okay mental and emotional trauma and then physical trauma alright so let's look at 4a which is physical trauma and this is one of the clearest examples of bootcamp mentality is you got to put the people through the paces you got to put them through that hard physical training high levels of physical activity to such an extent that it takes the recruits the followers to a point of exhaustion of physical collapse sometimes and you do that on a daily basis over and over again so there on the left you see a drill instructor you know mocking a person who's reached the point of complete exhaustion and the other troops joining in on it join in on the mockery of this person who's physically collapsed low sleep time and distraught disrupted sleep because it this is key if you don't get enough sleep your mind become so deteriorated you can become really insane without the proper sleep you're not entering rapid eye movement sleep REM mode of sleep people make horrible decisions without getting enough sleep people will will listen to and follow people that they shouldn't be following that don't have their best interests in mind when sleep is disrupted or chaotic or you're just not getting enough so this is another technique that is used against these followers and one of the biggest is food the poison that is in food feeding these recruits a high carbohydrate and low nutrient density diet there you see it with it you know the noodles all with white bleached flour now one of the biggest staples in a military diet pasta you'll see this over and over again in any cult high carb low nutrient density critical you'll be right back at these words folks stay with us [Music] [Applause] [Music] but they are we defendant welcome back everyone we're listening to you what on earth is happening we're talking about the techniques of cult indoctrination here today on the show we were talking about technique for a which is on slide number 11 if you're following along on the radio show page of what on earth is happening with these slides that are listed there or with the podcast which is podcast number 112 physical trauma is the first traumatic induction technique here the traumatization of the followers through high levels of physic physical activity to the point of exhaustion or even collapse low sleep times and disrupted sleep sometimes you know cadets will be woken up unceremoniously from sleep in the middle of the night and put through you know some kind of you know crazy exercise or you know ask to react as if they're under attack or something we're just made to do some repetitive behavior that involves movement and chanting or for inspection you know this is a well-known technique and it's done to disrupt REM sleep because you know that you're creating suggestibility in the mind when the proper amount of REM sleep has not been attained has not been obtained that will lower someone's defenses that will open them up to suggestion it will make them not make accurate decisions and so they will rely on the suggestions of others more readily and then of course the diet high carbohydrate low nutrient density again the brain is not getting what it needs and in many cases it is being disrupted because of an overabundance of carbs potatoes are another huge huge aspect of military food and bootcamp food and we talked about pasta you see that example in the image high carb high flour breads pastas potatoes etc will be the bulk of the diet and then they'll have some meat and maybe some beans and proteins and things like that but that's it plant diet is highly de-emphasized in this regimented and controlled form of traumatizing the body is that's what this is all about it's about throwing the body into a state where okay it'll have enough energy to do what it needs to do in the short term but ultimately high-level thinking isn't really going to be possible in any of these states you're not going to be thinking at high level when you're completely exhausted when your sleep is disrupted and when you've been eating a crap diet that's really poisonous to the body and mind so this all forms these all form parts of the technique for a which is physical traumatization mental and emotional traumatization is technique number 4b which is in slide number 12 this comprises comprised of verbal and psychological abuse yelling at the follower cadet abusing them with words just completely degrading them verbally telling them they're a piece of trash telling them that they're worthless okay and this is all to break down the old sense of self get them to completely and totally look at their instructors their masters is the only person who they receive any kind of direction from they tell me what's good they tell me what's bad because Who am I I'm nothing I'm no one I can't I can't understand those things on my own I'm a piece of trash okay and that's continuously reinforced I'm worthless I'm I'm not unique I'm a piece of trash this is what's being told to these people constantly eventually you somebody tells you something enough constantly if you're already at a low sense of self-esteem and wanted to give away your responsibility to begin with you believe it quite readily all of those things see the problem is it becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy because then you're willing to go in listen to these people who don't care about you who don't only have their agenda to serve and the group's agenda to serve and you will go and do things that only a piece of trash would do that's the problem once you've come this far it's really easy to just let yourself go all the way and then do things that are completely immoral at the the beck and call of the beck and call of the master okay so the the problem here when you're already in this low state of self esteem and someone's coming in and telling you that you're worthless you're very highly susceptible to believe that and then to act like that because you didn't go in with self-respect and the respect that they talk about in the military is all illusory respect it isn't real true self respect it's all based on violence it's all based on power in the physical sense not real power power with a lowercase P I'm not talking about real true power that comes from alignment with truth and natural law that's power with high with a higher a capital P all of their techniques are all based on illusory power the desire to control somebody else low self-esteem no real respect no real true self respect and this is all fear-based every part of it is based on ultimately if you go low enough down into the motivating factor it's because someone who is afraid and therefore they want to control the actions of someone else because they're afraid and that my friends is the psychology of a child that's not a true adult that's not a true human being that is an infant who knows zero about anything when when you're in that mode of consciousness there's no real power there there's no real self-esteem there's no real self-respect and the problem is people think that that's what this is all about the military and the police power respect it should command none of those things to a person who's really thinking clearly and understands the real dynamic that's going on it's the exact opposite of all of those things it's low self-esteem it's fear it's infantile it's not something that is adult you know that's by a person who's truly mentally psychologically spiritually and emotionally aware and has reached a level of maturity in those capacities it has nothing to do with that it's all based in fear and the desire to control in a in a completely illusory sense so those are the basic techniques of cults let's just wrap up with the mental emotional trauma again verbal and psychological abuse the unexpected and unexpected sudden and shocking scenarios being presented okay again we look at the example the troops are woken up in the middle of the night you're under attack ooh you know fallen formation you know you know and meanwhile sleep has been disrupted they're in a suggestible state just coming right out of sleep that's why it's done upon coming out of sleep that's when people will follow orders the best because they're conscious mind isn't even activated fully yet they're still in that in that some some knob you elastic state okay between waking and sleep it's like a sleepwalking state at that point and that's when the biggest suggestions for control come in at that point these are make no mistake the people who practice these techniques well know how they work they may have known for thousands of years how these techniques work the problem is is that the willing idiot who joined who is the joiner and the follower has no clue how these techniques are being used against them there are no nothing idiots and if you look at the etymology of idiot it means one who knows not the self that's what the word idiot means and that's exactly what an idiot is someone who doesn't know themselves that's why they would go and even join something like this you're being used used hard-core used up and when they're done using you up they're gonna throw you out like a piece of trash that they think you are because that's exactly what they think of you as and I'm not I'm not asking you to believe me I'm telling you I know that's what they think of us as I've been around the people who practice these techniques and whose ancestors developed these techniques whose bloodline ancestors developed these very techniques and what they think of people who fall into this trap is lower than dirt lower than slime the bottom line to keep in mind is if you're going to control someone's mind and ultimately through controlling their mind you're going to control their behavior you need to keep them in a perpetual atmosphere of fear in a perpetual state of fear-based consciousness otherwise that level of control over the mind is not possible [Music] think about that while we take another break we'll be back for the last segment you're listening to what on earth is happening stay with us [Music] welcome back everyone this is last segment with this edition of what on earth is happening I just wrapped up with the techniques of cults that are used to indoctrinate and ultimately to control the minds and behaviors of followers who actually believe that they can give up their personal responsibility something that I've realized over and over and over again is impossible you are always responsible for your own actions regardless of what you claim that happens to be an immutable truth and I wanted to talk about when I say that people who do this are idiots they're morons they're not really smart they're not intelligent at all at all people will say well you're just trying to insult someone no that isn't what I'm doing what I'm doing is stating the fact of the matter someone who falls for this and even does it if we won't even talk about it's all of them it's not even just the people who fall for them it's the people who are doing this to these people who are taking them into this scam this scheme to control their mind none of them are intelligent because they're all ultimately either left brained and balanced or right brained imbalanced see a right brain imbalanced person is a person who doesn't really care about themself who allow someone else to dominate and control them and in that state they could be molded into an even you know into a left brain individual or further into the right brain as a victim identifier once you're in the state of being controlled you can be controlled and the the output will be determined by the person controlling you once somebody takes control over that which is being input into someone's mind they have control over what the outcome is going to be they have control over what that person is going to be like when they output them from that program okay this is literally like a computer program garbage goes in garbage goes out bad input leads to bad output it's that simple it really is that simple of an equation so when I say that these people are stupid that they're not intelligent I mean it literally they are not intelligent people and this leads to the question what is true intelligence so when we use the word intelligence in the modern world it's often a complete misnomer and we do not really understand what this word means we think intelligence in the modern world is equated with intellect with left brain only intelligent intellect not intelligence okay these are this is not intellect is not intelligence intellect is a component of intelligence this is what needs to be understood so when people say oh you say that soldiers are dumb or cops are dumb that they're not intelligent okay I know a lot of intelligent police I know a lot of intelligent military personnel no you don't you may know police or military that are intellectual that have developed some capacity of intellect but they're not intelligent these are not the same and cannot be equated intellect there's only one component of intelligence okay and it's the left brain half it's the masculine component the part that is analytical logical precise repetitive and organized but it has absolutely nothing to do with true intelligence I'm shouldn't say has nothing to do it is a part of that but it is not the totality of true intelligence true intelligence is the intellect combined with the right brained aspects of the individual which is intuition the feminine component of intelligence which governs our creative self our creative aspects the imagination looking at things in general terms holistic terms intuitive capacities conceptual thinking that seeing the big picture which most certainly people in that left-brain mindset put run through the wringer of military and police training which is what you do to an animal trained them through repetition that's they're not there they don't have true intelligence they don't have all of these creative compact capacities and big-picture thinking at high level conceptual thinking because largely that's made possible by a connection to the right brain which they have abandoned so they're not really truly intelligent they may have intellect but that doesn't equate with true intelligence true intelligence is when you combine the masculine and feminine components or the left and right brain and the third eye is opened depicted by this symbol the blazing star not the Star of David of Israel but the blazing star of awakened intelligence the truly awakened higher self this used to be called the Seal of Solomon but an even older name for it is simply the blazing star because it is the combination of the male blade which represents the intellect and the feminine chalice which which represents the intuitive capacities and creative capacities and nurturing capacities both of them need to be combined and we shouldn't be imbalanced toward one side or the other and both of these need to be united ultimately with care care is the real third principle the heart has to come into play to develop true intelligence that happens when the left and right brain are operating in balance in true balance in with true intelligence and look at the word Intel it the first part of intelligence intellect Intelli intellect it's the left part of the brain and it's the left-hand side of the word when you read it in English the right side is gents Gen comes from genera in Latin meaning to create so intellect plus creativity is intelligence it's right in the word ladies and gentlemen right in the word and hardly anyone ever sees it so we need to stop associating an identifying just intellect which is just left brain modality with true intelligence because the two are not the same and the real solutions to all of this is personal responsibility and self-respect we cannot give away personal responsibility in slide number 14 I'm showing you where the entire human species the whole human race is going not some of us all of us because we're all tied together we're all in the same situation together whether we like it or not and if we stop if we do not stop trying to give away quote-unquote give away because it can't really be done our personal responsibility this is what we're doing we are lemmings walking over a cliff to our doom that's simply the case personal responsibility is yours whether you like it or not it's an inherent immutable law of nature by the fact that you are in the cosmos you are responsible for your actions and by the fact that you are in the cosmos in the form that you are currently in in a human form means by definition that you are responsible for your actions and you cannot give that responsibility to another slide number 15 saying no is the solution and this is an image of a single individual refusing to give the Nazi salute as Adolf Hitler is passing during the Third Reich in Germany a single individual standing out amongst the crowd who are all going along who says no I won't be part of that I know that is not the right way and therefore he stands out as a unique individual who has reclaimed the part of his personal responsibility in that moment at least that doesn't always follow that that will be the that way for the rest of the beings life but the whole point is it's the beginning of making a decision that has to be reaffirmed to keep that responsibility and not try to give it away that can only be done through self-respect as I said last week which comes from the Latin Ari meaning again and SPECT re meaning to look at we need to take another look at ourselves if we're going to create any real change outside of ourselves look in the mirror because that's where the answer lies I closed last week with the quote from Vernon Howard and I'll do it again this week the philosopher Vernon Howard said that human sickness is so severe that few can bear to look at it but those who do will become well this is all about the willingness to take a look at ourselves which is the development of true respect for ourselves which we cannot give to anyone else until we have it first for ourselves respect and responsibility is the answer with that said that's all the time we have for here on this edition of what on earth is happening remember ladies and gentlemen there are only two mistakes than one can make on the path to truth not starting and not going all the way we'll see you here next week on what on earth is happening thanks for listening [Music] [Applause] [Music]

continuing to talk about solutions oriented approaches in consciousness and today we're going to be continuing to cover the solution of the non-support of dominators those who uphold the dominator slavery system that we are living in whether we recognize that or understand it or not and today we're going to be getting into the occult side of things when it comes to the military and the police and we are going to be talking about how dark occultists who ultimately own these organizations and own the people who are members of them they own their minds they own their actions ultimately therefore they own their body we're going to be talking about how they ritualistically and symbolically mock these individuals for even helping them to carry out their evil agendas how they loathe them infinitely more than they loathe the general population so today on the show the occult mockery of police and military personnel and we're going to be going through tons of symbolism this is probably going to take a few weeks to complete this it's probably it's the first time i'm going to cover it in great depth on the show to help people to understand what the so-called elite the powers that should not be think of their um minions who carry out their orders how do they really consider these individuals so i have a couple of event announcements before we get into the subject matter um i was on a cult empire with bob from cincinnati on june 21st last thursday and this is now posted to the website in the news section it was a great show we talked about natural law we talked about how it operates in our lives its principles its expressions we went in depth i posted a ton of resources in the news section on natural law so please be sure to check that out on the what on earth is happening.com news page also i finally got up the first appearance that i made on down the rabbit hole with popeye uh which took place on june 15th hours one and two of that show were posted in the news section as well i also did another two hour broadcast and actually did an extra hour for a total of three hours with popeye this past friday june 22nd and i will be posting that to the news section of what on earth is happening very shortly so keep an eye out for part two of me talking about natural law on down the rabbit hole with continue with some other event announcements and then we'll get to the occult mockery police casting radio network is on a mission i was born in my [Music] [Music] you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm going to continue with a couple of event announcements and then we'll jump into our subject matter so truth freedom prosperity a local activist group that i work with here in the philadelphia area will be hosting as always their monthly free documentary screening and discussion evening it happens the last thursday of every month at a scene market and cafe a scene food market is on 719 south 4th street that's the corners of 4th and monroe streets here in philadelphia the film screening will begin at 6 30 pm sharp so be sure to arrive a little bit earlier and this month on june 28th 2012 6 30 p.m at a scene food market we will be screening the documentary film psy war cywar is an excellent film about propaganda it's history and how it is used but let's be honest what the film is really about is mind control that's what we're really talking about here when we talk about this film psy war and it's an excellent documentary everybody interested in mind control should definitely check it out we'll be screening it and having a discussion about it this thursday at a scene food market in philadelphia the big event coming up in less than two weeks now is the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations right here in the city of philadelphia july 7th 8th 9th and 10th the events are as follows the tesla science conference july 7th and 8th 10 a.m to 6 p.m both days at ruba hall the event of the free your mind conference from last year 414 green street here in philadelphia tickets are 25 dollars per day if you get the tickets in advance uh through the tesla science foundation website and only thirty dollars if you elect to purchase them at the door tickets are available at teslasciencefoundation.org via paypal there will be a social gathering at the end of both these events between 6 and 2 a.m at ruba hall in the cabaret room there will be an awards ceremony and a concert the concert will feature the divine hand ensemble a theremin ensemble a classical ensemble centered around the theremin instrument the electronic instrument this will be taking place july 7th from 8 pm to 10 30 pm in the upstairs room at ruba hall tickets are separate for the concert and they are only 12 there will be a tesla night birthday party featuring live music and the demonstration of several tesla coils i actually put a single tesla coil on the uh the poster the flyer for the event but there will be several tesla coils demonstrated and fired at the stroke of midnight uh which is when tesla was born between july 9th and 10th this is july 9th from 10 p.m to the uh morning of july 10th at 2 a.m uh at the independent visitors center on fifth and market streets here in philadelphia this event is free to attend for more information on the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 please visit the tesla science foundation's website at teslasciencefoundation.org i want to make one other quick announcement about the tesla energy independence celebrations on the 8th which is a sunday i will be at the tesla event and i'm going to attempt to broadcast live from the tesla energy independence celebrations for that show it looks like we will have a reliable internet connection at ruba hall and i want to actually bring on some of the speakers and some of the people who were involved in putting on this great conference uh toward the end of the day uh i'll broadcast from the cabaret room at ruba downstairs from five o'clock uh east coast time so that is the plan hopefully it will work out uh technically and there won't be any uh issues or difficulties with that but that's what i'm planning to do broadcast from ruba hall on sunday july 8th so with that being said uh let's before we get into the uh subject material i want to say uh there are still no not going to be any calls taken today uh until i get get past the non-support of dominators section entirely and the we're down to really the last two issues that i want to cover which is the occult mockery of the dominators the so-called dominators they're not the real controllers they think that they're in control and nothing could be further from the truth but uh this is one topic that's going to take a couple of weeks at least maybe three weeks or maybe more depends on how uh covering the uh presentation goes and then i want to talk about carnism or the practice of meat eating as a form of domination and as a significant factor in what is holding humanity back and keeping us really as a farmed species ourselves due to the ignorance of the law of correspondence so that's going to be coming up on a future show i may do two shows on that as well so no calls until that's completely over and then we will do two entire call-in shows i also want to let people know why i asked for callers from combat veterans who served in world war ii and fought and saw actual combat in the european theater of operations because no one called uh it was a long shot anyway to uh see if someone would uh call who served in that capacity no one took me up on the offer the question that i wanted to ask them i didn't really do any coverage of this year's bilderberg group at all people who listen to my show will know who the bilderberg group is their origins what they're about how they're globalist trying to usurp the sovereignty of every nation on the face of the earth and bring in a form of fascist socialist dictatorship worldwide and what i really wanted to ask a combat veteran who had fought against the spread of nazism in world war ii specifically in the european theater i wanted to ask them what they thought of a group that was begun by an avowed nazi prince bernhard of the netherlands who served in the ss the shutstoffel and also an availed socialist who was instrumental in ushering in the united nations joseph rettinger and what they think of police serving in the capacity of protecting a group that was begun by avowed socialists national social socialist and otherwise who have the stated goals and intentions of destroying the sovereignty of the united states and ultimately bringing its people into a one-world socialist dictatorship how do you feel about the police serving in the capacity to shut down uh stop people from exposing that and basically harass them and arrest some of them at the protest and in doing so protecting this socialist group when that's what you really fought against gave your blood and the blood of your fellow men against during world war ii how do you feel about public officials in the united states protecting people like that but no one called in and took me up on the offer so we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere all around the world [Music] people welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com okay i want to direct everyone's attention to the what on earth is happening website radio page what on earth is happening.com click on the radio show tab underneath the player you'll see images for today's show and then under that you'll see a special section and yes your eyes do not deceive you there are 148 image links posted on the radio show page of what on earth is happening these will be the slideshow presentation that go along with the topic of the occult mockery of police and military personnel which we are about to dive into if any uh there's any difficulty with this since there's so many images here i have also posted underneath that a pdf document link where you can download a 7.7 megabyte slightly compressed pdf document but all of the slides for this presentation are contained right in that document hopefully that won't put too much of a strain on the web server it seems to be up to the task but we'll see what happens uh so you could take your choice you could follow along with the pdf or with the slideshow of separate images uh the advantage of the slideshow with the separate images are that there are a couple of animations uh within there's maybe about 10 or 12 animations throughout the um presentation and those animations will not show up in the pdf document obviously uh they will show up as separate frames so that's the only difference but essentially all of the the main information is in both places so here we go this is part of a talk actually this is the talk that i gave at the free your mind conference in 2011. this was my topic at the conference and i had to give a very abbreviated version of the talk i'm going to try to cover some things in a little bit more detail i did cover a little bit of this when we talked about symbolism obviously but um this will be a good overall general review of a lot of things that we've covered and really bring it home about how the occult feels about the people that they employ whether they understand that they are their employees or not so this presentation was originally given in abbreviated format in a little bit over an hour on sunday april 10 2011 at the first for your mind conference it is entitled the occult mockery of police and military personnel i began the talk by quoting george orwell the author of the book the dystopian novel 1984 about a totalitarian police state future orwell said that if liberty means anything at all it means the right to tell people what they do not want to hear and really if you think about it that's what this entire show has been about it's been about telling people hard truths that they're uncomfortable in dealing with that they don't want to be true let's face it people don't want this to be true and they think somehow that matters as if what you want to be true can somehow affect reality instead of recognizing that you have to come to grips and to terms with that which is if you're ever going to change it for the better you can't exist in denial so this is all about helping people to confront that which is because really all suffering comes from the refusal to do just that what we can't fall into if we're uh now looking at slide number three i'll try to uh be conscious about telling people which slide number i'm referring to now so the title slide was slide one the orwell quote was slide two slide number three is what we should not allow ourselves to slip into in a knee-jerk reaction or in a guttural visceral reaction when we first hear about such a topic this is what i have called emotional mind control or simply heart control many people will have friends relatives family members that are involved in these capacities in serving in the military or in police forces and they have an emotional attachment to the role that that person plays within their life therefore when they hear that they're being used in an immoral capacity and in a capacity to usher in enslavement of people they will immediately reject want to reject the information based on their feelings toward the individual their feelings toward the individual is dictating their perception of the veracity veracity means truthfulness of the information being presented this is falling into a psychological trap known as emotional mind control you're basing whether something is true or not on how you feel about the material how the material initially makes you feel which has nothing to do with whether or not it is actually true whether that material is in fact correct and is the way things are so we have to get over the notion that only that which makes us feel good or feel comfortable is what we should accept as true and in many ways i'm not asking anyone to accept any of this in in every way really i'm not i'm not asking anyone to believe that's in a way also a form of emotional mind control people falling into uh you know wanting to be told what they want to hear and then they just mad they just automatically believe it that would be equally as harmful i'm asking people to look into some of this information for themselves that can be difficult in many cases when it comes to subject material that is as esoteric as we're going to be covering because much of it is only known about within occult circles the that is changing however and occult information is being brought forward to the general population more and more and in greater amounts as time moves forward because of technologies because of people uh who have been involved in certain occult organizations in different capacities recognizing what some of these groups are really truly about and their true hidden agenda that isn't put forward in their mission statement so to speak so keep in mind emotional mind control blocking out what makes you feel uncomfortable is what we don't want to slip into you have to try to take on the role take on the the level of consciousness really of attempting to listen with an open mind and heart without prejudging the information first listen take it in and then try to verify it for yourself that's how any scientific methodology is based observation and then try to verify it in your own experience so don't pass judgment on it initially because some of it will make you feel bad some truths can make people feel bad you know and a lot of lies make people feel good so that's what emotional mind control is about and that's the warning going into this presentation another quote that i gave was by the philosopher soren kierkegaard who said that there are only two ways to be fooled one is to believe what isn't true and the other is to refuse to accept what is true i actually gave this quote in the very first what on earth is happening podcast the very first show that i've ever did this is now show 113 and this holds true this is really the only reason that people ever suffer they believe what isn't true and they refuse to accept what is so we'll pause right there heading into this next break we'll pick it up on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting don't go anywhere ladies and gentlemen we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark passion we're talking about the occult mockery of the military and police and we'll be talking about this for the next few weeks probably going through these slides on what on earth is happening.com's radio show page or with the podcast we were on slide number four moving to slide number five which is the definition of the word occult of course this will be a review for many people who are long time listeners to the show what i'm attempting to do here in this section on occult mockery of police and military is to really in an extended way document uh this entire topic so bear with me if you're already familiar with the concepts again i said much of this will be review but this is intended to stand alone for people as an audio series for people who uh have not approached this topic yet and perhaps inspire them to go back and listen from the very beginning of the podcast uh of the beginning of the what on earth is happening podcasts follow that progression through in order to really open up their consciousness so i won't spend a lot of time on reviewing a lot of the stuff we've already covered but i am going to at least touch upon it so the word occult of course from the latin verb o cultare which means to hide to conceal or to keep secret the word occult should not be looked at in the connotation as meaning evil but instead simply looked at based upon its derivative meaning its derivation its etymology which means hidden the occult is hidden information uh slide number six shows how hidden knowledge is used by the so-called power elite it is compartmentalized and put into a hierarchical structure when you put these two aspects of any given institutionalized structure together you have the makings of controlling the human mind and controlling people's behaviors because people in different isolated institutions who are not aware of the directing agenda at a higher level they're all just putting their heads down doing their job not really asking questions and often aren't granted access to the answers even if they were to ask questions about what's going on at a higher level of the institution they happen to be working for so compartmentalization and hierarchy are critical if you're going to basically limit people's perception of what they're involved with they're not going to understand what they're really involved with the left hand doesn't know what the right hand is doing that's what compartmentalization is all about but one small group of people is really directing the agenda and they know how all the pieces fit together all the different departments fit together hierarchy is like the chain of obedience as we've talked about many many times it's everybody being a master and a slave simultaneously someone that they command and then someone above them who commands them and who they bow down to and obey so you put these two together and this is how occult knowledge remains hidden and that's ultimately what we need to understand the knowledge that is really kept by these people is knowledge about ourselves that's what all occult knowledge is really about it's information about the human psyche uh moving to slide number seven this is how the hidden controllers keep themselves as the so-called elite they are manipulators they are sorcerers if you will using the forces of the psyche against people who they have kept in ignorance not it's not we can't even just pin the blame just on these hidden elite you know it's people who don't want to know the truth who have no desire to step outside of their limited scope of perceptions and step outside their own little selfish world and think of things on a larger level than just things that immediately in the physical sense happen to be affecting them today in the in the instant that you're talking to them you know they don't want to look at anything in the wider sense see the bigger picture of anything because they're selfish so it's it's also largely that people have allowed this to happen through their refusal to look at truth to look at that which is in an objective way and their continuation of remaining selfish wanting to remain only caring about themselves they don't ultimately care apathy ignorance and apathy and ultimately that leads to laziness they don't want to actually do anything they don't want to get up off of their lazy ass and actually do something in the real world to actually correct the situation that we're in they don't want to take any action so that's how this hidden controller class can continue to do what they do because they know all about our motivations they know about the human psyche and its drives but we don't we don't know anything about ourselves because we haven't looked into the hidden aspects of the self now what qualifies me as i put forward in the uh at the conference and also in earlier shows obviously on this radio show to talk about the occult is because i was at one point directly involved in it for many years from i would say the uh earlier part of the 1990s up through the early part of the 20 uh 21st century the early 2000s i was involved in a dark occult organization known as the church of satan headed by anton levay who is now deceased he was the writer of the satanic bible the satanic rituals the satanic witch the devil's notebook many other books as well and uh pamphlets and publish uh publishings publications so levay himself as the high priest of this organization appointed me a priest within this group because of ideological similarities and the ability to effectively communicate the ideology of satanism we talked about satanism i believe it was back in podcast number 73 or 72 71 or 2 something like that we talked about the that this is an ideology that is ultimately controlling the world and its people i was involved in a direct capacity with this particular institution and let me just unequivocally state i consider the church of satan the girl scouts of the satanic hierarchy i consider this very very low level when it comes to where the hierarchy of satanism and luciferianism ultimately goes because it goes up into politics law police military and right up to international central banking and then far beyond into the ultra police priest class which is controlling religion and just about everything else in the world money religion etc so this organization is a psychological filtration system that is the main thing to keep in mind about what the church of satan and other um low-level groups that interface directly with the public are all about they're attempting to identify through putting out certain publications and building certain communities throughout the world they are attempting to identify those with psychopathic tendencies whether they be actual direct um primary genetic psychopaths who don't have the capacity to experience emotions due to certain genetic conditions or whether they are what is known as secondary psychopaths who don't have no care or feeling for anyone else based on conditions and circumstances that have been put into place in their lives and which continue to fester in our world it doesn't matter why someone is psychopathic organizations like this are looking for psychopathic individuals to take up into their ranks and groom once they know that they are have the particular qualities that they are looking for to groom them to help their agenda move forward to step into certain power positions to step into certain roles in society and ultimately bring the enslavement system to greater fruition so these next two documents were sent to me by the highest level officials at the church of satan anton levay and his mate blanche barton you'll note the dates on the documents and you'll also note that it doesn't have the name mark passio on it this is because when i was involved with satanism i did not use my actual last name i took a ritual or symbolic name the name rokhar which you see there r-h-o-c-h-a-r that's who my priest priest uh hood was granted to under this name not under the name mark pacio this is indeed me um the word rokar comes from a gnostic text known as the pistus sophia or the faith wisdom and as i am born under the sign of leo this is a demon in the in the gnostic tone the pistus sophia which has a cat's head and i'll explain a little bit more about that on the other side which is the reason i ultimately chose this name [Music] you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back don't go anywhere folks [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening dot com we're on slide number eight this is the appointment that i received to the church of satan years ago i believe this was back in 1996 so it reads from the office of anton sandor levay the high priest of the church of satan be it known on this day march 19th again the beginning of the season of sacrifice no mistake or error or coincidence that he made his priesthoods he um granted his priesthoods in this organization on that particular date uh year 32 which is the 32nd year anno satanis or the year of satan as it is called within this organization because levy instituted the church of satan in 1966 so it says mark rokhar has been appointed to the office of priest of the church of satan and is empowered to act in that capacity and then it is signed by levay rokhar is the name i chose as part of an initiation into satanism when i held this sick twisted depraved ideology during my younger years before i really understood what it was what it was about how i was helping to contribute to the chaotic dynamic in society how i was shackling myself and everyone i loved or ever cared about and that awakening in conscience is what allowed me to pull back from my involvement with a low-level group like this before i became even deeper involved and thus to subsequently expose their ideology along with many others who are doing this work but um rokar comes from gnostic text the pistus sophia which means faith wisdom and in that text there is a conversation between the figures of jesus and mary magdalene about hell its nature its structure and they uh jesus talks about it's a huge dragon with its putting its tail in its mouth therefore sealing itself entirely uh so that nothing can escape its bowels and all the souls who did not and again this is all allegorical please don't take it literally it's it's putting forward a story about an allegory of what's really going on in the world um there are different demons who rule over the souls of the unjust the wicked and the people who you know essentially didn't want to wake up didn't want to understand anything about themselves and continue in their horrible ways that violate natural law and that uh have absolutely no care for the well-being of any anyone else ultimately um in this hell world there are different levels of torments or dungeons as they are referred to as in the text a demonic ruler rules over each of the dungeons and it has a different animal form if you read that this part of the text is actually quite interesting and it's all about here's where liars go here's where thieves go here's where murderers go etc um and there's a different demon that rules each one of those punishment areas i guess you could look at them as where people i guess have to uh relive what they did etc to recognize the wrongness of it so in one of the hells in one of the dungeons within this hell world there is a cat faced demon and his name is rokar this is where i took the name from having already been a student of some of these texts not really understanding them at that point just trying to take the darkest symbolism from a text like this and you know embrace it or use it as a trapping which is the reason in my occult initiation i took the name rokar because i'm born under the sign leo which resonates with the the large cat and the cat face demon being rokar so that explains the why you see that name present in these documents the second document again 20th of march the beginning of the season of sacrifice uh uh 32 anno satanis it says mr mark rokar philadelphia pa my address is blurred out there it says dear mr dr levay has been favorably impressed with the skill and mastery you have shown in various opportunities to represent the church of satan and satanism in general you have proven yourself to be magically and materially adept therefore he felt it was high time you were granted the title of priest in recognition of your dedication knowledge and ability may the fires of hell continue to strengthen and inspire you hail satan blanche barton which was anton levay's uh life partner at that the time i believe up until his death which was in 1997 or 98 or 99 somewhere in there and um so this was uh i was actually given this appointment uh shortly before levy's death within a year or two or three this is um where i say why i'm qualified to speak on this because in various meetings with satanists that involved rituals and that involved groupings of people from just about every walk of life you name it there were representatives from that institution education politics judges police officers military military personnel um financiers um people involved in medicine people involved in um commerce uh i mean you name it they were there it doesn't matter what walk of life you can name any walk of life satanists were involved often held positions of power in certain institutions and again in no way am i attempting to tell you that i was involved that like the with the real big movers and shakers because this organization is a pup a puppet organization okay again it's there to act as a direct interface to the public so that the real super elite doesn't have to do that work and it's it's a vetting system it's it's attempting to psychologically filtrate the those with the psychopathic tendencies who would be willing to help people with this agenda of slavery and gradually groom them and take them up into higher think-tank organizations political organizations and occult organizations at much higher levels that's what you have to understand the church of satan is and their ideology again was astounded uh in was espoused in the other podcast that i put forward not a spouse but it was it was uh explained in other podcasts that i put forward that i believe were at the early 70s so check that out in the podcast archive at what on earth is happening it's all about hidden knowledge it's all about controlling knowledge of self that's ultimately what this is all about and people who are involved in lower levels in organizations like this don't see the bigger picture until they get enough information and that can happen simply by the nature of direct experience in many cases as it did with me because in my dealings with these individuals i learned really what was going on behind the scenes in the corridors of power i learned what these people how these people were involved in higher levels of power in different institutions in every walk of life and what their ideology how they viewed people what they ultimately wanted to do with people this was told in confidence in many cases and they were quite actually quite open about it they didn't really lie or hide their intentions when it came to you know how they view other people as cattle as slaves and what they want to do you know to bring them into further bondage into further enslavement always refining their level of control over their mind over their emotions etc again they look at people as their property they look at themselves as god that's what the ideology of satanism is really ultimately all about there's no higher power therefore there's really no such thing as right or wrong good or evil you know it's all about what you want so if you can take it take it and you know there's no they don't believe in any laws are going to stop them from doing that no higher cosmic laws they face no consequences for that if you can get away with it in the physical world do it step on who you need to step on to get power get influenced to get prestige to get money etc for control because their ideology is all about base survival based on fraudulent darwinian evolutionary theory of survival of the quote fittest we'll pick this up on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com i'm gonna jump right back into the presentation on the occult mockery of the police and military a subject we will be covering with over 140 slide uh slides of this presentation i think there's 148 images in this presentation over the next few weeks so ultimately hidden knowledge that is kept secret by the occultists at the highest levels of institutional bodies throughout the world is all about keeping knowledge of self from us because if we understand ourselves truly at a deep fundamental level we really can't be controlled by someone else we will attain to self mastery once we have enough knowledge about how we work what our motivations really are and develop the willpower to bring those motivations and bring our consciousness into alignment with the higher will which is the evolutionary force not the evolution that is spoken about in macrobiological darwinian in the macrobiological darwinian sense which is a flawed theory on its face and uh real evolution has nothing to do with what people think of as survival of the fittest uh put forward by darwin and other people who championed this uh and really took the ball and ran with it even after darwin said that his theory would have had to been vetted by extensive evidence in the fossil record which does not exist uh not to you know go off on a big tangent about this but ultimately satanism uh has as one of its tenets the theory of uh the survival of the most ruthless and those who are strong enough to take have every right to do so this is certainly not true it is not true under natural law there are repercussions for behaving like this whether anybody knows it understands it recognizes it or not this is what my work on natural law has dealt with extensively um this is why the luciferians ultimately i would say are you been at a higher level of occult knowledge than satanists because dark luciferians are controlling satanists just like uh i would say they're controlling the police and military to get them to do actions for them on their behalf uh but they're not but they're the ones doing it the satanists are the ones doing it and then by extension the police and military who have opted into this satanic ideology are the ones who are actually doing it and therefore taking on the massive brunt of the uh cosmic karmic repercussions in natural law or the laws of behavioral consequence so again it's the example where the highest level occult initiates the highest level occult uh masters if you will quote unquote they're not really the master of anything they don't even have mastery over themselves they're really getting people to do all of their dirty work for them therefore putting the blood on their hands so that ultimately the universe is directing the repercussions the consequences of natural law to the people who are actually taking the action again we looked at the issue in this section of who is more morally culpable the order giver or the order follower and it is absolutely the order follower who is more morally culpable they are always the ones who are more morally culpable in no way do i suggest there is no moral culpability on the part of the order giver but there is significantly less when you look at it in terms of how natural law is actually going to deal with the situation not how man might deal with the situation but how the universe is dealing with it and the the highest level occultists know this they understand this perfectly which is why they don't really soil their hands they get other people through mind control to bloody their hands for them that's very important to keep in mind how this occult knowledge works to manipulate human consciousness and ultimately to control human behavior so we're going to look at some ten review some tenets about the brain and then continue to get into the symbolism that mocks the occult uh the occult symbolism that mocks the military and police forces stay with us everyone we'll be right [Music] back [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening let's continue with the slideshow presentation on the occult mockery of police and military controllers through the knowledge of the human psyche are ultimately all about controlling consciousness because that's how you're ultimately going to control behavior that's their goal they want people to do what they say what they want them to do like a puppet and to do that you have to ultimately control the mind there's no way around that you're not going to control the spirit directly but you can get into the mind and therefore control someone's thoughts and emotions based on propaganda based on uh indoctrination based on injecting certain words phrases manipulating the meaning of the words through symbolism which is a big part of what we're talking about and ultimately you put that all together through all of this these multifaceted mind control techniques which we covered over the course of a year and a half here on this radio program and you end up with the control over someone's actions because these are the three modalities of human consciousness thoughts emotions and actions corresponding with mind spirit and body so to in order to understand how the expression of consciousness works within the physiology we need to look at the brain we're on slide number 12 now there's really three complexes that exist within the overall brain structure we have the reptile brain which is the base brain that it that basically deals with survival mode fight or flight response it deals with motor skills respiration digestion movement um and again survival uh fight or flight modality if there's danger want us to make a decision do i stand and fight or do i run away when you're in this mode the heart is pumping fast adrenaline is being released because the extremities need to be hardened by blood being pumped from the torso and the brain okay being pumped away from the brain okay the heart is pumping it's pumping blood away from the brain and away from the torso when you're in this modality of fight flight when you're in the base brain the reptile mode of consciousness this is to harden the extremities because if you're in fight or flight mode in other words extreme stress the legs have to be the arms need to be hard in order to fight and the legs need to be hard with blood the muscles need to be tensed in order to run to flee this is why disease is a result of operating chronically in fight-or-flight mode this is how the brain becomes imbalanced our society is completely structured to keep us in fight or flight modality in stress mode and we don't have the same outlets for it as we did you know before we lived in quote modern civilization therefore it's built up and has a builds like a quantum effect over time in in a chronic way to fester disease in the body and most of all fester brain imbalance and actually actually damage synaptic pathways in the brain such that certain modes of thought and consciousness consciousness aren't even possible anymore once the brain hemispheres become imbalanced through being in this modality and when i speak of police being physically damaged brain damaged having capacities of the brain cut off i don't mean that if you look at the brain it's going to actually have physical damage to it synaptic damage though is physical within the the uh extremely small structures of the brain if you were to magnify them yes you would see damaged aspects of the synaptic pathways when someone is always in fight or flight mode which is what police and military are almost always in almost all of the time particularly military who are seeing active combat are always in this mode i have to be careful anything could happen at any time constantly watching for an enemy you know aggression all around you constant danger to the physical body this puts people in a mode that is imbalancing the higher parts of the brain and actually doing damage to those pathways in the higher parts of the brain so this is why it's so important not to operate in that mode except for any very short periods of time that it's absolutely necessary to operate in them like when you're actually being attacked when you give a small group of people that role it's always going to deteriorate into them being damaged as a result this is why all forms of standing armies and standing police um organizations are a fundamentally fatally flawed idea it's it's a flawed axiom axiomatically at its level of inception it's a flawed notion because invariably you're going to cause damage to those people and they're not isolated from the rest of the community they're not isolated from you so ultimately you're doing damage to the entire community by the refusal to accept personal responsibility and if necessary to take personal action and you're handing that responsibility over to a small clique of people who ultimately are going to be in this chronic fight-or-flight mode and ultimately that mental condition is going to deteriorate lead to them making worse and worse be uh choices worse and worse decisions because they're not really operating at the higher part of the brain even when they are that function is diminished because of the damage that is done by staying in the reptile brain and therefore they're going to become aggressive they're going to you know take people's rights when they have no right to do that they're going to be become apathetic not caring we talked about this extensively i won't reiterate the whole thing go back to the early podcast and listen and i give many examples and explain how this function works it's all about shutting down access or communication between the mammalian brain and the human brain because the limbic brain otherwise known as the mammal brain depicted in slide number 13 showing the cross section of it this is the glandular activity in the brain you have the hypothalamus you have the hippocampus you have the amygdala you have the pituitary gland and the pineal gland ultimately these uh sections within the brain create the neuropeptides that are then pumped through the body and blood uh through the circulatory system to allow us to feel to actually experience a sensation within the body based on what we're thinking and how we're acting this is our moral compass our feelings our emotions our moral compass for direction in life so to damage the um limbic brain is basically the creation of a psychopath or even cutting off communications effective communication between the limbic brain and the higher brain which is the neocortical brain is ultimately going to express behaviorally as psychopathic behavior this is what needs to be understood about this complex within the brain known as the limbic brain we'll continue with this on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening i'll be right back folks don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening talking about the occult mockery of police and military [Music] to build up to how this symbolism is ultimately used we have to understand a little bit about consciousness and the brain this is all review for people who have followed this radio show but again i'm documenting this in a public airing of the presentation that i gave at the freer mind conference and going into depth on many of these topics so we're looking at slide we were looking at slide number 13 dealing with the mammalian or limbic brain which ultimately makes our emotions possible now when we're talking about higher order thought that's ultimately governed by the neocortex this is the part of the brain that is traditionally looked at as the gray matter of the brain uh where there's you know a lot of ridges and and uh crumpled areas uh when we traditionally look at an image of the brain it's it's what we envision so the the human brain is the highest part of the brain it's called the neocortex because it's the newest part of the brain in evolutionary terms as well again it's responsible for higher order thought functions decision making happens in this part of the brain accurately assessing given situations happens in this part of the brain logic intuition creativity scientific thought everything that makes us human this is depicted in image number 14 the neocortex if the neocortex isn't functioning properly the other two complexes in the brain depending on the nature of the dysfunction uh within the neocortex will basically operate as the executive command center of the brain and will guide the actions and behaviors of the individual depending on how the imbalance was was originally structured the neocortex operating correctly in a state of balance is the true executive command center of the brain where decision making is supposed to be made from this is what someone who is truly governing themselves has a healthy neocortex that's in a state of balance we're going to talk about what that balance rep means what it represents in the next few slides if you look at slide number 15 you'll see that the two hemispheres there are two hemispheres of the neocortex it is bilaterally symmetrical and again the neocortex is part of what's called the telencephalon which is really the two hemispheres of the brain the outer portion of it where the synaptic activity takes place is called the neocortex the entire structure is actually the telencephalon but this outer part of the brain is where the real neural activity takes place and where our thoughts actually occur uh through electric impulses etc the left side of the neocortex is primarily responsible for again these aren't hard and fast rules it is an oversimplification at some level but it is primarily responsible for analytical thought logic organized thinking organization and details scientific thought literal interpretations and sequential in other words time-bound awareness chronological thinking um it has been called the solar part of the brain the masculine component of the brain this is the masculine side of the human brain conversely the right brain hemisphere primarily deals with creative thinking creativity in general imagination general thought why why big picture thinking okay conceptual thought being able to perceive symbol and allegory empathic or in other words feeling intuition um non-linear thought nurturing so it's a more feminine the feminine aspects of the self expressed through this part of the brain so this has been called the feminine or the lunar brain hemisphere if there is an imbalance chronically toward the left brain which is what dealing with only phys the physical reality will put you in this is what how work in the western system unless you're involved in some creative capacity which very few people really are the vast majority of people deal with just things taking orders linear thought problem solving all left brain stuff logic during the course of a work day and they're chronically in this mode which is why when someone is imbalanced chronically toward the left brain there is a de-emphasis on the limbic functions of the brain in other words the emotions the person will be more of an unfeeling person you could just verify this in general stereotypes you know the more scientific that isn't necessarily as connected usually with the emotional side again these aren't hard and fast rules they could be seen as generalizations but the generalization effectively holds true when we're looking at how the brain functions the right hemisphere of the brain if it becomes chronically imbalanced someone will be ruled more by their emotions because they won't have a connection to the uh physical uh the physical reality as much and the new agey people uh you know who think it's all about just how we feel and be and behavior isn't as important and actually taking action isn't as important are right-brained imbalanced this is why you know governmental types scientific types etc ushering in the new world order at the helm of the new world order creation the dark new world order i should say are more left-brained and the people who just go along and are more you know uh i don't want to uh look at things that are negative and i don't want to you know uh see this aspect of something that i that is making me uncomfortable are more right brain types and this is what the entire hierarchy the occult hierarchy at higher levels this is their agenda to imbalance someone chronically into one form of brain imbalance or another because ultimately that's what continues that's what fosters the continuation of the uh master slave system where by everyone is some form of a master uh ruling over a slave and yet simultaneously they have a master ruling over them and they are a slave simultaneously so it's important to keep people in a state of chronic brain imbalance through stress or through a belief system that is based on absolutely no care of the physical world and never really standing up for yourself in the physical sense so the goal if we look at image number 16 to get out of the entire control system needs to be to bring balance to both hemispheres of the brain if we use them in balance and we don't fall into chronic states of imbalance through too much left brain activity or too much right brain activity once we identify what those forms of activity are then we will develop a balanced brain this is bringing the two symbols together again symbolism is what we're ultimately going to be talking about here because the occultists don't mock people in words they sometimes they do but more often they mock them symbolically wordlessly through a hidden language called symbolism the symbol traditionally throughout history of the male is an upward pointing equilateral triangle known as the blade the traditional symbol of the feminine is the downward pointing equilateral triangle shown on the left above the image of the moon in slide number 16 which is called the chalice putting them together forms what is known as the blazing star or the seal of solomon the sun and the moon brought together we'll pick this up on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting stay with us everyone keep my cool make em think i'm made of [Music] stone welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio the topic today and over the next couple of weeks is going to be the occult mockery of the military and the police explained in depth reviewing some things we learned about consciousness much earlier on in this podcast series and this radio show series when the brain comes into a state of balance we're bringing together the masculine and feminine components of the higher order thinking complex of the brain known as the neocortex symbolically this is looked at as the path to enlightenment through the light the blazing star this symbol is used in different occult traditions throughout the ages particularly freemasonry and uh also some kabbalistic traditions as well so the masculine and feminine in their two respective symbolic forms the the blade and the chalice or the upward pointing triangle and the lower pointing triangle downward pointing triangle come together to form the blazing star representing the balanced brain representing the one who is whole who is not just the half self they have integrated both parts of the self the masculine component and the feminine component they have all of the characteristics that comprise a human being who is a master of themselves and is not owned by someone else they've come into self knowledge and ultimately into self mastery through that knowledge when the left brain is chronically imbalanced again the limbic brain breaks down along with the neocortex it doesn't function properly to provide the emotional feedback see it's because the the neocortex isn't functioning the limbic brain may even still be putting out information but it's not communicating effectively with the neocortex due ultimately to the synaptic damage that is being done with the neocortex through that chronic lack of blood flow to the brain from being in this stress mode all the time ultimately the same form of imbalance happens across the whole neocortex when we're chronically right-brained imbalanced but it's a different form of a lack of communication between not only the brain hemispheres but between the uh reptile complex of the brain and the neocortex so there therefore the limbic brain is ultimately governing the person and they're in a state of emotional they're being ruled by their emotions they can't they can't get their emotions under control and often a person who is living in a state of perpetual fear is very right-brained and balanced as well so we can see there's different gradations and variations of these forms of imbalance all across our society it's the problem is there's very few people who are in a true state of brain health through balance between the hemispheres of the brain now let's look at scientific some scientific scans these are pet scans of the human neocortex in slide number 17 demonstrating fairly conclusively what happens to the neocortex when someone enters specific modes of consciousness chronically the right side of this image is what we really want to look at this is synaptic damage that is clearly shown in the pet scan of the human neocortex this is what's called the ventral view or the underneath side of the human neocortex in other words you're not looking down from above the person's head it would be like as if you are inside the center of the person's head looking up at the higher part of the brain you're looking at the ventral side of the neocortex not the dorsal side so the synaptic damage there that is clearly shown in the prefrontal cortex top part of the brain just behind the eyes which is the part that governs conscience and emotion empathy toward other people largely is the most damaged and when i say damage again this isn't holes in the brain it isn't scoops taken out of the brain the darker or blackened areas are areas of electrochemical deadness where there is little or no synaptic um movement taking place electrical activity moving across the synaptic pathways it is shut down literally dark the brain has become dark darkness this is why darkness has often been equated with ignorance with not knowing with not knowing the self one is in darkness and therefore they don't really know what's going on they aren't in a position to recognize what's taking place around them they don't even have any idea what's going on within them let alone all around them this is a person who in the actual study recognized as a being who ate a traditional western diet watched multiple hours of television and played off in violet violent video games multiple hours a day did not read books was not engaged in the reading of books at any level really knew how to read but didn't really read didn't actually part engage in the activity of reading you know being physically literate being able to recognize words isn't the same thing as practicing reading there's a big difference and also this person never engaged in meditation for a moment in their life you put all these things together indoctrinated into the public school system watches a lot of television eats a crap diet never meditates ever never reads that's what happens to the brain and there's that's physical proof and yes this is what happens to the brain when those things are engaged in chronically deny it all you want the left hand side shows a holistically balanced brain this is what's called global eeg coherence electroencephalogram coherence this pet scan is showing that the entire neocortex is balanced across the whole the person isn't in a state of chronic brain imbalance toward one brain hemisphere or another and the st the subject of this scan was a person who was given a different kind of education a more holistic education probably home schooled not indoctrinated through the public indoctrination system that we laughingly call the education system here in america he ate a good plant-based diet that was largely organic he did not watch multiple hours of television a day he read a lot and when necessary practice meditation sometimes on a a regimented basis on a daily basis and therefore there you have it there is the balanced brain hemisphere with no dark areas the brain is lit up it is full of light meaning the electro uh chemical activity that means that there is synaptic function function taking place across the brain hemispheres the blazing star is activated there on the left-hand side in that image that's where we want to be to not be controlled to not fall into the whole system of control whether being a controller or capitulating to the control and i'd challenge someone let's let's have it done i'll put myself forward to have a brain scan done we'll take a look at my brain versus a controller's brain any any police officer or military officer out there that wants to challenge me will will scan both of our brains we'll actually see if we can conduct a private study pay to have it done put the money up and we'll go get brain scans both of us and let's compare them publicly i'm game if you are so this is actual scientific proof of some of the s esoteric occult information i'm going to be bringing forward and again when you talk about esoteric or occult information you have to understand it matters zero whether you believe the beliefs of the occult practitioners i'm going to be talking about to say i don't believe in any of it it's all bunk it's all nonsense is meaningless because whether you believe in it or not there are people in existence who do and who are acting on it so okay you can say it's all nonsense and it's all not true the any of these belief systems that we're going to be talking about as we move forward into the occult understanding of the ritualistic and occult mockery of police and military but you need to keep in mind just because you don't believe something doesn't mean it isn't happening in the world based on someone else's deep-seated belief in it again i give the example you don't need to believe in radical fundamentalist right-wing christianity for someone to shoot up an abortion clinic and if you happen to be in the line of fire it will affect you [Music] your beliefs aren't going to be too relevant there someone else's beliefs who you don't have to agree with can affect your life because they're willing to act on them this is common sense so let's keep that in mind as we move forward throughout this entire section we'll be right back to show you how these sick psychopathic elites really think about the military and the police stay with us welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening this is the last segment for today we're talking about the occult mockery of the police and military and what the real controllers behind the scenes think of their minions who follow their orders and believe me they think of them as less than dirt from their lips to my ears ladies and gentlemen they think of them as lower than scum that's the section i want to talk about now [Music] from my first hand dealings with dark occultists when i was involved with them the loathing and contempt that they show for all people really anyone that they don't consider one of their own ism is absolutely astounding but they hate the military and the police above all else they hate them even more than they hate the general population of who they consider cattle see when you talk about brain imbalance [Music] i put the image 18 of the military and and police in the slideshow after the imbalanced brain to show these are the people who are the most chronically brain imbalanced and therefore who need the most healing efforts because they're largely the the biggest population of destroyed people if you even want to call them still human they're largely what is known as the post-human in the in the march toward transhumanism of machines merging with biology which is a part of the globalist agenda they're taking people into first a place where they act like biological machines because they have no connection to the the limbic brain no connection to the right brain hemisphere and therefore no connection to the part of the brain that uh makes feeling emotion possible so this is what a secondary psychopath is a biological android or robot that goes through life without forging any real connections any real love of another being with another being and that's what these groups of individuals have become post-human in the true sense of the word the humanity is driven out of them and they've become something else something other than that and it's an incomplete thing something that is was there at one point and is their birthright has been robbed from them but ultimately people let it happen you know again i don't want to get people into the notion of let's just blame people external to the self you know to for the lie to be effective it you know yes it is sold but it must also be bought let's keep that in mind at all times so people are complicit with this process because they don't want to do work on themselves they don't want to look at their own shadow self they don't want to deal with their own crap they don't want anybody else telling them to deal with their own crap either they they think they can continue to live in total contradiction and opposition with natural law and somehow prosper never having to do a bit of work upon themselves never having to change anything about themselves and that's the mentality of a slave which is why they're all slaves so when you look at the general population who has no idea about about any of this but isn't quite necessarily in those levels of imbalance and you know they are at low at lower levels of imbalance but maybe not to a point where they're acting psychopathically they're just totally asleep don't care much about anything don't get involved so there you know you could see the different left and right brain imbalances operating through them because you know not to care that's too much left brain not enough right brain not to act as too much right brain not enough left brain so the these imbalances are present across the board in the general population as well just not to the level of severity that they are in the military and the police so that's image 19 showing you know typical image of the completely brainwashed hypnotized asleep population you know the term being used to represent unconsciousness or lack of awareness can't see the patterns we generally gave the working definition for consciousness as the ability to recognize patterns with respect with respect to events that are taking place both within the self and in the realm in which one exists and operates that's the working definition we gave for consciousness over two years ago well the opposite of that is unconsciousness it means you don't have the ability to recognize patterns and understand what's going on either within you or around you that's the general population and the dark occult orders have one overarching word that they generally use to refer to this mass bulk portion of humanity of human beings as and that phrase is shown in image number 20 which is the dead the dead yes that is what the dark occultists call people only when talking to a somewhat higher level practitioner did i hear the term uttered one other term that some of the higher level individuals refer to the uh general masses as and that i've said before on the show some of those higher level initiates call them the unbegun the unbegun is more of an esoteric term which is making reference that they haven't even started they haven't started the process of waking up they're still totally asleep or in other words totally dead totally unconscious they haven't even begun the wake up process let alone have gone all the way through it they are not initiated initiation means beginning they're not initiated into the ideology which ultimately controls the world they don't understand how the controllers think what their ideology is many of them will scoff at it and say it doesn't even exist or it isn't real more proof of their slavery they want to deny you know that which is again going back to the thing i the quote i brought up by kierkegaard people only suffer two ways they did they believe in stuff that isn't true and refuse to accept that which is again you don't need to believe in their ideology i'm not asking anybody to believe in it i'm telling you that they do and for you to remain in ignorance of it is what is keeping you in ignorance of their overall strategy and their mindset and not to know one's opponent is the best way to ensure that you're going to have your ass handed to by them in whatever game you may be playing or in whatever war you may be waging that's the best way to ensure your total defeat guaranteed guaranteed you don't want to know anything about the enemy you won't even deny their existence that's the scenario where a chess game is being played your pieces are getting crushed and you haven't even sat down at the board and that's where we're at folks that's why they are handing us our ass every day that's why freedom slips away more and more because we don't understand how these people who are who are orchestrating this think we can't even put our mind conceptually into their frame of thinking and that's why they know they have us they know it and you know what they're right you get as angry about that as you want i'm not picking up for them i'm not telling you they're right as far as morally goes i'm saying they know how dumb people are when it comes to understanding any of this material that's why they call him the dead you know they're they're they're soft killing us and we're basically saying they don't exist and i don't need to know anything about their ideology it's unbelievable war is being waged on people and they they don't even understand that they're already being murdered that troops have taken up positions all around them and they're sitting there going what war what huh so the dead they call them the dead because they consider the basis for life the expressions of consciousness and i agree they are they are the expressions of consciousness thought emotion and action is the expressions of consciousness and to not have those activated in other words to remain in ignorance apathy and laziness and cowardice the other expression of the lack of action is cowardice in addition to laziness is to essentially not have any consciousness it's to be dead so if you think that seems contemptuousness to embody contemptuousness when you really understand how they view the military and the police the people they get to do their bidding it's a thousand times worse we're gonna get to that next week because that's all the time we have on this edition remember only two mistakes one can make on the path to truth not starting and not going all the way don't answer it on the Tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 please visit the Tesla Science Foundation website at Tesla Science Foundation dot o-r-g looking forward to a great event next weekend here in Philadelphia so that's all the event announcements I have let's get into our subject material for today which is the occult mockery of the police and military this is part of our ongoing coverage of the non support of dominators solutions section in the grassroots solutions for real positive and lasting change that I am putting forward in the section of what on earth is happening called the way out the way out of the degraded form of consciousness which humanity is living and dwelling in on a day to day basis on this planet the non supportive dominators is critical to getting out of that low debased consciousness understanding that we all own ourselves and that no one is master of another the idea of sovereignty of understanding self ownership and if you would direct your attention to the radio show tab of the what on earth is happening website if you're not already listening from that location go to what on earth is happening calm click the radio show tab underneath the player on that page there will be images for today's show and then underneath that you will see an extensive presentation of slideshow images there's a hundred and forty-eight images that we'll be working our way through I started this last week got up to about image number 20 and we will be picking it up from there today so I want to begin with image number 19 for those who will be following along with the slides you will also notice that underneath the images there will be a link with a PDF document a link to a PDF document that is seven point seven megabytes you can download that and follow it from there opening that up on your local computer if you wish the only thing that will differ is some of the numbers of the slides will differ because some of these images are animated gif images showing a little bit of animation with some of the symbolism so in that in those instances the numbers will not will not be in sync with the numbers I'll be calling out on the show because I'll actually be using the images that are listed in the slideshow underneath the slideshow images so just take note that there is a little bit of a discrepancy there so I'm starting with image number 19 in the slideshow images and this is a picture of a group of hypnotized individuals people who have been put under a spell they are essentially unconscious and are open to suggestion not actively really thinking not actively really using their powers of judgment of logic of intuition etc but they are essentially asleep they're in a trance and they are going to go along with whatever programming is suggested to them that's what generally a trance state is all about that's what a hypnotic trance state is and this is what we began at the end of last week to explain I was explaining to people what the dark Oh cultists of the world the Satanists the dark Luciferians the people who are really controlling institutionalized structures at their highest levels this is how they think of the general public as completely and utterly asleep unconscious and they have a name that they generally call people like this who don't know what's going on who are essentially in a trance-like condition and are wandering through their lives in that state of mind who don't care who don't take any real action to change anything for the better to actually take off their chains of enslavement and servitude and actually live like free beings they call people like that the dead and this is depicted in image number 20 this is the the slide I believe we left off on last week or maybe we got to image number 21 so that's their name for the average person the dead and there's a reason that they call people that dead it is their rationalization for this term is because they happen to understand what consciousness how it expresses itself the the components of the expression of consciousness in the physical world being our thoughts our emotions and our actions in other words mind spirit and body this is shown on image number 21 these three integrated components of consciousness which we have to activate every one of them we have to activate our mind our spirit and our body bring them into unison with each other so that there's no contradiction between these three aspects of consciousness these expressions of consciousness and since the general sleeping population is not activated in any one of these capacities they don't have knowledge about what's really taking place either within or around them so mind is not activated through their thoughts okay they don't have actual intelligence not just left brain intellect not just right brained intuition but the coming together of these two integrated components of intelligence to to birth real intelligence into being they don't have that because they haven't read and studied another they don't have true care the spirit is unborn within them they don't care enough to truly enlighten themselves to educate themselves and they don't have action they're not actually taking measures in the physical world to change things for the better we'll pick it up on this point on the other side of the break stay with us everyone we'll be right back [Music] [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcast and we're talking about the occult mockery of the police and military today on the show we're gonna be getting into symbolism today as part of this slideshow you can check out all of the slides at what on earth is happening calm / radio the radio show page of my website we're on image number 21 talking about why the dark occultists of the world call the people of earth the dead because they don't have activated within themselves the three integrated components of consciousness thoughts emotions and actions and as such they consider them not really truly living not truly alive if you're unconscious you don't have the aspects of consciousness born within you then you are for all intents and purposes dead to them in their mind again this is how they see it and again no belief is required on any one's part about any of this I'm explaining to you what they believe okay this is a key concept that you need to keep in mind that other people can believe in something that you absolutely don't believe in and still be acting on it so then it's important to understand why what they believe and why their actions are driven by those beliefs you know why are they taking certain actions well it's because they have certain beliefs what people hold in their mind drives how they behave and so for somebody to say well I don't believe in that so it's not important for me to understand it or for me to know that this is going on is nonsense because other people are believing this and are acting on it so your belief is irrelevant when it comes to this I'm explaining to you what dark occultists believe so from firsthand experience which we talked about last week as well you know I'm not making this up I'm not just sick to you that this might be what they believe I know that it is what they believe because I was involved with them myself so image number 22 shows you the two groups of people that they consider infinitely beneath who they call the dead who they hate detest and despise millions of times worse if I could calculate it it's it's probably not even able to be calculated the amount of contempt that they hold these two groups of individuals in in comparison to the people that they call the dead quote unquote is infinitely more contempt okay how they consider the police and the military they hate them and loathe them far beyond the average person because they know that they are so degraded and low in consciousness that they are actually helping to put the chains on their own people they're helping they're willingly doing it willingly putting shackles and chains on their own children on their own family members and on themselves and see the reason they hate this so much about them there's a psychological reason this is its projection again this is more psychological projection the dark occultists know how much ultimately what whether they know it consciously or not subconsciously in their mind they know how much they're ultimately duped cosmically in the grand cosmic scheme of things and they ultimately hate themselves for allowing themselves to fall into the level of being duped that they even have see that you know we think oh they're in control really they're not in control like we talked about in the allegorical movies section when we covered things like Star Wars how there is no real ruler or master everybody in that chain of hierarchy in that chain of obedience is slave even if you get all the way up to Vader he's a slave to the Emperor and the Emperor himself is a slave he's a slave to the dark side of the force yeah people can argue well in the physical body he has no masters but he has a master all right and that is the dark side of the force owns and controls him like a puppet so these so-called elitist these so-called powers that be they ultimately are duped at a cosmic level and they are controlled by dark forces that don't really operate in a physical body you could call them principalities you can call call it the force of fear itself however you want to look at it they're ultimately owned to these so called masters of the dark occult they're just as owned as everyone else in this system who gives themself over to this system of obedience and so they need somebody to hate even more than they hate themselves see this is psychological projection we project and hate what we hate in ourselves the most especially when we subconsciously know that we're ultimately duped and the people you see here in image number 22 all really truly subconsciously know that they're duped the subconscious mind is really all-knowing and they're trying to take it out on somebody else which is why they just get pointed in a direction you put a weapon in their hand of a automaton goblin like a creature that has been created by the dark their dark occult masters and you put a weapon in their hand you point them and say go and attack and you know take out your frustration for being owned and allowing yourself to be owned on someone else who you consider below you it's this abuse victim cycle that we talked about on previous shows so the dark occultists projecting their psychological hatred for themselves onto the police and military have a name that they have given to these two groups of individuals who obediently and unwaveringly conduct their bidding for them these are the people with all the blood on their hands not the people at the high levels that we envision sitting in a dark plotting and planning these are the people who actually carry out their orders who carry out their dark plans so I've said repeatedly these are the creators of the dark new world order not the so-called elitists it is the police and military who are creating that structure of enslavement by their actions yes there's planners for that okay but you know the architects don't build the building ladies and gentlemen the construction people build the building the architects may plan the building but they don't actually get in there and build it that's done by the contractors who actually do that work so what we have to understand is these are the people by their actions who are building the world of enslavement and the dark occultists have a name for them and you could see that in slide number 23 they call them our dogs and this isn't a term of endearment like yo dog okay you know a street term for a friend it means you're my pet you are my pet and I own you I own your body I own your mind therefore I own your body you do whatever I say whenever I say on command I give a command you react and therefore they call them our dogs I have also slightly less frequently heard them referred to by the darker cultists as our pets our pets but they specifically like the term dog because they consider a dog a very obedient animal once it is well-trained and that's how they look at these two groups of individuals you could clearly if you can at least for a moment put yourself into that dark mindset understand why they do this why they refer to them as this it's it's very understandable at least to me you have a people who are a group of people who are well trained who want to attack and who will listen to whatever orders they're given no matter how wrong they are and that's not a human being that's an animal that's what an animal is and does so the term makes sense if you're honest with yourself about what these people really do we'll pick it up from this point on the other side of the break you're listening to what on earth is happening we're today we're exposing the dark occult mockery of the military and police we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark Hasse oh we're talking about the dark occult Immokalee of military and police personnel be covering this topic probably for the next couple of weeks we're on slide number 24 in the walk at the what on earth is happening dot-com radio show page I put this slide in here to remind people that these are the people who ultimately need to be reached you're not going to stop maybe you might eventually be able to stop the progress of the dark new world order if enough people stepped up but you're not going to stop a extremely harsh pathway that is attempting to lead us into the dark new world order unless you reach these individuals it may ultimately still be able to be stopped but not without enormous bloodshed it may be able to be stopped without that kind of bloodshed if we can reach the hearts of these groups of people because ultimately they are its builders and if that offends you good luck get as offended as you like and that's not my problem you need to understand through their actions they're the ones who are making it and that's inescapable absolutely inescapable and anyone who doesn't understand that or doesn't want to admit that is an apologist for the people who actually do wrongdoing and you're never gonna get anything done by apologizing for people who continue to follow orders the whole dynamic of following orders is the problem folks that's what the problem is that anybody would say all of my actions are I'm attempting to give up control over my actions to someone else that's the nature of the problem right there because it's the abandonment of personal responsibility and you can never really give that up it's not possible you can try all you want but ultimately you're still responsible for your actions and as such these are the people who are building the enslavement reality that they're gonna have to live in that their children gonna have to live in that their families are gonna have to live in and they're the ones making it they are the actual creators of what we call the dark new world order whether you like that or not whether that offends you whether you get all emotionally crazed because someone told that to you doesn't make it untrue it isn't the people at the top who's building this system it's the people at the bottom who are building this system so we need to know and understand that come to grips with it psychologically and emotionally and then maybe we'll be able to start reaching these people or reaching what was once people that it has now become something that is posthuman in its form without actual care without actual thought and without any attempting to give up all responsibility for their actions because they don't want to do that work of bearing responsibility for what they actually do so I told people in the original presentation of this slideshow at the free your mind conference last year that the the symbolism that is employed in the mockery of these individuals is largely subtle until you really can see it and you understand it then it's not even so subtle but to a non initiate in the occult it's quite subtle it isn't going to jump out at you like image number 25 the US Navy base at Coronado Island San Diego in the shape of a Nazi swastika and it is indeed the Nazi incarnation of the swastika the inverted swastika not the original swastika of the Indus Valley traditions that indicated good fortune and peace and prosperity but this is the swastika turned sideways turned around 180 degrees that the the Third Reich forward as their main symbol here in the United States because National Socialism is alive and well just as as prospering and flowering as it ever was at the height of the Third Reich and if you don't understand that you're also a very naive fool and you haven't done your homework because there's so much abundant evidence to support the idea that socialism is what has the world in its grips I call it fashion fascio socialism because it's a blend of fascism and socialism socialism is the control of the means of production fascism is the the form that that the government is going to take on to control that means of production so that's that's all it's ultimately about it's a blend between these two forms of authoritarianism and national socialism plays a huge role in it and we have to understand that what we have in this country is creeping socialism called Fabian socialism which ultimately snakes its way and worms its way into the full establishing of something like national socialism these people didn't give up you know like like oh yeah you you beat us militarily so let's just let's just lay down our ideology - since we couldn't uh storm our way all the way across Europe and then across the Atlantic know people like that give up easily right they give up that easy people need to read the works of Joseph Farrow and other researchers who have really talked about the fact that National Socialism is as alive as it has ever been and its way has waged and largely won its ideological war of infiltration against its its enemies and we're too stupid to see that as a people as a nation even though symbols like this are erected right in front of our eyes and we don't see it or think somehow that's accidental yeah that's accidental sure mm-hmm tell me another one keep believing that it's it's these are psychological infants these are Bay babies who think like this because they don't want to accept that it's true they don't want to embrace the horror of where they're already at and that's what a baby does it it pulls its you know a little child pulls the blanky up over its head and it says oh I've pulled the blanky up over my head and therefore the world went away the monsters not there anymore see how that works yeah it works like that yeah so let's get back into the discussion of the symbolism because the symbolism requires a deeper understanding from an occult perspective from an initiative one who has been initiated into what these symbols mean to via cultists again people are all about this ridiculous notion well it doesn't matter that's just a shape and it can mean what I think it means or what you think it means no that isn't how it works you're wrong you're incorrect because a cultists have very specific definitions and very specific connotations that they use these symbols to represent and they're not ambiguous they're not open to interpretation they mean what the occultist intends it to mean and if you don't understand their interpretations of these symbols just making up what you think it means holds no weight it holds no water you need to understand how they think of it then you can understand why they're using it in certain instances and situations then it makes it clicks it makes sense immediately but if you don't understand how they think about these things you're gonna be lost trying to interpret or read this language there's a connotation that they use it as and that is important it is important because you're getting into their head understanding how they think you can see how they're using it against people subconsciously psychologically ARC types symbols they have an effect in the world on the psyche on the mind even if you don't consciously recognize that or not form has an effect you build a building with a certain form it will produce a certain resonant energy the people who who go into that building will feel that resonant energy we're not separate from our surroundings the same is true when it comes to symbolism they it's not an accident that they put these in certain instances and situations what do you think they do it because they just like the looks of them or like the shape and they're not using it for a specific purpose you think these people do anything without a specific intent or purpose behind it they just do things randomly yeah that's why they got into the positions of power and control and influence that they are currently abiding in because they do things randomly right sure again this is it's a psychological infants interpretation of what's being done and the most left-brained among us are the most hardcore when it comes to interpretations like this when it comes to symbolism because they've been intellectually duped by the indoctrination system and they want to think that they're so smart and that there's no such thing as all of this bunk this is all nonsense to them let me tell you something your owners are using it for a very specific purpose and they know how to use it and that's why they own your ass quite frankly so keep thinking it's all just it doesn't have any bearing on anything whether you believe in it or not keep thinking that [Music] welcome back everyone to just what on earth was happening here only talking about the occult mockery of the police and military and why the dark occult has put certain symbolism into these institutions it's not because they like how it looks because they think it looks pretty it's first to evoke a specific psychological effect in the subconscious mind and this is what people don't understand and all the left brain idiots out there who think they know everything because they you know have their belief system in place and they understand they think that because they don't believe in the religion that the dark occultists believe in that that makes it untrue or that not even makes it untrue that that makes it not affecting anything in the world it can't have any sway over anything and nothing could be farther from the truth again you don't need to believe in someone else's belief system for them to be willing to act upon it and you don't need to believe that symbolism is holding some sort of an effect over the subconscious mind through form for it to actually be doing that especially on people who know nothing about these forms who know nothing about archetypal energies these are the people say oh ignorance is bliss or what what you don't know can't hurt you it's exactly the other way around the more you don't understand about these forms the more you're going to be likely to be susceptible to them because you're not reading the symbolism that's contained in that symbol that that actual archetype will form so let's look at the first one that they use repeatedly and it's the five-pointed star otherwise known as the pentagram in image number 26 the pentagram is shown in its what is called pure or original form an upright pentagram with the three points facing up and two points facing downward each one of the points represents one of the forces of nature the physical aspects and then in its highest place in the highest part of the pentagram the spirit or what is also called ether in certain traditions so you have earth air water and fire being the four lower points of the pentagram the physical world the components that comprise matter but these are also about the components of consciousness earth would be the physical body and then air is the intellect the thoughts water is the emotions the spirit the not the higher aspect of spirit but the spirit in which we do things our emotional qualities then fire is our actions and finally spirits with a capital S reigns above them all that there is a higher aspect than just the physical world realities of earth air water and fire and spirit is this fifth element this quintessence the fifth essence of everything that underlies all of the others this is what we have to understand the single point of the pentagram represents the balance point in other words and this is the aspect that it is intended to be in upward upright with the spirit reigning the spirit taking precedence over the others not in the sense that you ignore the physical world reality but in the sense that there is a higher reality than just the one that you're calling physical solid it isn't actually solid spirit gives it form spirit gives it motion and therefore that's why the ancients would place this top point at the highest part of the pentagram you will often see an image of a man / woman in the middle of the pentagram and I say man / woman because it's really the coming together of these two forms it's the masculine and feminine combined which enlightens the individual not in an androgynous sense of male and female combined but masculine and feminine forces combined in other words the left brain uniting with the right brain in conjunction with the heart with care and there you see the extremities of the being representing the in image number 27 the four elements with the head crowned with light the shin character here is light and let's go into this esoteric depiction of an upright pentagram you have the Tetragrammaton the four-letter name of the creator inscribed yo-dee-hey v' of hey at the four lower points of the pentagram then at the top one you have a shin character at the very head or apex of the pentagram well yoda --have of hey spells Jehovah or Yahweh but when you put the Shin character in the middle of it you have the word Yeshua or yahushua and that is the name of jesus yeshua so this is symbolic of if spirit is in its proper place and understood we are in the world but not of it as the dictates in the New Testament the words ascribed to Jesus point us in that direction that's the the way of being in the world that we should be approaching not as attachment to the ego as attachment to the physical body only so this is about the spirit being the prime essence and being the motivating force within the individual even though he's still in a physical body being in the world but not of it the testimony to man's spiritual nature in other words a human being is a spiritual being having the human or physical experience but primarily they are a spiritual being and that's what this is symbolizing that's what the pentagram especially with the figure in the middle of it symbolizes and again it doesn't matter whether you believe that that's the case or not this is the convention that a cultists have taken the pentagram to mean that is their belief system whether you like it or understand it or know it or not that's how it is being used so let's look at the inversion of this form the inverted pentagram as it is known as so here you see an image number 28 this is the inverted pentagram also known as the Baphomet when it is inscribed with the goat head this is the official emblem of the organization called the Church of Satan which I was a former priest in again you see Hebrew characters around the outside characters from the Hebrew alphabet around the outside of the inverted pentagram they start at the lower point which is the primary point the first point being the the inverted point at the bottom that's the character la med if we move toward the right because Hebrew goes from right to left so they're actually writing it from the bottom and then going around counterclockwise so if you go to the right-hand point that is the Vava and then up at the upper right that is Yoda then at the upper left that is Tov and then at the lower left that is nun final nun so we put those together l'm ed is l bob is v yo diz would be an i or Y sound a and I I guess would be the most appropriate then table is T and final known is n so it spells Leviathan in Hebrew the beast Leviathan in the middle you have the goat this represents fertility this represents strength and it mostly represents the earth this is about the physical world taking precedence to the spiritual world that is their belief systems but the physical world is all that really matters and we're going to destroy the spirit that's what the New World Order is about a secular order with the destruction of spirituality the destruction of the understanding of the higher aspect of higher essence of human spiritual nature so we'll pick up this understanding of the inverted pentagram right from the horse's mouth the former high priest of the Church of Satan on the other side of this break we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone listen to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passing on my website what on earth is happening com were into our number two we're talking about the occult mockery of the police and military we were looking at image number 28 which shows the inverted pentagram let's take a look at image number 29 which is a quote from Anton sander lavey the founder and high priest of the Church of Satan from his book The Satanic Bible I highly encourage people to read the Satanic Bible not because I want you to put into practice anything that's talked about in the book but because I want you to understand the mindset of the dark occult and people don't understand what Satanism is at all all of the images that it conveys when you say Satanism to people have almost zero to do with what Satanism really is and people have to understand in an organization like the Church of Satan and in the dark occult in general every single aspect of culture is represented you have people of every persuasion in every institution you have people of every nationality you have people in every country participating in this ideology because that's what it is it's an ideology we're looking for quote groups of people to blame this or that on the thing that's holding all of this control system together is an ideology and the problem is people can't identify or pinpoint the tenets of that ideology you want to understand what the tenets of that ideology is read this book The Satanic Bible read other works by Levay read the books that have been put out by the temple upset by Michael Aquino and go back to the podcast where I talked about their ideology where I talked about their religion I believe it was podcast number 71 if I'm not mistaken check out all the works that I posted there as well on the podcast page and then you'll have a whoo at who you're really dealing with and again it transcends all aspects you know people think it's all this group that group it's none of that it's the it's the dark occultists who hold this ideology and who have inherited ancient knowledge about how the human psyche operates therefore they know everything that they need to know how to control it part of it is starting infighting by people who think they know something who have done a tiny bit of research made up their minds about something don't have any insider perspective like a lot of people do who have been trying to come forward and tell people how this operates and think they know it all and you know they are their know-nothings again a little bit of knowledge is a dangerous thing drink deeply or taste not the perience Pring they're shallow drafts intoxicate the brain and drinking deeply Sobers us again see this is a an allegory about people who think they have it all figured out when they haven't really done their homework they haven't really understood what the power structure is about they haven't really understood what this ideology that's keeping people under their control is all about and it's main tenets and they go off and find a little microcosm and say this is the whole thing it's all the Freemasons it's all the Catholics it's all the a Jewish conspiracy and this is all little tiny baby children who think they know when they've done a little bit of digging and they haven't seen the big picture there's people of every single persuasion and life involved in the dark occult everyone every nationality every race every religion every aspect of life every culture every country and all it will ultimately boils down to is the people who they're getting to do their bidding are the ones who are really putting people into these chains so you want to understand the group who's really doing it you need to change the mindsets of the military and police and get them out of this satanic ideology that they bought wholesale they bought it these eyes they know we defended gold okay - few people have there they live sunglasses on for those people who have seen and understand that out of the allegory there's too few people with their sunglasses on they can't see through it because the dark occult is cleverly constructed so that people never really figure it out and understand how it works and they go to their grave a slave let's get back into the symbolism here image 29 shows the inverted pentagram let's hear what Anton LaVey the high priest of the Church of Satan before he passed in the late 90s had to say about it this is also called the Baphomet remember this symbol is called the Baphomet the goat of Mendes the Baphomet represents the pet quoting from levain now quote the Baphomet represents the powers of darkness combined with the generative fertility of the goat in its quote pure form the pentagram is shown encompassing the figure of a man in the five points of the star three points up two pointing down symbolizing man's spiritual nature and there an image number 30 you see that image in its pure form the pentagram is shown encompassing the figure of a man in the five points of the star three up and two down symbolizing man's spiritual nature the three up representing the Trinity thought emotion and action the two down representing duality opposition us-versus-them mentality divide and conquer that people are constantly falling for because they're duped image number 31 LaVey continues in Satanism the pentagram is also used but since Satanism represents the carnal instincts of man listen to what he's saying Satanism represents the carnal instincts of man man as beast man as no different than an animal given to all the carnal animal passions live like a beast in the field don't use your heart don't connect with your higher self don't use the higher part of the brain live in the r-complex of the brain live in base consciousness this is the ideology of Satanism that's why it's ruling the world ladies and gentlemen and again the the Luciferians who are higher level than the Satanist they're putting this ideology out there for people to subscribe to they know that's what's going to lead the world into more chaos so that they can take advantage of that chaos and come out in control and people are buying into it we have a satanic culture the values that are propagated in Western civilization are based in Satanism whether you want to call it that or not whether you want to admit it that or not you can look at all of the tenets the ideological tenets that we live by they are satanic because they're based on me first whoever I have to step on they get mine I'm willing to do it who cares about the other guy this is all satanic ideology Satanism is is more is more of an ideology than it is a religion I would certainly call it a religion because I know the real definition of religion that which holds us back that which forts us from forward progress is what a religion is from the Latin relig or meaning to tie back to hold back to thwart from forward progress which is where the word came from true religion unites it brings us together with our higher self it ties us back to the truth spiritual law which I'm going to start calling natural law spiritual law because the term natural is so hijacked by macro biological Darwinian nonsense and people who subscribe to that garbage that the word natural it has been destroyed in the English language you can't use the word natural without people thinking of Charles Darwin apparently this is the first term that seems to come to mind you know Darwinian evolution when you say the word natural the natural world the natural order of things Darwin comes to mind from people who have been indoctrinated by the left reined propaganda system called schooling so you can't even use the word natural because people don't understand what that word means anymore it's a destroyed that part of the language is destroyed in humanity so I'd like to start referring to natural law as I've been calling it and other people have been calling it throughout time as simply spiritual law because that's what it is it's the law that governs everything that happens based on our choices of behavior and that's a spiritual law that's in operation let's go back to love A's words here regarding the inverted pentagram Satanists in Satanism represents the carnal instincts of man or the opposite of spiritual nature the pentagram is inverted to perfectly accomodate the head of the goat its horns representing duality there's those two dual points pointing upward in the primary position reigning above that Trinity he says representing duality thus thrust upwards in defiance the other three points inverted or the Trinity denied and LaVey is not talking about the Trinity of the Christian Trinity of Father Son and Holy Spirit he's talking about the real Trinity that that is allegorically representing thoughts emotions and actions or mind body spirit the Trinity that resides within us and again we've looked at how that is the father/son spirit connection it's the sacred family a father mother child male child because that's our actions the product of our thoughts and our emotions one being a masculine and one being a feminine force one being an outward one being a an inward force so levae is explaining that this symbol is used to represent the inversion of man's spiritual nature and keeping him in beast consciousness carnal instincts only reactive mind only lower base brain only where people can be ruled from because that's fear driven that separation driven so let's look at how the five pointed star is used when it comes to military we see it here in image thirty-two the US Army represents a single upward-pointing five pointed star why they are trying to associate the army with something that is spiritually good with something that represents sovereignty man being in the mode of consciousness of being in the world but not of it embodying the spiritual nature that is his true nature but this is nothing like what the arm really presents really represents they're giving you this symbol as a proxy to try to psychologically tell you that this is what it's about [Music] welcome back everyone listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio we're talking about the dark occult mockery of the military and police and follow along with the slideshow at what on earth is happening calm click the radio show page if you're listening via the podcast this is show number 114 we're on image number 32 showing the symbol of sovereignty the upper right pentagram being associated with the US Army there's a reason this is done it is to put the idea in someone's mind that the army represents the same thing that the archetypal image of the upward-pointing star does which is sovereignty which is man in his equilibrium in his balanced form being in the world and not of uniting his thoughts emotions and actions conquering duality and this has nothing to do with the United States Army any of these concepts this is a proxy symbolic proxy it means you're giving someone the fake thing you're giving someone something that represents what they want in their mind and heart but in reality you didn't really give them that thing you've given you've given them an image of it a fake semblance of it an idol and that's how this is being used you're presenting them with the star which says sovereign divine spiritual you truly United not in opposition any more and the army will bring none of those things to the individual the symbol is there to sucker them in because the the subconscious already understands what this symbol represents archetype Ally and therefore it's drawn to it especially someone who deep down in their subconscious and in their psychological makeup knows they don't have any of those things they're the most drawn to it those who are the most dual those who are the most divided within themselves that's why Gollum creatures like they are go into these aspects of institutional bodies in the world particularly in the police institutions often people who are have been former military and are traumatized have PTSD all kinds of other disorders and psychological problems and they take them right in anymore and into other institutions like the TSA image number 33 shows another example of this symbol of the upward-pointing star representing sovereignty representing spiritual nature how it is used here's a recruiting poster for the army with Uncle Sam with the hat with a star it's a band of stars around the brain you're gonna see this motif repeated over and over again again projecting the idea you will be sovereign you will be enlightened you will have the spiritual nature awoken within you come and join us well we can give you all of those things when in fact it's nothing of the kind and again put look at the position on the forehead you'll see this repeated over and over again actually like between the forehead and the top of the head it's right between the third eye chakra and the crown chakra the highest centers of spiritual activity at the top of the brain the prefrontal cortex in the very top of the brain the part of the brain known as the neocortex so again they're giving you a proxy come to us join up with us you'll get all the things you subconsciously crave because they know what that symbol means they know what it represents they know how it speaks to the subconscious and to the human psyche but your average moron dolt out there does not that's why they're so readily success susceptible to this kind of subconscious symbolic proxy reeling in you're reeling in someone through a symbolic proxy that goes to work on the subconscious mind and the human psyche because the subconscious already recognizes the true meaning of an archetype or symbol how it is intended to be used they're not doing this by accident these symbols aren't chosen just randomly and by accident they know what they're doing look at the five-star generals arrangement of stars again used as a symbol of spirituality and sovereignty but see what people have to understand in this image number 34 this is one of the animations I believe this is the first animation in the series is that what you're what you have to look for in much of the imagery and symbolism that is put forward by these groups is the negative space or the hidden geometries so if you look at the arrangement of this symbol really what you're seeing is one large inverted pentagram again duality they're giving you the five small ones in an arrangement of a Penta Penta GaN pentagonal e arranged but if you look at what the joining of all of these pre creates it creates one large inverted pentagram in the negative space so you can see that in this animated gif image which is number 34 we can look at the symbol of the air force in image number 35 which also incorporates an upward pointing star all of these have actually been upward-pointing so far you'll take note because they're selling people on the idea of sovereignty and spiritual nature to reel them into groups like this see there's always hidden aspects to the symbol in the airforce symbol you have to look at the darker areas take them by themselves and isolate them you can see the image of the star in the middle okay but if you isolate the darker areas within the image a clearer picture emerges and this is the face of a demon the airforce symbol is the face of an angry demonic entity with its eyes turned upward horns I mean it looks like the face of the traditional depiction of Satan or a similar demon and again people say oh it's just a set of wings it's not a set of wings it has teeth there's a nose in the middle horns what you could look at is brow ridges above the eyes again turn downward in a in a sneer or a snarl in the last slide of that animated gif number 35 you can see that transformation when you isolate the light space around it so you could look at it in an isolated way if you step back from the screen even it becomes very apparent just look at that we remove US air force from it so you wouldn't know that that's that symbol if you just put those few colored patches anywhere else you posted that up to someone who had never seen this image before they would say what's the demon face about and don't tell me that they wouldn't because that's exactly what they would say just because you know it's the air force the mind wants to say all that's not what it is that's what the ego wants to say and that's exactly what it is image number 36 is the first example where we're seeing the actual usage of the inverted pentagram blatantly and out in the open with the Victoria Police emblem we pick up the analysis of some of this occult symbolism as it is used in the police and military institutions on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening stay with us everyone [Music] behind the girl I'll make my all day [Music] welcome back everyone they're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Accio talking about the occult mockery of police and military personnel we're on slide number 36 on the water on earth is happening dot-com radio show page this is the symbol of the police force the emblem of the police force of Victoria Australia and the inverted pentagram can be clearly seen the British crown of the Queen is above the points of duality and the banner below the inverted pentagram says uphold the right and I would suggest that this has zero to do with the rights of people in the City of Victoria or anywhere in Australia or anywhere in the world for that matter and this is all about upholding the divine right to rule that's why there's the British Queen's crown up above the pentagram well they're clearly upholding the crown that right they're not upholding your rights they're doing everything they can to dominate and control and put people's rights down and uphold the rights of the so-called monarch the sovereign being a queen hold those rights up the divine right to rule as it is claimed by tyrants megalomaniacs kings and queens the world over no matter what time or place psychopaths in other words who think their God and yes these people will take an oath to the Queen and say that they'll do anything she tells them to do the chain of obedience blatantly putting the inverted pentagram right there and this off is right in their third eyeful where you know in their hats as a badge et cetera the Military Medal of Valor in image number 37 is shown what I call one of the most satanic and dark occult Laden pieces of symbolism that I've ever seen all in one thing all in one design so this symbol requires some prerequisite knowledge to understand so I will get to that later in the presentation on dark occult symbolism related to the mockery of police and military but I just want to point out the inverted pentagram there as the main part of the Medal of Valor clearly shown the inverted pentagram with the face of Liberty the goddess in the middle of the inverted pentagram again put into the middle of a symbol which represents the destruction of spirits the destruction of the goddess and you know we haven't even talked about the symbolism over this in the ribbon part of the metal with the trapezoid with the octagon and then with the star pattern that is shown I'll be getting to that later and I have an animated image later on in the slideshow but I just wanted to point out the inverted pentagram for now we'll get to the other parts of the symbol of this Medal of Valor later it's it's basically them giving their dog a nice little trinket you know here we've prepared this nice little trinket for you dog we're completely calling you a complete fool and it an animal and a person under complete mind-control responsible for the destruction of the human spirit well here take it and pin it on yourself anyway in pride you did such a good job doing those things for us well done image number 38 shows the pattern in the street plan of Washington DC directly above directly north of the White House the White House is at the very base of that fifth point of the pentagram in the street system and people always have something to say about this image because oh there's one part of it that isn't complete there's one part that's broken yeah all the other parts of the pentagram in place but why did they leave this one arm broken like that why doesn't it connect in the in the lower left hand arm of the pentagram you see I've represented that by a dotted line and this shows people's ignorance of the occult it shows people's ignorance of the occult of their traditions of their stories of their initiated and initiative traditions all of it because for anyone looking at an image so blatant as the pentagram that is inscribed into the street system of Washington DC for it not to jump out massively and attack you in the face with its implications means you know nothing about the occult by definition that someone can immediately recognize the meaning of that symbol by definition I can tell they've had no understanding or no initiation into any occult systems whatsoever for anyone who has that symbol is pretty clear it's as clear as day this is known as a Faustian pentagram also known as a pentagram or pentacle of pacts PA CTS packed like a an agreement a deal a pact okay the Faustian pentagram is also known in different occult systems as the sign of the cloven hoof or in other words the hoof of a goat which we've already seen associated with Satanism it is called the footprint of the devil the devil is supposed to be a goat or bull like creature in classical depictions I'm not saying that's what it is don't get my words twisted saying that's how it has often been depicted allegorically through symbol the Faustian pentagram is also known as the goat of Mendes and the pentagram of pacts the pentagram of pacts so I'm going to read something from the writings of occult researcher and high-level Mason Manley P hall here's what he had to say about this type of pentagram this is image number 39 now quote the pentagram is used extensively in black magic but when so used its form always differs in one of three ways so okay the pentagram represents one thing in its pure form but when it's used in dark occult equate what he calls black magic quote unquote okay he's saying that it the form will take a different variation it will be used in one of three different ways the star mate that hears the three ways the star may be broken at one point by not permitting the converging lines to touch - it may be inverted having one point down and two points up or three it may be distorted by having the points of varying lengths now anyone looking at this image can immediately tell all three of these circumstances are present in the Washington DC pentagram that exists above the white house it is a skewed or distorted pentagram it is inverted meaning the north side is has the two points up and the south side has the three points down with the spiritual aspect thrust down into the white house building that's at the very bottom of the symbol itself and it also has the broken arm all three of these things that Hall who is an occultist himself talks about being used for dark occult purposes continuing to quote Hall he says when used in black magic the pentagram is called the quote sign of the cloven hoof or quote the footprint of the devil the star with two points upward can also be call is also called the goat of Mendes because the inverted star is the same shape as a goat's head we've already seen how that is used in the emblem of the Church of Satan when the upright star turns and the upper point falls to the bottom it signifies the fall of the morning star now what does he mean by that the morning star is referred to as Lucifer Venus is the morning star associated with the concept of Lucifer Lucifer means light bringer the bearer of the light in other words the inverted pentagram symbolizes the fall of light into darkness in other words the destruction of knowledge that leads people into ignorance and ultimately into enslavement light is associated with knowledge in almost all occult traditions so what he really means here is it symbolizes the fall of knowledge the ushering in of spiritual darkness into man and pick this up on the other side of the break you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is the last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening I'm gonna try to wrap up a section on the pentagram and leave the all-seeing eye for next week so let's jump right back into some of Manley P Hall's interpretations of the inverted pentagram used for ceremonial magic see the name Faust comes from some of the writings of the German author Goethe and if we take a look at gotas Faust will understand what was intended by this pentagram of pacts okay so Faust is the protein the reason it's called a Faustian pentagram it comes from this classic German legend that was written by it's not written by Goethe it's actually much older than that go-to just penned one incarnation of the story of Faust it's probably the best-known version okay but it's a much older tale so Faust was a highly successful scholar very well learned individual but he hated his life and he wanted to have more riches he wanted to have you know a better position in life etc so he makes he conjures demons he conjures the devil if you will and makes a deal with him with him it's chained and he changes his soul for knowledge and worldly desires that's the story of Faust in a nutshell he makes a pact with the devil that's why this is called the pentagram of pacts the Faustian pentagram so the meaning of Faustian has been reinterpreted over time but in general Faustian is used to describe an arrangement in which an ambition an ambitious person surrenders moral integrity in order to achieve worldly power and success think about this folks an ambitious person okay who wants worldly power and success does that sound like the President of the United States why this pentagram would be placed directly above and leading into the White House he surrenders moral integrity to achieve worldly power and success that's what Faustian means it is the proverbial deal with the devil so mainly P Hall also talked about this when it comes to ceremonial magic and then I want to read you a couple of lines from gotas version of Faust to help you to understand also how this pentagram of packs it packs is used mainly P Hall from the secret teachings of all ages said some understanding of the intricate theory and practice of ceremonial magic may be derived from a brief consideration of its underlying premises first the visible universe has an invisible counterpart the higher planes of which are peopled by good and beautiful spirits the lower planes by dark and foreboding and the habitats of the lower planes are dark and foreboding and are the habitats of evil spirits and demons under the leadership of the Fallen Angels second by means of the secret process of ceremonial magic it is possible to contact these creatures these invisible creatures and gain their help in some human undertaking good spirits willingly lend their assistance to any worthy enterprise but evil spirits serve only those who live to pervert and to destroy third it is possible to make contracts or pacts with such spirits whereby the magician becomes for a stipulated time the master of an elemental being for a stipulated time the master of an elemental being fourth true black magic is performed with the age of a of a demonic spirit who serves the sorcerer for the length of his earthly life with the understanding that after the death of the magician shall become the servant of his own demon for this reason a black magician will go to inconceivable ends to prolong his physical life since there is nothing for him beyond the grave does that sound like the transhumanist mentality who want to go into machines take their consciousness into machines because they know that they've sold their soul and I'm not telling you that it definitely is that way I'm telling you look at it in conjunction with what with what is really going on in the world this is these people's belief systems the people who are really at the highest levels of control in the world whether you believe it or not this is their belief system the most dangerous form of black magic is the scientific perversion of occult power for the gratification of personal desire manly pijo I'll read that again listen to this the most dangerous form of black magic is the scientific perversion of occult power and I would use the term occult knowledge for the gratification of personal desires is this what is taking place of course you better believe it is so that's what Hall has to say on that the topic of an inverted pentagram or a pentagram of Pax a Faustian pentagram and this is what he's talking about what Faustian is all about is making a pact with other noncorporeal entities and possibly other dimensional entities in gotas Faust written in 1808 mephistopheles was able to enter into Faust study because Faust pentagram was poorly made one of his angles was broken letting the devil in letting this demon name Memphis ah filiz in to his study see this is about bringing something that is negative bringing a negative energy or a demonic energy into someplace this is why it's put into the executive branch it's placed above the executive branch where the place where a dictator would likely to be to rise from that branch of government there's a reason this was placed here okay mephistopheles says now I'm going to read a couple of lines from Faust but from goethe's faust mephistopheles says let me own up i cannot go away a little hindrance bids me to stay the witches foot upon your sill I see which is foot or in other words footprint of the devil this is what he's talking about he's talking about the pentagram that Faust inscribed as a as a mechanism of protection in this ceremonial magic that he was conducting Faust replies the pentagram that's in your way you son of hell explain to me if that stays you how came you in today in other words he's saying if this is preventing you from leaving how did you get here and Memphis thoughtfully says observe it closely it is not well made one angle on the outer side of it is just a little open as you see so this suggests that while the pentagram is generally understood to be a tool for protection keeping evil off keeping it at bay okay to ward off or keep evil at bay a broken pentagram is a symbol of invocation asking something to come in it is also a symbol of capturing or containment a symbolic means of control the broken pentagram the fasting and pentagram a means of assam symbol of invocation capturing containment and control those are the things it symbolizes in other words the and pentagram is a snare for the spirit and I think I've made my point that this is no accident people say make it a point to debunk this by the the open arm that's the crux of the symbol ladies and gentlemen this isn't a regular inverted pentagram it's a Faustian pentagram but again non initia cult knowledge would have no idea of that at all because they don't read because they don't read and once again you can see in image number 40 the Pentagon being the symbol of force violence I should say really as the heart of America's quote defenses but it's the heart of our aggression really is the center of the pentagram specifically when it is inverted as you can see in image number 41 we're going to pick up with the very end of the pentagram symbolism on the other side and then we'll move on to other symbolism next week remember only two mistakes can make on the path to truth not starting and not going all the way we'll see you next week folks [Music]

freedom man that's what it's all about you've got to groove on freedom like the good book says welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pascio welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening right here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pascio my website is what on earth is happening dot com the network of course oracle broadcasting.com today is sunday july 8th 2012. and boy do we have a special treat for our listeners for the listeners of what on earth is happening here today we are broadcasting live from the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations 2012 right here in the city of philadelphia we're live at ruba hall the location of the tesla science conference this is day two of the conference and i have a great show planned we're going to be talking about freedom and independence specifically energy independence and the works and the legacy of the great inventor nickel a tesla and we have 10 great guests who participated in the nikola tesla energy indep independence celebrations this year and i'm going to be bringing a new guest on for every segment of the show so it is going to be a blockbuster and we're going to bring speakers on we're going to bring on inventors we're going to bring on scientists we're going to bring on people who simply attended the conference and they're going to give you uh you uh their take on what is going on here in philadelphia this weekend still have two more days to come as part of this great four-day event as i said we had two days of the science conference tomorrow we're going to have lectures and films at the free library of philadelphia we're going to have a tesla birthday celebration right in independence mall park at the independent independence visitor center that's coming up tomorrow night monday evening from 10 p.m to 2 a.m that's a free event anyone in the philadelphia area is welcome to come on out and join us to celebrate tesla's birthday tesla was born on midnight between july 9th and 10th 1856 he is one of the greatest inventors who ever lived certainly the greatest inventor of the 20th century he brought us the modern world through the implementation of alternating current electricity and we are going to just continue the celebrations and celebrate tesla's legacy uh throughout the weekend so coming up in the next segment i'm going to be speaking with one of the speakers for the tesla science conference a gentleman by the name of russell anderson you're not going to want to miss that because russell is involved with electrogravitics that's right anti-gravity and he has actually done deep experiments with anti-gravity and has functional anti-gravity demonstrations which he has demonstrated repeatedly here as part of the tesla science conference events in the past and this year so stay with us everyone don't go anywhere it's going to be a great show you're listening to what on earth is happening we are live from the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations 2012 in philadelphia we'll be right back so we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio we're live from the tesla science conference here in philadelphia and i have my first very special guest mr russell anderson russell anderson works with electrogravidix he is the president of the company applied electrogravitics and he works with serial technologies incorporated russell gave a talk here on day two of the tesla science conference entitled john searle gravity control methods russell anderson welcome to what on earth is happening oh thank you mark it's great to be here it's great conference anyway um i work with electrogravitics it's always been a big interest of mine huge interest of mine of anti-gravity propulsion and space propulsion in general but i realized way way back in the 1970s that we would never get far in space if we defended uh dependent on chemical propulsion or even nuclear propulsion it was just too darn slow plus all the problems with chemical propulsion once you run out of reaction mass propellant you're out of luck but with electrogravidix and anti-gravity propulsion you have all the power available in our universe to go anywhere you want to go you'll never run out of fuel it's uh it's just a better way to get from point a to b plus you're not limited by any speed you can go any speed you want and because of the nature of the repulsion system you can go way way faster than the speed of light and in 1994 miguel alcubierre came out with his warp bubble calculations to support that and already had been theorized in the 1950s and 60s and even before that that speeds uh in excessive light speed or super luminal speeds were possible so it's very exciting and it's the technology is finally finally coming into its own and i'm just so excited and proud to be a part of that russell thanks so much as a scientist and inventor can you tell the audience a little bit about um who your heroes were in these fields and um can you also uh share with them a little bit about the talk that you gave at the day two of the science conference and what that was all about yeah sure mark uh growing up my heroes were probably of course albert einstein and a lot of people probably are not aware most of the people in the audience are probably not aware that uh einstein was really one of the fathers of ravitic propulsion he came up with unified field theory but also relativity shows that since energy and mass are equivalent really a source of gravitation is a high localized concentration of mass but since energy mass or equivalent a source of gravitation is also a high localized concentration of energy and we can use electromagnetic energy for that or pure electrostatics and uh it's it's just fascinating and also einstein did complete his unified field theory and published it in analinder physic it's a prussian science journal and that was january 10th of 1929 and it was published two days later in the new york times it's uh called zur einheit lickenfeldt theory or the unified field theory for gravitation and electricity and it just confirms a lot of speculations and theories that gravitation and electricity are basically allied and are reciprocal and interchangeable and can be used for propulsion and a passive defense and i guess my heroes growing up were of course albert einstein nikola tesla of course uh oh my gosh later on thomas townsend brown the american father of anti-gravity uh werner von braun of course american father well german father of ballistic rocketry robert goddard american father of liquid fueled rocketry and guidance systems oh my gosh um carl sagan probably a lot of people um too numerous to name can you uh tell the listening audience a little bit about what the talk that you gave today was about yeah the talk that i gave today was on the work of professor john searle john roy robert searle of england and he's one of the few people in this world to have built anti-gravity or artificial gravity flying discs of various sizes and they were based on his generator which refused to stay earthbound back when he was a young boy he had two repeating dreams and by the time he was 14 and working at uh electronics and magnet uh factory he decided to uh interpret those dreams and they turn into a generator of unique geometry that ran on its own past a certain threshold speed and the generator when it got very cold didn't want to stay earthbound in other words the earth repelled it with irresistible force and that resulted in both a domestic generator called the uh domestic soil effect generator or domestic scg and the levity disc which now we call the inverse serial inverse gravity vehicle and about 42 of those were built from three feet to 41 feet diameter some of them were not radio controlled most of them were on very powerful 12 meter band ham radio fantastic can you tell the listening audience a little bit about what you do as a part of applied electrogravitics and can you also uh let them know a little bit about your demonstrations of anti-gravity that you provide uh in the form of uh the uh the demo craft that you operate known as beam ships oh yes um well i had been researching uh electrogravitics and anti-gravity really since college in 1982 and i was determined to do this i just i've been a star trek fan all my life and big fan of space and getting us into space and getting us into space cleanly and cheaply which you really cannot do with reaction mass rockets basically i started studying what was called the b field brown effect which discovered discovered by thomas townsend brown american scientist when he was 17 back in 1927 wherein high voltages and capacitor configuration cause movement and of course uh when the movement is enough it will easily overcome the earth's gravitational field because gravity is the weakest force in the universe weak is forced in physics so our artificial gravitation produced electrically can easily overcome gravity and back in 1990 i built my first t-towns and brown flying saucers based on his patent its patent number two 949-550 called the electrokinetic apparatus and its most basic form is just two typical flying saucers with a forward electrode of either wire or copper tubing and i started experimenting with those in high voltages and really got them to work really well by 1999 with some homemade apparati that generated high voltages and uh we have those on youtube just anybody can go to youtube and type in tt brown electrokinetic apparatus and you can see me in nevada flying these discs around the maypole and about a year or two after that i started flying i guess it was about a year and a half after that i started flying beam ships which were based on t-towns and bronze patent also but i built them with instead of heavy sheet metal and copper tubing and perspex insulators i built them with just balsa wood insulators a balsa frame and foil so that i could fly them at a safe voltage in other words they wouldn't be lethal so they're lightweight so i can use a light voltage and not have any problems with injuries and as applied lecture riddicks we sell those and demo them russell absolutely fascinating thanks so much for being my guest in this first segment we're broadcasting live from the tesla science conference here in philadelphia stay with us everyone many more guests to come you're listening to what on earth is happening don't go anywhere welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com we are taking a break today from our regularly scheduled d programming to bring you some great guests live from the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 right here in philadelphia i have two guests for this segment both conference attendees rebecca higgins who is a mixed media visionary artist and graduate nurse kevin stanley i'm gonna go to rebecca higgins first rebecca i'd like to ask you what uh got you interested in tesla and his technologies uh i'd also like to ask how you heard about the conference and what you think of the festivities so far well we only have a short time so i'll do my best but um about 23 years ago i came across the work of robert becker uh in the body electric and promise of electro medicine which i think is very interesting that uh kevin and i were just talking about the health um benefits of of some of this research and um and through that and through a long process i've always been interested in energy work and consciousness as my work and i think that um you know nick asked me to speak tonight i think as a kind of another voice not a not a science or engineering voice um and and coming to an interest in tesla's work and i was very interested in his his um i i think that you know scientists and and engineers and artists are very similar in the sense that we we go to associative thinking in terms of problem solving and invention and i think we have a lot uh to give each other and and i think you know and finding tesla's work i was just so fascinated by this guy why don't we know anything i mean this is like you know 17 years ago and i can't remember if i found a book and then found them on the internet or if i found them on the internet and then found the books or but i just remember just researching them and researching and why doesn't anybody know about this person and and i was also very interested in mind tech at that point so light and sound systems and things like alpha stem ces cranial electrical stimulation neuro feedback systems things that help creativity that help heal that expand consciousness and um i think like many artists we set out uh we set out with this ideal to learn everything to know everything it's impossible but that's what we want and uh and i think that this this kind of a conference just really appeals to me i really really am though i am a lay person in terms of the science and the math a lot of it's over my head i think that the concepts are very profound and i think that the the way that um the way that his work can can change our imagination and how we think about things and free up our our resources so that people can focus on things like art and creativity and invention and improvement um so it's been really wonderful experience for me so far to be here that is really great glad to hear that and that is what this is all about it's about bridging science and spirituality it's about combining that logical left brain linear approach uh that helps us to interact with the physical world with the creative imaginative and intuitive right brain uh that is the spiritual aspect of ourselves and bringing those together and bridging that seeming divide that's what really makes us truly whole holistic beings so uh let's go to kevin kevin uh you uh work directly in the health field i would like to know how you got involved with um researching tesla and his work and uh maybe uh some of your thoughts about how some of tesla technologies can be used in the field of health well when i was nine or ten years old i used to play a computer game called command and conquer and one of the weapons that the player would build to defend the base was a tesla coil and another was the death ray to basically defend your army and kill your enemies and also make enemies so this is sort of how indirectly became introduced to tesla and over the years i became more interested in free energy technologies because i became more environmentally conscious now as a graduate nurse regarding the health of the public and the environment we are shamefully still dependent on oil and environmentally destructive combustible fuels it was nikola tesla's dream to create a world where free energy technologies would be readily available to the masses however our profit-based monetary system has suppressed and still prevents this from happening to this day free energy technology and non-polluting technologies have been around for quite some time and are still being developed today but shamefully oil and coal and the major electric companies dominate the system which prevents us from putting ease into action because they're not economically viable so in a health perspective when i look at this possibility of having a future without pollution a future without environmental destruction i see it as the ideal world that not only we as a species would want but as our energetic messiah tesla uh gave us the vision to create and conferences like the one i met now the nikola tesla energy independence conference are one of the beautiful things that helps put this out public and along in addition with the internet which is where i found out about it because when i became extremely interested in uh things like the venus project the zeitgeist movement i definitely found the nikola tesla energy independence confidence in any other group that was associated with it and uh wrapped my mind around everything i could and i'd encourage everybody who's interested in you know helping the world and preserving the future of not only our species but the rest of the species on this planet i'd encourage everybody to do as much research as they can via the internet and that's what i got thanks so much kevin very profound and i mean that just sums it all up as as i've said a million times and probably will say a million more before it's all said and done you have to understand ladies and gentlemen that the control of energy is the control of human beings if we're really going to be free if we're really going to live free we have to generate clean and sustainable energy in a form that nature really provides all around us to tap into that those natural systems not polluting uh systems that destroy and denigrate the environment that uh we need to live but to as tesla uh said harness the wheel work of nature and work in harmony with it so uh kevin you did a great job in summing that up i had the pleasure of talking to both of you guys a little bit uh before um uh earlier today and uh hopefully you guys will stay involved and uh with the tesla club and the tesla science foundation as members and uh continue to be involved in uh bringing nikola tesla's uh work and legacy to other people through communication and and the arts so i'll turn it back over to you guys and any last words you'd like to say to the audience um i'd just like to thank you for for doing the interview and uh bringing this out here and um i think that you know just to key in on what kevin said earlier i think it's very important um and some of the speakers here that people understand that this technology exists now that it's not it's not future pie in the sky that has existed for a long time that it exists now and that it's really can be directly applied and we just kind of keep working to make people aware of that inform yourself you know look on the internet for the information it's all out there we have to do it ourselves folks no one's going to hand it to us the answer is saying no to the corrupt system the corrupt energy paradigm that's out there and building a new one stay with us everyone more great guests to come you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network i'm your host mark pascio coming to you live today from the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations 2012 right here in the city of philadelphia we're live at ruba hall and my special guest for this segment is harry ong harry is a a has a background in electrical engineering and he is uh was one of the speakers at the uh tesla science conference i believe you spoke yesterday is that correct yesterday and today you spoke both days okay great so harry i'm gonna bring you on to tell the listening audience how you became interested in nikola tesla and his work and his technology and a little bit about what your talks were about here at the tesla science conference thank you mark i enjoy your show and um as an engineer i am trained in math in science and at my work about say 2008 or so i was looking for something outside of the box i was hoping to look look for new information that would help me in my career in my job to i'll always think about let's say if i'm working on two-dimension then i want to go to three dimensions so i get a new perspective so i could get something new and make a contribution then i found um nikola tesla and fakely i can remember oh um about ac he he did something about ac but that's all that i i can his name doesn't really ring a bell but i do know about a little bit of memory that he he has some contribution on ac and that's about it and then i look into his articles his writings and all that and i knew about more about his stuff and um i from from a background that i can understand his stuff it's he presented in in some simple way but it's hard to believe in the in the first place because from coming from an electrical background he was describing electricity with fluid mechanics so it doesn't sound right and but his explanation is simple so i tried a few things of of his and uh one thing that i did is the pancake coil that he he has a lot in his patent and i tried it and something remarkable that i have not seen before it's there's i can light up wirelessly uh some some light bulb that i couldn't do with any conventional way with high voltage uh that i i can handle but with his stuff um it's marvelous so i know that something is there now so i start taking it uh more and more into his article writing and i can tell you that he has a lot of articles and writing so to follow his work is not easy even for me so i would recommend other people who who has did diligently follow his work and one of the person i would highly recommend is a person called eric dolan d-o-l-l-a-r-d he did marvelous work and he follows from from teenage year to i believe he's probably 60 years uh 60-something years old now so he has he has very good uh understanding of of tesla's work so it's eric dolan d-o-l-l-e-r-d and um so as i also have a little bit of a biomedical background so i know about tesla's x-rays and all that and i remember since childhood i know that for my parents i come from asia and for my parents they always think oh medical doctor do your doctor but i know that myself i have a science background math and i'm not that good in in biology and all that but i deep deep down within myself i i have a uh i felt a connection with people and when people have pain and sickness and i remember my mother died when i was 10 years old so i always want to felt a connection and compassion so i felt that tesla also has a com so in a sense that i can feel his feeling that he has compassion on people about generation next generation about the future and all that so it seems like a lot of stuff come back for me that uh i have for a while i have been like um just getting like nine to five job getting uh daily work and getting money for the family and supporting the child education and all that so dream doesn't streams for me seems to die down a little bit but now with tesla stuff it all seems to come come back i remember when the internet first arrived in maybe late 90s i was looking at like egypt stonehenge and all these ancient stuff and i was wondering where where where where do these people get their wisdom and and all that and what and i'm wondering where where does tesla get his wisdom and he he was describing that he has vision in his in his in his mind that he can see his invention and then when he work it out it's perfect just like he had in this stream and in his vision so uh i believe that's um and okay and also say my mother died when i was 10 and then recently my stepmother died from cancer and also my wife mother my mother-in-law died from cancer and my sister's mother-in-law died from cancer so it seems like you know i i wanted to do like biomedical and uh helping in health in a little bit of that but um so i get a little bit dilute illusion lies and but i i'm now getting starting to see that we are actually creating a reality from ourselves whatever you believe if you believe that it's the world is bad then you lose hope and then the world will become bad and if you but if so it's important to have dreams and important to have hope to to do something and i believe especially with tesla's though we need a lot of scientists who can understand his stuff and work on it and show other people that it really makes sense otherwise tesla would have the impression in people's mind oh this is a mad scientist when he get to old age he only have pigeon with his as his friend and he was talking about death rates so he must be crazy but i can assure you that uh tesla after i look into his stuff all the other all the stuff that i can understand is relevant and it worked out and everything that i tried it it's just as what he said even so one of the very very thing is the wireless uh power transmission he has been saying that it's through the earth so that's something that i couldn't understand in the beginning the earth how can the earth be conducted but a little bit slowly i can start to understand a little bit like lightning and thunder uh creating some rhythm and uh and vibration on the earth so if lightning and thunder can do that what about if we impulse the earth just like tesla said and the earth can actually resonate and then we can actually um transmit energy through the earth as a ground would that be a similar to the concept of actually using the earth as a single wire so that energy would be able to be transmitted anywhere on its surface correct i believe that that that's what it is and for as an engineer as um as scientists we learned that uh we need to we need ground and the best ground we have is water pipe and and all that to have a good ground but why we don't really know the best we can say well there's a lot of electrons in the in in ground so there's uh uh and in tesla's stuff he was um in the radio station he was saying um putting it around if you if you don't do even today our radio station have a solid ground strong ground otherwise it doesn't go too far so the ground is very important so the ground there's something about the ground which is the earth is by itself so if we can as tesla said if we can make the ground as a connector then we can transmit energy through everywhere and i know that this sounds strange how can the earth be a conductor but if the thunder and lightning can make it uh make a standing wave out of the earth maybe we can we can create standing wave of the earth through electric impulse then that's how energy is being transmitted wirelessly through the earth very interesting harry we're so lucky to have you as part of the tesla science foundation and in the tesla uh uh science conference for this year uh can you tell us what you think the future of is going to hold for humanity when it comes to tesla's wireless technologies in general i believe if we can have more scientists and work and knowledgeable people to lead the way of science leading the culture because in a way science is leading the civilization and culture so currently it's not sustainable it's uh destructive but if scientists can have a sustainable mentality and create an energy free energy make use of these free energy concepts that we can actually uh energies like air is free then competition becomes minimum then we can work peacefully um nationwide and and people-wise harry thanks so much for your valuable insights a pleasure to have you on what on earth is happening tesla said it himself ladies and gentlemen science is but a perversion of itself unless it has as its ultimate goal the betterment of humanity this man wanted to give us a gift we rejected it back then when he first offered it but we still have the opportunity to bring tesla's vision for a brighter human future to fruition for us all stay with us everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network we'll be right back so welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pacio my website is what on earth is happening com we have another great guest from the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations 2012 in this segment uh welcome to the show michael r manning michael is a research physicist from temple university school of biomedical physics michael has given a talk here at this year's tesla science conference and i believe your talk was on cancer research is that correct michael in relation to tesla's technologies yes specifically i became involved in a project that i initiated at temple university we were in the school of biomedical physics and school of medicine and what we did specifically was we placed a malignant melanoma tumor on the surface of a mouse while injecting into the mouse a series of cells of the mesothelioma type the type that actually anchor in the lungs and cause lung cancer and we found specifically that we could generate an autoimmune response in the mouse that would kill the lung cancer cells remotely by slowly irradiating with a millimeter wave radiation the malignant melanoma on the surface of the mouse and doing it in a fashion at which we were able to decompose the tumor cells in the melanoma very slowly through a process called apoptosis which took about 48 hours per cell and if done just right we found that the contents of the cell and components of the membrane would be allowed to go into the circulatory system of the mouse they'd be picked up by what are called teacher or progenitor lymphocytes which are cells that carry these tumor fragments to other uh immune system cells which are called the warrior cells the warrior cells in turn then had a chem electrochemical or i should say a biochemical message implanted in them by the teacher cells which allowed them to recognize tumor material as being foreign they then circulated through the lymphatic and blood systems to the lungs and attacked the mesothelioma cells in the lungs and and killed them so the mice could survive and we must around about 50 to 100 mice this way and then we presented this information to the national institute of health in the form of a project proposal but they didn't believe that we had worked auto immune immunization against cancer tumors wasn't popular at the time and not well known by the reviewers in nih so we never received funding so the project more or less withered on the vine before we could perform human tests michael i recall as i sat in your presentation yesterday that you had some information regarding royal raymond rife the great uh optics engineer and uh uh doctor uh i believe who lived uh in the early part of the 20th century and who really came up with a cure for cancer which was subsequently suppressed can you tell us how royal reif's work may overlap with some of the type of research that you're involved with well what royal raymond reiff did was develop a technology for exactly defining and measuring the correct frequencies that cause resonances in cell membranes so for a specific cell type like for instance a cancer tumor cell type you would expect since the cell is bloated that is larger than the cells around it and since the membrane is already stretched out very thin that its natural resin frequency would be different from that of normal cells he using his very fancy microscope was able to identify these specific frequencies at which cell membranes of the cancer tumor cells could resonate and once they resonated they burst and destroyed the cells and this technology was never accepted people didn't believe that it worked and so we're not using it today unfortunately and then this technology correct me if i'm wrong but it left uh surrounding tissue completely unharmed completely different than the types of destructive so-called treatments like uh we're back radiation uh uh to reiterate essentially the royal life technology was very selective since the cancer tumor cells had distended membranes which were a lot thinner and a lot bigger in diameter than normal cells it could they could be literally pinned down with the correct waveforms and caused to self-destruct while normal cells around them would not now this is a technology that existed in the 20s but which hasn't been followed up and i certainly believe it should be in the current uh scientific environment excellent i wholeheartedly concur royal raymond reif is someone that uh is arguably even more marginalized than nikola tesla and his uh work and research really needs to be studied and brought into the light of day uh can you talk a little bit about how you think that uh some of tesla's most advanced uh wireless or resonant technologies uh may have been uh perverted and weaponized and are being used today in the world i know that that is one of your interests well certainly i've been involved in the environment of weapons development for seti which was a subsidiary of aircraft armaments international down cockeysville maryland and while we didn't specifically look at the tesla devices i believe that tesla had something that was very interesting he specifically noted that with tubes like the crooks tube that particles would come out of the end of the tube accelerated by the high emf that he placed across the anode and cathode of these tubes and he could actually feel them hit his arm or his hand and cause stinging sensations so he believed that if the particles were accelerated to higher velocities and the bulges were amplified that he could create a very strong death ray using this correlated particle generator and indeed under the ronald reagan administration this was one of the four avenues of research for advanced star wars type uh defensive technology absolutely fascinating michael uh again we're very privileged to have you as part of the tesla science foundation and the tesla science conference for 2012. any final words to the audience about uh the experience that you've had here as part of this year's conference well it's been very interesting i've learned a lot about technologies that i haven't been directly exposed to and i highly advise that anybody that's interested in the things that are going on in science that are at the forefront of scientific research and development join us in the test of society and indeed come to our meetings and come to our conferences in july michael thanks so much again for being a great guest here in this segment of what on earth is happening and ladies and gentlemen stay with us i'm going to take the first segment on the other side of the break but after that we're going to be bringing on the president of the tesla science foundation mr nicola lonchar you won't want to miss that stay with us everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network we'll be right dancing back the desert blowing up the sunshine welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening you're on oracle broadcasting i apologize for the little technical glitch that we had in the last segment it looks like we're back up and broadcasting fine we have a lot of great guests coming up in the second hour we're going to be talking to the president of the tesla science foundation nicola longchar we're going to be talking to the master of ceremonies from the tesla science conference michael river song we have joe sikorski who is involved in a film about tesla and i'm going to be speaking to local tesla enthusiast activist and member of the tesla uh nikola tesla club here in philadelphia dave endorfer to round out the show that's coming up in the second hour of what on earth is happening before i bring nick up in the next segment i just want to uh go over a few things and just tell people there's more events to come as part of the uh tesla energy independence celebrations for this year we have uh events through tomorrow and through tuesday so i'm just going to bring up the program and uh tell people a little bit about the events still to come for uh this weekend's uh energy independence celebrations for this week's energy independence celebrations on monday july 9th from 6 p.m to 9 00 pm we're going to have films and presentations on nikola tesla and his technologies at the free library of philadelphia main branch in the auditorium room that's the downstairs auditorium at the main branch of the philadelphia library that's at 1901 vine street okay come on out to that it's free to attend then when we wrap up there at nine we'll be heading over to independence visitor center you know the the birthplace of this country which was all about freedom and independence at least it was supposed to be about that but our energy paradigm is is nothing uh in like free or independent it's completely dependent and controlled and we need to break this immoral unsustainable energy paradigm and we need to build a new one that is free and independent so come on out and join us to celebrate that spirit of independence as part of the tesla night birthday party tesla was born on midnight between july 9th and 10th so that's when we'll be celebrating his birthday and commemorating his memory and legacy this is uh at independence visitor center on the lawn outside the visitor center at fifth and market streets 10 p.m to 2 a.m and this is also free to attend so anyone in the philly area please come on out and join the celebrations we'll be firing off tesla coils at midnight to celebrate his birthday there'll be some uh live music and we'll have some guests from the tesla science foundation say a few words as well on tuesday july 10th we will be uh having some more films and presentations on tesla at the free library main branch but we will be in the skyline room on the fourth floor on tuesday this will be uh six hours of um information from 3 p.m to 9 p.m on tuesday july 10th to round out the tesla energy independence celebrations for this year so come on out and join us if you're in the philadelphia area we'd be we'd love to have you in all the events i just mentioned are free to attend okay so the last thing i want to say in this segment is whether we already know about tesla or not whether you're new to this information or whether you've been a tesla enthusiast for years the object of all of this is getting involved it's taking action that's what this is about it isn't you know as i've said an innumerable number of times throughout my shows to know is one thing and that's the beginning of the journey but it doesn't stop there that's that's only the very beginning of the process you have to once you know you have to then activate that knowledge and apply it and put it into the world for a good purpose taking action is what it's ultimately all about so you know conferences like this they don't just put themselves on they're they're a product of teamwork hard work and dedication and it's a product of willpower of actually getting it done so come on and get involved with the free energy movement if you know that this is the right thing to do step up and get involved and do it we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen with the president of the tesla science foundation nicola lonchar stay with us welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com we're broadcasting live from the tesla science conference as part of the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 here in the city of philadelphia it's our pleasure to have as my guest for this hour for for this segment in the in the second hour the president of the tesla science foundation mr nicol lonchar nick welcome to what on earth is happening and uh why don't you tell the listening audience a little bit about how the tesla energy independence celebrations are going so far this year and a little bit about um uh you know uh what has already taken place here this year as part of the celebrations uh thank you for having me mark so far second day it's pretty good and we have local speakers mostly our funding this year was a little tighter than previous years but still we have a really good group of the people where they give really good lectures also you mentioned earlier we have tomorrow and after tomorrow free lectures in philadelphia free library and celebration of tesla birthday tomorrow night in the park as every year we have so i'm really happy so far great nick why don't you tell a listening audience a little bit about your background and how you became interested in nikola tesla i'm sure they'd be very glad to hear that i'm serb from croatia and named nicola so yeah that's that's how i maybe that's how they start yeah but as long as i remember probably when i was five years six years old i hear a lot of different stories about tesla and actually my parents are from area from lika mostly populations is serbs and they they have all these stories about all these people but especially about tesla and as a young boy i remember people have nick jagger or rolling stones or beatles on the wall posters and i always have tesla tesla was my hero and later i started study electricity and that's either bring me a little bit closer to all these things with tesla and that's that's how it started nick i met you about four years at a great place called germ books we no longer have uh a resource like that here in the city of philadelphia but uh there was a uh a meet up there uh i i found that the tesla club through meetup.com and uh it was a very uh basic information on tesla and his work i believe uh they filmed the screen a film screening there and that's where we met uh barb and i came into germ that day four years ago and um saw the enthusiasm that you and a couple of other uh initial members had for tesla can you tell us uh how you got the idea of forming a club dedicated to nikola tesla and uh how that uh went in the early years of the the formation of the tesla club and then tell us a little bit how that grew into the tesla science foundation well first mark it's uh i think is god did is they bring you in our group because you really bring a lot in our group and it's just a unbelievable way how we met somewhere in neighborhood when i was not either driving there before and william called me to show me what they have about tesla and you guys come there and that's how old things started really without any plans with you um originally we started nikola tesla inventors club in 2004 in serbian church in philadelphia but there was not many inventors mostly people where they come inside in our meetings they don't want to discuss inventions they want to discuss life of nikola tesla and they actually you guys build whole movement of the tesla and um and also what happened is uh mostly our members are young americans they're not serbs so we just decide to move around and give different lectures and you give a lot of these lectures you're showing tesla coils and everything so um actually we have uh organization called tesla science foundation what is registered non-profit organization government and but we really i really feel we are more tesla club than science foundation the really majority of the people are for spirit and art and either people would get the best recognitions for this year for this little work there and last year also they are mostly artists so really science and art merged there and it's a really beautiful way how these people did this so the tesla science foundation do some experiments and we do have a little laboratory in serbia we do work with some scientists locally here with some projects but our funds are very limited uh so i don't know what we're gonna how far we're gonna go with that but we gonna try to get the facilities here in philadelphia actually trying this for the last few years it doesn't go easy hopefully we're gonna get also here or something can you tell the audience a little bit about how they could become a member of the nikola tesla club and tesla science foundation and about some of the activities that take place uh throughout the year here in the city of philadelphia oh i think you can tell them this because they're going to understand you very easiest if they go to meetup.com tesla38 and they sign their membership is free and our meetings are all open for public and it's all free have once per month we have meetings in philadelphia library in september we're going to participate in pennsylvania green festival in april we was in a philadelphia science festival so working sometimes with the franklin institute and other things so if you remember you're gonna see a lot of good cool things uh doesn't cost you anything try okay not only will you see a lot of really cool things but you'll meet a lot of really cool people who are working to make the world a better place the nikola tesla inventors club the nikola tesla club and the tesla science foundation form the biggest tesla enthusiast group in the world ladies and gentlemen you could be a part of that it's free all you have to do is have the desire and want to invest a little bit of your time to come and get involved a lot of great people here working to make this event great a lot of people working to make the world a better place as i've said so come on out and get involved that's the main thing to keep in mind uh you know this organization is full of people who actually care who actually want to do something who want to contribute their time who want to contribute their talent and their knowledge again to improving our collective situation and making the world a better place for for us and for our future generations so nick thanks so much for being a great guest this segment your final thoughts thank you for having me and what i would really love to see from our organization i don't think they're going to happen in my lifetime but people going to extend this and fight for free energy and free communications until that time our planet will not really be what tesla was dreaming for thank you everyone that's right nick thanks so much for being a great guest in this segment stay with us everyone we're going to be talking to the master of ceremonies for the celebrations this year mr michael riversong in the next segment you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network stay with us we'll be right back we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening dot com in this segment we're bringing on the master of ceremonies for the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations 2012 mr michael riversong and as we've been talking to you about this sciences this uh science conference is really about more than science it's about the merger of science and spirituality it's about the merger of the uh logical left brain with the creative and intuitive right brain and the arts and music plays a big role in that merger in that uh coming together so michael is an accomplished musician and we're going to attempt to share uh some of his music uh with you michael play is an accomplished harp player and he's going to perform a piece for us live on the air let's see how this goes and then we'll talk to michael a little bit more after his performance so here we go michael river song phenomenal michael and i know you've been itching to do that all weekend haven't you oh it's nice to let it out one of the things i've been doing with this conference and with the other conferences that i work with has been and this goes all the way back to 1984 it's how it's how i got into all this is provide some incidental background music background music is highly underrated in our culture right now but the idea of having someone live who's responding to the moment and putting together music according to ancient scientific principles is something that really helps advance science there was a time way back in ancient greece when the philosophers and scientists they took it for granted music was always there there's always some bard sitting around off in the corner playing a harp or maybe singing a soft melody or something like that this is something that we can bring back into our culture now and i believe helps and i really hope that by the time i'm through with all this stuff i'm doing on this planet that it will become customary to include such music in science conferences part of that involves people knowing how the music works and we are going to face in the future of course we're looking at maybe the whole biosphere the earth will collapse maybe we'll go into a dark ages for a while i live for the possibility that we will have a future and we will have a society that begins to really come together and begins to be the kind of paradise all of us long for and when that happens being optimistic when that happens it will be said that the same principles behind the way we generate our energy the way we get our free energy are exactly music theory very interesting and very powerful i mean after all it's really all about resonance and frequency is it not absolutely tesla understood that for those of you who are musically inclined you look at tesla's power generation system the ac system that we all know and love right now it's called three-phase well if you take that three-phase and you look at it musically you have something very basic the triad the three-phase ac system is a musical chord and it's running through all of our civilization right now also number theory plays into there as well because three is a sacred number that is found in every ancient tradition of consciousness throughout the world absolutely you find this happening all over the place musicians tend to do it instinctively most musicians when they really get a chance when they find a decent teacher they tend to be pretty good at math pythagoras recognized that he was the guy who put together our entire musical system that we use worldwide now that was the hallmark of western culture for a long time and made it different from other cultures it's a simple system it has seven components seven modes and in that system you find an infinity of ways to help people and of course that's what it's really got to be about if the music gets people better in some way or another either spiritually or physically or both then it's legitimate otherwise some of the music we hear these days actually is deliberately designed to weaken people and that kind of music of course we could say we're fighting while we fight it just by playing our music and having events like this where music like what i'm doing is welcome and one of the things i loved about this particular conference was we had mono devina involved uh what an incredible musician was that incredible last night i mean that was just a spectacular performance on the thurman and his classical string ensemble they were just phenomenal and i believe he helped me physically because i slept better last night and that was a very very difficult night here in philadelphia we had a certain type of electromagnetic field passing through the town uh there was lightning to the west of town and yet no rain that really creates serious tension in people but i believe everybody who heard that music last night that tension was blunted it was modified and they were not as bad off as i think somebody who didn't have a chance to hear such music at that time i absolutely agree uh michael uh you're a great uh organizer you were very instrumental in helping to organize this conference we couldn't have done it without you uh you're good at collecting amassing and organizing information as am i we share that in common uh and you're involved with a lot of organization uh efforts at in other conferences as well related to uh tesla and occulted um uh scientific technologies that have not yet seen the light of day to help humanity uh and to bring us into a a better uh condition as as a species can you speak to uh the dynamic of helping to organize something like this on what would be con considered a string budget and how it really doesn't necessarily have to uh involve a tremendous amounts of of monetary wealth to put something together that's really worthwhile so that it's really all about connections with people because people are ultimately the important thing so to speak it also has to do with just getting out there and saying well you got to do something if you sit back and turn on the tv and blank out your mind well that doesn't really help but if you just get out and i'm in a unique position in life i was able to take the time and i could have sat there watching tv like everybody else and he said nah it's more fun to do this and that's a lot of it and you also have to make it fun and you have to learn how to enjoy the ride i've been working on a series of conferences that started in 1984 with the old international tesla society it's now morphed into tesla tech and the extraordinary technology conference that's coming up in albuquerque of july 26 through the 29th so it's right around the corner and that conference is huge and the philadelphia conference could be that huge at some point too and it's not just me because there's so many people worked on it part of it is okay i had an intention that linked with a lot of other intentions and so many people did so many things and sometimes people thought they did something oh man that was nothing well your nothing might have been the one key that made it happen we can't even tell a lot of times and so that's a lot of what it's about too individuals doing things just because they're in the spirit to do that and they're motivated to make things spiritually better somehow and that's what makes a conference come together i'm thankful i was able to have the role i did it was really a lot of fun for most of it a few tense moments but then you're going to have that in anything and i'm thankful for the role i play down in albuquerque as well that's an excellent conference and get a chance to do some serious documentation of new technologies and that's something that helps a lot too michael thanks so much very inspiring words ladies and gentlemen remember the word conference itself you look up the etymology of it it means coming together that's what the word actually means to bring people together and that's what it's ultimately all about michael riversong master of ceremonies for this year's nikola tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 here in philadelphia thanks so much for being a part of the show stay with us everyone we'll be right back on what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network today we are taking a break from our regularly scheduled d programming to bring you a whole lot of great guests live from the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations for this year so i have two special guests for this segment mr joe sikorski and victor elefante they're from long island new york they are filmmakers they put together a film called fragments from olympus a true life mystery thriller about nikola tesla welcome to the show joe and victor and i'm going to turn the floor over to you guys to tell us all about your great film thanks mark how are you doing today oh great it's a pleasure to have you guys here today well thank you the pleasure's ours um we're going to tell you a little bit about fragments from olympus fragments from olympus is a true life mystery thriller we're not a biopic which makes it very very appealing to the masses what we're trying to do with our movie is kind of bring tesla to the forefront through the vehicle of movies we are from long island we are with the movie uh fragments from olympus we are trying to help save tesla's last laboratory warden cliff warden cliff is in danger of being sold at this point and uh with our unique budget strategy we're trying to help the organization uh get the funding to save warden cliff to make it a science museum and uh and a place where scientists can come and learn about tesla and possibly replicate his work so uh that's what we are doing here today and we were honored to come and and we were happy to be here and uh we had a fun time today it was really good we learned a lot today it was nice great joe thanks for having us mark uh yeah we actually have a unique budget uh proposal we're actually including the price of saving warning cliff in the actual film budget so we're pitching that uh here today and uh we're telling people about our project um like vic said it is a true life mystery thriller we're gonna try to bring tesla into the popular culture because even with all the great documentaries the great books all the great works on nikola tesla he's still relatively unknown in this country and we want to really help correct history and most importantly continue his research i think saving wardencliff is one of the most noble efforts out there uh this should be a national historic site as far as i'm concerned it's unbelievable that it's not uh who's behind the effort of really trying to you know uh bulldoze that place or to turn it into something completely different instead of saving uh tesla's uh work and legacy that he conducted there even though it remained unfinished again some of the most advanced uh research and science that has ever been done possibly was conducted at that location so tell us a little bit about who's behind trying to shut that down well the trouble is uh you know it was owned by uh it's still owned by agfa corporation and there was a cleanup that had to be done on the property because there was some chemical contamination ironically this saved the property for many many years but the cleanup has been changed uh has been finished and now the zoning has been changed and that's the big uh difference in the equation and now uh businesses people that want to put up condos they're starting to pop up now that the new zoning is available and uh because most people in our area never heard of nikola tesla they don't know the value of wardencliff so uh you know there's really a sense of urgency in uh in finding the the funding and getting this this saved or or just if uh you can go to teslasciencecenter.org and donate directly to uh the wharton cliff organization the tesla science museum run by jane alcorn so um how can uh uh so jane alcorn uh that's the tesla science center at warden cliff at shoreham long island okay that's how people can get involved by contacting jane alcorn in the effort to save wardencliff i think it's definitely a noble effort and more people need to get involved in it if we're going to make that happen so um would you like to tell people a little bit about more about the film and like you know what goes on in or what the basic plot is sure um what we're doing now at this point in time is we're gathering our team um we have a lot of great people that are coming on board um we have leo rossi who was an analyzed this he we are starting out teaser um we just uh and he's also from philadelphia originally which is a wonderful thing um we also sean young has joined our staff oh she's joined on with us and yeah she's a great actress and she's passionate about tesla and uh when we first met her and uh we sat down and talked with her the first thing she said is boy is that tesla really got her he got a raw deal we have to do something about that right and then she's quite a conscious woman yeah she uh you know it was something that she very she has an unbelievable knowledge about tesla i was very impressed by her knowledge about tesla awesome yeah when she she she puts it up and then she's going to do it and you know and she's wonderful that she's even with us we're very honored to have her and then we have howard smith howard smith uh is a dp uh he is going to be behind the cameras for us and he's a steadicam operator and uh you might not know his name but you know the films he's done he's done the matrix and harry potter and he's worked with all the luminaries from woo to um clint eastwood i mean stanley kubrick i mean the lot you know and uh sylvester stallone he did uh rocky balboa the last movie with him and uh what's that yeah another another philly connection um also he is an inventor howard's an incredible inventor and uh he's from england and he knew all about tesla and um we were we were thrilled when he you know we made contact with him and he showed interest and uh and he uh we went to visit him up in hartford where his uh his his laboratory is if you will where he works and uh when he opened up the doors he said keys to the kingdom kids whatever we need to use we could use to make this film and make it happen and um we are also i mean i i said it maybe ten thousand times but we're thrilled to have him on board also these are people of like-mindedness as as you i've heard some of your people that you had on just before us right uh we're all of like mind we all have a single goal in mind and tesla they put money aside they put money aside and we're doing what we're doing is we're trying to save a piece of history we're trying to get warden cliff back on the map we're trying to rectify the the history books give tesla the due credit that he so rightly deserves um and we're doing and continue his research absolutely joe as joe said we want to continue his research um you know there might be a kid today that if we're capable of getting and helping jane save wardencliff with all of us with all of our help you know everybody out there that's listening to us if you want to help us the greatest way to catch us is you can catch us on facebook fragments from olympus www.fragmentsfromolympus.com um and you can learn all about our project and see what's going on from day to day operations and who we bring onto the project but word of mouth if we all work together and we all rode the boat in the same direction there's a very good possibility we could save this and there could be a child out there somewhere that's into science somewhere down the road we'll go to that museum and actually put it together and bring us to a whole new place that the seeds that tesla will come to fruition right it'll be the harvest time as we like to call it that's great that's that's also extremely inspiring and i wholeheartedly concur i'd like to get your guy's take on uh just the the general dynamic of uh telling a story through film uh through this medium you know this is one of the most important ways that we can actually reach out to people to change minds and to help them to understand really what has gone on behind the scenes when it comes to alternative energy as film makers you are doing your part to do just that you know history breaks down to his story and that's not our story if we're going to tell our story we need to become storytellers we need to become creative individuals who activate the imagination and put that into an art form and do that to basically uh help to elevate people to a new level of understanding can you speak to a film's uh role in that and then your take on that uh as filmmakers personally i just want to say well said very well said um well that's why we want to make we want to try to bring tesla into the popular culture and that's what cinema we believe is uh is very good for doing and that's why we're taking more of a of an approach instead of doing a strict biopic we're doing a mystery true life mystery thriller so what it's going to be is there is a thread of the story with the fbi investigation looking into tesla's death ray research which was written from obtaining over 200 pages of fbi documents recently declassified from the freedom of information act and that's the thread of telling the story and tesla story unfolds through that so we kind of think it's like a backdoor way to kind of inspire an interest in science for people more sci-fi oriented they'll watch the death ray story that narrative and they'll learn about tesla's life and hopefully that'll open up you know new possibilities and new uh you know new enjoyment and appreciation for science we have a term that we use on on the fragments team um and the term is instead of calling it science fiction we call it science fact because this is true the stuff that we're telling is a hundred percent true we have the documents to substantiate what we're telling so this is better than any fiction story you could possibly sit there and imagine or make up we're telling a story of an incredible life that's gone virtually unrecognized by people in our country um we have people from all over europe um that constantly contact us via the internet and email and they're they're they're you know cheering us on please make this movie this is such an important cause you know and we're just our little piece of the puzzle we're just a little bit there and uh we are just in love with coming here today and talking to all these great minds and being able to be there not us the people the oracle broadcasting radio you can't stop an idea whose time has come ladies and gentlemen welcome back you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting this is the final segment for this edition boy did the time fly because we had some great guests here coming to you live from the nikola tesla energy independence celebrations 2012. thanks to jose sikorski and victor elefante from the last segment this segment i am bringing on a special guest dave emendorfer dave is involved with the river city to hydrogen project he is going to talk about uh that uh project here in philadelphia with us and how it is going and um uh welcome to the show dave mendorfer hey mark it's a pleasure to be here and it's it's an amazing day today at the uh the tesla science independence celebrations um yes anyways jasper jones uh jasper jones um today he was one of the speakers and basically we went over the river city the hajjan project this is a project that he's been working on um since 2007 he's delivered this to city council and other city politicians here in philadelphia and he recently became a board member of the tesla science foundation um and basically uh since me and him have met the first time he did a um presentation in our foundation um i got intimately involved in this project with him and we've now took new strategies as to implementing it like basically um i configured a new campaign outline for disclosing this information to the public i've configured it with him and lisa hastings she also spoke tonight too she's environmental scientists um from arizona to some and um she's been in the environmental industry like um environmental science for over a decade and she's been she's seen the effects of fracking and that's the great thing about the river city of the hodgen basically to go over it it's a solution to all our fossil fuel problems um which includes petroleum natural gas coal and even nuclear and basically uh we simply need to just configure our existing natural gas utility system here in philadelphia and our water system pgw merge them together and use tesla's resonance technology on water and um and then use our natural gas pipelines over here that's been in existence since the 70s and there we go we have a whole system a way of distributing hydrogen energy in a very cheap costly effect there's a there's quite a process to this and there's a lot of reasons why it's very cheap and manageable um and yeah i'll be going over it as we go through the interview but um yeah it's been it's been amazing and um yeah it's exciting like i really i'm blown away the fact that now tesla's energy is you know coming to life now like on a massive regional scale like we can actually do this i sat in on jasper's lecture earlier and it was uh incredibly informative uh and you're saying this will basically reduce the environmental impact by uh being able to do away with the destructive influence of fracking uh and the impact that that takes upon the earth and all of those completely uh polluting technologies will not really be required to bring energy to this entire regional area if this system is is fully implemented is that correct absolutely like our our needs for natural gas all fossil fuels in general will be nullified um the way that pennsylvania the way that we here in philadelphia have been getting our natural gas has been through fracking which is the dying last attempts of the fossil fuel industry to get fossil fuels and what it is is it's a process of drilling through deep layers like miles down deep geological layers and formulation where we're actually we're cutting past natural ottawa water aquifers and that's how we get our water in pennsylvania that's how we get our water here in philadelphia and over eight communities in pa around these fracking sites all the water is poisoned so fracking is completely polluting to the existing water table that we're all using yeah our water and also the atmosphere there's carbon emissions there's radiation that comes out and lisa hastings she's had um a lot of inside information about the effects of fracking like um a lot of people don't know like even the the um fracking activists that have been doing their work here in the city for years um there's not really that much information going about the fact that they're destroying they've destroyed like a third of the the forest um they've been destroying all all the force around on the fracking but a third of pennsylvania's forests have been bought by these oil companies and you know they're destroying them and that's a huge part like and actually arizona um they used to have um like a lot of forestry um when you us uh colonialism spread towards that area and it stopped because of um the cutting down of the forest like like it was eliminated so like you know cutting down all these trees it it creates deserts and we know this we know this um from south america um you know from the rainforests um like these rainforests are all cut down they're becoming deserts and can you guys imagine a desert here in ppa because like that is a reality if we don't stop fracking but basically um you know going a little bit more into the the technology it uses this this metal called chem alvoy which was discovered in 1950s and it has a unique molecular structure that naturally emanates the resonant frequency of water and divides it into oxygen and hydrogen and by sending a a low frequency current a lower i'm sorry low watt current through um this this alloy we can easily configure this and bring it to a much larger scale to the scale of our water system and then transfer link the hydrogen that's produced over into our natural gas line because one of the biggest controversial issues concerning hydrogen energy is how to transport it and we can use natural gas pipelines to do that as i understand it according the way jasper explained that earlier this system also produces very little to zero waste product that's correct actually it produces no waste product um because the waste product of hydrogen energy is oxygen and water vapor it's at yes yeah the yeah the output and um it's that actually repairs our our environment it adds oxidization to it and water vapor like it continues the whole water cycle and actually like on the system um can use the water vapor output and bring it back into the system so that that means that water will be continuously used within it and we won't be disrupting the ecology phenomenal dave can you tell people how they can get involved with the river city to hydrogen project here in philadelphia yeah they can they can conta contact us at the uh the tesla science foundation on our website teslascience.net and um yeah like as i said like um the campaign is being configured um like we have our strategy set up and basically like there's certain things that we need right now resources but it will be going public soon and i've been working with different people like um and i'm gonna be working with penn environment very soon to deliver this to them so they'll be a partner hopefully soon fantastic dave thanks so much for being a guest for this closing segment of this edition of what on earth is happening it was a pleasure to have you on to wrap up the show i just want to say thank you to ruba club studios for hosting the tesla science conference you can check them out on their facebook page at rubaclubs studios and you can also i believe they have a website if you google ruba club studios you can find their website so that's really all the time we have for for this edition of what on earth is happening live from the tesla energy independent celebrations for 2012 here in the city of philadelphia thank you to all of our wonderful guests and remember ladies and gentlemen there are only two mistakes that you can ever make on the path to truth not starting and not going all the way we'll see you here next week on what on earth is happening oh

[Music] [Applause] welcome back everyone we were listening to what on earth is happening here on these chlorophyll Broadcasting Network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show we have a guest that I really wanted an interview last week and did not get a chance to he had some other commitments but he was gracious enough to give us two hours of his time today to interview him for the entire show so here we go I'm going to read Jasper's bio Jasper Jones is the executive director ubc a Community Trust for family life improvement incorporated he's the president of data spectrum incorporated the community rebirth organization plan national program and computer distance-learning director he's the chief administrator campus of distance learners the Omni charters Omni Community Charter School and he is the River City to hydrogen dream team senior consultant engineer and project configuration management engineer mr. Jones has over 25 years of experience in the design and implementation of systems for both commercial and nonprofit organizations and audits of electronic data processing systems his experience includes extensive work in software programming for nonprofit as well as commercial organization systems applications mr. Jones's experience include developing operational procedures for alternative education and school programs Jasper Jones is the crop national program director whose successful work in implementing various components of the crop program involving human development support systems in Los Angeles California and on a national level led to u.s. congresswoman Maxine Waters and the OSI Commissioner Arthur Fletcher mentioning in 1992 on nationwide television that the full implementation of the crop program components in South Central Los Angeles could have averted the city's 1992 civil disturbance ladies and gentlemen welcome to what on earth is happening mr. Jasper Jones Jasper welcome to the show pleasure to be on with you mark great so Jasper you wanted to start off by talking about some things that you mentioned in the crop program these are what you labeled as everyday systems that are meant to sustain us in our daily life that are currently implemented they're really no longer have any are really working for us they're not really serving humanity as they were intended to did you want to go into that yes I do I want to talk about that so that people can become aware that there are strategies that they could follow and take action on that could turn the situation around that we face basically the number one problem that we're having is the meltdown of money the banking finance system the dollars were for about three percent that was when Federal Reserve was formed in 1913 and the Federal Reserve is not making money credit capital credit available to small businesses so we have a situation where there really are no door wage jobs available because small business is the source of livable wage jobs in our time the people I discovered going around the country that people didn't understand that if you don't have pure air for five minutes that you die and our air is filled with chemicals from the chemtrails playing the geoengineering situation that we have so people should be aware that there they should take action on that issue our water is filled with all manner of chemicals that are making people sick and we're under threat from the hydrofracking situation here where we are in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania there are eight counties where the water has been turned to poison because of this process and people are coming to me saying that they've gotten effects similar to what's going on in those counties on rest of the Pennsylvania in Philadelphia the food supply has been dramatically compromised but implementation genetically modified organism type foods and we are participating in this what amounts to a food experiment without full disclosure in our consent to this process and that's making people sick and that was the other issue that I found that people didn't know that if you want to have real food for seven days you generally die the thing that we want to talk about the day our energy supply systems are based on fossil fuels and they have all reached peak production and people can no longer afford fossil fuels people in Philadelphia are having problems peeing for the electric and gas bills so that's the point we want to cover the day dealing with the river city to hide your ending team how people can take action to get from under that problem in urban areas our public schools Alberta's de-facto school the prison systems and cash cows will the local political machines rather than family job like construction centers that function as a school to work network where people can get an education and be attracted to a job and then end up in prison our prisons which is supposed to be educational correctional facilities function has a prison to prison recidivism vehicle rather than a correction process for people reenter interests aside and go to work and living wage jobs the new Obamacare law which somehow got approved in spite of the fact that it's a tax and shouldn't have been approved I don't invest a reading of the Constitution and we are in effect on the require to take health care that's really sick care where you are on drugs get some radiation therapy and you get some surgery they're going to have any support system built for us that allows us to own the health care system where the patient's the doctors the nurses and the staff have control so we end up with wellness care rather than sickness care but we want to put that out there so if people can think about it so that we get to the callin section people can understand why we want to move to this hydrogen technology because that will implement a boon which will actually give us access to the resources to pay for the cleanup of iron climate and making our schools work-related as opposed to well Jasper you you hit the nail on the head on so many things so many problems that we've talked about extensively here on what on earth is happening and uh you know we've kind of transitioned into looking at solutions that's what we've been doing over several months now and that's why you're such a great guest because your approach is completely solution oriented and it's about doing what we can now to transition away from these dead decaying systems that really don't serve us as a species any longer not and that's arguably if they ever even did you know these are really um outmoded ways of looking at the world overall and they really need to be replaced by something that's truly sustainable and truly serves who we really are that is correct I'm on board to that one of the things that happens when I talk to people is I've discovered that people don't really know the true history of the United States the United States in 1492 when the European colonists arrived here they were greeted by the indigenous people and the indigenous people gave them a land grant because God their prophets had told them that they were coming in to make a place one and the mikerickson system that we have is actually a translation in the penis of the protocols of spherical confederation by Democrats and independents Provost now that having to return this package addressed people that brought the people originally over here came from English and other clowns of Europe and the big one invoice its flavor economy Jasper hold it right there we'll be right back after these messages stay with us everyone [Music] welcome back everyone we listening to you what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcast today our special guest is mr. Jasper Jones of the River City to hydrogen project here in Philadelphia Jasper we were cut off by the break last time but you were talking about the original intent of this country and how it has gone now wildly off from that and how that's bound us to this unsustainable energy paradigm that were trapped in right now can you continue from that point please yes basically what I was alluding to is that a country originally was on alcohol as our primary fuel then the forces that created the negativities slavery and other issues here got the country in the world on the fossil fuels because that would allow them to control the money but that has created two problems when that peaked in 2007 the world had discovered decades ago that the use of fossil fuels as Tesla had predicted had unpredictable undesirable results in terms of the ecosphere and other issues and now that we have realized that's the problem and the technology that underlies the transition is the system up to hydrogen as our basic fuel is powered by Tesla technologies that have been refined and what makes the transition off of fossil fuels to the green energy of hydrogen so affordable renewal because of the problems created by the addiction to fossil fuels that emerge an addiction to money by people in the rural life who created that system green tags as a revision recall financing is available and the abundance of this renewable non-polluting system that allows you in two phases to get all the fossil fuels the first phase is a mixture when you take the existing natural called natural grasses nothing but nothing and you mix it 20% this hydrogen gas and 80 percent methane requires no modification of the existing system so that allows you to lower the cost of energy and make it affordable to people who currently is not affordable - and what we want to focus in one is that the industrial community of a place like Philadelphia which still one out of five jobs is manufacturing later if you dramatically lower the cost of energy like track you open the possibility of them increasing production and hiring more people now this technology which is basically Tesla technology would allow us to supplant the fracking madness that's going on which is totally unsustainable because each well with hydro fracking this is a 5 million gallons of water in western Pennsylvania that is resolved in eight counties having a water table wiped out in what is the science behind this we are dealing with two different technologies for the approach to implementing a industrial level hydrogen supply system in Philadelphia in super electrolysis of river water flows to a alkaloid screen that's molecular structure which is designed to have a resonant frequency that causes water to split in the oxygen and hydrogen and through their filtering process we separate the oxygen and the hydrogen and we can create an unlimited flow of this hydrogen into our system and because the river and Philadelphia have never run dry we have the opportunity with that source by itself to create a flow of water flow hydrogen from the water that will sustain the city in technology i'm proton I'm sorry I wanted to just jump in for a moment so basically this is using the energy that's already present in nature it's hooking into energy that's already present as a result of the flow of the delaware river right by philadelphia exactly we have a company that we are working seeded the idea as to why this was unbelievable to the establishment is that the technology that provides the breakthrough is a technology called eco augur which allows you to tap the water flow generate an electrical current that pumps the water onto the alkaloid screen without building a dam so you're generating enough electrical energy to operate the proton on-site equipment from a device that has a zero pollution impact does not harm the ocean water life but generates enough electricity to power your equipment so any place that there's are a river yes four feet deep and as v-not to flow you can set up the system to generate the initial supply of hydrogen that you need to begin the transformation to hydrogen and because we also have on the hydrogen dream team in us all which has the patented technology for putting a smell in hydrogen you can use this hydrogen fuel gas energy fuel in the home this has the legal requirement that you have that safety feature available for any gas that's used in the home unbeknownst to most people methane gas does not have a smell we using the called a natural gas because they put a chemical metabolite tamper in they're into the methane give it that smell and that's what allows you to use it in the home and we have the capacity to do the equivalent and we call that domestic hydrogen so this technology will change the game at that level and we wanted to start with that because that's the easiest one to deploy it only takes a few months to deploy that technology because it's all off the shelf in fact the folks on the other side of the river testing a production model of the other device right now this technology once deployed what allows it didn't move to the other technology which is intelligent intelligent aches the other problem that you have with pollution which again was predicted by Nikola Tesla that is the sewage system it's flaring off methane glass into the atmosphere that's burning it off creating air pollution because methane gas is the biggest hothouse gas that we have and is used as the standard in all the other house gasses a measured by instead of that occurring with an intelligent technology you capture the gas and you convert it to steam super steam reformatting technology you know as the second super thing we've described here we first started out with super electrolysis now we're doing super steam reformatting of the bio sewage gas into synthetic hydrogen and that technology has an interesting impact the sewage that we're dealing with raw sewage in that it converts it either - inert carbon material or organic grade fertilizer that's important so this technology would actually help in the cleanup of the entire environment in the entire area then that's right because remember the only bright product from the burning of hydrogen gas unlike gasoline or so-called natural gas is water vapor in the first things where we have an 80/20 percent mixture the reduction in nitric oxide and other hot out there food is so dramatic that we have papers on it that are readily available that discusses and that's why degrees tags as it usually call now call a certified admission is left Pacific is far bell with you all and you she needs to find that's in a good chance for a whole other all right hold it right there and we'll continue on the other side of this break ladies and gentlemen stay with us we'll be right back [Music] [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Tasha my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show was talking to Jasper Jones he's being aired rugged target he's the River City holiday I'm sorry home all on one second Jasper I want to give the call in numbers for next hour before we get right back into it because we will be taking your calls in the second hour so the call-in number for the second hour if you have questions for Jasper about the

River City to hydrogen project is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the Colin number taking calls for Jasper Jones on the River City to hydrogen project here in Philadelphia eight six six eight four one one zero six five okay Jasper let's go back to talking about this technology and you were discussing how we can make this transition to usable hydrogen energy and how this would have a great impact on the cleaning up of the environment yes I was leading off with the that the fact that hydrogen combustion only generates a water vapor as his by-product and that water vapor Pappas didn't have yeah because of the electronics of the electricity factor of it these ionized water paper ionized water attracts particulate matter to and causes it to drop to the ground the other commonality about the two streams of technologies that we were talking about getting the river water and the bio sewage gas converted to hydrogen they both feature turbines which are in effect an invention Nikola Tesla which is why we are at the convention the energy alternative energy convention energy independence these are just refinements of that hundred-year-old technology which was an amazing thing to people to realize that the key element of the super electrolysis process using eco augur use a turbine to tap the flow the mechanical energy from the water the river water that's flowing perversity electricity and that's a turbine that's generating that electrical flow that powers the proton on-site equipment that actually produces the hydrogen the intelligent technology that takes the bio sewage gases from superstream reformatting that steam energy runs a turbine to generate electricity so once you flip the switch on these technologies they're self-sustaining so long as you have a flow of water and you have a flow of bile sewage which unless something radical happens we're always going to have a flow of river water and a flow of bile sewage and that's changes to gain because then what you have done is you have created a non polluting inexhaustible supply of energy that you can make available through our community and you can increase the amount that we produce just by incrementing adding on modules that so long as you are compatible with the available flow of river the water and the available flow of bio sewage gas and this transition would sort of be a gentle one if I'm not mistaken in that it would not involve a immediate tearing down of the existing infrastructure in order to implement it it's a two phase transition would you like to explain a little bit about that yes the two phase transition is that in the first place the 80/20 mixture believe it or not doesn't even require an adjustment of the nozzle settings on the devices that are using natural gas energy because the synthetic mixture sits in gas mixed with the methane 80/20 has been proven to not do anything but reduce pollution in study after study so because you can do that and you can generate cash flow because everything has to be paid for can that process be that reduces the cost of the gas energy so that that reduced cost generates more demand and generates enough self-funding money so that you can then move to the next phase which is sectoring off the distribution network and modifying the distribution network by putting in sleeves that are impermeable to hydrogen that means that the hydrogen won't pass through it the gas pipeline system that we have now is designed so that methane gas can flow through it which has different properties from 100% hydrogen so we sector off the distribution network and we put in these sleeves that allow 100 percent hydrogen flow and we make the adjustments incrementally in the nozzles and in the gas chamber of people that would be using 100 percent hydrogen we still be happy to do that because they already will have experienced the reduction in their gas bill by having the 80 20 percent mixture and then we can even do lowered even further once we go to 100 percent hydrogen because we're not buying this gas of anybody we're making it ourselves and are interesting so that's important that the number before we go to the next thing that I'm going to get people in Philadelphia to get is that is 550 million dollars a year they were giving Big Oil from natural gas now which we can keep that money and to fill out the economy now how does can you explain the process by which the when you're using the existing sewage gases that that basically cleans up the environment basically what's going on now there's been some because I started this process in 2007 and they realized oh we can't keep doing this and the EPA passed they are ruling that methane gas is a human toxin there the burning of methane which is automatically generated by the process of the sewage what we are doing is we're taking something there's a toxin and we're converting it into something that's a non toxin through a chemical process known as super steam reformatting be taking methane which is ch4 I think it is and we're converting it to synthetic hydrogen removing changing its molecular structure so that it's a agent nautical that we now have which once again when you combust hydrogen what do you get instead of pollution you get water vapor so we'll be taking that exact that existing a poisonous gas it would be converting it into usable energy and the the quote-unquote waste product or by-product the output on the other end that we wouldn't be using as an energy and energy source would be pure oxygen right incredible that that's what we're talking about and that technology that intelligence technology is important to understand that that technology takes I'm sorry this is called intellij intelligent is our second part launching this is the this is the part that involves the conversion of the quote natural gas well this is the part that converting the bio sewage gas it's called bio methane which is what they calling it but it's sewage gas basically that they're brain off now and polluting the environment burning it off and instead of doing that we super steam reformatted into synthetic hydrogen and then we use it as a fuel and hydrogen because of its different priorities from methylene has a higher market value and in addition the bio solids associated with the sewage through this technology are converted to inert materials that are non-toxic and one of the products of the intelligent processing protocol is organic fertilizer and we want to be concerned with that because the reason that I wanted to mention the GMOs causing a problem is that we can then move through urban organic agriculture because we have essentially it abundant supply of organic fertilizer sounds like just about every part of this is a self-sustaining system it's something that has sustainability actually built into every aspect of it that's correct that's why we want to get on to this technology as soon as possible because if you watch the news you see there are problems out there with existing systems that have been utilized and that the peaking of fossil fuels spiking the price changed the paradigm for how you want to produce your food you want to have your produce your food locally and you want to get control over that process and one of the inkless that you're going to need is organic fertilizer will just an improvement there an organic food it's anything that contains the nutrients that keeps me healthy such an important aspect of our lives the food that we take in I've talked about it over and over again on this show this assistance that help us to uh improve that situation as well very interesting material jaspera on the other side I want to ask you about the status of the River City the hydrogen project and what the roadblocks are are to its implementation stay with us everyone we're talking to Jasper Jones of the River City the hydrogen project during Philadelphia we'll be right back after these words [Music] stay asleep Oh bad what do you look Civic with these eyes it's what we see when he looks addicted sunglasses we see the same things all the way through the subliminal sympathy birthday that we depend [Music] welcome back everyone listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcast and today on the show we're talking to Jasper Jones of the River City to hydrogen project here in Philadelphia and the common number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the Colin number eight six six eight four one one zero six five we'll be taking your calls during the second hour of today's show call in get in the queue if you have any questions for Jasper about the technology about the River City the hydrogen project you're welcome to call in and ask away so Jasper we were getting into the status of this project here in Philadelphia how is it going toward being implemented here in the city let me take you back to 2007 when I started talking to a certain councilman about this technology and I was going to discover that the city engineer's were unaware of this technology existing in being off-the-shelf and being in reality and you find elements of a being fine attested technologies that are 100 years old one of the things that happened was that the councilmen took some of the engineers over to the hydrogen house in Jersey a design-build engineer and built the house that was running on hydrogen and I was told after they went to the house because the councilmen believe me because he knew me from some other things that yes we could convert Philadelphia to hydrogen after three hours of talking to the design bin engineer that built the hydrogen house they came back to the councilman and said yes we could convert to hydrogen now remember now these are the guys that are in charge of this process and fell off it but telling the councilmen that they didn't believe that we could convert to hydrogen as to the level of the problem that we've had to overcome and getting to the point where getting people mobilized to call their council people and tell them is enough when we convert now because they're tired obtain these ridiculous fossil fuel prices now remember now this is going on in an environment with you that president after president say we need to end the addiction to fossil force but here in Reichle on the ground situation these guys who are in charge of our energy system here haven't even become aware of the existence of this technology and like you said it's over a hundred years old it's just a refinement and extension of technologies that Tesla himself was working on over 100 years ago exactly so aside from the educational aspect of I guess you could say resistance to this or challenges to this project being implemented have there been any other roadblocks thrown up yeah basically there's a guy going around from the oil guy going around offering up resources to the elected officials to privatize the gasps Khloe gasps works which would immediately quadruple the price of the costs of gas and then set up the situation it really is unconstitutional in that the asset belongs to the people of fall-off here and it's supposed to be used to get maximum benefit which is why I was going through this education process with the people in charge of the infrastructure utility to educate them to the fact that for the people are for you to get the maximum benefit from their gas works they need to convert to hydrogen cuz never again the cost of methane fossil fuels be cheap it's got to keep increasing because people in the world was reached in 2007 and in America peak production was reached in 1970 if no years since 1970 has been more gas or oil than produced in the United States and this fracking nonsense which is no calling is nonsense it has the unbelievable side effect of destroying water table and again in three days without water you're dead right so and in Pennsylvania under Article 27 the people are do pure water the water is suppose it's a right so the government actually exceeded its authority when they authorized the fracking process to begin in Pennsylvania without doing a study to see if the taxpayer money and in taxpayer money had to be invested to create infrastructure to get the gas out if investing in some other energy technology would be more sustainable and not impact the air or the war and that other technology is what we're talking about it is it is absolutely ridiculous for us to continue this dangerous and polluting practice of fracking that's already polluting the existing water table and putting radiation into the water table it's unbelievable the things that are being done through fracking when technology like this has been readily available for decades exactly business the problem the guys I work with some this gave up because one of the other technologies that we haven't even touched on that the dream team is involved with involves again Tesla turbines generating but luckily depolymerization a hot gas flow that turns of the turbine and these technologies are really findings again of Tesla's invention of the turbine and they have zero pollution footprint and it will generate electricity from renewable sources without endangering the environment just as Tesla predicted that's why he made this technology his focus was keeping the earth a place where you would want to live with these devices improving your life it Tesla was just so far ahead of his time in so many ways I mean I think it's great that we kind of transitioned the Tesla conference the Tesla science conference into something that involved all forms of alternative energy resources that could be being implemented it's it was this year's conference was something that was uh in many ways bigger than Tesla it was all about hidden and occulted energy sources and technologies that haven't seen the light of day because of certain vested corporate interests and now you know we had everything there from rife technology to antigravity to something like this that is based in hydrogen and existing Tesla technology that again people just simply aren't aware of they haven't done the the homework they haven't read the literature that's out there they they haven't really gotten into the mindset of someone like a Tesla a genius like him who really understood that energy is really all around us in abundant quantities and it's it's just up to us to tap into that in a safe way in an effective way in a way that doesn't degrade the living planet on which we depend for life which is a living organism as well the other reason that the subtracting thing is ridiculous human by generates methane gas as a part of this processes as well right you'll hear anybody talking about capping human beings to get the methane gas right right and that's basically the in terms of the finality what we're doing with our planet which is a living organism and the other technology that people don't understand is nuclear energy thing it's just a Tesla turbine and again that has fission material generating steam to power a turbine now there actually is available how did you modules that generate heat that could be poor allow you to pull the nuclear hot box out and replace it with a hydrogen box that is the other green technology that is not understood it is available but the question is can we get enough people being among the eclectic officials calling them signing petitions can get this transition underway be because what people need to understand is that money is for in the political process it was really holding up this process financing is available because of the worldwide pollution process that fossil fuels has created through verifiable mission rough reductions certification process so once we get the political people to say go ahead do it we're interested Philadelphia the citizens are full off of it only their gas works only a waterworks and are the biggest stockholders and pìkô because it used to be a hundred percent owned by the sea full of you before they because T soon will be sold off like this Jasper hold it right there we'll continue this conversation on the other side of the break we're coming up to the second hour of the program for today taking your calls on the other side ladies and gentlemen if you have any questions for Jasper Jones of the River City the hydrogen project all in and ask we'll be right back everyone stay with us [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show we're talking to the river city the hydrogen Dream Team senior consultant engineer Jasper Jones River City the hydrogen project here in Philadelphia is attempting to convert our electrical generating system here in Philadelphia to a hydrogen basis and this would be able to stop fracking this will be able to help clean up the environment through the way it intelligently puts our sewage to use as a means of energy and it's basically would require a very little in the way of a redesign of existing infrastructure because it would use the free flow of water and sewage that already exists here in the city of Philadelphia so Jasper um I have a question for you on this saw this really this technology doesn't require any combustion as I understand that is that correct now that's what's interesting about this the technology of which is the intelligent technology is not involve combustion that's been certified to run by the different viewing agencies which was mixes unique the electrolysis of water the super electrolysis of water uses a ceramic screen haploid screen and it doesn't require in hazardous material in the process unlike some of the other technologies as well the Eco art technology as an improvement to not cause any harm to the water habitat of marine life so we have here pollution free combustion - that's respective say you can locate this in an urban environment because it's low heat and low pressure you and I would say that's one of the hallmarks of new energy systems in general is that they're not really based on explosive technologies like nuclear energy or like combustion technologies as we use them in in engines today for our cars etc these are technologies that basically work through I guess you could call it a symbiosis an existing energy that is already there that you're gently tapping into as a float as opposed to exploding things exploding matter to basically tap into that of that explosive form of energy that really is wasteful and you doesn't nearly have the amount of efficiency as something like this what's important to understand is that you're not destroying the environment these technologies were actually enhancing the environment with these technologies and one that we've given short trophy was the thermal hydrogen technology which replaced the nuclear facility that's important because unbeknownst to most people uranium is reaching peak production it's gonna be problems with supply that starting next year it's been predicted so not only could this system move us away from the existing polluting basis of our electrical generation not only would it move us away from fracking but it can also reduce our dependency on on nuclear energy as well it's not correct yes because remember now when you're talking about with nuclear energy is steam heated by fission material generating heat that converts water to steam so you can replace that each box this behavior is generation droplet we need to be looking at that and the amount of energy Jasper hold it right there worked up this was a short segment we'll be coming right back after this break I want to ask you about how people in this area can get involved in this project and can support it so we'll talk about that on the other side of the break stay with us everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening our special guest today Jasper Jones of the River City the hydrogen project we'll be right back ambu [Music] behind the girl I'll make my finals day [Music] that's why they told me welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark Cassio my website what on earth is happening dot-com today on the show I'm interviewing Jasper Jones of the River City to hydrogen project here in Philadelphia Jasper I have another question for you I'm telling listeners how they can get involved in in support of this great project here in Philadelphia if they're in the Philadelphia area what can they do to get involved with making River City to hydrogen a reality well we can sign the petition our petitions that Khan's last petition /r c th which is a petition for electronic petition is online which they can sign they can contact us by sending us an e-mail to the philadelphia new majority counsel which is part of the crop action team which is involved with educating people on their rights because that was the other thing that I discovered that I had to get involved with to get people to understand that they own the government they own all the natural resources let me quote this from the Pennsylvania Constitution all power is inherent in the people and all free governments are founded on their authority and this to you for their peace safety and happiness for the Advancement of these and other they have a at all times an embeddable individual right to alter reform abolish their government in such manner as they may think proper that is from the Pennsylvania Constitution is actually the duty of people to monitor what's going on with the government because under Article 27 which I discovered no nobody knew about in Philadelphia the people have a right to clean air pure water into the preservation of the natural scenic historical and aesthetic guidance of the environment Pennsylvania's public natural resources are a common property of all the people including generations yet to come as trustees of these resources the Commonwealth's your conserve and maintain them for benefit of all the people what that means is that the government doesn't have the authority to use the assets of the people in any way that does not give them a benefit and we see the opposite of that happen their different use of government money or money to put in place the infrastructure to do fracking is the net the net result is a net negative because you've only can frack once in when the fracking process is finished you've disturbed the water table for 10,000 years to take 10,000 years while the table to come back and that's from a multi-million dollar study that was good looking into this problem after the fact and not because this article requires right and these articles are actually in the Pennsylvania Constitution requiring such clean technologies to be implemented and they're breaking their own law there they're completely ignoring the constitution of this state that's correct right that conversation never been had it mainstream media and technically that's that's criminal you know they're they're taking an oath of office to that Constitution and then they're completely ignoring it and that's basically acting in a criminal capacity that is correct and that turn for this offense is treason right it doesn't have a statute of limitations so um to go back to a citizen involvement how could people actually get involved you have something that you call the community rebirth organization plan or crop for short would you like to explain that to the listening audience yes the community we were organization planning action team looked at all of the things the seven right now those seven things that we mentioned at the beginning of the show and said how do we educate people so that they realize that they don't have to take this stuff didn't man in China and not in Europe by the way in Europe only owned the crown bank money they locked you up and people need to understand and be educated so we created that infrastructure and people can get involved with that infrastructure by sending us an email to Philly n MC at yahoo.com that's asking for Jasper Jones and send you information on the new majority council process and I'll be happy to send it to you and it talks about educating people on the constitution because one of the things I did not see a single time occur is someone to read the Constitution over the Eider that listening world is in mainstream media and that's critical for people to understand that they have a right and duty to take action on these issues because it's hurting them even more importantly it really the the elected officials that are acting in completely illegal capacities really need to understand that that document is supposed to have placed restraints upon what they may and may not do and actually it's also basically dictating to these efficiencies elected officials quote unquote what they must do for their constituency in if they're to fulfill that the oath of that office and they're not doing that clearly they're completely ignoring that they're completely uh you know flaunting that oath that they took and just saying well we can basically step in here and take over and do whatever we want and you know as long as people don't hold them to account that that dynamic is going to get worse not better that is correct and that's why we created the community rebirth organization plan the crop action team to provide access to websites and information and to educate people on the technologies that could change the quality of our life and then can you go back to the future that's what I'm okay I actually remember before stuff really got bad here in Philadelphia and they essentially the government worked for the benefit of the people and they have a green program whether they didn't have the word then blood and fell off here the garbage that you produced in your home you put it in a separate bucket and people came over from Jersey they picked it up and they said at the hogs in Jersey then they sent the Hogs back to slaughter houses in Philadelphia and that's how we got a meatpacking industry on the glass and the cans put in a separate thing and that was fed to our glass and steel industries to be recycled paper was packaged up separate and I was sent to recycling for the manufacture of packaging material because we had a big food packing industry and for office in that's their duty that was the that happened because they passed zoning to make that happen that's when the people in the government were doing a job and he got away from that and maybe King the government began essentially doing the kinds of things that they're doing now they don't really benefit the people because the people stop mean talk about their constitution and what bid duties were as citizens to make this to make the government work for them it's so true and only we can really turn this around you know we have to actually step up and take action and get involved that's why things like the the Tesla energy independence celebrations are so important here in Philadelphia because they bring great projects like this to the attention of the public so we'll continue to talk about this solution on the other side of the break my guest today is Jasper Jones of the river city the hydrogen project here in Philadelphia stay with us everyone we'll be right back [Music] alright ladies and gentlemen we're back to call in number to talk to Jasper Jones eight six six eight four one one zero six five eight six six eight four one one zero six five you call then you'll go right to the top of the line we don't have any callers as of yet if you have any questions you could also type them into the chat room at Walmart is happening calm slash radio the radio show page and I'll do my best to field questions from that area as well Jasper I'm continuing to talk about a movement on the part of the people to get involved in implementing technology such as this that are sustainable and clean well you do have a petition online too for people to sign to get this to push this forward here in Philadelphia you want to tell listeners a little bit about that yes I petitions calm / petition so that's our cth today you'll find River City to hydrogen competition the electronic petition for people to son in support of moving away from fossil fuels using the River City to hydrogen technology super electrolysis super seeing reformatting which will give us energy sovereignty for Philadelphia absolutely not our energy sovereignty and put that money into the stream not our community so people can afford it let me repeat that via URL real quick for folks it's I petitions dot-com / petition /r c th i'll post a link with the podcast as well but once again it's i petitions dot-com / petition /r c th river city to hydrogen you can go there if you want to support this effort to have the River City the hydrogen project implemented here in Philadelphia okay Jasper you can continue okay you send me an email to PLO I in MCA yankem that's our outreach email for people to want to receive information on our mobilization strategies for people to begin exercising their constitution right to freedom people have forgotten that there in the United States with these great constitutions that make you the citizens the collected coins and coins kings and kings of society unlike other societies in the world they have Kings and El Presidente's in America under a great constitutions two people are the kings and queens collectively we are sovereign and we need to start acting like it exactly and this also is a great segue into the other issue that we were talking about bananas the indigenous culture versus the Imperial culture in a digital society all citizens were sovereign right and the environment is sovereign and that everything that we do in indigenous society is in harmony with the earth and in indigenous society that existed here there was no pollution prisons of poverty prior to the advent of the Imperial culture that's right now I'm Jasper just to give folks a brief background we were discussing this off the air you sent me some documentation on the River City to hydrogen project and the crop initiative the crop noon deal now in one of these documents I believe it was a crop New Deal show introduction you had outlined some of the guidelines for behavior that are shared amongst indigenous cultures and there were ten of these guidelines and I just struck me as very profound when I read them with your permission maybe I'll post some of these documents to the podcast with this podcast on my website uh if you want these distributed in any kind of a wider sense I'm willing to do that and post them up to my website it's up to you I'll talk about that with you off the air afterwards but um if you wanted to do that I mean these concepts we've now entered with our people called via forth Pro yes in the fourth crow period is we seek to restore the environment and restore Liberty and that's rx parity and health to the planet which is a living being into all living beings on the planet to a process of introducing people to the hidden indigenous culture which has been an interesting experience for me being born on the third crow where we were required to hide because people didn't understand our society so the other tenants have been kept sort of in hiding they've been suppressed and kept underneath the surface but now the you know we're trying to bring these are these ideals back up above the surface and help them to thrive exactly because this technology which is what in leading the effort to get people off of fossil fuels which is an environmentally destructive technology so these are right these are guidelines that can help us in our daily life to basically exercise our sovereignty and then help to put our knowledge into action in the world such that we can develop solutions such as of these technologies exactly it basically begins the process of teaching people the concept underlying overarching concept with this is that you can't even money right and that's right in western Pennsylvania found that out when they to their horror look and saw that the streams have been poisoned and all the fish had died right they realized it we've been tricked so we've sort of saved the the deepest effort for the end here I guess you could say this is really the underlying fundamental philosophy that underlies your drive to implement such projects without a fair assessment every a fair assessment and that I was raised up under this in the indigenous culture where which is basically operates under the great law of peace and love which is a better translation into English where you respect everything the environment and your sense of the show love which is in Christianity that's basically God is a God of unconditional love in terms of dr. Samuel West who pioneered an explanation how the cell functions discovered that the cellular pump which is basically a hydrogen energy process receives an energy contribution that can only be come from God to actually make it work in this concept of expecting the environment loving one another creates at love potential in the environment and you should be living in working with technologies that are compatible with love of the environment and that's what we're talking about here hydrogen technology the Age of Aquarius because if you want to think about it we're talking about here is getting our power from water right we get our power from water we have no pollution and the intelligent echnology creates organic fertilizer so we have an abundance of food and Jasper think about it water symbolically has always represented care it has represented the spiritual aspect of our existence exactly we want to get people to understand it what we're talking about here not only transforming the energy infrastructure but transforming the way people think in that this transformation to this to these technologies open up the possibility of unlimited abundance as we get people to understand that we're living allowing ourselves to be ruled over by people that don't respect Constitution that's really the problem here we are not respecting the existing Constitution they are applying concepts from an alien culture Earl Anthony United States to this situation you cannot eat money if you you've let go on fossil fuels switch over to these technologies in Philadelphia which is the first free city state to break away it's on the Imperial Europe system then you will have prosperity give Jasper hold it right there we're going to be taking another short break when we come back I'd like you to present to the listeners a little bit about the guidelines for behaviors that are taught in these indigenous cultures if you listed ten of them in the document maybe perhaps we can go over those and I do have some questions from the chat room that I'd like to get to as well so that will be coming up when we come back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening with my special guest Jasper Jones we'll be right back [Music] alright ladies and gentlemen we're back you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host Mark Hasse oh my guest today Jasper Jones of the River City the hydrogen project here in Philadelphia we were talking before the break about some of the philosophies that underlays of the technology that we've been talking about and jasper follows some indigenous guidelines for behavior and these are really what drives his intent these are what drives his actions to do something like what he's attempting to implement here in Philadelphia so I'd like to just briefly read for you these 10 guidelines for behavior that are practiced in these indigenous cultures and I want you to take a really good listen to how these completely overlap and have such significant parallels to all of the things that we've been talking about on what on earth is happening for the past 2 2 years ok so here they are these are these indigenous guidelines for behavior number 1 remain close to the Great Spirit Almighty God the Great Spirit ladies and gentleman spirit because of the decline of spirit the connection to spirit that's why we're in the circumstance the precarious circumstance that we are in as a species so that's number one is remain close to that Great Spirit to treat the earth and all that dwell therein with respect treat the earth and all that dwell therein with respect 3 show great respect for your fellow beings for work together for the benefit of all mankind 5 give assistance and kindness were ever needed 6 do what you know to be right do what you know to be right 7 look after the well-being of mind and body mind and body eight dedicate a share of your efforts to the greater good nine be truthful and honest at all times and ten take full responsibility for your actions take full responsibility for your actions I mean I I couldn't put any better I wholeheartedly agree with that philosophy on life and that those indigenous guidelines for behavior if we practice them and if we put them into practice in our daily lives we wouldn't be beset with the problems that this species is beset with in our current time we wouldn't have the convergence of all the possibilities for disaster that we have right now taking place on this planet we would be living a existence that is in harmony with the laws of nature and ultimately we would not be creating the self-inflicted suffering that we see all around us right now in our day and age so Jasper I'd like to get your comments on those guidelines for behavior that you sent over to me earlier in the week and they disrupt me is so profound I had to bring them up on the air well let me tell you about what I was raised up I actually was taken out into the a my park and into the area down south by my grandparents and I was actually instructed that all of this stuff was created by God and that it all has a mission and my job was behind what the mission of everything was and with harmony with it the actual instructions given to me as a child and one of the other things that I was taught by my deaf father who was a McArthur Marine was how to defend myself and not to take to do the right thing if people don't do the right thing with you that you should deal with them accordingly so that you would be a man basically Atlas it training to live life in harmony with the environment and do to the right thing and to show love for one another and our family and clan that's basically what these rules are about the layout a pattern of life with you except that all existence can you come a creator and that he wants you to live in harmony and love in your life and then you may encounter people that disagree with this but you should be hold steadfast so he's this way of life because in the end the Great Spirit is over you and I find people have problems with that I've been in vigeous imperial religious institutions and the people have a tendency to believe that they're on a power of God in that they have right that from larger brain doesn't exist that's right and that's part of the biggest reason why we're facing the challenges that we're facing as a species because very unfortunately people really think that uh you know they can step on other people's rights with impunity that they can act as a God on earth and not you know control other people and attempt to maintain that control and not just a completely treadle and every but everyone else's natural rights all around them so um these ten guidelines I just think are really from the heart and really on how to display a deep understanding of what I have called natural law which I'm increasingly beginning to simply call spiritual law you know that this higher power that exists above us that operates at all times and places and it's really up to us to understand what those laws are so that we can align our behaviors to them align our actions to them so that we're not creating suffering for ourselves these laws aren't any kind of confines or imprisonment these laws are there for our greater benefit and if we simply open our minds and we'll will come into harmony with them yes one of those the laws did run into all the time because I do noted naturopathic work which is one of the things that Tesla was into right this is energy therapy yes people don't know that if you fail to take care of the body if you put garbage in you become garbage because you be you become everyday but you think eat drink inhale and don't eliminate that's right so you have to follow and become conscious of the mind and body so that you don't pollute the body to the point where your it becomes an unfit home for human spirit and something else will move in that's exactly right see that we see that going on all around us and yeah it took me a while to get that one I started to get it when I was out in South Central LA trying to stop the ninety two dozen and after going through an only ridiculous experience over an 18-month period we've helped thousands of people and got a coalition together the people said oh we want this stuff we did to the last guy because the protocols of the federal government you have to have the last highest level official can send a letter saying they want the waiver program to come in the highest level official asked the community leader who was the no bribe man for bribe and my presence that of course was like studying experience considering what I was working on and that's when I began to look at really closely the difference between indigenous and material society because if the man was from indigenous society he would have known that you know you can't eat money it'd be much better if we improve the conditions in our community so we can all live in peace and harmony and prosperity and him just getting a bribe Jasper related to the guidelines for behavior I have a question from the chat room and it's about care do you see care on the part of the general population on the rise of in relation to the implementation of such technologies do you see people getting involved more do you see them caring about the this technology more I see some people but most people are ignorant technology there was six illiteracy from that I discovered going around the country working on coming up with a mock national model for which is based on the energy technology for rehabilitating the disaster areas like Philadelphia and people didn't have spiritual literacy they have technological literacy and he didn't have basic literacy the most definitely one was spiritual literacy because he has spiritual literacy then you understand the need for these cleaning technologies and the answer is with people that know spirituality and understand technology those people are getting involved with the general public this engineering these things you know they're not getting involved that's why we have to have people who are conscious to begin to try and educate their fellow citizens because we don't have much time to put this stuff in place that's running with a downward trend gets so passed so much momentum a little bit of turnaround jasper someone also asked for links to information about the technological processes can we give the websites I believe one was off for a proton on site yeah if you google proton one site or intelligent those web sites pretty well come up right I can give them I can give them over the air right now and I'll link them with the podcast proton on site calm and intelligence calm i end te ll er gy in each hour jus calm those will be linked with the podcast as well for people to check out the technologies on their own we have one more segment coming up with our special guest Jasper Jones stay with us everyone you listen to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm this is the last segment for this edition of the show we're talking to Jasper Jones of the River City the hydrogen project here in Philadelphia Jasper we have a couple other comments from the chatroom and we do have a caller on the line so one of the comments in the chat room was have you ever thought of trying to pitch this idea in your in the European Union because they seem to be a little bit more eco tech friendly or eco tech oriented have you ever thought of possibly attempting that to take this idea overseas and reviewing access to finance one of the things that's available is finance from European foreign banks for this project they actually have an allocation of green project money allocated to United States projects if we can get the city of Fall Out the government to just say they are interested in this financing through European sources believe it or not it's available Wow curious about the situation so they're willing to throw money behind this but but the city of Philadelphia just needs to show the interest that's right wow it's is off the shelf patented technology let me see that again off the shelf patented technology there's no them configured in this way that we have put forward before this is what makes this a unique project so now there's no time an intelligent and configured their technology focusing around their primary technologies what I did as a configuration management engineer is brought in additional technologies did when you bring these technologies together you implement them in a systematic fashion you get a synergetic effect and because all of these technologies are patented and produced meet all the requirements of glean the Clean Development Mechanism of United Nations and the green tag markers they call them emission reduction credit certificates whatever name you want to use a lot of that financing is through European financial markets and European banks is readily available very interesting another comment from the chat do you think that this technology can come about without a massive insurgence of disapproval of big oil on the part of the general population all the general population and the general population that we're talking about it the city of Philadelphia right residents and citizens is to call City Council and say they've had enough right now there's a full of energy authority that's been created and what currently they were created for from what I could see was to cover the right cover for them privatizing the gas works in spite of knowing about this technology because the impediment offered resources from the big oil lobby of course essentially the only thing that the citizens have to do is stand up now and act like citizens if the people stand up now because this technology is off the shelf that financing is available we can lower the gas bills keep the money in throughout the county create a boom it's important that people understand that it's a local County there were one out of five jobs caused from the manufacturing sector and then being held back by having a peg for expensive energy and we can fix that and in the coming third Industrial Revolution which involves 3d printing technology the technologies that we're talking about implementing here will provide an abundant supply of composite carbon powder type materials that are needed to provide the raw materials for that industry to have a boom so real people be providing that to our industry and create a boom so that citizens have a self interest at this point and standing up and acting like sovereign and stepping to the City Council you notice it's like we've said here on what on earth is happening in numerable times it's all about really saying no to what you know to be wrong it's about saying no to what you know to be destructive to what you know to be counterproductive to human evolutionary progress and if we don't say no we're tacitly sitting by and really saying yes to this continued environmental degradation and continuing corruption that's going on keeping these are these are existing systems that really can be implemented immediately of from coming to fruition so unless we say no to those old outmoded systems and we put pressure on everyone around us to wake up understand what is possible look into it for yourself understand the science behind it and know that it's just a matter of willpower to make this occur you know nothing's going to change magically on its own people have to get involved in some capacity if they just send me an eating on the Philly NMC at yahoo.com requesting information on River City the hygiene program action plan I'll send it to them if they go to the petition and sign it if they talk to their friends you can even leave me a message at 2:06 two or three 26 61 206 203 26 61 I'm happy to get back to you on this issue because we are at critical mass people don't understand how bad the situation is yes the rural financial markets are still in turmoil but this particular market because people in Europe which is something I was alluding to understand how bad the situation more people have died from heat waves in Europe and here in the United States so people in those markets those markets are becoming stronger every year for the type of instrument verified emission reduction instruments that this project creates and so we have the opportunity now but we need to start this process because this will be a national model for every rid of River City in the United States and think about it folks every major city in the United States is a river city so we need to do this and I problem I'll also make those resources available on the site so people can click those links and check out the technology and sign the petition etc this is this for our people this is called the fourth crow and this will heal the Earth making these green technologies that are green and clean that spread the wealth around because one of the projects elements for long term capital finance is to take in thick gasworks and water department to bind them in to the Philadelphia energy and water works and turn it into a direct customer own people own it now but you can restructure it into a modern structure rather than what it is now which is the terror state or socialist corporation in propriety they're turning into an actual modern-day capitalist cooperative structure cooperative structures that utilize modern administrative protocols is what we must move to if we're going to get the full benefit from what we own in our utilities Jasper let's press squeeze in a quick call here we go Richard from Washington you're live on what on earth is happening you have a question for mr. Jasper Jones yeah I'm fully supporter supporting of what Jess was doing and I totally support indigenous guidelines and now that you've restated it the spiritual laws and what I'm saying is is in the hope that we can accomplish what he's trying to accomplish what he has to understand is some zoo says you have to know your enemy your enemy is now the corporations and the Constitution's the Constitution's were not what our founding fathers gave us they were created to enslave us a constitution by definition uses the people the corporation is defined as the people it's not the human beings you're talking about the people are the board of directors which enslave us and some less you understand su you you can't withdraw from the Constitution's which are both the state of Philadelphia or Stata Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia you have to start afresh and get out of that system to be successful machine they've tried to draw us into that corporate system by defining us as employees of that corporation your respondents about Jasper well if you look at the Pennsylvania Constitution which is a more true translation of the protocols of the Confederation but then Franklin it actually has in there in article 27 that the people the people own all the natural resources and the resources are to be used in maximum benefit and the government is just a trustee of those resources what has happened which is correct and that they have tricked people and the day is to crown preparations in to become an employee of a crown corporation in the original government process which is the government is only trustee and the people are inside has been subverted Jasper FATA and fascinating and an incredible show that's all unfortunately the time we have for today I want to thank you so much for coming on and being a great and informative guest here on what on earth this happened thank you so much Jasper thank you will it be a pleasure absolutely ladies and gentlemen Jasper Jones of the River City to hydrogen project here in Philadelphia I'll post a bunch of resources with the podcast to go along with this show check it out and see you here next week ladies and gentlemen thanks for listening [Music] you

two hours of the the second and third hour of their broadcast and we talked a little bit about the tragic events that went down in Colorado from an esoteric or a cult perspective and that show will be archived in the news section this week so look for that you can download the mp3 the podcast to go along with that show I'll be posting it in the next couple of days also the truth freedom prosperity documentary night here in Philadelphia will be happening this Thursday evening July 26th this month were showing a film called war on health the fda's cult of tyranny as always the truth freedom prosperity documentary night happens on the last Thursday of every month here in the city of Philadelphia at a seen market and cafe that is on 719 South fourth Street that's the corner of 4th and Monroe streets in Philadelphia just south of South Street and the war on health is just a phenomenal documentary it's a documentary that details the FDA agenda and its allegiance with the international Codex Alimentarius both of which really are hoping to establish a monolithic food and drug health regime so-called health regime really they're all about the destruction of human health as we've talked about in the past on this show and this will be a great documentary evening coming up this Thursday night with a discussion to follow I have a huge announcement for today before we get into the subject matter actually before I do that I want to thank my guest from last week Jasper Jones from the River City to hydrogen project that was a great interview and anybody who missed it and go back and check it out in the archives at show number 116 and of course thank you to everybody involved with the Tesla Science Foundation and the Nikola Tesla energy independence celebrations for 2012 two weeks ago of course I had a live broadcast from that event if you missed that that was show 115 and you can go back into the podcast archive that what on earth is happening to check that out I interviewed 10 guests from the conference on that show so today we're going to be picking up with our regularly scheduled deep programming we're going to be going back into the non-supportive dominators but specifically we're going to be talking about the occult mockery of police and military actually continuing this topic we've already been on that topic for a couple of weeks before I took the interlude with the Tesla event and the interview with Jasper Jones last week so today will be resuming my breakdown of the occult mockery of police and military personnel through the symbolism that is employed against them the subversive symbolism that is used to ritualistically mock them that's coming up today on the show but before we do that I have a gigantic announcement I actually announced this for the first time last night on a truth frequency but I'll be announcing it right now for the first time on what on earth is happening ladies and gentlemen there will be a second free your mind conference that's right free your mind to will be taking place right here in the city of Philadelphia on April 19th 20th and 21st 2013 that's Friday Saturday and Sunday April 19th 20th and 21st 2013 here in Philadelphia no other details as of just yet details will be forthcoming I'm working on building a new website for the free your mind conference dot-com page and I'll be archiving the former material the 2011 material it looks like we're going to be able to have this conference probably every other year we'll do it on the odd years and we actually had our first organizational meeting yesterday and it went really well and you know we're looking at all the different logistics necessary to make this occur so check out free your mind conference calm over the next week it will be changing somewhat because I'll be putting the new interface up but right now you can see the old website for free your mind conference calm with all of the videos for all of the speakers up there from the conference from 2011 so that's the big announcement to free your mind to 2013 April of 2013 here in the city of Philadelphia watch for the the website details coming up over the next couple of weeks we'll be announcing speakers as we book them we'll be announcing a venue we don't have a venue yet but we will be announcing one shortly and we'll be announcing how you can get tickets to this great event ok so I'd like to direct everyone's attention of course to my website what on earth is happening dot-com and there underneath the player for today's the player for the radio show you will see images for today's show and under that you will see the slideshow images that we're going to be discussing today continuing to discuss for the occult mockery of police and military personnel there are 148 images that go with the entirety of this talk we're somewhere around image number 40 I believe I believe we left off with images number 40 and 41 at the end of the show three weeks ago if you missed the the lead-up to this the two shows before that which I believe were 113 and 114 began this discussion on the occult mockery of police and military personnel this is somewhat of a review in some sections because there's prerequisite material to understand some of this symbolism so again I'm putting this down for the record in this format so some of it may be review what wasn't review really is some of the things that I talked about at the end of show number 114 which was an expose of the Faustian pentagram and that's kind of where we left off that show so I'm going to pick it up from there as we saw the inverted pentagram is used when it to police and military we saw it at the White House with the commander-in-chief's office the commander-in-chief of the the Armed Services in the United States his office being at the White House the president the executive branch of the government and we saw the Faustian pentagram situated in the street plan of Washington DC directly north of the White House with the middle point the downward point of the inverted Faustian pentagram pointed directly at the White House this symbol is a symbol of war the North has always been associated with the god Belial and the the concept of war and aggression and as we said this is the center of the imperialistic aggression in the United States so it's very fitting that this symbol were was chosen for you know such a an office to be encoded into the street plan we talked about what the Faustian pentagram was how it is a pentagram of pacts is really what it is and I would suggest that the broken arm ultimately symbolizes that the pact of the dark forces within government agencies and the entities that these occult powers really believe in when some would say worship but you could say call upon for their power you know for their influence over the minds of people I would suggest that that really represents that that that pact is not really fully um has not been fully expressed it has not been it has not come to its conclusion there is still I guess you could say powers being turned over to the people who were seeking them but the fullness of that pact is has not been sealed as of yet represented by the broken arm of that pentagram and we looked at Manley P halls interpretation of this symbol this was on image number 39 so we move dawn from there after breaking down what the Faustian pentagram was and represented on that show and we can move we began to move to other examples of the inverted pentagram in police and military symbolism we looked at one of the most obvious to some some people will say oh it's just a Pentagon but really we have to understand the usage of symbolism through negative space this is how a cultists really love to use symbolism in many cases and the negative space that we're talking about here is the hub of an inverted pentagram which is what the Pentagon is you know I really think if it wasn't so blatantly obvious they just would have went ahead and made it an inverted pentagram for this building but they figured well that's a little bit too obvious so let's do the next best thing and take the the central hub shape you know of the inverted pentagram and make that the symbol of the shape of our building where we're going to wage war and imperialism from so if you look at image number 41 it is an animated gif showing how perfectly within the center of an inverted pentagram the Pentagon building actually fits it's an exact fit the dimensions are precise so I would suggest that certainly not accidental and there is a cult symbolism through the use of negative space being employed here if you even look in the center of the Pentagon there's another Pentagon in the negative space they love that use of negative space we saw that with the army 5 point of five-star generals emblem which is the inverted pentagram employed through the use of the negative space of the arrangement of the five stars another example of pentagonal symbolism where in general star symbol five-pointed star symbolism is the Fraternal Order of Police is logo shown in image number 42 I'm going to break this down later in the presentation on occult symbolism regarding military and police emblems because there's prerequisite understanding for this symbol there's gematria or a cultic numerology contained in this symbol as well as Masonic symbolism so I would just point it out that this is a cult symbolism being employed you of course see the all-seeing eye you see a Masonic grip being employed in the lower right hand arm of the pentagram the phrase yo speedo sliver Atum justice fidelity and liberty so I would suggest that the Fraternal Order of Police certainly represents none of those things although they're employing that were those that phrase on their emblem to try to reel people in to get them to think that that's what this somehow represents but in fact we'll see it's really the raising of duality over unity maintaining an us-versus-them mentality and keeping not only their members but the rest of the public confined to the Masonic floor of the house so we'll look at that after we break down some Masonic symbolism later in this talk a very obvious blatant example of the use of an inverted pentagram is the Victoria Police is emblem specifically as it is used in police hats in a Victoria Australia so if you look look at image number 43 right on the third eye or in other words between the third eye and crown chakras of the body meaning right in the middle of the forehead of the individual they're placing this inverted pentagram which we broke down earlier on I believe it will show one 1:14 we broke down the Victoria Police as emblem with the uphold the right and the crown above it as there there are word on the sachet below the inverted pentagram and I suggested that this is exactly telling people symbolically that they're upholding the the divine right to rule of the British crown they're not upholding the people's rights this is a about as blatant as it gets an inverted pentagram placed at the third eye chakra location this is blatant mockery of the person who's wearing this this is telling them we're putting the symbol of the inversion of spirits you know the raising of duality above unity right on your head right on as a matter of fact the place of the the awakening of spirit the third eye chakra and you know of course I would suggest that the heart really is the center of spirit but in conjunction with the balanced brain that's what's really opening care in conjunction with the balance of the brain is what's really opening our spiritual vision and that's represented by the third eye or the one eye the all-seeing eye and they're placing this satanic emblem directly at that location of the prefrontal cortex in other words right on the forehead of the individual it can't really get any more obvious to me but there are people who say this is coincidental I think the people who are making the symbolism know exactly what they are doing and are openly mocking police through the use of this symbolism on their body unfortunately because police and other members of the general public are completely symbol illiterate they can't see that mockery that is being done wordlessly because they're not initiated into such occult symbolism that's part of why I'm doing this presentation to try to help people become symbol literate so when they see these things they understand what they're really seeing they can read the language of symbolism so let's look at some one eye symbolism when it comes to police and military and really this is all relating to it's going to ultimately to money the 1i the fake one I that's why so many of these people continue to do what they're doing because that's their God that's what they worship you know they don't have any allegiance to truth they don't have any elite allegiance to freedom you know they they just take money for doing actions and that's it and unless that source of money dries up or stops flowing they're going to continue to be the puppet of whoever is commanding them so one eye symbolism is important not just for understanding it from a perspective of money but from a perspective of really seeing the positions that they're using some of this symbolism on because you'll see it use that that at the third eye location over and over again this is an accidental they know where to place something for to have the maximum effect synergistically in the the morphic field of the body you know this is this is a cult projection it's known as your you're projecting your symbolism in the location of the body where it is absolutely the most effective so you'll see symbols being used at the third eye location or in general what we're talking about is right up against the brain that's no accident either they're putting it on or around you know directly around the skull there that's a totally deliberate effort so that proximity is having an effect on the field of the body that you know proximity through through the form being present right near that energy vortex that is it within the body the chakra system the energy wheels we'll talk about that a little bit later on in today's show but let's take a look at all seeing eye symbolism in general we've gone over this actually many times on the show the all-seeing eye is in general the symbol of spiritual awakening people think that it means the dark occultus at the top of the food chain the dark aluminous --tz-- you know the Illuminati it does mean that in its negative connotation or interpretation because as we will see the Great Seal of the United States is a duel symbol we have seen this I've actually broken it down on a previous show I'll very briefly recap it because the all-seeing eye in the form of the grip the reverse of the Great Seal of the United States is depicted here in image number 45 of this slide show and you see it is above a pyramid with the capstone missing a work in progress in other words a stone pyramid not completed with 13 courses of brick leading up to the all-seeing eye in the sky behind the pyramid illuminating the scene with light and the the phrase annuit coeptis above and Novus Ordo seclorum on the banner below with a Roman numeral date MD CCL XXVI which is 1776 in Roman numerals the ostensibly explanation for the symbol of course is that the United States was built in 1776 it is a work in progress and it is aspiring to build up to you know to be more like the Creator more godlike etc and people miss translate the phrase below constantly as new order of the ages which is of course does not mean the phrase we've clearly demonstrated in the past on this show Novus Ordo seclorum does mean new order of the world new order of the universe it could mean it is new world order and I would suggest that this symbol is representing both the light new world order and the dark new world order it is a dual symbol and needs to be understood as such from an esoteric perspective and yes this is a Masonic symbol it represents all forms of masonry both light and dark and I'll explain that briefly annuit coeptis means he she or it favors our project or our enterprise or our work that is in progress okay it's a building project so the question becomes who favors it and the answer is it's either the god of creation who favors it or it's the god of destruction and favors it okay because if we're talking about light masonry building with light if we are working toward removing those barriers between the earth or then the inhabitants of the earth and the divine essence represented by the all-seeing eye we are taking those bricks down we are removing barriers bricks are barriers they are weight okay they are hardened calcified beliefs that get in our way and hold us back that block us they imprison us they keep the light out okay and keep us in our darkness in our mental bondage and that's what the bricks represent symbolically the object is to remove them or transform the bricks in the light so that there is no barrier between earth and the heavens okay in other words no barrier between being in the world and having higher consciousness being in the world but not of it understanding the higher self understanding the true aspects of the self so if we were to build with brick we would be blocking the light out from the scene okay we would be completing the male Dominator pyramid which is the blade symbol the upward pointing triangle only and that would be ultimately obscuring the light because if you finished this scene if you finished this pyramid with bricks and built it all the way up to the top the the light which is behind that pyramid okay would not come down to the earth it would be blocked you would not be able to see it from the perspective that you're looking at looking from this scene into so in image number 46 I basically put an Alex gray image here that's one of his paintings that shows the chakra wheels the chakra vortices in the body leading up to the third eye and the third eye is brightly illuminating the scene and the individual is awakened he has the illuminated halo around his head this is what this third eye assemble this one eye symbol means it represents the awakened center of the being the the the heart chakra coming on line in conjunction with the balanced brain to awaken the pineal gland and develop true spiritual insight within the individual this is a great representation of that and that is what that all-seeing eye actually does represents in the negative interpretation of the symbol it also does represent the hidden elite that is controlling things from behind the scenes the so-called elite the powers that shouldn't be okay they see themselves as God as the divine essence of this world that's the high and mighty image they have of themselves that have the divine right to rule over people because they think they're better than everyone else okay their intellect makes them the rulers of this world and they need to be able to rule unchallenged as God's here as gods on earth and therefore they're keeping others in the brick in the darkness okay in the weight of calcified belief systems that they propagate so that they can continue to horse hold the powers of God in their hands and you know hold that influence over others through mind control so yes you could see that symbol as representing the sorcerers of this world you know playing God here through manipulation so image number 47 really shows this dynamic of the light and dark new world order this is a this symbol is a transitional phase as we talked about you can go back in the archives and pull the shows where I talked about the all-seeing eye symbolism broke this symbol down extensively but it's really the world in transition okay and are we gonna continue to build with brick with ignorance okay creating more Blockheads you could look at it as people who are trapped in their belief systems in which case we're going to block out the true light of the Creator from this world and the hidden elite are gonna rule from behind the scenes a world of darkness and ignorance so that's what this animated GIF image in image number 47 is really all about for those of you who are following with the PDF document which is also listed there underneath the slideshow images you won't see the animation but you can on the slideshow images listed with 148 images image number 47 shows this animation I complete the pyramid to show you what the scene will look like in darkness okay and that's what we're trying to avoid we're trying to awaken the all-seeing eye we're trying to awaken the true center of spiritual vision within each individual to bring them online to what's really going on not only around them but within them themselves so if we do that we will build the world that is the light new world order where there is no boundaries where there are no bricks weighing us down where there is no prison being built all around us represented by those bricks and again this is always built in male dominator imbalance because the thirteen courses represent the Sun and the twelve houses of the zodiac it's purely solar symbolism only if there's extreme left brain imbalance is a Dominator Society going to be made and what we're talking about here is withdrawing our support from that Dominator culture and not falling into that state of extreme left brain imbalance through engaging in just intellect without wisdom you know without the creative and nurturing aspect of the Sacred Feminine right brain hemisphere so the all-seeing eye really represents the balance between those two hemispheres of the brain and you know being able to build the world that is balanced as a result of the people in it having a balanced expression of consciousness and that occurs through a balanced brain so the god of creation the true God of light favors the New World Order if the building project is to remove that pyramid of stone which represents ignorance and imbalanced toward the masculine left brain hemisphere of the brain this is represented this world is represented by the emblem that I created in image number 49 which I call one great work that's the work that is favored by the god of creation a world of truth love and freedom where there is only light where that ignorance has been removed and it doesn't exist in the world anymore there's no pyramid there's no prison Society okay it has been removed and there's unity consciousness if we look at the opposite the dark God okay the god of destruction and suffering once perpetual ignorant so it can rule from the shadows as the puppet master that it is this is represented in image number 49 I'm sorry 48 the one right before the one great work seal image number 48 shows that the sorcerer always wants to play God and work from behind the scenes hidden unseen and keep other people in his manipulation and he does that through money all the money's flowing toward him he's breathing in the money in this scene I don't know who painted this but whoever it is they understand this is a phenomenal image but we can't see the all-seeing eye the one eye symbol as just representing that dark side that's one component but again you need to see the Great Seal the reverse of the Great Seal as a duel symbol because in fact it is it is a symbol of the builders all builders we are all the builders of our experience collectively we all bring our contribution to the table to build the world and as we build it so shall we experience it therefore if we're we want to build wisely we will build with light and we'll build with knowledge and wisdom which is what light represents which is what that all-seeing eye represents if we want to build foolishly will build with brick and will block the light out and we'll stay in ignorance and we'll build a prison and we're well on our way toward doing that folks as I've said innumerable times it's going to take a colossal gargantuan Herculean effort of will to turn it around from where we're at right now just being honest but that's the dual symbol that the reverse of the Great Seal represents what we need to understand is what that all-seeing eye ultimately represents in its original unadulterated form is spiritual wisdom that the knowledge of ourselves as spiritual beings and being in the world but not of it being truly awakened it is the symbol of awakening and that's why they use it in the ways that they do they're putting it on something that they're giving to you in a this is talismanic magic this is ancient manipulation techniques in in it's mind control that's what money is it's an ancient talismanic mind-control technique to give somebody something and tell them you put a symbol on it that really has absolutely nothing to do with the real value of that you know talisman that you're handing them and in their mind though when they see the symbol there's this subconscious correlation to the symbology on that talisman and that goes right to the subconscious mind the subconscious or understands how the all-seeing eye symbol has been represented in and used and it understands what it truly represents it's like in our systemic ancestral memory it's encoded within us this is an archetypal form this symbol a triangle with an eye imbued with light you know bathing everything around it in light this is primal it's a primal archetypal image the subconscious we have this already programmed into us at a subconscious level to know what it represents and when somebody puts it on something that meaning that original unadulterated meaning is actually going right to our subconscious mind if we're not conscious of it it goes right into the subconscious mind if we don't have a working conscious understanding of the symbolism that's why it's so important to become symbol literate to understand the meanings and interpretations of these symbols throughout the ages if we don't have that framework for knowledge the subconscious mind is going to interpret it automatically it's going to automatically interpret it you're not going to interpret it at a conscious level you're going to interpret it from a subconscious and indeed an unconscious level and that's what they're doing with money that's why they put this symbol on the one dollar bill they're associating it with unity they're associating it with spiritual awakening they're associating it with balance most of all especially through the color green because green is the middle of the visible spectrum that's why green is used for money particularly in the United States especially in the United States but money the word as we see on image number 50 actually means one eye it actually if you would just break it down the word money is one mo n Mon mono is the prefix meaning one an ey at the end I we just pronounce it money but it's mom eye one eye okay phonetically there is no difference no variance that the mouth is making the same movements it's basically the same word with a different vowel sound in it the 1i is used on money this isn't an accident that the word is structured is patterned after one eye and there's a one eye symbol on the actual money the bill okay it's all there to put into your mind that this represents balance of the brain hemispheres it represents that the center of everything being the color green it represents the awakening process it represents unity consciousness oneness that's why it's on the one dollar bill not on any of the other bills the all-seeing eyes on the one there's a reason for all of that okay it's there to basically tell you that this bill this useless piece of paper that has no value it's not even worth the paper it's printed on represents all of those things and it represents none of those things zero none of them doesn't represent oneness it doesn't represent spiritual awakening it doesn't represent balance it doesn't represent care doesn't represent centeredness none of it none of those things it's all a proxy they're handing you the fake thing and symbolically telling you it's the real thing that's what it's for that's what a talisman does that's what dark talismanic magic is all about now I'm not saying there's no good use of talismans there are but that this is a dark usage of talent of a talisman which is what the one dollar bill is and this is people's God let's face it the reason we're in this mess as a species that humanity is even in the predicament that it's in is because money is people's God that's the the main overarching reason and they don't want to take personal responsibility for their actions that goes hand in hand with all of this you know somebody pays me know that they did it you know I'm just doing my job I'm being paid to do this by someone else so I completely unthinkable orders that's the Dominator mindset that's the puppet of the dominator mindset oh the one above me is really doing all of this you know we talked about trying to get out of personal responsibility trying to abdicate personal responsibility to someone else and it can never really be done but this is their this is what they try to argue that can be done you know it's just I'm just doing my job I'm following orders and of course that holds zero weight it should never be accepted as a justification for wrongdoing and doing harm to others yet there's still people who out there who believe that somehow makes it okay that you can go into an institution and say well they're gonna command me I'm not gonna exercise any judgement all my thinking gets turned off and I just act blindly I want to talk about acting without thinking or feeling in this presentation because that's a huge part of it and they they're mocking people symbolically as we'll see based on that very dynamic how you're an actor without thinking or feeling and the the dark occultists actually detest that more than anything else yes they are getting people to do those things but in other words they they have such a loathing for somebody who cares so little about themselves that that's how they would behave they just look at them as an animal as it's just less than an animal a lot of animals don't act like that you know they look at them as the lowest of the low the scum of the scum and in a lot of ways like I said I can't really hold I can't wholeheartedly disagree with their worldview when it comes to that I think people who act like that are trash it's a self-fulfilling prophecy you don't want to think for yourself you don't want to take responsibility for your actions that is the definition of a bad person that's what a bad person is ladies and gentlemen we should stop trying to allow these people off the hook by saying oh they didn't know or they were just following orders that the worst way of being that you could possibly be in the world that is the definition of a bad person that's what makes you a bad person is that you're an order follower the definition of a bad person I mean in simple terms is somebody who acts without thinking or feeling and that's what an order follower is you just act you don't you're not paid to think you're not paid to feel you know you just do because I said so and I'm paying you so you know money as this talismanic proxy occultic lee is used as the justification for this immoral behavior of dominators all over the world and I call it that's I'm showing a stack of different denominations of money from all over the world in image number 51 and then I overlay it in image number 52 with the phrase that this is the most powerful religion of this world and image number 53 I put really what it ultimately is is it's the god of this world this is what people worship as God money is the ultimate religion it is the ultimate unchallenged dogmatic belief system that operates worldwide it is the universal world religion and I would say right underneath that neck-and-neck with it is the second Universal world religion which is Authority the belief in authority that some people have authority over other people and can command them as masters you know can command their slaves as masters just because they're who they are they are in a position of authority this is also a universal religion both money and authority are completely illusory they're based an illusion they're based in a deranged imagination the the abbé use of imagination okay the dark usage of a gift that humanity has been given to improve itself and improve its conditions and improve our world and when we go into the abusive aspects of the imagination not using it wisely but using it foolishly we invent things and then started imbuing them with power through our belief and it turns into a religion and that's what money is and that's what authority is these are religions and in the true sense of the word the verb relig re and latin meaning to hold back or to thwart from forward progress the things that are ultimately thwarting this species from forward progress in consciousness from forward evolutionary progress is the religions of money and authority that's it money and government so money drives it all it's the god of this world this is what people have taken as their God and it here's a simple equation ladies and gentlemen it can't really get any easier than this if money is your God that equals you are slave and will forever remain a slave that's it that's an eternally true equation of the universe if you if money is your God and you worship money as your God you will forever remain a slave the end for all time it is that is what is that is the truth and that will never be a different way and unfortunately people actually take that deal and say as long as I have money obviously they love it they love this condition they love it the majority I tell people that and they get so angry when I say that to people how could you be so down on people mark how could you say that you don't give people enough credit you don't give people a chance let me tell you something if people didn't love it the way that it is it wouldn't be the way that it is if people wanted it to be a different way it would be a different way more people want it the way that it is then don't want it the way that it is and you need to come to grips with that because if you don't you don't really understand where your work is that your work is in helping them to see why the majority to see why they need to change their mind about that there mental attitude is keeping it the way that it is and ultimately the reason for that is they like it better that way because the thing that they don't want more than anything else see they'll say they want freedom but they don't really want it because freedom with freedom hand in hand in a separably comes true personal responsibility and that's what people don't want so they'll go slap freedom they'll slap the gift of freedom right out of the hand of the Creator if it because taking it means they have to take the responsibility that goes with it so they'll slap it away and yet they'll continue to maintain oh no I want freedom no you don't if people wanted freedom there would be freedom we get what we want the majority of people if they want something that's how it's gonna be that's what's gonna manifest the majority of people do not want freedom our task as people who really do understand this dynamic and know how it's being generated through what we care about through what we quote worship and we're worshipping the wrong God you know I mean I I don't claim that say that people need to need to worship anything but we are taking on this god of money as our idol and and putting all of our adoration behind it all of our care is directed toward that and that's why I call it the most powerful god of this world the influence of the true god of creation is barely to be seen in this world through through the people and their mindset and their attitudes and their behaviors it's hardly to be found but the god of money is to be found everywhere and people who are listening and being honest with themselves know I'm speaking the exact truth see just like in they live in the movie they live the the phenomenal allegorical movie which if people haven't seen I you know I can't believe you haven't seen this movie it's like one of the greatest cult classics of all time and if you haven't seen it you need to immediately check it out bye Carpenter is the director John Carpenter so in it the hero who is named nada basically finds sunglasses through which he can see the world as it really is and he puts these glasses on and then he sees subliminals that were always there but he could never actually see before you know he puts us he puts a the glasses on and he sees sign saying no imagination don't question authority you know Mary Anne reproduce you know no questions things like that and it's a very interesting allegory about how we need to shut down the mind control we need to shut down the signal that's always propagating the mind control and telling us what to think and what to believe so we can see through all of that to see what the real message is being sent really are that's what this movie is all about and it's also about people being puppets to these hidden elites you know just doing their bidding for you know a pittance you know for a bucket of beans as they say and how deplorable people like that are but in the movie he sees um what money really is about he puts the sunglasses all he looks at a gentleman who has a bunch of dollar bills in his hand and then the hidden subliminal comes through and it says this is your god this is uh images number 54 and 55 in the slideshow absolutely true this is most people's God and that's why we're in a cage and until the people who really want to be out of the cage and want true freedom until they understand what their work is in helping people to understand this is the very dynamic that's enslaving us all you worshiping that as your God that's why you're in an eternal prison until you change that mental attitude you're going to be in a prison for a long long time and unfortunately you're chaining the rest of us who don't want to be in a prison in here with you so money is the great motivating factor it's people's God it's these it's these police these police officers that's their God money and authority are their gods they don't have any connection with the true higher self they have no connection with the the great spirit of oneness none many of them don't believe in God at all in our total atheists and there are also moral relativists and they're also social Darwinists all of these poisoned ideologies you know that are completely building the male dominator prison society that we're all going into and the door is getting slammed shut behind us locked down tight and the keys getting thrown away as long as those who are mindset that that's your mindset that's the prison you're going into that's just how the dynamic of cosmic spiritual law works that's it and yes it is knowable that that is how the universe is operating that you are bound to higher cosmic law which I've called natural law but because of the bastardization and perversion of the word natural in modern colloquial English you can't even say the word natural with images of Charles without images of Charles Darwin and his idiotic theory being propagated in people's minds that has now led to social Darwinism which is a completely insane ideology based on social stratification that you're patterning after this incorrect notion of natural the natural order which has absolutely nothing whatsoever to do with what I call natural law but yet this is the concept that comes up when people hear the word natural that's how that's how completely over taken and seized the word natural actually is in in language that you know I've been just calling it cosmic law cosmic spiritual law that's what natural law is it's the laws that govern behavioral consequence the laws of consequence that ultimately govern your choices of your actions so you know I've been even just calling it something different in language to try to diab you skate that term when I say natural law so let's move into what I call frequency control and understand how this color green has been used and when we look at other colors associated with particularly the police you understand how the red and blue are occult mockeries of them this is why they're lights on their cars here in the United States are colored as such and of course placed right above their heads as well if we look at the visible spectrum of light now we're not talking about pigment not color as in pigment in other words like you know a paint or a marker or crayon something like that that's pigment color we're not talking about color pigments let's please make that abundantly clear we are talking about frequencies or wavelengths of light light energy not pigment okay because when we say pigment we're talking about something different when it comes to blending or mixing together light operates differently than pigment we're looking at the frequencies of light from the low of visible light light in the visible spectrum which is a very narrow band and we're looking at how this spectrum looks when we actually break it down take white light pass it through a prison so comes out into its constituent elements its constituent wavelengths and we can see each of those wavelengths that constant to all of the visible colors of light that we can see with the eye so the lowest wavelength or the lowest frequencies are the Reds the red colors so we have red at the very bottom of the visible bandwidth the visible spectrum as it is known and then we move upward we go into the oranges and then the yellows then the greens then the blues then the indigo and violet ultimately lies at the opposite end of this visible spectrum frequency range so the highest frequencies are what are known as the blue frequencies or the violet frequencies and below the red are really imperceptible to see with the with the human eye the frequencies are too low in other words the wavelengths are too long so we call that infra red meaning beneath the red and then frequencies that are above the visible spectrum that can't be perceived with the human eye because their frequencies are too short a frequencies are too high the wavelengths are too short these are called ultraviolet frequencies meaning beyond violet so very simple to understand why infrared means what it does and ultraviolet means what it does below the red can't see with the naked eye above the violet can't see with the naked eye ultraviolet means beyond the violet so this narrow frequency band between red and violet is called the visible spectrum of light and right in the middle if you put a line directly into the middle of these frequencies you will be in the midpoint of the green colors of the spectrum you will have a very mid green okay it won't be on the yellowish side of the of green yellow it won't be toward the blue greens it will be perfectly green the the most neutral medium green that really you can see with the eye there and therefore that very center point that focal point that central hub right there in the middle is the center of the visible spectrum of light you could call that the center of light period Green is all about balance harmony coming together at the middle the middle ground okay and we'll see that in different traditions Green has been used to represent the center of our self so if we look at the Vedic chakra system the energy wheels as they are known chakras this is a tradition that was taught out of the ancient Indus Valley and it was called the Vedas or simply knowledge okay this is wisdom the frequencies are depicted in this system of energy wheels or energy vortices known as the chakras they operate at places at centers of glandular activity within the body in the middle of the body not on the right side or the left side but along the spine right in the middle what was known as the Tree of Life the the spinal cord the center of the being okay so along this spinal column we have these seven basic energy patterns based around glandular activity within the body we have the base chakra which is at the very bottom of the spine we have this sacral chakra the sacrum chakra this is at the area of the genitalia okay we have the solar plexus chakra which is like right in the middle of the solar plexus region the stomach area okay really a little bit kind of almost higher than the like bellybutton it would be between the bellybutton and where you would put your hand if you were pointing at your heart kind of at the area where you know if someone who had you know was a bodybuilder had a six-pack it would be right in that six-pack region where those muscles are at that's the solar plexus okay it's kind of like where a singer truly breathes from you know they breathe from the diaphragm right below the diaphragm that's the solar plexus that's uh the the will center of the body these three lower chakras represent basically base instincts and desires sexual energies and the desire to basically begin any given Enterprise or set of work and then the will to actually put that into practice the hot the highest of these three bottom chakras being the solar plexus chakra that's the center of will and courage or in other words that's guts that's why it's at that place that you know we call guts in the body you know right where all of the entrails would be so above that is the heart chakra which is the middle of the seven chakras we'll get to that in a minute let's talk about the higher chakras the throat chakra of course at the region of the throat is the speech center and it's the place where we begin going up into the higher chakra centers which is the realm of compassion the brow chakra of course associated with knowledge with knowing with understanding this is the third eye chakra and then above that you have the crown chakra chakra which represents unity consciousness so we were now in the blue frequencies were in the blue indigo and violet area so the crown chakra represents total Union it represents cosmic consciousness all right non-duality total non-duality the heart chakra is the central fulcrum once again it's the focal point it's the middle of all of these and of course you see it's the color green so we started with the lower frequencies red orange and yellow the higher frequencies were blue indigo and violet but at the very middle is the heart chakra okay and this is colored green in this system of knowledge which represents self-knowledge that's what the chakras are ultimately all about they're there to teach you about this is a system designed to teach people about aspects of themselves and the heart is placed at the center because one is the center of the physical body it's right in the middle of the torso okay and this is the the prime generator of our experience what we care about is what ultimately manifests itself if we don't have care true care we're not going to manifest anything that's good for us we're not going to manifest order we're not going to manifest what we really want we're going to manifest something quite different from what we really want and it's gonna generate a lot of self-inflicted suffering if we don't truly develop this center of the self I show this a little bit better in the next image in image number 58 because this is showing you the locations of these chakras on the body and their associated frequencies of light along with the original names for them in the Vedic tradition so the on aha chakra is the heart chakra and this is what we're really talking about as being the center of the self yes the all-seeing eye is a symbol of centeredness and a symbol of awakening but that really doesn't come online ultimately until we've made a connection with the heart chakra with true care so the green six peddled star you can see they're forming the heart chakra and that's an ancient symbol known as the Seal of Solomon once again depicted in the anahata chakra it's the chalice and the blade United in other words the Sacred Feminine coming together with the male the masculine blade the feminine chalice being the inverted equilateral triangle piece of the star coming together United with the upward pointing pyramidal shaped masculine symbol known as the blade so the chalice and the blade uniting form the Seal of Solomon you have the masculine blade and the feminine chalice the cup very powerful symbolism and understanding the esoteric side of it is even more powerful because ultimately this symbolizes the six peddled lotus flower known as the anahata chakra in the Vedic tradition so the heart is the center of the self that's where true balance is ultimately born yes balance has to be created in the brain but if it doesn't have a connection with the heart chakra the energetic connection to the heart it's all gonna be for naught so that's ultimately what humanity's goal really needs to be is to awaken this center of self within them and image number 59 just shows that uniting of the chalice and blade symbols with the green a heart chakra and it shows that Seal of Solomon the Sun and the moon come together so green is the center of the self but it's also the center of nature it's really the center of everything we see around us on our planet that is unadulterated with you know our forms of technology and building green is everywhere on earth if you're on the land the color that you're gonna see if you're in nature is green green is provided for us the best things to eat are green dark green leafy vegetables have all of the components that the body needs for a building and health for replenishing itself you know I talked about the power of green juicing in in the diet adding that to the diet because you're getting the green micronutrients comes from the plant kingdom and then you're getting it in its form that is most easily absorbable through the distilled liquid that's in the plant system the the become the water coming up from the earth into the plants root system and being distilled through that process and then when you juice that you're taking that in and it's readily absorbed by the body so it's high energy and high absorption and it's easy to break down because because it requires hardly anything to break down because it's already in liquid form Green is the power of nature it represents the color of balance when nature's in balance you're gonna see green when we've poisoned it and thrown it out of balance you're not gonna see a whole lot of green so we have to understand that this color is the symbol of the actual spirit of the earth the living energetic system in which we live and are a part of and can't really be separated from we're part of the entire Earth system and not separate from it it's here to provide for us freely energy coming in from the Sun gets converted through the process of photosynthesis into the the energy that we need to take into our body through our food and when we do that where we are in a greater form of balance the brain is comprised of what we take in through nature ultimately if we make smart choices in that regard the brain is going to be balanced and I'm going to be doing a whole nother show on connected with the idea of the non-support of domination in general on carnism that's going to be coming up after I finish the occult mockery of police and military section and then I'm going to have one more section after that coming up on what on earth is happening I'm going to have a show probably one show maybe a second but it'll probably I'll probably be able to do it in one show it's going to be on the role that women can play the the great level of importance and influence that women have when it comes to helping to discontinue the support of the dominator world the support of the dominator culture women have such power in this regard to make this happen that they don't even know how much power they have in that regard and they need to step into that position of power they need to step into that position of a positive influence to speak to some of the men in their lives who are really on the wrong path and help them to come out of that horrible dominator mindset so I'll be doing a whole show on that and that'll be the last part of the section on non supportive dominators and then we'll do two whole call-in shows just on that topic we'll be able to even do that ad free now and have to complete ad free calling shows on this entire section in several weeks so going back to how this green color is really used is the when we look at the manifestations of consciousness the aspects of consciousness thought emotion in action and then how they have physiological expressions in the body from the brain we saw of course the left brain hemisphere is the masculine side solar or we could associate that with the masculine symbol of the blade but also the red frequencies are associated with that side of the brain because the red frequencies are all about physical world identification they're all about paying attention concentration alert being on alert this is associated with waking consciousness so the red frequencies have always been associated with the left brain they're ascribed to left brain I guess manifestations or modalities is the word word I was looking for the right brain modalities are always associated with the blue frequencies so the the color blue is associated with right brain modality we have the creative and imaginative side of the brain when we're talking about the right brain hemisphere now we're not talking about again pigments of light we're talking about color frequencies the reason blues are given to the right brain is because this is the more open side of the mind this is the cut the kind the part of the mind that takes in everything and doesn't filter it like the left brain does this is the part that is open and absorptive I guess you could say it is it's passive in a way that it receives everything whereas the the left brain outputs things through a filtration system which is called logic but the right brain is extremely important in this regard because it acts as a gathering mechanism when we're first taking it any information we have to have this part of the brain active functioning properly and open to all possibilities and that's when its operating properly that's how it's going to pass information holistically taken in information so that all sides of it can be seen into the left brain for the filtration process of moving it into the level of understanding being able to process it and break it down analytically so that it can be properly understood that's why this parallel processing unit known as the right brain is so critically important to have working properly so this receptive quality has always been associated with the color blue so blues represent a taking in or a an open-mindedness if you're gonna you know you want somebody to be paying attention in the form of you want them to accept something you want them to at least entertain it even if they don't completely accept it or believe it even if you're not asking them to believe in it you want them to hear it with an open mind blue is an excellent color to employ because it's saying to the brain open take this here this see this I use the color blue deliberately in that regard not because I'm trying to get people to immediately accept or believe what I'm saying but because I want them to hear it with an open mind that's not an accident I also use the color green in the color from my site because that's associate with that color of balance but blue is the biggest color I would say that I employ through the water on earth is happening site and also the free your mind site because it's all about helping people to be receptive enough to take the information and without prejudging at first then they can pass it to the logical aspect of the mind and engage the filtration system to take what they want to take and leave the rest but the feminine side of the brain associated with the color blue and with the lunar principle the moon so we have the Sun in the moon again the Temple of Solomon which is the whole brain and the masculine symbol of the blade I show here in red on image number 61 and the feminine symbol of the chalice shown in blue associated with the right brain this is on slide number 61 with all the different modalities of thought form that each one of the brain hemispheres make possible blending them together in other words using both brain hemispheres holistically not at one being dominant over the other represents the coming together of these light frequencies not pigment but light frequencies in other words it is joining the left and the right the marriage between the masculine and feminine the alchemical wedding as it has been called coming together to form the balanced holistically balanced brain which is what real intelligence is all about it's not just intellect which is a left brain principle it's not just intuition which is a right brain one but it's the merging of those two modalities coming together to form holistic intelligence this AI symbolized by the green Seal of Solomon the six pointed star of the chalice and blade United and coming together in the middle of the frequencies of light which is the green color of the visible spectrum which represents balance so the center of consciousness the center point or balance point of consciousness is also represented as green the reason that money is colored in this capacity is again to project through proxy through this talisman that form of balance that we're talking about that idea of balance and centered Nest's in consciousness and also representing something that is good for everyone in the form of its natural you know this is nature is providing it because what you know we're coloring it the same color as as nature colors everything that's really good for you we're putting the all-seeing eye on it to also represent spiritual insight and wisdom and balance and ultimately as we've said none of that is true it's all proxy it's all there to convince people in the subconscious that the that's what this monetary symbol that's what this monetary bill actually means for them actually represents in their life when in fact it represents none of that but we see this splitting toward red and blue in other aspects of our life because ultimately that's what they want to do that's what money what money really does is keep us imbalanced in the brain it keeps us chronically in a state of either left brain or right brain imbalance more likely money will push people toward a form of left brain imbalance so if we look at the political parties we also see this breakdown between red and blue with red always being ascribed to the Republican Party here in the United States and blue always being associated with the Democratic Party so you have a red elephant and a blue dong there you see five-pointed stars placed on both of them as well again representing sovereignty and higher consciousness and self ownership none of which you're going to attain by going into one of these political parties or even uh you know supporting them because they're about no such thing as freedom or sovereignty or self ownership or higher consciousness they're about owning you ultimately and they do that through this system of dialectics called politics which I almost have an impossible time even fathoming that there could be anyone alive today that is still naive enough to believe in this crap like I said whenever I meet somebody who still believes in politics I only ask them one question how old are you and do you believe in professional wrestling too that the outcomes aren't fixed there - okay yeah you can say yeah the bodyslams are all real and the damage to the body is real but you really believe that the outcome wasn't fixed and these guys aren't going out for a beer after the show that they're putting on for people and that's the same thing this is a puppet show politics has always been a puppet show anyone who believes in it is a naive child period you can you know say that's an ad hominem attack or I'm just you know saying that without supporting it I think I've given enough abundant evidence to support that over the course of this show and you could take it as an insult if if you want and get as upset about it as you like but if you believe in the political process your naive child period you know and grow up is that's really all I can say about that you know here's the two Skull and Bones members of the order of death Kerry and Bush you know in the 2004 election laughing it up because you know you're gonna get a Bonesmen either way no matter who goes in you know and as they say no matter who gets elected the government always gets in that's what it all really comes down to but the ultimate thing I'm trying to portray here in this image is the dialectic between choosing these two puppets you know you're always going to get smell by whichever hand you choose you know because they're connected to the same body and they're mocking people again symbolically through this color scheme this playing off of red and blue these are the two extreme aspects of the visible spectrum they're not in the middle they're not in a place of balance that leads to awakening they're in the extremity left brain and right brain you know and I would say that's really it's very funny even the colors they give that's I would say the more left brain people are probably the Republicans and the more right brain people are the Democrats and that generally holds true that's a generalization okay it's not a blanket statement by any stretch of the imagination please don't take it as such but in general you could look at that as a generalization that Republicans generally are as a whole as a group more left-brain oriented and Democrats are more right brain oriented then there's a reason for that there's a reason to ascribe these colors and that the ways that they're pushing people into these levels of imbalance it's not accidental but to see how this is put on police cars and used to symbolically mock them I would also say it really represents symbolic mockery of the people who think that these people are necessary or to call them to solve their problems for them you know it represents a failure of the will to behave in and and engage with others in a civilized manner when you know these dominators are called out to handle people's problems for them and they never handle it you know they always show up after the fact anyway you know what what cop has ever really stopped something bad from happening now they show up afterward they're not about education they're about taking someone who's already done something harmful to someone else a lot of good that does right and then what you're doing is you're removing the problem from general population so that the population can say well that problems gone they've been removed we don't need to do anything to educate our young there so that they don't keep acting like this and grow up to Manifest these types of behaviors oh no what they'll just get removed them we won't be able to see and build we'll just be paying for them for the rest of their existence rotting away in a prison cell which isn't reforming them at all it's just teaching them how to be a career criminal anyway you know if they ever get out and uh you know we'll go back to our ignorant ways and I'll keep asking people keep asking male dominators to come and take people who are problems for us away from us so we don't actually have to take responsibility for why they acted that way to begin with that that's what this whole system is all about you know I've said before I've set a very extreme radical thing let's just let all of the violent prisoners out of their cages that's what I want to see happen and I'm not kidding I say do away with all jails that all of those people right back into the communities where they grew up where they came from and let the people have to deal with them you'll see how fast people will begin to start understanding that you need to educate people when they're young and make the education stick it can't be this outcome-based education system you need to really teach true critical thinking skills but most of all you need to teach people about themselves about consciousness and about the right way of being in the world because you need to teach the definitive knowledge of right versus wrong and that's the problem is we're not teaching that to our young the problem is most people don't know it themselves they're already grown up not knowing that quote-unquote grown up and then they're it's the blind leading the blind you know the ignorant teaching the ignorant let me know how that works out for you going back to how this frequency control through light is used on the police you see above the police car image in image number 64 the red and blue light right above their head where they sit in the car right toward the front seat of the car right up above them there's that frequency red and blue red and blue but not green not nothing in the middle it's the two extremities of light that say watch out pay attention and then take this listen don't you know take this without really thinking about it or processing it too much and that's why these two frequencies of light are used that's what not only what the police want you to do to obey pay attention initially and then obey but that's what they're doing to their masters you know they're in at left brain right that left brain red light mode of the left brain hemisphere and they're also bowing down to their masters who are above them and that's why they're in the blue frequency so they're in both forms of brain imbalance because they're they're holy they have wholly given of themselves to the idea that there is authority and that there is a master above and a slave below their master above is anybody above them in their hierarchy of control of male Dominator control and their slaves below or anybody that they're told by their masters above them that they can boss around and that they have to obey them and listen to them unquestioningly you know it's to a point in this country where we're gonna be just like it was in Stalinist Russia we're gonna be just like it was in Nazi Germany where if you disobeyed somebody who was in one of the secret police forces they'll just shoot you on sight because you have to obey their orders or Die that's what we're gonna get to we're gonna get right to that point ladies and gentlemen we're already seeing it I think something was breaking out in a breaking story happening in Anaheim California earlier today where people try to challenge the actions of a police officer oh god forbid you don't challenge to God men you know who are your unquestioned masters and they literally started opening fire on some of these people and you know I see this as the beginning of you know the this is this is how the the prelude to the battles of Lexington and Concord took place I tell people you want to know what year it is forget 2012 the year is 1775 ladies and gentlemen because we're seeing history repeat itself all over again the question is what's going to be the outcome this time but it's an extremely dangerous precedent that's being set and it's because of the mindset that these people operate in that there is Authority that's their religion the religion is money and authority and they just you know believe in the concept that there's people I take orders from and there's people I give orders to and that's it it's the chain of obedience not the chain of command chain of command is meaningless is the chain of obedience they obey and then someone must obey me true freedom entails getting out of all of that where there's no master above you and there's no slave below you you know and Michael to sorry on always talks about that he uses that phrase the hard part about it is being no slave below because people still want to maintain control over something because they don't have total control over themself in their lives so that's one of the things that people have to understand is that real freedom doesn't isn't just about having no masters it's about having no slaves either and unfortunately these people are the most trapped in that because they're imbalanced toward both brain hemispheres as shown in image number 65 they're imbalanced toward the left brain hemisphere because they believe that there are masters of other people and they're imbalanced toward the right brain hemisphere because they unquestioningly follow orders and believe that they have basically masters who command them and give them orders and they don't question those orders even if they're you know not in harmony with cosmic spiritual law so image number 64 and 65 really go a long way toward showing how this frequency through light operates on police and is a symbolic form of mockery on every police car here in the United States yes I understand there's some other callers in other countries but here these are the colors used by the police and this is where the satanic new world order system is set up most strongly believe me yeah there may be some external places externally in the $0.05 that are worse off than living in the United States but as far as mind control goes you're at the pinnacle of it ladies and gentlemen if you're living here in the US the boys in blue as they are called another form of ritualistic mockery you know putting them in their blue shirts because blue is the frequency of basically operating in right brain imbalance and they want other people to be subservient to them through that through seeing that color you know so that's you know a dual form of this mockery they're wearing it showing that they're in subservience to their owners above them and then people who in encounter them and interact with them are seeing that color blue and therefore they're going into that right brained subservient mode so the whole concept of the Blue Lodge where you see the Fraternal Order of Police operating it's one of the affiliate organizations with Freemasonry and the Masonic hierarchy in general you see these first three degrees called the Blue Lodge system degrees one two and three our entered apprentice fellow craft and master Mason most police never go beyond those degree systems which are very low in their knowledge but have often the most people on numbers-wise engaged in them in the lodge system and again this is what is called porch masonry the the portico of the temple okay they're not really in the temple they're on the porch they're on the outside you can see that's even depicted as the first three degrees here in this pyramid system depicted almost as a porch where people are standing out in front of it but they're not at the apex they're certainly not inside or or at the apex of that hierarchical structure I have a problem with the whole lodge system of Freemasonry in general I talked extensively about esoteric masonry and how I am an initiative of that tradition but not Lodge masonry which seeks to stratify and create hierarchy and compartmentalization which I don't think Freemasonry in its true original intent and its original tradition was ever intended to be was intended indeed to being allegorical and a system of allegory and ritual to truly convey concepts of self-ownership sovereignty and morality unfortunately it has greatly fallen from that in our modern world and descended into an old boys club of a slap your back you know you slap mine I'll you know we'll we'll shake hands behind the scenes and you know help each other's businesses or you know engage in some networking here because we're brothers in the same fraternity and that's not what Freemasonry was really originally intended as but to go back to how this Blue Lodge system is employed is their porch Masons in for the Fraternal Order of Police most police officers don't really understand if they get involved in Freemasonry at all what it really is at all they have no idea what it is they never learn about what real true esoteric Freemasonry is certainly in the very low degrees of the Lodge system they're not going to receive that knowledge and they that's where this term third degree is coming from you know being given the third degree it's a Dominator mindset and I would suggest that that's connected with the origins of these first three degrees being known as the Blue Lodge and again that's also I would suggest is connected with them being called boys in blue not just because their uniform but because they are Blue Lodge initiates the first three degrees of the Scottish Rite so let's look at some Masonic symbolism as it relates to police and military regalia specifically police uniforms often use a lot of Masonic symbolism in order to understand this we'll look at image number 69 which is the first degree tracing board of Freemasonry and we've broken down this symbol on the shows on Freemasonry extensively you can go back into the archives and I'll check out those shows so very briefly this first degree tracing board really gives you everything you need to know about the ancient mystery traditions all in one symbol it's it's a book this is you're being presented with a book it itself I would say and have said claim that it is a subtle form of a cult mockery kind of uh poking a little bit of just at the very first degree initiate the entered apprentice initiate because you're handing them a volume in symbolism that you know they can't interpret in other words it would be like a first grader coming into school on the first day of school and you hand them a book about you hand them a book on calculus or you hand them a book that a would be have the knowledge of college-level physics in it and say here you go there there you are you know or you hand them a book of very intricately researched world history and their first grader well they're not going to be able to make any use of that they're not going to be able to even understand what you handed them and that it's the same thing with a symbol a complex signal such as this as the first degree tracing board so many prerequisite so much prerequisite understanding is required in order to decode a symbol like this that uh that entered apprentice initially it has none of that knowledge so it's like you're handing them the finished product and when they haven't even learned the ABCs and that I would suggest is a subtle form of a cult it's an occult jab at the person saying this is how much you don't know yet you know this is how much in darkness you still remain but to very briefly recap the breakdown of this very complex symbol it represents the Temple of Solomon or in other words the human brain and I would also suggest the heart in conjunction with the human brain this is the temple of the self let's put it that way it's really the entire self and we have the two pillars up front representing the world of duality the Sun and the moon light and dark the floor of the house the checkerboard floor also represents that duality it's light and dark okay and it is indicative of a game the game of chess which is a game of strategy and a game of mastery so this tracing board ultimately represents self mastery but what you need to do to attain self mastery and to attain unity consciousness which was represented by that third pillar in the background with a W at its base so the pillar on the left is the jackeen pillar the light pillar leading to the Sun with an S at its base that s represents strength stands for strength and it has a level at the bottom of it which represents knowledge helping us just to level ourselves to help come to a place of balance we can't really do that without the left brain at our command the right pillar is the pillar of Boaz the dark pillar leading to the moon and at its base it has a B which symbolizes beauty and this is the right brain principle and you have at the base you have the plum which symbolizes uprightness and morality and basically guiding our actions upward it's um the the measure of the level of whether something is truly upright at a perpendicular so this aspect represents compassion we need to put both of these together we need to have the left brain aspects of logic and knowledge placed together with the emotions and compassion and the intuition of the right brain if we're going to make the climb out of base consciousness toward unity consciousness and ultimately toward the light and that middle pillar with the W at the base represents the pillar of wisdom so strength beauty and wisdom some would call it the pillar of will you see it its base is the upright square not the inverted square which represents ignorance which represents being on the floor of the house which represents base consciousness but it's upright which means you you're achieving self mastery through this climb out of the material identified world in the the world where you don't really understand light from dark where you're trapped on that gameboard floor the checkerboard floor and you're making that climb up the ladder which is known as Jacob's Ladder and it's sometime this middle pillar is just simply referred to as Jacob's Ladder you encounter the three initiates on the way up the ladder and I would suggest that represents thought emotion in action thought helps you initially get off of that gameboard floor you're being initiated up into knowledge taken above to a higher level of understanding but care is in the middle it's represented here we go with the color green the green initiate represents the heart right in the middle of the self that's why it's C on the middle of the ladder and that's what truly grants us access to the higher levels of consciousness is care and it has a key dangling on a string the key represents that care that is dangling by a thread people of the world are trapped in apathy and therefore cares in a precarious position dangling by a thread but that key is the key to the Stargate it's the key toward the true light of the Sun okay and the all-seeing eye because the middle pillar is on the all-seeing eye it's saying that the way through to the all-seeing eye is through the Sun so this is also a symbol that represents esoteric Christian ideal of the way to the Father represented by the all-seeing eye in other words the God of creation is through the son being in the world but not of it cosmic spiritual awakening or in other words Christ consciousness so that top-level initiate represents true wisdom because it's putting what it knows and cares about into action which is the male principle so you have thought there at the bottom care or emotion in the middle and then action at the top which is converting what we know and care about into action and that's what grants access ultimately to the all-seeing eye to the eye on pillar the ionic pillar again more green language ion the all-seeing eye being on or awakened is in the ionic pillar which is the middle pillar the left-hand pillar is a Doric pillar and the right-hand pillar is a Corinthian pillar so Doric ionic and Corinthian pillars the to ash Lars at the bottom the the cubes they're being worked upon one represents the imperfect ash lar and the other represents the imperfect I'm sorry the imperfect and the other represents the perfect this represents that we have only a certain amount of time to go through life and then the gameboard kind of you know ends there and we need to use our time wisely to help make ourselves as good of people as we can be to help perfect ourselves to the extent that we can and not just stay quote rough around the edges represented by the imperfect ash lar the perfect ash Larwood represent someone who has worked truly upon themselves through their life and done their work so there's so much more to this symbol again you have the three religions encoded into it Christianity being the symbol of the Sun Islam being symbolized by the moon and then Judaism a lies by the all-seeing eye the stars and planets that are hot that are farther out into space we talked about that astra theological symbolism when we talked about Astro theology earlier on in the podcasts it's also all about travel this is about traveling in consciousness it's about evolving in consciousness not staying where you are movement and its movement toward the Sun toward the light toward all of the lights of the heavens and that's why the upward direction is East and if you're traveling toward the Sun you're traveling east if you're traveling away from the light that would be westward travel and that's away from the temple that's not going within into the temple of self that is going without which is a not a place that we're going to find answers and solutions to our problems we need to travel east so that's a good set up for how this symbolism is often used when it comes to ritual mockery of police because you will see this checkerboard floor and all-seeing eye symbolism repeated when it comes to police mockery occult police mockery we're going to specifically see that checkerboard floor used many times and that checkerboard floor represents existing in base consciousness not knowing the difference between right and wrong ultimately certainly not choosing the difference between right and wrong not choosing the right over the wrong it represents man's checkered life okay being a wanderer in the wasteland of ignorance that's what that bottom level represents okay that's what we have to understand about the checkered floor it represents ignorance and being used as a pawn okay we can be manipulated as a pawn by the Masters of the game of chess if we don't understand ourselves enough to rise up up above that floor where we can actually become a full participant in that quote game of life okay it's not really a game that's an allegory but the whole idea here is that the chess master is above the floor the house he's not on the floor of the house where he's a pawn to be positioned as the master of the game wills to position him he's actually making his own moves okay he has mastered himself that's why the the chess symbolism is used so if we go to image number 70 we will see that of course this allegorical system of Freemasonry is actually connected very deeply with an older tradition of Kabbalah the Kabbalistic tradition is one of the places that esoteric Freemasonry grew out of and was derived from and to attempt to study one is really to study the other the lessons allegorically symbolically will all correspond to each other as we have seen we looked into the tradition of Kabbalah I won't completely reiterate all that you can go back and check that out in the podcast archive as well at what on earth is happening calm slash podcast or just click the podcast have at what one earth is happening calm but we need to understand that these three pillars are representative of the three paths of the Kabbalistic Tree of Life as we said this is all about the tree of life within us the the journey upward in consciousness from the base consciousness to the crown to the cosmic consciousness represented by the chakra system the seven chakras represented here by the Tree of Life just collapse it into the middle point collapsed the two outer paths into the central path and you have the seven chakras of the body on the middle pillar but ultimately these three pillars the two representing duality that needs to be synthesized or blended together to create that unity consciousness by which we are granted access to the ladder to climb to higher level of calm to a higher level of awareness the same thing in Kabbalah you have the the left-hand path which is the path of severity the right-hand path which is the path of Mercy that need to be synthesized so that one can progress up the middle pillar or the path of mildness it's the same tradition just different symbolism it's the same basic understanding about the qualities that exists within all of us that exist within each one of us so these are traditions to understand the self in their original untainted unadulterated forms can they be perverted yes have they been perverted yes is there still a true esoteric tradition with the true original intent intact in the world yes and that's why people need to really research these from the real perspective the true original intent perspective of these ancient mystery traditions because they can give some of the most profound understandings and insights into the human psyche that are even possible when we study true Freemasonry esoteric Freemasonry and true the true Kabbalistic tradition and we've looked into these traditions extensively on the past so that's all really say on that I want to get back to looking at how these are employed when it comes to police symbolism again the left-hand pillar in image number 71 represents the masculine solar left brain hemisphere of course it's depicted by the Sun they're right in the image and the lunar pillar represents the feminine lunar right brain hemisphere depicted by the moon so it's it's very the correspondences are almost blatant once you understand a little bit about how the brain hemispheres have been correlated or correspondent to these different alchemical symbols and these different Astro theological symbols then you look at a symbol like that it almost smacks you in the face unfortunately the people who meant much of the symbolism is being used against have no understanding of any of these traditions and have never studied them day one in their life you know I'm not not even studying them for a microsecond so what we're talking about this image representing is the Temple of Solomon as we've and Solomon breaks down to Sun and Moon because it's all about the left brain solar aspects of the self and the right brain lunar aspects of the self okay image number 73 here we go shows where this symbolism is used on the police and their uniforms and specifically where it is used on their body which I said earlier in the show tonight is very significant the checkerboard floor of the house again represents base consciousness not truly knowing the difference between right and wrong being a pawn in someone else's game not being a master of self but being owned by someone else that's what that represents in Freemasonry and what are they doing they're taking this checkerboard pattern and they're wrapping it around the human brain it's directly it's it's a crown around the outside of the brain put placed on these hats of these police in this capacity as you see in the images on image number 73 I mean this is about as contemptuous as I think it can get you're putting the checkerboard floor literally around the Temple of Solomon on the individual right around the temple you know where the brain is at in the temple and just completely telling the person you have no idea at all what you're a part of you have no idea who owns you I mean it's dark a cultic mockery and it's uh you know I hesitate to use the word finest but probably at its most ruthless so there you see it combined with the inverted pentagram and in the and the Victoria Police is emblem on the bottom there bottom right and in the top right you see it on in English police officers helmet I believe it's in English and that you see the that could be Victorian police as well not quite sure but it's definitely either European or Australian and you see the double square which we're going to get into in a little bit actually I'll probably get into a little bit today and will continue the hypercubes symbolism next week but I think this clearly shows the dark occultists disdain for these individuals and these symbols again I mean if you think all this keeps adding up to coincidence I feel horribly sad for you because if your mind can do that kind of mental gymnastics to think that all of this is with the explanation of the symbols that are spot-on and I'm not telling you that I think that's what these symbols represent I definitively know what they represent from being involved with these different occult traditions they do represent what I'm telling you they represent you can go and verify it in your own research for people to think that an inverted five-pointed pentagram coming together with the checkerboard floor of the house right on a police officers brain right around their brain is accidental and that's just random stuff coming together the men level of mental gymnastics you have to do to get from there to here I feel sorry if you're that naive that's all I'll say let's jump to the next piece of symbolism which is the hypercube or also known as the tesseract I think I did practically an entire show about the tesseract and the tesseract is one of the deepest occulted symbols you're not going to find too much in the way of overt explanations of what the tesseract represents because I would suggest it's one of darkest occult symbols in all of dark occultism if not it represents the symbol of darkness and mind-control and perversion and the destruction of spirit and the imprisonment of the spirit high level initiate sin to dark occult traditions often have really taken on a deep understanding of this symbol I really didn't get a full understanding of the symbol until even after I left the Satanic hierarchy after my awakening process begun I saw it used and employed and I know people who referred to it but my understanding of it didn't even evolve until kind of when I was beginning my wake-up process and I was understanding how it was being used when I saw it employed even when I was in the dark occult so we need to understand that this is a symbol of a prison ok this is a symbol of how a dark occultist sees the world in their poisoned dark worldview we can better understand this when it comes to looking at dimensions or densities and again I wouldn't say that this is really how the dimensions of our world operate but it's a rudimentary and simplistic way of looking at it if we imagine a point as having no dimension and a line as having you know one dimension being able to just move backward and forward and then a plane being able to move in XY coordinate system as being two dimensional and then we extrude that plane so you know each one of these is an extrusion of the one before so if you extrude a line meaning a point meaning pull you pull the point down through one dimension you get a line then you take that line and you pull it you know sideways so it you know forms a plane and then you take that plane and you pull it you so that it forms a cube or a three-dimensional space then if you pulled that cube it would form a four dimensional space which is very difficult to envision because we don't live in a four dimensional reality we live in a three dimensional reality but the 4d hypercube is the extrusion of a 3d cube and what you're seeing here in image number 75 is a representation of a projection for an extrusion of a 3d cube as a 4d hypercube so this would be a 2d projection of a 4d object that's what you're looking at there in image number 75 on the right hand side 70 image number 76 does a good job at explaining what the hypercube would look like because it is the rotation in all dimensions of a 3d cube so you're actually rotating the cube outward in other words you're rotating each face of the cube out into another dimension of space very heady abstract mathematical concept very difficult to visualize so image number 76 is a animated GIF image which shows how a hypercube is actually rotating perpetually rotating within itself in this way it can be seen as a self creating shape that is always feeding into itself in a feedback loop and this could be looked at as a box that can never be escaped from okay it can be looked at as a prison of the mind inside the prison of the physical world so being in the world and of it you know not being hid in the world and not of it but really being identified with base consciousness and physical world is all there is mentality okay it's the symbol of that identification and level of mind control so the inner cube would represent the mind being held prisoner in the outer cube which represents the physical world as a prison if that's how one were inclined to see it and this is the dark occult world view the dark occult world view is that everything is a prison that you know natural law cosmic law is all set up as a prison for the soul when in fact that's nothing could be further from the truth it's something that is there to help guide us evolutionarily and it's the boundary conditions that this entire universe operates according to according to that higher cosmic law and it's there for our evolutionary growth and development in this construct for experience the dark world view the dark occult world view sees it as sees this whole place as a prison and their ultimate objective is lets rule it but rule this prison is better to reign in Hell and serve in heaven a very poisonous ideology to be sure he'll pick up and help this dark become our hypercube symbolism is used on next week's show because unfortunately that's all the time we have on this first at Show [Music]

Tech Peter Robbins is the keynote speaker on Saturday that should be excellent he wrote the book left at Eastgate which is a great story in the UFO phenomena check that out if you're not familiar with his work grant Cameron Richard Dolan always great to see Richard he's a great guy in a very informative speaker as well Stephen Bassett and the the woman who canceled was Linda berry she was originally scheduled to give a talk but will not be able to make it so I will be taking Linda Berry's place and I will be speaking on the moral issues that are involved in the continued cover-up of extraterrestrial phenomena so this is something I don't really get into much here on what on earth is happening I have given a talk that on another conference that I was invited to speak on on these topics in the past and this will be the second conference that I'm participating in related to these types of topics so it should be an interesting event and I'm thrilled to be have been asked to take part in it and I'm looking forward to it September 28th 29th 30th Sheraton Bucks County Hotel MUFON PA East Coast Conference lots of great speakers for more information on that go to MUFON PA dot-com okay the next event announcement I have of course I made the big announcement last week announcing that there will indeed be a second free or mine conference here in Philadelphia next year in 2013 for your mind to April 19th 20th and 21st 2013 here in Philadelphia no details announced just yet we don't have a venue yet we're working that out right now and we have a list of potential speakers but I'm not going to confirm any speakers just yet I'll be announcing that as the website goes online so look for that a free your mind conference calm is the website and it will be changing to the new layout I've been working on that and I'm gonna try to get the new website up sometime over the next week or so so that's the free your mind to conference coming up in April of 2013 now I made an appearance on truth frequency radio with Chris and Cherie geo on July 22nd and that that is now up in the new section at least the first hour of my appearance it was a two-hour spot they have a three hour show on Saturday evening and they brought me on four hours two and three the firt the first hour of my appearance is posted to the water on earth is happening news section you can only listen to the second hour in their members archives so I was not able to post that up on my site but the first two hours are posted there there's another gentleman in the first hour and then I make an appearance in our number two of the broadcast we talked a lot about the Aurora shootings I haven't covered that here on what on earth is happening but in general I talked about how this was more likely than not in fact another false flag event and another goddess sacrifice ritual we've seen this over and over again and particularly when it comes to blood-letting events mass sacrifice of people in order to put an injection of fear into the population so that they will readily give up their rights and obey draconian legislation that is usurping their inherent natural rights as human beings and they can only really do that if they keep people in enough fear and that's what these events are all about that this is clearly this event has so many clear occult markers all over it mainly the name of the town that it took place in which was Aurora the name of a Roman goddess figure who gives birth to the Sun at dawn once again this is the same goddess that is talked about throughout history and many different traditions that represents care that represents giving birth to the light giving birth to the energy and the form of consciousness that ultimately is going to act as a savior and a rejuvenator of the world which is knowledge light knowledge of self knowledge of spirit and they the dark occultist want to murder this they want to put it down they want they don't want this goddess being born into the world because ultimately it represents true care being born so what they want is the cremation of care the sacrifice of care so the we talked about that on truth frequency in the first hour of my appearance and continued a little bit with it an into the second hour and there are so many other occult markers how this was done during the dog days of summer associated with the dog star Sirius which is also a corollary to Isis in the Egyptian tradition so there you have the goddess being invoked once again right there July 20th is the date of the moon landing the alleged moon landing and that date is specifically ritually chosen because it represents in the ancient world the heliacal rising of Sirius behind the Sun at the equinox the spring equinox so there's a reason they pick symbolic dates this is connected with the moon and with Sirius which is connected to Isis goddess symbols and then the shooting takes place in Aurora there's no way that that's an accent specifically when you take into consideration that this was done so close in proximity to another occult mass ritual sacrifice event Columbine Columbine is named after Columbia the goddess particularly in the Western tradition that is her name named after the Dove Kalume means dove again goddess symbolism the dove of peace which they want to continuously put down they don't want peace they want everlasting war and ritual sacrifice that's what war is dressing up people in ritual occult regalia to go onto the altar of sacrifice called a battlefield and kill each other so that the priests class doesn't even need to do the killing they do it for them and people obey this and go and continue to perpetuate this sick demented practice because they're completely unconscious and you know so we talked about all these different occult overtones on truth frequency and a couple of days after that appearance and I'm about to go off on a tirade for a few moments folks so get ready because when I was hearing people call for gun control legislation and the banning of certain firearms and all these more aggressive background checks for people to get you know guns and weaponry so that they can defend their themselves and defend that their freedoms against the encroachment of tyranny and to prepare for the time when that may be necessary I was willing to like kind of look the other way and like almost excuse this they're ignorant people some of them are knowingly doing this so I know that they're part of the agenda as many people in the military I'm sorry in the media are and are on the CIA payroll and will just you know basically say anything that they're told to say commanded to say for a paycheck because they're an automaton robot but I heard something through I'm not gonna mention the person's name let's just say it is a friend who happens to occasionally listen to a radio talk show hosts show in the United States and this is where I'm gonna go off on a short tirade here and basically call this person out as a coward and a traitor and his name is Howard Stern for people who may not be familiar with who this is who may live outside of the United States people in the United States probably recognized the name but if you're you know from another country and you're listening to the show this guy is a radio talk-show host a very popular radio talk-show host from New York and he basically engages in toilet humor and just sophomoric juvenile shows that he puts on he doesn't really ever talk about anything with any real substance for the main fact that he is a coward and you know he just wants to talk about all frivolous topic matter and never really get into anything with substance and he was calling well I happened to listen to mainstream media and even shows on like you know serious radio that don't really get into anything serious I listen to basically alternative media and filter the web for what I'm looking for for relevant pieces of information and information that's really getting at the truth about what's really taking place and of course do real reading downloading books and things like that to to improve my understanding of the dynamic that's taking place around us when you encounter an individual like this who really doesn't read by his own admission and I encountered it again through a friend who happened to have it on and when I was listening I was becoming totally in fury infuriated by the ignorance of this individual he was calling for a ban on semi-automatic and automatic weapons because of the tragic events that took place in Aurora and this is the typical fearful mind controlled ignoramus response to some to an event like this by someone who has absolutely no idea what freedom is zero and who's a little timid lap dog he's a little timid slave this person is not and you can say I'm launching an ad hominem attack because that's what it is get over it yeah that's what it is it's an ad hominem attack I'm attacking a complete idiot who happens to have the ears of millions of people in the United States and doesn't use that with any responsibility at all is then putting out things that are completely poisoning other people's worldview when it comes to an understanding of what these weapons even exist in the world for what they're even for because people have no idea most people have zero idea of what the Second Amendment is even about what that entire idea the concept was put there by the founders of this nation for and it has nothing to do with hunting it doesn't even really have to do with just the the base protection of your home from predators within the population you know thieves vandals things like that that's really not what it's about the Second Amendment is there to act as a guarantee of protection on the people against the government so that you have the ability to defend yourself against encroaching tyranny and the usurpation of your natural law rights your natural inherent rights as a human being that's what it's there for that's the original intent of the people who put that into effect put that out into the world whether you agree with the Constitution Bill of Rights anything or not the idea is that when someone is coming at you with violence you have the right to protect yourself through the use of force and he was making these completely irrational illogical cow fearful claims and saying these weapons should be banned and his rationale for this is that they're not designed for hunting they're designed for the killing of multiple numbers of people and I was sitting there listening to this verbal diarrhea and thinking to myself Wow genius you must have won an award or something rocket scientist brain surgeon were you sitting up for days at a time with an abacus and a slide rule to figure that out that that these weapons exist for the killing of multiple people not just one but numbers of people well you figured it out mental giant congratulations yes that's what they're for because they're for protecting oneself from government agents that have gone completely outside of their scope outside they're originally intended scope and are now engaged in the practice of tyranny that's what they're for and if you ever did any reading coward because that's what his name should be it shouldn't be Howard it should be coward Stern okay if you ever cracked open a book in your life you would understand that every single time throughout history that any kind of mass confiscation or banning of weapons has taken place it is always inevitably invariably been followed by a mass extermination of the population in the region in which that confiscation was done but you don't have a long view of history you don't have any view of history because you don't read books you're not a reader and that's why you're not a real thinker you're just an opinion propagator and an uninformed opinion propagator at that so yeah I am calling you a coward I am calling you an ignoramus and ultimately I'm calling you ultimately somebody who's really been castrated by the state you don't have any balls to come out and speak the truth you're not even a man you're a coward so there's my ad hominem tirade against a person who has millions of people's ears yet doesn't have one drop of responsibility so understood have any long view of history to understand the original intent of the founders of this nation what Howard Stern is what coward Stern is ultimately as a traitor a traitor so I'll I'll just leave it there because that just says it all in plain words that I think anybody can understand and that's the truth that's not my opinion to anybody who's really paying attention to what's going on in this country at this time and isn't horrified by what they see and isn't just a flaw justifiably morally outraged at the rights that are being destroyed by the second by this encroaching police state and Howard Stern would claim to be of some kind of proud Jewish descent as well when he doesn't even understand what happened during the Holocaust he doesn't he has no clue and he doesn't understand the same dynamic is present here right now in the United States and the same outcome is going to occur if we don't wake up stop being a coward and start speaking out against this but I could challenge him to that all day long and he won't do it because he's a little punk coward so there it is there's there's my take on what I heard this moron calling for the outright ban on the weaponry that is going to be probably the last hedge against this encroaching police they and the complete removal of our inherent rights as human beings everything I do on this radio show ladies and gentlemen I've said from day one is to avert that possible outcome of having having to get these people off of our back off that get them off of our jugular vein in our neck that through that method I don't want to see it come to that the knowledge that I put out on this show the purpose for putting that out there in the format that I put it in to try to explain it as clearly concisely logically and in as linear of a progression as possible so that it is understood and all prerequisite material has gotten in the in the earlier section so that you can understand some of the more complex stuff in the later sections all of that method for conveying this information and the reason for doing it the underlying reason reason for doing it is so that it doesn't have to come to that kind of bloodshed so that we can do this in consciousness so that it's a real solution and a real transformation so we don't have to have a repeat of the first American Revolution where we had to do it by forceful means not violent means but forceful means violence was being done unto us we responded with appropriate usage of force to beat back that violence and everyone has that inherent right when you're being accosted with violence you have the right to respond with the appropriate use of force and that's what those weapons are for and anybody who doesn't see that I don't need to prove the case common sense proves the case a study of history proves the case it's out there in the open for all to see I don't need to sit here for hours on end explaining why that is you do your own due diligence into your own homework into human history and understand what has happened when any given government has had more firepower than people the result is inevitable and it's there for anyone to see for anyone to take into themselves and understand just by reading if you care enough to do that reading but these are people who don't care enough to do that reading they don't care to edify themselves to educate themselves to learn the difference between true right and wrong and to dispel the myth of authority and it's ultimately because they have no courage no courage they're fearful little children their children mentally emotionally and of course spiritually and I think the time is long past sugarcoat words and to try to make justifications and excuses for this kind of behavior that's the problem is that we've done that for too long and we haven't called these people on their crap and people need to start speaking freely and openly and calling these idiots on their crap because they're putting it out there and other idiots are listening to what they say and hang on their every word I'm telling you don't believe what I'm saying look into it for yourself do your own homework do your own research and find out that what I'm saying is the case find out what I'm saying is true don't just believe it so I'll leave that there and let's uh because I took up even too much time to do that but it just got to me it really got to me when you realize that someone like this has a gigantic audience and is speaking to the biggest city in the United States and and beyond now that he's on satellite radio and these people hinge on his words and he's giving them the most horrific uninformed opinions that one could possibly spew so let's move on to bigger and better things let's move on to our topic of that we've been covering for the past several weeks which is the occult mockery of police and military personnel we've been covering different symbolism that is used to ritualistically mock these individuals we talked about the five pointed star we talked about the Pentagon we went into different emblems we went into the all-seeing eye symbolism and the the left and right brain hemispheres and how we need to bring those together to form a balance that is represented by the blazing star or Seal of Solomon which is another variant another way of looking at the all-seeing eye we talked about color frequencies how frequency control was used against these individuals mainly through the colors of red and blue which represent respectively left brain and right brain modalities we talked about some Masonic symbolism that is associated with police and military regalia mostly police regalia and the main aspect of that which is seen in police uniforms is of course the checkerboard floor of the house as it is known the checkerboard floor of the Temple of Solomon as it is depicted in the tradition of Freemasonry and the first degree tracing board of that tradition so that's what we covered last week at the at the end of the show we started getting into the symbolism of the hypercube the hypercube as I said last week is one of the most occulted symbols of dark occultism it is one of the most hidden it is one of the most obscure more people are beginning to have an inkling and start to understand what this symbol has represented traditionally in occult ideologies I broke it down last week as being representative of a fourth dimensional space of 4d space or a worth 4d dimension we live in a three-dimensional world the higher dimension which would be like you could look at it like a pond or a lake or a fish tank the fish never go outside of that little isolated world that three-dimensional space that's confined it has a very specific boundaries and the fish live their entire lives in that contained universe a human being isn't confined to that universe though they can enter it and leave it at will so you can go into a pond you can go into a lake you could put your hand into a fish tank you could even possibly remove one of these fish from one location where they would seem to anyone else in that universe to completely disappear and then if you drop them into another place they would seem to reappear almost as if by magic because they had left the dimensional confines of that universe and then re-entered it at another place seemingly without going through the space between this is how we can visualize the fourth dimension as a higher space than three the 3d world I covered it briefly last week when we talked about dimensions or densities if you were following in the slide show I want to mention that there are slideshow images that go along with this entire talk on the occult mockery of police and military on my website what on earth is happening calm on the radio show page click the radio show tab and then underneath the player for the show on the radio show page you will see a huge list of images called occult mockery of police and military personnel slideshow images there's a hundred and forty eight images listed there we've been working our way through them over the last few weeks we got our up to around image 76 last time so I'm backing up a little bit to image 75 as a brief review and we looked at dimensions or densities you can also download the PDF document underneath that set of images which is a seven megabyte PDF document and you could follow along that way if you prefer to do it that way just know that you will not be able to see the animated images because there are a couple of animated gif images in the in the slideshow images above these images and PDF document will also be listed with the podcasts on this topic on the podcast page this is podcast number 118 ok so image number 75 shows the the general concept of of densities or dimensions and I'm not saying it is is exactly like this this is of course an oversimplification just through geometry but we can look at 0 dimension as a point a specific point a singularity there's really no length width or breadth okay there's no depth so it's just one point and one D would be the extrusion of that point into a line so now we have length but not no other dimensions so there is one dimension there if we then extruded or pulled on that line to stretch it out into another dimension we would have what is known as a plane or a 2d space part of me if we then extruded that plane into a higher dimension we would have what we call 3d or a cube this is analogous to the dimension of the subspace time that we live in we live in a three-dimensional universe three dimensions of space you can consider time the fourth dimension some people do but what we're talking about here mainly is spatial dimensions or densities if we then attempted to take this to a further iteration and extrude it into 4d space we would be pulling on that cube into another direction into another dimension of space and this would form four dimensional space which is very difficult for us to visualize because we don't live in a four-dimensional world so on image number 75 the last image to the right in this progression progressing through 0 D 1 D 2 D 3 D and then finally 4 D shows a representation of what a an extruded cube what appeared to us like sorry about the tickle I'm having in my throat lesions on the whole I'm gonna just take a sip of water okay sorry about that folks it feels better okay so if we imagine the 4d space as an extruded cube it's one way of looking at it and this image on the right-hand side of image number 75 is a two-dimensional projection see that cube that you're looking at under where it says over where it says 3d is also a 2d projection that's just a set of two-dimensional lines you know representing an object that's what we're seeing when we look at this 4d object represented by this series of lines that is made when we extrude a cube it's just a two-dimensional projection we attempted to visualize a hypercube or a tesseract in 3-dimensional space it would look very similar to the image on slide number 76 which is an animated gif and you could see the the graphic anime and it simply looks like the cube keeps turning through itself so it's a perpetual loop that is made by turning each one of the faces of the cube in upon itself and this continues forever always producing in the center of this four dimensional shape a box or a cube that is contained within a larger cube so the test or the hypercube is sometimes referred to as the cube within the cube or the box inside the box an image number 77 we see a static image of the hypercube being attempted to be visualized three dimensionally on the left hand side in blue and on the right hand side there in red we're seeing a two-dimensional projection of that shape and this two-dimensional projection forms this octagonal image which you see on the right there in red now as I said last week this symbol I'll pause here on image number 77 to explain what this symbol represents in occult belief systems in the occult particularly schools of dark forms of occult thought the hypercube or tesseract is seen as the imprisonment of the spirit within the physical world it is seen as the entrapment in this world of matter of the the spirit and I say that that's a dark world view that's a dark occult world view because this entire construct of the universe is just that a construct to have experience to gain experience and to grow and learn it isn't in and of itself a prison for the spirit it is a place that the spirit inhabits for a time to learn more about itself and this dark world view of seeing it as a hellish prison because of the confines of matter leads to the desire for control within those confines because it's a projection you're feeling like you've been entrapped and therefore you want to maintain control so it's a psychological projection of that which you lack on to another person feeling like you're imprisoned or trapped is the loss of control within you and then you're projecting that outward and saying well since I don't really have control and I feel trapped and I feel imprisoned I'm gonna do that to someone else so that I feel like I maintain some semblance of control so how the dark occultus view the entire cosmos all of reality is they're imprisoned here and they do not want the laws of nature which govern this entire domain as we've talked about so much on this program what the laws of nature are all about natural law or cosmic law cosmic spiritual law as I've been referring to it now the dark occultists do not want do not see these laws as guides they're here to help us to express and grow and learn within boundary conditions that are set up by creation for our betterment they don't see it as such how they see it is that these laws are imprisonment parameters because they want in their imbalanced mindset through through fear and through this dark world view that everything that all of this is just a prison okay and there's no purpose for it outside of tormenting them they do not want to come into harmony with the laws of nature they don't want the laws of nature to be and this is part of what playing God is someone who wants to be God who has such an exalted view of themselves that they look at the entire universe and say I should be separate from that I despise that this even is and I most certainly despise that there are laws that govern this place I want to be the lawmaker I want to decide what is and what is not and unfortunately that's not a place that you live that's not what the universe is it's an impossibility for that to be and like I said when you when someone figures a way out of this universe and into one where natural laws do not apply then let me know we'll talk about that scenario but I haven't seen anyone come out with that knowledge as of yet and while we're here let's deal with what the situation is now the old adage of be here now it's not worrying about what the conditions are on the other side of a black hole or wormholes not worrying about what the conditions are and some other parallel reality or other you know higher dimensions of space-time let's worry about what's going on in this one where we're living and operating and let's gain more awareness about that and attempt some mastery of our current circumstances situations and consciousness because we're completely ignorant of all of those things as a people as a race there are some individuals who are have very good working knowledge of that but few and far between so to get back to this dark occult world view of seeing the world like a prison this leads to the desire to control and therefore in there a cultic system of symbolism the hypercube or the tesseract represents putting other people into their prison that they have created through completely erroneous belief systems it is the symbol that has come to represent the the soft form of mind control in other words it is while people are in inhabiting the physical world they're their incarnated in the physical world they look at that outer cube as that physical body or physical shell or you could even look at it as the entirety of physicality of the whole physical world but then inside of that tract is mind the mind is being held in that smaller box so that it can't break outside of that and understand the totality of everything as being a spiritual construct that that outer cube is spirit it's not just matter it's ultimately spirit but if you hold the mind in the in the cube in the inside through a form of mind control it can never expand to understand the deeper waters that it's operating within it can never come to fully understand the self in other words so you're keeping someone back from knowledge of self that's what the hypercube or tesseract symbol has come to represent in the world of the dark occult so knowing that that is the symbol of mind control the symbol of keeping someone in ignorance keeping someone duped keeping them dumbed down so that they cannot understand what's going on around them and keeping them in complete ignorance of the true nature of self so that they never expand their awareness and come to a wider understanding of mental emotional and psychological and spiritual dynamics that are taking place within them and around them this is what consciousness is about is understanding those things and the tesseract is about destroying those expressions for consciousness it's about keeping them limited and in a box you could look at it as consciousness control over all not just mind control the limitation of human consciousness is probably one of the best short definitions I could give for what the tesseract or hypercube symbol ultimately represents and that is a prison within this world you know that is technically putting yourself into a cage from once there is basically very very limited options for escape if you harden and calcify those belief systems in your own mind so let's start to take a look at what this symbol how this symbol is being used in relation to the people who are doing the bidding of the dark occultists who basically have ascribed this meaning to this conceptual symbol of the hypercube image number 78 shows a police 8 saw 8 cornered hat as it is known and this is that the general a model for a police hat here in the United States they use an octagonal shaped hat now we saw that the hypercube is represented in its 2d projection and one of its two 2d projections because there are other ways you could envision the hypercube projected to dimensionally but essentially the 2d projection that is favored in the occult world particularly the dark occult world is the Octagon the octagonal shaped hypercube or tesseract where again is this hat placed it is placed directly on top of the human head the top of the head traditionally is the place that is ascribed for what is known as the crown chakra in the Vedic traditions the energy wheels or chakras representing centers of spiritual activity within the body in that tradition the crown chakra whether you believe in the crown chakra or not the occultists most certainly believed in this energy center which is a high expression of consciousness it is the highest chakra that operates within the body in the Vedic system yes there are seven in other systems of chakra and energy work people have ascribed more that lay outside of the physical body and at a higher level above the head however the one that represents cosmic consciousness or coming into non-dual consciousness non-duality is the crown chakra and this octagonal symbol which represents mind control which represents the limitation of human consciousness okay is placed directly above the on top of the crown chakra at the actual place that the crown chakra is said to be located in the body which is the apex of the skull right at the top of the head so they're putting the Octagon right on top of the highest spiritual center within the human physiology and they're putting that octagon right there symbolically to keep that higher spiritual inner energy confined and trap it in the tesseract the endlessly rotating cube prison in their worldview and like I said again you don't need to believe in the hypercube or tesseract as as this symbol that they say it represents but the the the people who are controlling these institutions the military and the police that is their belief system the occultists who control those institutions I'm explaining to you what their belief system is because I've been involved in it and I know what it is I don't think I know what it is I do know what it is I was there with them I held some of these views in my past until I woke up and gave birth through hard work and enormous suffering to what is known as a conscience conscience was finally born in me and I ceased being the dead and was finally born into true life into real care so this symbol you don't need to agree with the interpret interpretation of the symbol I'm explaining to that is the dark occult interpretation of the symbol and many people do believe in and ascribe that meaning to it and that's how they're using it that's why they're putting it there it's a form of mockery you're telling this person you're completely shut down spiritually you're telling them they're in mine can your in mind control and ultimately what they're saying to them by putting a symbol like this right on top of their head is I own you I own you you are owned by me you are my puppet you are my golem you are my creature that I breathe life into and you will take no actions that I do not command that is exactly what these occultists are saying to the police and I'm gonna see if I can have drawn a scene from a ritual that I attended years ago where I was talking to one of the Satanists who was involved and he was laughing so hysterically at the police and saying how much they owned them how much the dark occultists completely owned these people's body and mind and he was laughing so hard I don't think I've ever seen another grown man an older gentleman had to be in his 60s then maybe late 60s and he was laughing so hard tears were coming out of his eyes and it was a deep sadistic belly laugh just absolutely totally mocking these people who do their bidding and he was telling me if we came forward and explained our belief system to the people we have under our control who were actually members of this institution and think what they're doing is you know serving the people if if we came forward and told them all of the different connections of how we owned these institutions ultimately through the financial system and we told them what we think of them and we showed them the symbolism that we use to mock them they wouldn't believe us he said we have them so totally mind controlled that if we can if we ourselves at the highest levels of the hierarchy of occultism came forward and explained it to them they would not even believe us we would essentially not be able to tell them they're so totally controlled and so totally given over to our influence that if we came forward and explained to them exactly as it is they would say oh absolutely that can't be it cannot be I refuse to accept that that's the case that that's how it is and they wouldn't even believe their own masters that's how much that's how deep into the mind-control that they are and I agree with them that's true so what I wonder and I put this sort of comical image here in image number 79 because it it it says so much and so you know with really one word this is what really it's going to take is basically saying stop but it just it shows you where the mindset it's kind of almost on my part even meant to be a subtle jab or a little bit of mockery on the part of these people because it that what the cultists are saying is true what the dark occult is saying about the police is the case I can't tell anyone without being dishonest that what the dark occultists are saying about these people is true they're not intelligent they don't have intelligence they don't know what's going on around them they don't have any care they don't have any personal responsibility they have all proxies for that it's things that they believe that aren't true that that they think represent all those things they think they're courageous but their courage is a proxy because it doesn't take real courage to get behind a bullying institution based on violence that's basically hiding that's not really standing out and speaking any truth that's saying oh I want to be I want to be a member of the team that happens to be the toughest right now so that I uh you know my aggression will will probably remain the least checked because that's how these people think they're a lot of these people are just people who want to do harm to other people and they they filter into an institution that will allow them to get that done largely unchecked due to the belief in authority due to the largely unchallenged belief in authority in this country and throughout the world and that's what's leading us into this dark new world order is this belief in authority but to me this archetype alee represents the typical police officer here in image number 79 you could say that's as harsh as you want or as insulting whatever I don't it doesn't matter because it's the case these are individuals who largely don't have any real learning under their belt even if you can say well that some of them are intelligent oh they can make detective or etc and they have logical thinking ability that's this is all left brain intelligence they have no heuristic thinking ability they have no big-picture thinking their intuition is shut down that's why they're terrible at judging situations at face value and all they want to do is step in and take control that's it take control control the situation don't try to figure out the truth of the situation control it this is all left brain and that's not intelligence as we talked about weeks ago that's not what intelligence is that's called at the very best some intellect which is divorced from the right side or Sacred Feminine side of the brain which deals with creativity intuition nurturing creative thinking and heuristic thinking but police don't have that they're not intelligent no matter how intellectual they are that's not what real intelligence is any real intelligent individual would never do this job for any reason for any money under any circumstances because they realize you can't do any real good attempting to continue to control people the only real good that can ever come about is it attempting to educate people truly educate which means to lead out from from Educare a in latin meaning lead out from that's what education really is and what you're leading them out of is darkness the darkness of a worldview that is devoid of spirit and is devoid of true compassion and this is all at of this whole presentation I'm making is attempting is it is an outreach that is done in true care to attempt to outreach to these individuals to show them how they're being completely accosted non verbally accosted by the people who own them who own their asses and they own their ass because they own their mind they've given their mind over to these people and their worldview and I'm not sure why we're hearing the Whomper music maybe this is something that's coming up at the top of the hour but I apologize for that ladies and gentlemen hopefully this won't go to a break and people are still hearing you through this [Music] ladies and gentlemen we're back I apologize for that break I'm not sure whether they kept in that one break at the top of the hour for some reason but I will talk about it with the producers of the show after um after the show and try to work that out with them but getting back into the subject material we're talking about the hypercube symbolism and we were looking at image number 79 I believe it was which was a picture of a cop holding up a octagonal stop sign we'll talk about later the concept of the stop sign in general as being a representation of the hypercube but just a the thought that I threw this in for is I just wonder when the police will say stop to their masters if ever and really that's what needs to be done is that these people have to say no of the concept of apophysis needs to be engaged in and that's the problem is that not enough people will say no and if we aren't saying no if we refuse to stand up and say no we are tacitly saying yes to this agenda of imprisonment this agenda of enslavement and this encroaching police state that is going to destroy our attempt to usurp and destroy our natural freedoms so let's continue to take a look at some other hypercube symbolism one of the other ways that the hypercube is represented in a more simplistic fashion is a double square okay if you see two squares put together this has a hidden octagon in again the negative space which the occultists always love to use but moreover it represents these two boxes of the prison of the physical world as the dark occultist see it and the prison of the mind which they are holding people in through putting out all of the completely erroneous world views and the lies the blatant lies that they spread through their media so it's mind control and it's imprisonment within the physical body which that is their overarching worldview because they want to be God and they want to not have natural law they want to be the lawmakers and when it comes down to it folks man is not any lawmaker the Creator is the maker of laws natural laws are the only laws that exist it's up to us to discover their existence and then bring our consciousness into harmony with those laws and that is a way that is the only way to peace prosperity and freedom that's it it's not going to happen any other way if you think it's gonna happen any other way I hate to burst your bubble but you are incorrect you are wrong it will not happen through the reform of politics it will not happen through the reform of finance it will not happen through any external shuffling of external institutions around you are rearranging furniture on a sinking ship so the only way that's going to happen is to aligning one's consciousness with the laws that are already extant in nature meaning they already exist and it's up to us to recognize their existence because these are occulted laws they are hidden from sight the Creator didn't just doesn't post signs saying here's the laws of creation you know it's up to you to develop consciousness and develop awareness enough to recognize that those laws are in place and then make the decision to align your behavior within the parameters of right action and the problem is so many people don't understand the difference between right action and wrong action but they continue to choose the wrong over the right and justify that immoral behavior and the police are among the top people who are guilty of that mode of behavior of that that immoral behavior because they don't understand sovereignty and they don't understand the difference between force and violence and what they're engaged in ultimately is violence against the people because they engage in so many activities that they have absolutely no right to on people who have harmed no one else just because someone some other flawed man wrote down a law saying because I want it this way and I've convinced another a bunch of other people that I want it this way that that's the way that it should be having absolutely nothing to do with the laws of nature so a researcher that I highly respect and admire and I've said many times before that if people had 1/10 of this gentleman's courage the world would be free tomorrow morning by tomorrow morning say whatever you will about his research ok if anybody had the courage that this person had we won't have the problems that we have in the world it would solve itself just on that dynamic alone let me tell you and that's David Icke David Icke from his book the biggest secret made this statement regarding the double square symbolism and uh you know a lot of people who criticized this man I want to just have a brief aside I've probably said this before but it always helps to reiterate it a lot of the people who have criticized this individual have never really looked at his research they've heard a couple of things he's done through YouTube or something like that and they've they've they've heard it out of context or they they've just listened a bit I ask people whenever they say something negative about David Icke let me ask you something have you ever read like even ten of his books you know cuz he has like 18 books or something now and I've read over half of them I'm on right now I'm reading children of the matrix I'm about two-thirds through it and if you start his books in progression and really read them and then look at the source material that he's referencing in these books it's a study on to itself that what you would not be able to complete the study of all the material that he references as resources in his books you would go on forever for multiple lifetimes that's how in-depth the research that he does and this and the sourcing that he cites so checking out one of his books will lead you to like a hundred others you know and that will grow from there because then those will have sourced and reference materials as well and it branches out like you know the limbs of a tree but I talks about this double square symbolism in his book the biggest secret and you see here on the left and an image number 81 the Sussex Police logo formed by these two overlapping squares with of course the crown above them suggesting that really what they're upholding is the divine right to rule of the monarchy and here's what Mike says about the double square symbolism he says the double square one square on top of another in any form is more secret society symbolism in the secret language of symbolism one square on top of another means control of all that is right and all that is wrong all that is just and all that is unjust all that is positive and all that is negative in other words we control everything that's what this symbolism means I told you that the hypercube or tesseract is a symbol of control namely mind control and the control of the spirit and once you have control of the mind someone has given up connection to their true spirit and they have also ultimately given up their body because the mind is what directs the actions of the body and if someone else is controlling that they're ultimately controlling you physically so that's why the mind needs to be controlled that's why mind control techniques are used by these occultists they know that they're not gonna just go in and snatch control over the spirit and they know if they just attempted to control the body outwardly that there would be too much pushback and resistance against that because it would be so in people's face that they would know overtly that they are being held as chattel property by the people attempting it so the mind has to be controlled to keep people in what is known as the prison without bars the most dangerous an enduring prison that there is so that's an excellent analysis of this symbolism by David Icke well and he wasn't even involved in the occult and came to that understanding so I have to have tremendous admiration for this individual understanding that and figuring out just do research the next symbol starts to show more examples of how this symbolism is used and you're going to see it again associated with being placed on the head specifically in the region of the third eye and crown chakras which are the chakras representing knowledge knowledge of self and the concept of non dualism or higher consciousness so in image number 82 that's an animated gif if you look at the progression of the animated gif you'll see that it will highlight the two squares on the police officers head and you see it used here in conjunction with the checkerboard floor of the house and I believe this is Sussex police I think this is an English police officer okay from England the first progression of animation shows simply the outlines of the two squares then you see in the in the negative space that is Christ by the overlapping outlines the Octagon this is ultimately what they're placing there's that two dimensional projection of the hypercube inside these two overlapping squares and this is how occult symbolism works we saw this with the use of negative space and other symbols on previous podcasts we're going to see the hypercube symbol in the next image image number 83 okay another Sussex police logo you can see it even larger and more clearly on this police officers head right on top of the head between the third eye chakra and the crown chakra okay and you see the progression and I fill in the negative space with the octagon the next image shows you the usage in conjunction with the checkerboard floor of the Hat of the house I'm sorry it is on a hat a police hat and just take a look at the looks on these individuals faces and I think that tells you all you need to know if you're in any way conscious already you look at the stare and you know that's there already and you know what I'm talking about and that is the stare of one who knows not the self that's what it is the empty eyed look of someone who has absolutely no idea what truth is has no idea what freedom is has no idea what true responsibility is has no idea what true care is and most certainly has not developed the connection with the true self they have never gone within they're trapped in ego they're trapped in mind and their mind is owned by someone else and if they met let me tell you if you if these people even met who owned them just for a brief time just on that alone if you could just sit just to be in the presence of some of these real cultists who I have to admit are some of the most intellectually advanced people in the world because they read I wouldn't use the word intelligent anymore just to describe them because they don't have that connection to the Sacred Feminine the right mind but they know quite a bit they have they possess knowledge that's why they're using it that's why they call themselves illuminated ones they don't call themselves the illuminated ones for no reason they that's because they have the light they have knowledge but they're using that light as a weapon on other people what they know they turn around and use as a weapon of mind-control on someone else they're not using it for the elevation of human consciousness they're using it for the suppression of human consciousness and this is the result here an image number 84 people who think they're involved in something that's good don't understand that what they're involved in entirely the entire foundational ideological basis for what they are involved in for the institution that they serve is violence that is the ideological basis for government violence not the proper justified use of force its violence and on top of their head wrapped around their brain is the symbol of base consciousness and not knowing the difference between right and wrong and not knowing the self the very symbol that represents in a cultism those concepts not knowing the difference between right and wrong not knowing the self having absolutely no idea about how the laws of nature function is the checkerboard floor of the house base consciousness wrapped around the brain of all of these individuals then on top of that as if that isn't a bad enough insult they place the symbol representing the double square or the octagonal hypercube or tesseract which is the symbol in the dark cult representing total mind control the total control of the body mind and spirit I feel very sorry for these individuals it's so sad it's like an animal that's being tortured really is is the the emotional response I really get when I see this as much as I you know despise the actions of these individuals I don't despise them at the essence of their true being at the level of the essence of their true being I want to help draw them out of that spiritual darkness that they're living in every day of their lives so you know I've said people need to present this material to police to help them to understand why I'm exposing this why I'm exposing this symbolism this is this is wordless mockery and you're being made a fool of because you're involved in something that you don't understand what it is at all because you've never really opened yourself up to real knowledge if you did you wouldn't be doing what you're doing you would understand it to be a lie and if you're honest with yourself ah there's the key if you're honest with yourself you would desist in those wrongful actions I can't remember the philosopher who said it he said when an honest man realizes that he is mistaken he either ceases being mistaken or ceases being honest I'll look up the reference but truer words were never spoken if you're truly honest and you recognize the wrongness of your behavior because it's based in violence you'll stop doing it if you're gonna remain honest other than otherwise you'll probably offer some endless justification trying to turn a wrong into a right which can never be done but ultimately these are these are children who can be manipulated in their naive mind State and some would say I was I was once there I don't think I was ever to the point where I was manipulable to this level I I wanted power over other people but it wasn't that you know I believed in the concept of authority to get that power you know I wanted to do it on a personal level in direct interactions with people one on one you know to get a one-up on them in interactions in life situations I never had to desire to go into an institution that I thought was bigger and badder than me and be a team member that would dress up in a in a uniform to go and be able to push people around that was never my mental attitude I don't think I was ever that mentally naive and immature and you know spiritually shut down although my worldview was probably even much darker than how these people think of the world that's why I got involved in the dark occult but to reiterate I don't hate these people at the soul level I hate their actions I hate what they're continuing to do with their body at the soul level I feel horrible horribly sorry pitifully sorry for where they're at spiritually mentally emotionally psychologically it's a terrible state to be in you know some would say maybe I wasn't there maybe I was even in a worse place at one time the when even farther down past that place to the level of the mindset of the people who control and own these individuals if they if they witnessed that world view and they witnessed that energy they could sense that energy just for a moment I think that the goodness within them would would win out and they would they would want not to do what they're doing anymore they would develop that desire but unfortunately that's not everyone's experience I'm I say I'm it was like a curse and a blessing simultaneously to have gone through that experience because it left me on the doorstep of death and the the abyss of unimaginable human suffering yet it opened my eyes to the true reality of the world and what's taking place around me so in that sense it was a blessing in disguise and I would not take back all the suffering that led to my level of knowledge I would not I would do it again the same way probably because it was meant to work out that way it was that was it to purpose that journey so continuing with some of the symbolism I think I've said enough about that image and how I view these individuals but image number 85 again shows the it's an army symbol that shows the double square once again in a different arrangement here image number 86 shows the Army Special Forces patches and it is octagonal-shaped I did put that white border around it to emphasize the shape of the patch because it was really laying on a dark background so I just highlighted the edge of the patch this is an octagonal shaped patch and you'll see octagon shaped patches over and over and over again in both of these institutions I'm going to take a little bit of time on the next image which is image number 87 this is also an animated gif image in which it will go through a progression of outlining different pieces of the symbolism contained in this medal of valor I said a couple of weeks ago that the medal of valor is one of the darkest and most satanic emblems that exists in either of these institutions the military or the police and this is a military symbol prevented presented by high levels of the military to people who they consider have gone beyond the call of duty and it is a complete ritualistic mockery of the individuals who are engaged in taking part in the perpetuation of the Ault the never ending altar of sacrifice in this world known as war this symbol has so many different satanic symbolism so much different satanic symbolism symbolism in it that it is a veritable hodgepodge of satanic imagery so let's start to break it down the first aspect that I want to look at with this symbol is something that I have not really covered much and didn't even touch on it when I talked about this symbol in the free your mind conference and that is the trapezoid the trapezoid is considered a soul catcher in the dark occult you know like a dreamcatcher is considered a protector of the soul the trapezoid is considered an ensnarement or a snare for the soul similar to a pentagram with a broken arm that the the cloven hoof or The Devil's footprint or the pentagram of packs or Faustian pentagram which we covered a couple of weeks back the the trapezoid is considered another catch for the soul similar to how the tesseract or hypercube is considered a catch or prison for the mind this is the spiritual snare okay it is considered the primary shape of Satanism I didn't say emblem I said the primary archetype will shape the five-pointed star is that primary inverted is the primary symbol or sigil of Satanism but the primary shape that is ascribed to the ideology of Satanism by Satanists themselves is the trapezoid and in ritual chambers that I myself participated in and constructed I used mirrored trapezoids trapezoids actual mirrors that were cut into trapezoids so that they would throw light at certain angles the trapezoid is the top of the haunted house okay it's the way that a house is is at the top level on a house that's considered like an old Victorian style house that's kind of you know creepy or spooky there's reasons for these angles being the way that they are angles represent hardened world views curves represent smoothness okay angles often skewed angles like this where one side is shorter than the other are used over and over again in the dark occult to elicit a certain emotional response that emotional response is tension tension this is the energy that is used that is that is gathered in the rituals that are conducted by dark occultists it is negative tense emotional energy and that's what they gather and work with and if you will throw or project that the trapezoid is the main symbol with its skewed nature and the angles that it employs to represent that concept of tense energy and there can be no better example of that kind of energy than war I don't know if anybody can think of any better example of that energy looking at this symbol here in slide number 87 we also can see that a trapezoid is an upward pointing triangle with the capstone cut off with the top or apex of the pyramid or triangle removed and this represents the prison for the soul in the symbol on the reverse side of the Great Seal on the back of the one dollar bill which we've broken down extensively we see that the light is above and then the stone is below and that stone is in the shape of a trapezoid representing the trap for the mine then the trap for the spirit that's the cage that's the prison that we need to break pass break through all those barriers through those walls to reach the light to join with the light that is above us that is the light of the Creator to make a connection to the higher self to make a connection to the true spirit of creation and therefore that one eye is being removed and all you're left with is the base consciousness that the consciousness that is hardened and calcified as a trap for the soul that's why the trapezoid is called a trapezoid I mean it's right there in the word ladies and gentlemen it's a trap this is the archetype 'el symbolic shape that represents a trap okay and that's why they're using it as the hinge for this metal it's the spiritual trap and you're in a spiritual trap if you believe in the principles of the armed forces you believe in their ideology and what they're doing is in any way representing or bringing freedom to the world because they are the enforcement arm for these darker cultists and they're nothing but that and I'm saying it as clearly and succinctly as I can with no apology because there's no more time to sugarcoat this folks we're way past that point now what is embedded within this ribbon arrangement cuz that's what the top part is is a ribbon and then the rest of the symbol hangs on that ribbon is attached to it well we have the octagon the octagon is attached right into the trapezoid so this is another satanic or dark occult symbology being overlaid on the one that is primary which is the trapezoid and I didn't explain that part because it took it takes a little bit to get to that understanding of what the trapezoid represents but go and read The Satanic Bible and satanic rituals yourself by lava he is very straightforward and forthright about the symbolism of the trapezoid he says it right he I believe in the Satanic Bible if I'm not mistaken I could be wrong it might be one of his other books he says that it does represent the pyramid with a capstone missing with the capstone thrown away because that's the stone the builders rejected the the apex or or pyramid Aeon the capstone is the is the stone that the dark builders the dark Masons the dark Oh cultists have rejected they have thrown away the light of the Creator because they want to build that Dominator world that's based in their image and likeness which is represented by the work and progress of the trapezoid but you see now the octagon or hypercube being added to this mix this is it this is a sigil ladies no it's not a symbol the Medal of Valor is a an outright sigil that is communicating dark occult concepts and worldviews to the wearer to the person it's being present and wordlessly like I said they are not gonna understand what this represents they're all oh I'm so proud you know they're not understanding that they're being completely and utterly mocked to their face but without words all with symbols and because their symbol illiterate they are illiterate meaning they cannot read this language of symbols this is a language so going back to the symbolism contained in this metal the octagon again represents mind control so now you have the spiritual trap and then mind control and then we have the double square arrangement inside the Octagon it is it is a skewed double square arrangement that looks like two overlapping planes made from two squares you could see that in the third frame of the animation I highlight the first square in the second frame and then the second square comes into view in the third frame and the Octagon around those star that star arrangement is shown in the fourth frame of the image underneath the trapezoid octagon and double square three symbols of the total control of the being and that's just that we haven't gotten to the metal that's the ribbon you see a trident that is associated with the word valor is a word generally just means courage okay the the Trident underneath is another symbol of dark energy associated with poseidon though in the Greek tradition and the underworld in various occult traditions and you see that the concept of as above so below is represented because it's not only a trident at the top it's a trident at the bottom and it's comprised of intertwining or a helical double helical shape that could be serpentine interpreted as serpentine based on a serpent it's not doesn't have a Serpent's head there but it's a clear reference to serpentine imagery and this ultimately is representing of keeping the again you could look at it as the the serpentine image and then it's ruled by the Trident which is associated with the dark God okay you can look at this as that's the spinal column where that is the middle pillar and it's completely being covered it's completely being ruled by this dark energy and what is that dark energy was these the arrows of war that are depicted behind it I'm not quite sure if the other part is like a lightning bolt it looks like a lightning bolt to me but it certainly arrows which are war symbols and the eagle a bird of prey they like the Eagle symbol of course because of its predatory nature and coming from above from a higher position very similar to why they like the owl symbolism a predatory bird that descends on its prey from a higher position or a higher level of awareness so this is another symbol of the subversion of consciousness in this middle piece of the symbol it is saying we we have control over your entire spiritual nature we have control over all the the energies that are aligned in the central part of the body the chakra system where the we energy wheels that are aligned within the spinal column and we own that you know we're shutting that down and on top of it at the very top of it we're putting the symbols of mind control and spiritual enslavement spiritual entrapment so it can't really get much when just when you think it can't really get any much more any much darker then has already been explained we see the darkest part of this symbol and perhaps are not even perhaps definitely the most overt satanic aspect of this symbol for anyone who is even remotely paying attention and that's the inverted pentagram the inverted pentagram is hanging in the central that's the central part of the metal the the most important part of the metal that is dangling at the bottom part of this metal and again the inverted pentagram represents the destruction of the spiritual nature and the raising of duality represented by the two points above and inside inside the circle that is at the heart of this inverted pentagram which we've already seen as a satanic symbol is the Sacred Feminine the goddess energy contained within the heart of this of the inverted pentagram unbelievable right in the middle of it so the goddess energy the sacred feminine energy of care not being not being invoked here it's being suppressed here it's being put into an inverted pentagram they're telling you good job you've totally annihilated and cremated your care if you ever had any to begin with by participating in the war we told you to go and engage in not to protect the freedoms of the people here that if the military wanted to protect the freedoms of the people here it would be basically standing up to this tyrannical government that we have it wouldn't be going off and waging illegal Wars of imperialistic aggression on other nations and their peoples it would be saying hey I signed and I agreed to an oath to defend and protect the Constitution of the United States against all enemies foreign and domestic and there's lots of domestic enemies that are fascist socialist communists that are working toward the further centralization of globalist power in this country right in the governmental structure and if you want to defend this country we need to do it from the inside before we even worry about what's going on outside this country so if you're a patriotic and nationalistic which I don't even think is really you know the only reason I think that those worldviews have any weight whatsoever is because at least this country has attempted at one point in its history to really be free and you could set point out all the foibles and and different failings of that effort and yes I would say failings of that effort cuz it didn't really hold it did not stick and it was based in aggression and imperialism not because of beating back the British but because of taking the lands that we took from the Native Americans the native inhabitants of this land which were already here before we ever got here you start a country based on that kind of karmic debt what do you think is gonna come back to you what do you think is gonna rebound and boomerang back to you so has many problems certainly many moral problems there were with the beginnings of this country at least some of the concepts and principles of true freedom were elucidated and enunciated by the founders and they did attempt perhaps too late to try to imbue those principles and and bring them forward so that other people could understand them but they didn't they weren't working with a population that was intelligent enough holistically intelligent enough and didn't really care enough obviously a ninety-five percent of those people like we're content to sit back as you know passive observers during the American Revolution and do nothing about 5% of the population engaged in the American Revolutionary War even in an ancillary capacity so look look at what we were already the ignorance we were already dealing with or at our inceptions as a nation let alone what we've bred now it's it's horrific but not to belabor that point let's go back to some more octagonal symbolism or symbolism of the hypercube and see where this is used that not necessarily in police and military symbolism but just in some other areas of society the stop sign a symbol of mind control and it's read associated with the left rein keeping people in the left brain the word stop is on it which means don't progress stay where you are at and this is a subliminal message it's not even subliminal it's obviously just blatant but it goes down to a subliminal level of the subconscious mind seeing it every single day on every single street corner practically and it's a symbol of the hypercube the symbol of control of the control over the mind of not thinking for oneself of not engaging critical thinking of not reading of not understanding of not making forward progress saying stop say still don't go don't go forward again frequency control being employed through the use of the color red and the shape of course being the two-dimensional projection of the hypercube when we talk about institutions that basically don't help people to think critically but are doing direct violence and damage to the treasure of treasures within man which is the human brain and its ability to to cognize and think and analyze and create and Intuit things and imagined we see the sport here in a number image number 89 the octagon being the symbol of cage fighting in the mixed martial arts world and I'm not saying I have no respect for martial arts ladies and gentlemen please don't get me wrong these are these have definitive proper uses in the world all of the martial arts and they're often combined with spiritual studies but to then needlessly for sport engage in activities which you don't really need to be engaging in until you're ready to truly use these things in defense of your rights and to just go into this octagonal shaped ring this cage and pound on one another until all ultimately someone gets knocked out damage is being done to the human brain this is why sport like this has even been invented and yeah you know I understand people who respect this as an art as an art form and it is that I'm not even going to say these people are highly-trained it's amazing what they can do with the physical body and again there's a place for that but I don't I don't feel that the place is going and competing before you need to actually use these skills in the real world you know sparring may be one thing but this is just all male ego and seeing who that the tough guy is you know and secondly in the modern world hand-to-hand combat is gonna come in at the very last effort you know if it has to come to that that's why it's so important to make sure we don't lose the inherent right that we already have to defend ourselves with physical gun weaponry I I'm not I'm a peaceful human being I don't again I said I don't want to see it come to that but I understand the importance of the Second Amendment and what its original intent was and why the founders only used the term necessary one time in the Constitution of the United States once you just think about that fact the word necessary exists one time in the whole Constitution that means out of all the things they put down and as frugal as they were about language and how they did not use words that they didn't need to use to try to be as specific and unambiguous about their meanings as possible they use the word necessary only once and that was a well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State the right of the public to keep and bear Arms shall not be infringed that's it it's about as unambiguous as it gets and people try to twist the definition of what a militia is a militia is able-bodied citizenry it isn't the Armed Services or the National Guard its able-bodied citizenry it's a the able-bodied inhabitants of the land that's who the militia is and that means that's a well-regulated militia meaning they need to know how to use their firearms they need to be trained and how to use them because that's the thing that's acting as a buffer zone as a preventative for the encroachment of tyranny and the founders understood that and unfortunately you got a bunch of morons in the world today that don't understand that because they're of these little boy and girl sensibilities that because oh I'm I'm abhorred by violence we're not who's talking about violence no one's advocating the abbé use the abuse of firearms there is a proper use and then there and everything else is AB use or abuse I'm not advocating abuse the proper use of them is defense against tyranny that's why automatic weapons exist to defend from the encroachment of violent behavior and yeah it will work just as well on a thief or you know somebody who is raping someone's daughter or wife it'll work just as well on that person but that's even the ancillary usage the primary usage is so that the people can defend themselves from the government and anybody that doesn't understand that I'm sorry again I'm not gonna sit here and give extensive historical references to help people to understand this what I'm gonna do is simply call you a naive child because if you haven't gotten this from even a cursory examination of human history you're you're stupid you are willfully ignorant is what you are willfully ignorant so let's go back to one more example of you just to I know I went off in that tangent about firearms from looking at mixed martial arts because we were talking about defense but you know we're talking about here the frivolous use of this art form of this defensive these defensive tools which are called the mixed martial arts this is a frivolous usage of them I would consider it an abuse of them because you're putting the greatest gift that's given to you by the Creator the human brain in jeopardy for not for no reason when you need to break these skills out that's the time to do it and then you you take a chance endangering the brain but to do that frivolously I have a problem I have a personal problem with that people are perfectly allowed to look at it how they will but I'm telling you I think that's a stupid decision and again the Octagon is associated with this because it's doing damage to the brain and therefore ultimately the mind Fort Knox in image number 90 and again that's another animated image for those following in the image section on water on earth is happening calm the radio show page or along with the podcast is an octagon surrounds the building where allegedly you know ostensibly the gold of this country is stored the vast majority of it many people would dispute that there isn't even any vac any gold stored there not any but not the numbers that we claimed that have available on reserve it's not that it's acting as a backing for the fiat currency that we have anyway but you see here that I would say that this symbolically again represents the imprisonment of spiritual gold sea gold being a symbol of enlightenment of the divine essence the spark of the divine within us has always been considered gold the Sun the light these are interchangeable symbols in the art of alchemy in that in the science of alchemy so they're putting the gold of the nation into the Octagon the octagonal-shaped Fort Knox this is some a symbolic reference to mind control of the population you're containing or imprisoning what is ultimately their spiritual gold or their the essence of the true self in George Orwell's movie 1984 I'm sorry in his book 1984 the movie that was made by it I made it based on it I believe this one was from the early 1980s if I'm not mistaken we have the image of Big Brother this is image number 91 so Big Brother is up on a screen and it's an octagonal shaped screen Big Brother's image representative of the English Socialist Party inseok okay is projected up there for the five minutes of hate and this is where all the people rallied and pledged their support to Big Brother and hate our enemies because we are the we are the good guys and we are the ones who have the real moral fiber and we have to go and get the bad guys on the other side of the world the enemies in in Eurasia and Eastasia which happened to be the particular enemy of the day just dependent upon who the Ministry of Truth decides is the enemy for that day and this is a symbol of mind control once again and it's used perfectly in this movie whether that was intended or not by the makers of this film remains to be seen but you know this could be an example of what is known as synchronous ISM art imitating life and a truth coming through in a creative work such as a film so let's look at we're going to transition now from looking at just symbolism to looking at wordplay and this is something that many people won't get because they're too left brained imbalanced and can't see the dynamic of what is known as green language or if you want to look this up look up the language of the bird this is alchemical pun language it is not meant to be taking taken 100% totally literally nor even as the direct intent of the people who came up with a specific word it could also be an example of synchro mysticism working itself out in the universe to bring certain things to our attention and we need to be conscious enough to recognize the pattern this is why the alchemists called it the language of the birds it's something you have to be quiet to hear you have to have a balanced brain to be able to interpret or read this language it is verbal but it is verbal and symbolic simultaneously and I've given many examples of this over you know in past shows and again this is something that people will completely negate and try to say oh it's all nonsense and that's silly it isn't silly when you understand how these occultists love little seemingly funny innocuous things they're difficult for the uninitiated to see but if people engage in this dynamic and look at how language has been structured particularly in English you will see this language of the birds or what is known as green language come up over and over again so we're going to look at language we're also going to look at number later on in this presentation which is known as gematria occult numerology and how that is often used to ritualistically mock the police specifically the police the military also but the police there's a lot of gematria used in their symbolism but we're going to look at briefly here to wrap up this show some of the word puns that are used in conjunction with police so image number 92 shows the word police okay the word police can be broken down into pol and then I see II if we break it down right in the middle so we have pole and that's the route for people okay and then I see e ice pole eise but in green language long and short vowel sounds can be interchanged you can also in the language that you're using it state the name of a letter so if I wanted to say the letter C in place of C or say the letter P in place of the just the letter use the actual phonetic pronunciation of the word that's another way that green language is invoked what is pol ice so pol that the phonetic variation the actual phonetic word word that you're speaking when you say pol with a long sound is not changed when we add an e so anything that doesn't really change the sound of the word can be used things that can change the sound of the word can be used to add on to things in green language to then interpret the meaning you can in you can interchange the name of a letter for its phonetic pronunciation and you can change long and short vowel sounds okay so pol ice if we break this down pronounce the first part and then the second part as we would normally read it in English we add an e to pol so we we still have the sound pol but it means a pole okay meaning a staff a vertical staff like a flagpole or a telephone pole okay ice we know what that is it's frozen water and again Freemasonry is all about the freezing and thawing of our water which is our care the dynamic in alchemy representing water is the emotions the 32nd degree of Freemasonry is the place where even some advanced masons get to but they never go many never get to the 33rd degree which is the temperature if we think of degrees not as hierarchical system but as literally temperature degrees that that water begins to thaw water melts it is frozen 32 and below but a 33 and above it is free-flowing and that's what this is about not keeping our emotions frozen integrating the emotions so that they are ultimately guiding us where our actions need to go so this is intimately connected with Freemasonry this word itself police is a subtle free Masonic I would say dark Freemasonry dark masonry I don't even want to use the term Freemasonry in conjunction with dark masonry all real masonry is Freemasonry pretenders to Freemasonry are dark Masons they're the dark builders they're not building freedom you know that's what Freemasonry is all about understanding the laws of nature so that you can truly be born in conscience that's what this allegorical symbol this this allegory and symbol and we looked into this tradition for many weeks on past shows just go and pull them from the archives we talked about what real true esoteric Freemasonry is versus what the lodge system of today has become and how it has been infiltrated but the concept of the falling of water is free Masonic the concept of pole symbolism the symbolism of polarities is also symbolic namely the polarity between the Sun and the moon and then the Middle Pillar which is the pole that must be climbed that is known as Jacob's Ladder must be climbed to get off the floor of the house the checkerboard floor of the house which represents lack of knowledge of higher laws of cosmic spiritual the laws of creation and remaining in base consciousness climbing that middle pillar or pole grants us access to higher levels of awareness through the usage of the key in this image which represents true care to awaken to a higher level of reality by going through the Stargate which is illumination a looming illuminating ourselves through knowledge and then putting that knowledge into action which is the climb of the middle pillar which is wisdom putting knowledge into action is wisdom that's why it's the middle pillar the pillar of wisdom or will which ultimately grants us aimed a renewed connection with the divine that is within us which is why the all-seeing eye or the ionic pillar the all-seeing eye is above the ion pillar this is word pun there's there's green language right in the symbolism of the first degree tracing board so police calling them Pole ice is a form of mockery if there is ice upon the pole that needs to be climbed to get out of base consciousness and to arrive at a higher level of awareness and understanding if you're acting as the ice not only can't you climb that pole you make it very difficult for anyone else to make that climb either cuz this would that's what this is all about making a climb to a higher state of consciousness and certainly police are not making that climb they're giving in to the Mind Control and the manipulation that is around them and staying on that floor of the house we'll pick it up from this point next week that's all the time we have for this week ladies and gentlemen thanks for listening - what on earth is happening we'll see you next week

Topics: Non-Support Of Dominators, Occult Mockery of Police and Military, "Green" Language, Synchromysticism, "Polar-Eyes-ation" vs. Unity Consciousness, Gematria, The Foolishness and Stupidity of "Following Orders"

freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Marc Pascal [Music] welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm the networks website Oracle broadcasting calm today is Sunday August 5th 2012 we have a great show planned for you here today we're going to be continuing our ongoing discussion of the occult mockery of police and military personnel we've been talking about this topic for the past few weeks it is part of our section of solutions of solution oriented approaches regarding human consciousness and this solution section that we've been covering is the non support of dominators helping to understand why people who want who desire the control over other people want that control what's going on in their psyche what are their situations how are they actually being looked at by the people who are using them as pawns and tools and that's what this section this subsection the occult mockery of police and military is all about showing just how much contemptuous nnessee so-called controlling arm of this dark New World Order that is being built is viewed by their very owners by the people who own them in mind and since they own them in mind they therefore ultimately own them in body so that's coming up today on what on earth is happening I have a few event announcements the free your mind to conference coming up in 2013 I have a couple of changes about it you can take a look at the related images section for today's show on the what on earth is happening calm radio show page and you'll see that indeed the free your mind to conference dates have been changed so take note I announced that it was the 19th 20th and 21st last week that has been shifted back a week approximately a week to April 25th 26th and 27th to 2013 and those dates are now set in stone and are not tentative because we have now finally booked a venue for the conference so the venue I can announce today is going to be the Arch Street meeting house formerly known as the Quaker meeting house the Arch Street meeting house is a historical site here in the city of Philadelphia in the historic district it is about a block away from Independence Hall where the Declaration of Independence was signed the art street meeting house is a beautiful venue and that's why we compromised a little bit on the dates those are the dates that we had originally planned were not open at the Arch Street meeting house when you see the venue for those of you who will come out to this great conference you understand why we made a little bit of a compromise on those dates because it's a beautiful location it holds at least three to four times the amount of people that we could have possibly gotten into rubra hall for the first year so this conference is going to be bigger and better than the first year event that we held back in 2011 so free your mind to April 25th 26th and 27th 2013 we need help in organizing this conference anybody who is local to the Philadelphia area who might want to get involved in helping with putting this conference on who might want to contribute your time your effort your resources please get in touch with me you could email me at mark at what on earth is happening calm if you are serious about wanting to do some voluntary work in helping to organize this conference also we need donations because it is not free to put something on like this insofar as we have to pay speakers to be able to travel we have to give them airfare we have to put them up in hotels for speakers that we may not have enough lodging space for in individuals homes who are going to be helping out in providing fur for that logistics so there will be a donation page on the website I have built the new show of the new website and that will be going online sometime this week it is almost ready to go I am filling in content now so look for the new free your mind conference website look to go online hopefully by the end of this week and the old site will still be contained within it you will still be able to access all the videos from the first year event ok so that's for your mind to the truth freedom prosperity documentary night every last Thursday of the month here in Philadelphia at a seen market and cafe 719 South fourth Street and you know again I just have to give a brief aside here 4th Street in Philadelphia keeps coming up over and over and over again it's definitely some kind of synchronistic event some kind of energy there it's very close to where Independence Hall is that as I mentioned the Quaker meeting house is at fourth and arch streets fourth and arch streets very very very symbolic so as a brief aside I just thought that that's very interesting synchro mystically but to go back to the free documentary night at a scene a scene is at fourth and Monroe Streets closer to the South Philadelphia area 719 South 4th Street the exact address last Thursday of every month this Thursday we have a really special event planned it's Thursday August 20th 2012 we're going to be showing the film original intent part 1 we're going to be doing this over a two part episode two two episodes here over August and September at a scene we're gonna show original intent which is which is a three hour long film about the original intent of the founders of this country and what they really intended America to become the the experiment in freedom that was this country and how we've gone so wildly off from those original and hence of the founders through cultural Marxism and corporate fascism the maker of the film James Yeager who I can also announce is going to be one of the speakers we have him confirmed for the freer mind - conference James Jaeger is actually going to be present at this particular documentary night he's going to introduce the film and he's also going to take part in the discussion in a way of a question and answer session about the film and it's making after the film is screened so that's Thursday August 20th a scene marketing cafe fourth and Monroe streets here in Philadelphia for more information on that you could go to truth freedom prosperity org James Yaeger gonna be live in person at the next truth freedom prosperity documentary screening night that should be very interesting okay I will be speaking at the MUFON PA East Coast Conference this just came through last week because one of the speaker's was unable to make it I wasn't originally scheduled but I've now been asked to speak and have accepted so the MUFON PA East Coast Conference the mutual UFO network September 28th 29th and 30th I will be speaking on September 30th that's Sunday and my topic is going to be morality and disclosure what are the moral implications of the continued cover-up of extraterrestrial phenomena not very often that I speak on this topic but when I'm offered an opportunity to do so I usually take the individual up on it so the MUFON PA East Coast Conference September 28th 29th 30th at the Sheraton Bucks County Hotel 400 Oxford Valley Road in langhorne pennsylvania for more information on this conference go to WWF on PA comm a lot of great speakers John venturi Frank Ficino junior sous Y Tech Karen Dolan Stan Gordon Travis Walton Rob's Y Tech Peter Robin grant Cameron Richard Dolan and Steven Bassett in addition to myself we'll be speaking so go to MUFON PA comm for more information on this conference coming up September 28th 29th and 30th ok last week at the top of the second hour there we did have a brief two-minute break cut into the show the producers at the Oracle and decided to keep that break in just so I would have I would personally have an opportunity to take a quick bathroom break if I needed to during the show I know that the show is has been made ad free by sponsorships by chippin effort on part of the listeners I after speaking to the network I asked them to let's keep that two-minute break in there at the top of the second hour just so if I have to use the bathroom I'll have an opportunity to just do that briefly and then get right back in at the top of the second hour so if that is a huge issue for the people that did donate to make the show completely ad-free just write to me and we can discuss it and I'm willing to be flexible about that and even take that one out but for now I told the network to keep that in because it does seem reasonable over a two-hour period I might need to empty my bladder so that two-hour break doesn't seem like a gigantic issue to me if it is to anyone else contact me and we can talk about it all right so regarding the ad-free chip and effort as I put on the web page and on the radio show page we will need to keep that going if we want to keep the show ad free so that this has been going great this is a was a great idea and people have really been coming forward and making this happen so we're already at $400 raised for the next three month period we need to raise a thousand for the next three months to keep the show ad free and that's going really well please keep the efforts going keep the donations coming in I thank everyone wholeheartedly for that it worked out even better than I thought it would so great job to our listeners and it is very much appreciated okay the topic for today is the continuation of the occult mockery of police and military personnel which we've been talking about over the last several weeks we're going to continue that today and of course the slideshow that goes along with these with this talk is on the radio show page of what on earth is happening calm it's listed right underneath the player you'll see images for today's show there are a couple of images there and then underneath that you'll see a cult mockery of police and personnel slideshow images and there's a hundred and forty-eight listed we've gone through ninety-two of these images I'm going to pick up at image 92 and give a brief review that we were that we ended off with last week on symbolic language this is known as green language or alchemical language and I want to explain briefly why it is called green language you could also follow along with the PDF document I have listed a PDF document underneath the images if you don't want to click through the slideshow you can download a PDF document with all of the images images in one place the only drawback there is you will not see the animation when an animated image comes up so let's jump into the subject material green language which we left off talking on talking about last week is symbolic word pun or wordplay language this does not necessarily have to be deliberately constructed by the person who constructed any given language it seems that this type of word pun language which is called either alchemical language or green language it is also sometimes referred to as the language of the birds and this is another pun because it's the language of bards okay of people who are coming forward using their voice to speak truths into creation so green language or alchemical language first of all does not have to be deliberately intended it could be as I mentioned last week an example of what is known as synchro mysticism which is the seemingly mundane is somehow speaking to us through language through symbol through sometimes through art through examples of medium different media that have that has been brought forth into existence through enormous creative effort you'll see this done sometimes through moviemaking you'll see this in art in literature it happens organically it happens I guess you could say by will of creation itself it doesn't have to be an deliberately intended effort on the part of the maker it simply works out that way and it seems to work out that way most often in the English language when you see this example of green language or when you see this aspect of synchro mysticism coming in through language so you have to really look up synchro mysticism and just get an example or a feel for what that is it's a great study unto itself and there's tons of examples on the internet about this we briefly discussed this on past shows so green language I would say is an example of synchro mysticism in action and sometimes it is also deliberately intended on the part of the orchestrator of a particular event or circumstance as the case may be so it can be orchestrated and deliberate and it can be an example of synchro mysticism the reason it's called green language is green is the color of as we talked about in past weeks centeredness the middle of both the visible spectrum of light and the self because it is the color of the heart chakra in the chakra system the Vedic chakra system it is the color that nature provides in the greatest abundance the color that we need to take into ourselves to provide bodily health mental health psychological health and ultimately spiritual health this is care energy it's heart energy green energy so it's called green language because one only really recognizes it when one has become what when one has entered that green space you could look at it as one has come to a place of balance within themselves and the hemispheres of the brain the left brain hemispheres we talked about associated with the red frequency okay logic and the physical world physical world modalities of thought red frequency associated with this blue frequencies associated with the right brain hemisphere taking in without first you know of putting up blocks and filters to information open-mindedness intuition nurturing caring creativity etc these are right brain modalities very much associated with the blue frequencies of light again not pigment but light when we come to the place in the visible spectrum that is right in the middle between these two frequencies of light between red and blue frequencies we have green green is the color that is directly in the middle of the visible spectrum of light we looked at it as not only the center of light the center of the self but also the center of nay which is why this planet again produces a green in the greatest abundance very synchro synchronistically I have here a batch of green juice that I made and it is just phenomenal I mean it's one of the ways I think that we can supplement our diet if we do some organic green juicing you can look back into the shows that I did on food for some recipes on that and it will really help to energize the body and help to put our mind into a state that is balanced so that's why it's one of the reasons this is called green language it represents balance in the brain that is necessary to be able to perceive this synchro mystic connection in language that is telling us something it is the universe speaking to us through the language that we have constructed trying to tell us something about what really is that's what green language is or in other words alchemical language the language of the birds it's a very interesting study in and of itself please do look it up and study it on your own okay so we're gonna look at some examples of green language when it comes to the military and the police in mocking ways in very derisive ways in contemptuous ways so we left off at image number 92 last week and we were talking about the word police pol IC e police now we can break this word down in basically a couple of different ways if we break it down right down the middle pol on one side and I see E on the other phonetically you're saying pol isse pol ice okay it's the same phonetic variant in the way that the mouth organizes the word the way it actually expresses it in green language you could there's a couple of transformations that can be done with the word or the syllables or the letters the first is you can make long vowels in two short valves because you're basically using the same phonetic variations when you say a or AA the mouth is doing the same basic thing you can also substitute letters for sounds or you can substitute you could spell out letters in other words if I have the letter I you know that's the same as the word i ey e I can substitute I in there because you're saying the exact same sound so I as a letter just the letter I meaning me i and i ey e can be interchanged you can do things like that so if we're looking at the word police and we're breaking it down we're taking pol and putting that to the left side and IC and putting that to the right side we can then put in a letter we can put in e pol ii because we're not changing the sound of the word pol and Pol which is the root of people okay and pol pol II the sound does not change that is being made when you speak those two words were in the case of pol a piece of a word so now we have the term pol ice this is a Masonic allegorical symbol okay pol ice referring to police means these are the people who are making it next to impossible to make the climb in consciousness this is represented by the first degree tracing board in the occult tradition of Freemasonry these pillars or poles represent aspects of the consciousness as we have seen in studying esoteric Freemasonry on past shows we looked at what these pillars represent the duality that is inherent in us that we need to transcend okay that the world has programmed into us and that it we will stay in if we stay in base consciousness or physical world identification which is represented by the checkerboard floor of the house thus representing the chequered life or the chequered worldview of people who have not come out of ignorance they still don't know about cosmic spiritual law they still don't know about objective morality the objective difference is between right and wrong and therefore they are Wanderers on this floor of the house and I'm referring to this symbol in image number 92 this sigil that is the first degree tracing board of Freemasonry that checkered floor represents that base consciousness and ignorance of higher law and it also represents the journey toward unifying unity consciousness unifying the left and right brain hemispheres the Sun and the moon the Temple of Solomon Sun and Moon that's what this image represents and that that's the left hemisphere and the right hemisphere of the brain they need to be brought together in balance so that we can make the climb up that ladder which is the middle pillar the path of balance that middle path or middle Pole to higher consciousness represented by the all I of the Creator and when you have the key of care in hand that's how you can make that climb that's why that key is there in the middle of that ladder that has to be striven strived for okay so that we can unlock the Stargate to higher consciousness that is within us this is a highly symbolic symbol that represents putting aside duality getting out of the imbalance of left and right brain hemisphere imbalance and making a journey upward in consciousness to unity consciousness whereby we are not dual anymore within ourselves we think feel and act without contradiction as we think so we feel so we act that's what this symbol ultimately represents so the word police or pole ice is a Masonic green language mockery that is basically calling them ice now that's another Masonic term again ice these are often lower-level Blue Lodge Masons okay specifically the FOP the Fraternal Order of Police is associated with the Blue Lodge degrees of Freemasonry and I would even say Freemasonry I again I have to train myself to get away from even looking at this as actual Freemasonry this is dark masonry is what we're talking about here it's not true original esoteric Freemasonry as was taught in the ancient mystery schools it is dark masonry it is a perversion of that original tradition that was a tradition through allegory and symbol to teach morality and cosmic law and it is again in the modern world we see that it is hard probably fallen from those ideals and it is being used in an occult way to subvert consciousness and this form of green language is one of these ways used as a mechanism of mockery and not even again it's symbolic and therefore whenever symbols are used it's wordless mockery but in this case it is being done through words but words that need to be understood in a context of symbolism so when we look at the calling of police ice we're seeing two different ways of of mocking them one if they're Pole ice that means that if if the pole that needs to be climbed to get out of lower or base consciousness has been iced over it has been covered with ice it is going to be extraordinarily difficult to climb it and that climb cannot be made and indeed these are the people who are ultimately holding back the evolutionary progress of humanity through their lack of understanding of natural law these are the people who are doing the bidding of the dominators of this world these are the people who are physically implementing the New World Order the dark New World Order and have always been doing it they have always been that's why it's called a police state ladies and gentlemen it isn't called a people state when there's horrible tyranny okay it's called a police state they're the ones who ultimately always implement tyranny regardless of who you want to claim is is responsible at higher levels for giving orders the order followers again are always the ultimate architects it can't that structure cannot be built without them they've again they may not be the architects but there are the physical builders of it okay they're the construction workers that actually do the building so another way that ice is used in a derogatory sense when we're talking about Masonic green language here is that they're being told that they're they have not reached the light okay this is another thing that ice means in the context of free Masonic symbolism because reaching the light is the 33rd degree it's the first of what is known as the illuminated degrees of Freemasonry and if you're below that 33rd degree you're frozen okay 32 degrees is the temperature at which water is frozen is in its ice form which means you have not become free-flowing you have not ultimately received the light of the Sun so that you can melt and become water which is the symbol of spirit okay the spirit has not been taken in to oneself through the light of the Sun the knowledge that you take into yourself about higher law and that is why 33 is considered the first degree of illumination the illuminated degrees because it is the first degree of temperature at which water melts because it has received enough sunlight so calling police ice is another form of mockery is subtle yes it is subtle but it is there and again whether you think that's deliberate or not deliberate I would say is irrelevant because if it's deliberate you know we can build the case that it is deliberate based on how this symbolism works out through this kind of language and we could also build the case that okay it's synchro mystic well either way you're being told something as a result and it's something profound to see if you're at a place in consciousness that you're able to decode that symbolism and that language and I would say there's it's definitely an encoding a hidden encoding whether it's deliberately were castrated or whether it's an example of synchronous mysticism I would say I would almost say it doesn't matter it's there for those who have eyes to see and ears to hear so another way we could break it down is we can substitute the word ice for eyes okay they were saying the same phonetic variant ear it's not no different eyes eyes it's the same thing you're you're forming your mouth in the same way to say these words okay so pull eyes right I've written it here on the fourth line of this image is saying the individuals have been polarized these are pole personalities polarized personalities in other words they have been trained and indoctrinated into seeing the world as us versus them which is their mental attitude when it comes to anyone who is not police or anyone who is not giving them their orders it's it's us and everybody else and as long as that mind state stays present in these individuals and they cannot be brought to true unity consciousness and seeing the situation of our world as that we're all in this together and getting out of this us-versus-them mentality see I'm not even in an us-versus-them mentality when it comes to the police that doesn't mean that when police come for my freedom all I would lay down and say well since you're me and I know that you're you know we are ultimately won at some aspect of being that I'm not going to do anything or take any action that doesn't mean that what it means is I'm reaching out to make this effort to explain this to them and help to get them out of that us-versus-them dualistic mindset the fact that I'm doing that is proof that I don't see them as separate there are the ones who continue to see everything as separate we have to try to get them out of this mindset so that they stop serving this evil in the world because that's all they're ultimately acting as what and again people can make a billion excuses about why they have to do what they're doing or why society is so much better with people like that in it no it isn't because it's all based on control which is ultimately based in fear and you cannot create order through fear you cannot create any goodness through fear you can only create chaos you can only create destruction and it's part of the reason that we're heading into a totalitarian society is because these people have chosen to try to control people rather than educate people I've said before you want to look you want to know what the solution is you need the people who are in this us-versus-them mindset and we're gonna control and we're gonna centrally plan everything and we're gonna you know create further centralization of power so we can control people and and that's somehow gonna make the world better if that's your your purely imbecilic mindset that's based on a complete lack of understanding and total ignorance of the laws of nature one understand you will never create anything good with that that's an impossibility that's like saying I'm going to ensure the safety of my house by covering it in gasoline and lighting it on fire yeah I'll create safety like that watch here we go you know enjoy what you're gonna get you're gonna get something that is burnt to cinders and that's what ultimately these people through their ignorance are doing to the world whether anyone wants to accept that or not is irrelevant it happens to be the case it happens to be true and I've said before what they need to do it's not even so much as what they need to do it's what they need to stop doing they need to stop doing its apophatic the pathway the solution of this is apophatic they need to stop following orders order following is the problem okay and that can only happen when you're in a sick demented twisted world view of everything is us versus them and I have to get it come out on top and I have to be the one doing the control controlling you know true freedom doesn't just mean that there is no one controlling you it also means you're not controlling anyone else so this green language to continue it poll eyes is the polarity of these individuals it's the polarization of their mindset into looking at the world as constant strife and struggle between one group and another group and they are picking aside their choosing aside and saying I'm gonna play this role and I'm going to be the aggressor and I'm gonna be the controller so it's a polarized worldview that doesn't see everything as together as unified it sees everything in a state of constant separation the second aspect of this we can change the I apostrophe s as in many eyes or individuals into eyes ey es whole eyes and this gets into some deep mystical symbolism when it comes to vision when it comes to what is the difference between two eyes and one eye why is one eye such an important symbol over and over again and different in different consciousness traditions regardless where they happen to be geographically regardless what of what time period they happen to be found in when you're saying that someone has pole eyes you're saying they see the world in opposition consciousness in dualism they have not unified the eye okay they have not unified themself they're still in a state of conflict and opposition within and their spiritual sight is do alized okay it is still existing a state of dualism that's what pole eyes ey es pol e pole polarity polarized right eyes so they're seeing with the two eyes on top of those poles the Sun and the moon in other words states of imbalance toward one brain hemisphere or another the Sun being the left brain hemisphere which in a state of imbalance results chronic imbalanced toward the left brain hemisphere results in the desire to control others to be a Dominator and in the right brain hemisphere the lunar ok hemisphere associated with the moon imbalanced toward that brain hemisphere results in being an order follower ok bowing down to authority accepting the authority of others and then therefore just doing what they say blindly and this exactly describes the consciousness of police exactly identical they are people who are stuck in the chain of obedience they think they in their right brain and balance because their entire brain is imbalanced it's not just imbalance to the left brain it's also imbalance in the feminine lunar hemisphere of the brain the right brain hemisphere because they're in a state of chronic imbalance there because they're constantly bowing down to the authority of others so as an order follower they're trapped in the right brain hemisphere and then as a order giver as somebody who you know is given a little bit of quote authority to go and command others and bark orders out at other people they're trapped in that chronic left brain hemispherical imbalance so they're not only really truly in these states of chronic brain imbalance as we've talked about a ton here on this show but they're also being mocked in regards to it by being called police the word police means a state of chronic brain imbalanced toward both brain hemispheres when we decode it alchemically when we decode it in green language terms and again people in a state of left brain imbalance themselves will say there's nothing to this this is all just made up in you're seeing connections where there are none well I would say there's no way I'm seeing that connection by accident again you can make the claim that's not planned or orchestrated and fine wonderful it's still there then the universe put it there by our arbitrary choice in language and it's still telling us something if we understand how to decode it in language and symbol so the next slide and you know again more and more synchro mysticism seems to be coming up synchronicity synchro mysticism because I didn't plan when I was making this presentation for this to be slide number 93 the next slide it just happened to work out like that it's not like I said well what's my number 93 slide going to contain okay I didn't do that yeah and I really just noticed this in in relooking at this presentation that this the slide that I put together for the first free your mind conference of slide number 93 was about the all-seeing eye and it was a quote from the Gospel of Luke the words attributed to Jesus regarding the one eye now if there's no clearer example of syncro mysticism and of the universe speaking to us I don't know what is because again if you look at what the number 93 represents it is the number of will it is the number of Ascension it is the number of love it is the number of aspiring to higher consciousness and unity consciousness there's no way that's an accident that this slide just happened to be slide number 93 of this presentation I no one will ever make me believe that that's an accident that's an example of the universe speaking to us and what they call in synchro mysticism a sink wink quite literally the wink of the eye okay so this slide is showing what the all-seeing eye or the one I actually represents and the words attributed to Christ in this Gospel of Luke again here's more synchro synchronicity Luke is another form of the word light looks in Latin light and that's what this is all about the light and the words tell you that this is all about the light the quote from the Gospel of Luke light okay attributed to Jesus is quote the light of the body is the eye therefore when your eye is single your whole body is full of light but when your eye is dual your body is full of darkness now I want to take some time to really break this down and help people to understand what's being said here the words attributed to Jesus here in this gospel are telling people that the spiritual vision the spiritual spark of the divine that is within people is represented by this concept of the eye now that is the word ie ye like something that you see with being able to see the nature of the reality that is around you and being able to see the nature of yourself of what's going on inside of you is key to awakening is key to opening up that eye or that center of spiritual vision within the self and he's saying that the eye has to be single there needs to only be one eye in other words you cannot exist in dual consciousness he's saying the brain hemispheres in conjunction with the heart have to be unified as we think so we feel so we act our thoughts our emotions and our actions have to be brought together as one and when we do that this one I the spark of the divine the center of the spiritual intelligence within us all comes online it has been looked at as the pineal gland in the center of the head in conjunction with the heart chakra opening up and flowering true care being born in conjunction with knowledge and a balanced mind that's what the all-seeing eye is traditionally represented and here in the middle of these two pillars representing duality the two pillars represent the dual aspects of the personality masculine feminine ok the need to be brought together in balance and blending 200 waken the one eye now he's saying when that's done that the body is full of light that means that your actions will be in harmony with the laws of nature your actions will be in harmony with the laws of the creator of the universe you will be in harmony in your actions bodily with cosmic spiritual law which is the light if you see things in that constant state of separation he's saying when your eye is Dule when you have this us-versus-them mentality and moreover when the eye is Dule it also means that your thoughts emotions and actions are not in harmony with each other as you think so is not as you feel or as you act you may think one thing and then do another you may feel a certain way and your actions betray those feelings what has been traditionally called the sin against the Holy Spirit to sin against the Spirit is to know that actions are wrong than to do them anyway you're betraying what you know to be right what you feel to be right what your conscience is telling you is the right thing and that's the state of dualism that's the state of opposition within and the Christ figure here is saying when your eye is like that when it's in that state of dualism when it's duel then your body is full of Darkness that means all of your actions are ultimately going to betray cosmic spiritual law they're not going to be in harmony with the laws of nature and in any way can they not in any way can they possibly create order or harmony or peace or prosperity it's an impossibility when that's your state of consciousness and that's exactly what is being said to these police they're being told at all times and places that this is the state of consciousness you're in and mocked as a result of that there being just by the fact that they're being called police and then they're called officers it's saying the exact same thing in two different words because officer we could apply some rules of green language off then take the letter I by itself and then take the letter C er the letter C er at the end off aye sir well we can look at it just like that off aye sir right it's a person who is has the eye off the one eye is off but if we apply another rule of green language okay we can take the word the letter C by itself and then just replace it with the letter C s with the word C s EE as in to see something so C and the letter C and the word C s EE applying to sight or vision can be interchanged in green language off I see her so the letter C and then e are tacked on to the end of that and that becomes when we put it together the word cr1 who sees and in this case it's one who cannot see because if the eye is off off I see R you cannot see especially if the one eye is off you definitely cannot see the spiritual reality of where you're at in consciousness and this is what these people are being mocked by being called an officer an off I see R and they can't even see that pun intended they have no idea how they're being mocked in this way both the word police so put it together they're being called a pull eyes off I see R a pole eyes off I see R meaning they're seeing with the pole eyes but the one eye is off or in other words they're seeing everything in a state of separation and duality and us versus them mentality and yet they have no spiritual vision and as sad as it is that these people are being mocked in such a way I cannot say that it is untrue ladies and gentlemen it is not untrue is that not exactly what perfectly represents their state of consciousness or lack thereof I would say that it is I would say that it's a highly appropriate term that totally applies to where they're at they need to be made able to see this by putting this in front of their face constantly and some of the people that really need to bring this stuff to their attention is the women in their lives because let's face it yes women become police too but the vast majority of the people who are building the dark new world order are men through the physical force I'm not saying there's no women behind the scenes in the occult because but you better believe there most certainly are who are consciously directing this but the people who are going to be doing the physical work of this dark order are men because it happens to simply be the case that they have the muscular tensile strength to be able to force physical will on other people and that that's not a sexist statement it happens to be the case that men are the physically stronger of the two sexes of humanity for the most part not to say that there's no exceptions to that rule when it comes to certain individual women but I'm saying it's a generalization that does hold true men are gifted with the tensile muscular strength that is largely not present in the female sex so men are going to be the builders of this dark new world order one way or another their actions ultimately have to be controlled as a result of controlling their minds to get them to build this world of enslavement by physically controlling other people so women in their lives ultimately have to come to this awareness and awakening' and then reach them and I'm going to do an entire show on that coming up how women can reach out and help these men transform and get out of the state the problem is they first have to transform themselves and get out of some of the horrible mental states and you know physical world only identifications and obsessions with you know different frivolous things and you know identification with money etc that many women are trapped in it's not just men who were in those states of consciousness of course it's women as well so when women take back that power and transform themselves first they can become an incredible influence to the men in their lives and sadly one of the reasons why the world isn't transforming at a quicker pace is because more women aren't stepping in to that role as nurturers and transformative examples in the lives of the men that they share their life with so let's continue with looking at a little bit more green language we look at the word military military can be broken down into em I then Li T then a ry and if we then just apply some rules of green language we can make the mi part long a long I sound my Li T would become a long I sound which is light and then a R Y we can simply pronounce alrigh so my light awry my light awry and the word awry means it has gone astray it has wandered off the path well if your light has gone astray and wandered off the path and is out of control that's not a good thing it's more subtle mockery through words through this green language pun my light awry no one wants their light their inner spiritual the spark of the divine that exists within us their inner spiritual strength to go awry you want it to be on course you want it to be you know directed and taking it where you want to take it if it's gone awry that's certainly an indicator that your life has gone awry that you're you know headed in the wrong direction in life so we'll pick this up in a couple of minutes stay with us ladies and gentlemen you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we'll continue with the analysis of the occult mockery of police and military personnel and the second hour of the show today we'll be right back [Music] [Applause] [Music] [Music] okay everyone we're back continuing our discussion about the occult mockery of police and military personnel through the use of green language we're alchemical language word puns we were looking at the word military which breaks down to my light awry well I don't know about you but I don't want to be one whose light has gone awry I want my light shining brightly and directing me on the proper course in life another word that is used to describe individuals in the military is soldier and soldier is another word that is a alchemical occult word pun we could look at break it down Sol and then di er Sol Sol means a couple of different things it's the name for our Sun the light okay Sol is the name of the Sun and look at how many things the the phonetic pronunciation of that term Sol means soul is the Sun Sol is means one once again we see this come up over and over and it also means the soul the spark of the divine within my soul Sol if all of those things have died dire or you could even look at it you could reverse the R and E at the end because it doesn't change the pronunciation of the word it can mean dire meaning really in a bad situation well if the Sun you know our light is in a dire situation if the individual aspects of the personality is in a dire situation and the soul itself the spark of the divine within us is in a dire situation that's really a bad thing see even if we don't reverse that R and E and we just keep a di er saying it's a dire one who is dying the light is dying within us our individuality is dying and ultimately our soul is dying more occult mockery and again you don't have to accept or believe that this is orchestrated in the creator's by the creators of the English language this could be an example of synchro mysticism telling us that that's exactly what this individual is one who has sacrificed all of these things within themselves their light their individuality and ultimately their soul and that's why so many of these people come back from the immoral situations that they put themselves in by following orders and commit suicide were exist in a complete state of psychological devastation through post-traumatic stress disorder and other psychological illnesses that manifest themselves when they're not mocking you in symbolic language in these positions the controller's the occultists of this world will be all too happy to do it in a very direct way for people who you know think oh this is all too subtle and you know it's just seeing connections the next slide image number 96 shows Henry Kissinger making the statement that military men are just dumb stupid animals to be used as pawns in foreign policy dumb stupid animals what did I tell people that the dark occultists of the world call the military and the police they call them their dogs and it once again just to be you know very clear about this that's this is not a term of endearment this is not a street lingo term being used in the sense of yo my dogs absolutely not it means that you are an animal that will listen to my commands you will sit when told you will you will speak when told you will attack when told and you will lay down when told they look at them as animals that have no intelligence and no ability to make their own decisions that have put themselves in the position that they put themselves in because they don't want or like personal responsibility and they want to simply be told what to do they want to be given orders and then the follow those orders like automaton robots and the controllers of the world who were positioning these people in the world positioning military and taking you know troops and putting them into different life-threatening situations this is how they view them he's one of them he's one of these planners Kissinger and he's telling them to their face that you're a dumb animal that I'm gonna use as a pawn in my game of chess of global chess and yet these people will still go into these positions it's amazing because again as image number 97 shows they love being that puppet they want to be that puppet because that to them that means oh I don't really really have to do anything for myself I don't really have to better myself I don't have to change myself I don't think that have to think for myself or come to my own conclusions about anything that I may take in as far as the outside world goes I could just be manipulated and moved and where the puppet master leads me I go no thinking no responsibility that is so true as to why so many of these people love this state of being love it and it wouldn't matter how much they were mocked or ridiculed they have given themselves over to darkness have given them not wanting to ultimately control yourself to want to learn about yourself to want to go within understand what's going on in the psyche work with that material and take the responsibility to transform and better that it means you've given yourself over to evil that's what that means in no uncertain terms and I'll say the state that unapologetically if that's the kind of person that you are you don't want any responsibility you don't want to have to work with your the aspects of yourself and your own personality to transform them and make them better and you want to just give your actions over to someone else and let them make decisions for for you that does mean that you've given yourself over to evil that's what that's the definition of giving yourself over to evil at the at the very base fundamental level and that's that's these puppet masters are all too happy to take those strings there's they're sitting there you know lying in wait to take those strings that people willingly put in their hands because of the lack of that responsibility and again going back with this theme of looking at people as dumb immature animals that absolutely can't think don't want to think we said at the beginning they call them their dogs and they symbolically place on their body when they go send them off to the altar of sacrifice they put dog tags on them some here an image number 98 and this is again this is deliberate because you know they've been calling these kind of people their dogs their animals for a lot longer than I've become aware of it years ago this has been going on for a long time and people can you know find the ostensible origin of the dog tag I understand that there's other explanations given for where it come from let me tell you something what lies ultimately behind that effort is an occultist who decided let's have some fun with our pets believe me if you understand how they think of these people even seeing the symbolism and the wordplay all of that and how they look at them even seeing hearing Kissinger's words were understanding that the dog tags literally means that they look at them as their dogs it doesn't even still do it justice again I want to try to have the scene depicted where I watched one of these Satanists break down hysterically laughing like you know the the the kind of you know let laughter after which you're holding your ribs because your ribs hurt and you think you're one of your ribs is gonna crack from how hard you were laughing tears streaming down his cheeks laughing at the police telling me that if they came forward and told them how much they were involved financially politically militarily in all of the control aspects of society and all of the institutions that they wholly owned their mind and body do what they've gotten them to believe in how they've gotten them to give over themselves you know to these institutions and do whatever they're commanded to do they said that this gentleman said to me if we came forward and told these people that these animals they would not accept it from us that's how complete our mind control over them is it's so total and complete that we have gotten them to accept that that we are not actually their owners that's how much they the illusion of these institutions that we've perpetrated for them to believe in so they don't need to tell them openly that they're their owners you know that they've gotten them so holy to believe in this religion of authority and this religion of government that ultimately they've given themselves over to that even though these dark occultists are the ones who are really pulling the strings behind those institutions of ostensible power so another aspect I want to start looking at today in the second hour is numerology involved in the occult mockery of police and military because we've looked at symbolism now and we've looked at language through green language let's start taking a look at numerology and again this is another thing that people will dismiss and say oh there's nothing to this well I would say there most certainly is something to the numerology because it keeps working out in the same ways because it's it's either the deliberate orchestration put forward by these darker cultists or it's enough another example of syncro mysticism the universe telling you pay attention to symbol to archetype pay attention to sound through through words through language pay attention to number well let's think about this for a minute what are the most basic elements of energy sound form and number quantity this is these are these are the building blocks of everything sound form and number and there we have it form symbolism sound words number so regardless of whether you want to accept or believe that this is a orchestrated coming together of this form of mockery if you don't want to look at it like that look at it from the synchronistic perspective because it's this it's ultimately the same thing it doesn't matter what's being said regardless of whether it's coming from man or from creation is the same thing so when we look at the gematria of police and military mockery we want to look at we want to start with two basic numbers and this is the number 777 the numbers 777 and 666 and we looked at this on a past show when we looked at the geometry involved in 9/11 the number 777 in different mystical traditions has always been looked at as number of man in a state of unity consciousness or having been transformed to the extent that he is like the divine the divine within him is being expressed it's it's at its highest level of expression so therefore he is in the world and not of it you can look at this as Christ did consciousness okay it's unity consciousness thought emotion and action have been brought together no opposition as we think so we feel so we act our thoughts emotions and actions are unified and activated so it's the number you could look at it as the number of the completion of a man our lessons are learned we see things no longer in a state of separation but as fundamental unity and our actions reflect that so that we see the divinity and others and treat them as such as the sovereign beings that they are if we make the gematria reduction which ultimately is adding the digits together and then we take get a result and add those digits together until we come down to a single number so seven plus seven plus seven is the number twenty-one and then to +1 we add the result together the 21 2 and the 1 give us a 3 that is called the gematria reduction of a three-digit number such as 777 so 777 reduces to 3 another number to understand occultic Li in gematria gematria meaning occult numerology it is geometry and mathematics brought together 666 is the failure of all of those aspects of consciousness in man we're not using our thoughts or emotions and our actions to our benefit or betterment we are not in unity consciousness we have failed to arrive there we have we exist in duality in base consciousness so the number of man in base consciousness or beast consciousness is 666 it is the falling short of that number 777 in those three aspects thought emotion and action which each digit represents and there's a reason that it's 777 being the number of man like the divine in other words embodying the principles of higher consciousness because eight eight eight is the number of the godhood the infinite one it's a number of perfection and infinity which no man is in his earthly form as a human being that's why are not number in our highest state is 777 so and this is symbolic again we have to understand this is symbolic it's all about number and form and relating that allegorically to a message to an understanding of ourselves the number nine nine nine represents unifying man in his perfected state with the divine which is in other words the concept of the perfection of all creation or the reason for being of the universe 999 and you know we we look at it as if we add eight eight eight the number of the divine to seven seven seven the number of man embodying the characteristics of the divine in the physical world we arrive at nine nine nine the number of cosmic completion well people will say well how do you add eight eight eight and seven seven seven and come up with nine nine nine well that's really easy if 777 reduces to three we could also rewrite it as 1 1 1 we saw that in the gematria of the reverse of the Great Seal of the United States on the back of the one dollar bill that 777 and 1 1 1 are used interchangeably so add 1 1 1 which is the same thing as 7 7 7 2 8 8 8 and you get 9 9 9 so understanding these two numbers and what these characteristics you know of these numbers represent symbolically helps us a long way on our understanding of how certain numbers are used when it comes to police and military and I'm gonna give it an example here specifically of the police because this is where numerology is used most frequently when it comes to police it's used in the military too but the best examples that I have to present are used when it comes to police so 666 men and base consciousness the number of the beast the thoughts emotions and actions are inactive they're incomplete they're certainly not unified when we reduce 666 we add three sixes together to get 18 then we add the one in the eight together and we get nine so ultimately the number of men unity consciousness is three and the number of men in beast consciousness is nine okay the number nine I've talked about this before represents the carnal nature of men man existing in duality men existing in $0.05 identification and in slide number 100 I give a quote by the founder of the Church of Satan an organization that I was a priest in appointed by the high priest Anton LaVey he's giving a crime giving a quote by from Levay here from his book called the satanic rituals and it's about the number nine levae says despite others attempts to identify a certain number with satan it will be known that 9 is his number 9 is the number of the ego for it always returns to itself now people just reading this for the first time may be confused by this but it will it will all make sense no matter what is done through the most complex multiplication of 9 by any other number in the final equation 9 alone will stand forth solavei here is admitting that 9 is the number of satan or man trapped in beast consciousness in the ego in the state of separation in the state of duality but he does not offer the fact that in gematria when we reduce 666 we get a single digit which is 9 because 6 plus 6 plus 6 is 18 1 plus 8 is 9 so he doesn't offer that he says despite others attempts to identify a certain number with satan meaning 666 but he's not telling you that in occult gematria terms those numbers are identical of course 9 is his number it is 666 reduced that's all it is if we look at what LaVey is talking about when he means that it comes back to itself that nine returns to itself all the time we'll see what he's talking about when we look at image number 101 the properties of nine from a purely mathematical perspective pure purely mathematical perspective it represents the ego or base consciousness returning to itself okay so on the left here we see the additive properties of nine when you add nine to any other value so if nine represents base consciousness man in ego man and duality and when I say man I don't mean male I mean mankind okay humanity humanity and ego base consciousness when we add that to any other value so we start with one we add nine we get ten and then reduce 1 plus 0 is 1 we end up back where we started at 1 meaning we added the 9 and it did not change the result let's do that with 2 2 plus 9 is 11 add the two ones together you reduce it to a 2 we started with 2 we end up with 2 adding a 9 did not change the value you do this with any number any number whatever it happened to have it as its original value you add 9 and it goes nothing changes ok so adding 9 changes nothing and when we understand 9 is the number of the ego it means when you add ego into any situation it changes nothing no value can be brought to the table nothing can be changed as a result if ego is what you are working with or adding into the equation let's look at the multiplicative properties of 9 what happens when we multiply anything by 9 well 9 times 1 of course is 9 9 times 2 is 18 1 plus 8 is 9 9 times 3 is 27 2 plus 7 is 9 9 times 4 is 36 3 plus 6 is 9 we have a pattern no matter what you multiply 9 by you add up the result and you get 9 it doesn't matter you could do this with a decimal value you could do this with a number no matter how large it is how many decimal places it has whenever you add whenever you multiply 9 by anything it only creates more 9 so in other words whenever you multiply base consciousness or ego more ego is the result more base consciousness is the result and that makes perfect sense you multiply something you get more of it so you multiply the consciousness of duality you get more dual consciousness and that's what we're being told symbolically that's why 9 is considered the number of the beast it's 666 the failure of men okay and the inversion of that when we turn it upside down is 9 9 9 the triple-digit 9 is number of completion that's of the higher level consciousness man unifying with the divine which is the purpose of creation is for consciousness to come to a higher level of understanding of it of itself and emerge with what it really is so when we look at a culture mantra one of the main concepts found in it is the ascension of from base consciousness to higher consciousness or to go from the 666 to the 777 to go from base consciousness to to Christ at consciousness from the consciousness satanic consciousness to cry stood consciousness and therefore we could look at it is going from because they're able to be used interchange of not just going from 666 to 777 but going from 9 to 3 and there's that number 93 the number of the will fillet ma the number of love the number of ascension to higher levels of consciousness 93 so in slide number 103 I explained that that is what the number 93 has traditionally represented symbolically in occult terms it is the number of love energy it is the number of will power aligning your will to the higher will of creation and it is the number of the climb out of base consciousness to come off that floor of the house and make the climb up the middle pillar to the all-seeing eye it is the ascension process to higher consciousness so what does 93 have in any way to do with the police for those asking that question you're exactly right it doesn't have anything to do with the police that's the problem what number does have to do with the police again a number we've seen and talked about already which is 9 1 1 the number at least here in the United States that people dial for the police 9-1-1 now add that together and we get 92 just add the two ones together we could also look at it as add it all together 9 plus 1 plus 1 is 11 and that comes out to a 2 which is duality so 92 we can look at 911 92 what that's saying is that you didn't make it to 93 you didn't ascend you're still in duality you're still in base consciousness chaos lower awareness lack of understanding not making it to love energy not making it to with true willpower the alignment of your will with the cosmic Universal will so the number of the police is 92 which is the failure of all of those things not just for them but for us for even relying on them to solve problems for us calling the Dominator to fix problems for us in society not being willing to take on the responsibility to educate ourselves and others properly so we don't have to do anything like that and even even just doing it is the failure of personal responsibility to handle issues for yourself well I won't worry about this individual who you know clearly wasn't educated properly and you know ended up becoming a secondary psychopath not caring about anybody but himself because of the nonsense he's been taught all all all of his life and indoctrinated with and uh you know it's not my responsibility to do anything for a person like that so I'll just let him become a criminal and wreak havoc on society and then we'll call upon the dominator police to come and take that person and remove them from our sight remove them from society and therefore we don't have to look at that problem yeah that fixes it all that cleans it up real nice and tidy doesn't it you failed at educating yourself and therefore you feel that educating others and then this problem manifests you don't want to deal with it so you leave it into other people's hands to deal with it and just remove it from your sight let's just sequester them let's let's move them into with this this private holding area here where they'll really ultimately be taught to be more hardened professional criminals as well and the problem will just correct itself we won't ever have to look at it and deal with the issues that made that in the first place sure sure let me know how that works out for you oh wait a minute all of the evidence is already all around us how that works out isn't it exactly so looking at the number 92 in relation to 93 shows us something even more important if we only arrived at 92 of 93 that's why this number is so important in a dark occult terms 92 or 911 it's because of what it represents when you compare it with the number 93 which represents higher consciousness 92 is duality in base consciousness beast consciousness because it's 9 9 plus 2 is 11 okay you you're the 9 doesn't add anything 9 added to 2 gives you 11 and you're back to 2 okay so you're starting with duality and you end up with more duality because you added nothing but ego and base consciousness and lack of awareness when we look at that in conjunction with 93 ok we can reduce both terms so 92 reduces to 11 and 93 reduces to 12 9 plus 3 is 12 then we do another reduction 1 plus 1 is 2 and then 1 plus 2 is 3 so 92 out of 93 of course the nines you could even skip the middle step there and just drop the nines whenever you see a 9 in any other number or even digits that add to a 9 you could just strike them out because there's zeroes in gematria in occult gematria terms a 9 is equivalent to a 0 so we get 2/3 and as a decimal that is written as a repeating 6 the concept here being that the failure of thought emotion and action continues on forever that no actual corrective mechanisms are being put in place to make this situation better when we exist in base consciousness and then say I'm not going to actually do anything in my thoughts to learn about what's called the causal factors of this problem or I'm not going to activate my care to want to do anything about it and I'm just gonna remain apathetic about it and then to not act not take action and to just continue along that line is an eternal failure of thought emotion and action or in other words an eternal deadness of consciousness remaining dead remaining in the tomb never awakening never rising to a higher level of awareness and that is what we could consider hell is the perpetual remaining in that state of being of the the death of thought emotion and action or in other words the death of consciousness and that's what this world is really rapidly becoming I would say the vast majority of the people of this world already exist in that state of Beast consciousness 666 and I would say they really exist in a state of that repeating six that eternal failure in those capacities they don't want to think they don't want to know they don't want to develop care they like it the way that it is they don't want to act they want to continue to be lazy they don't want to improve themselves they don't want to look at their actions and their behaviors and and analyze why there is imbalance here why there is imbalance present there so 92 is the failure to achieve love consciousness it's the failure to achieve unity consciousness the failure to achieve a higher level of awareness in self and when we compare it to 93 it ultimately represents endless failure and it's again you could say well that's terrible but isn't it so appropriate and isn't it exactly as it is isn't that what the whole concept of 911 or 92 it represents that we failed having to call upon dominators to solve our problems for us as individuals because we didn't want to take personal individual responsibility for bettering ourselves and for bettering our young to properly educate them to draw out what is truly within them that spark of the divine within them no we wanted to indoctrinate them instead which is the exact opposite of real education so let's look at a dark sigil a dark occult sigil in relationship now that we understand what all this symbolism is and what the gematria represents now we can decode a complex signal namely the Fraternal Order of Police is emblem so let's look at image number 107 this is the Fraternal Order of Police a police organization that is connected with the Blue Lodge degrees of Freemasonry and we see the five pointed star which ostensibly represents sovereignty ostensibly represents the individual standing on his own the opposite of collectivism you know unity within and this symbol is being used in proxy of course it's not the real thing it's they're trying to sell you on that idea that this organization somehow represents that when it represents the exact opposite the letter is FOP for Fraternal Order of Police ostensibly once again because when we translate them into gematria terms we'll see that it's quite the opposite we see the all-seeing eye or the one eye a masonic grip on one of the other arms of the star then the words use Phaedo sliver Atum law or justice fidelity and freedom and we see a structure like a fort a fortress with a shield under it with three pillars and a checkerboard strip representing the checkerboard floor of the house and Freemasonry now we'll get to what the letters represent let's look at the symbol on the inside briefly actually we can do that afterward let's look at the numbers first so well you'll say what numbers well we saw that letters can be translated into numbers in gematria we did this with the reverse of the Great Seal of the United States with a date on the bottom the Roman numeral dates MDC CLX XVI and we translated those into numbers that was a nut an example of gematria with this sigil we're going to use english gematria and we're going to translate each letter into a number so if we start with we write the English alphabet we start with a as one and then proceed with B as to I would be nine which is symbolic in and of itself the ego nine I okay J is ten which we would start at one again and then we will repeat accordingly so f is the sixth letter of the English alphabet so f translates to six o is the 15th letter of the English alphabet we're looking at image number 108 now o is 15 when it comes to the English alphabet it's the 15th letter one plus five if we reduce it is six and you'll see I did the reductions for o and P in image number 109 so P is the seventh I'm sorry is the 16th letter of the English alphabet and that reduces when we add the one in the six to a seven so in image number 109 we see the reduced values for F Opie Opie reduces to six six six seven I'm sorry six six seven not 666 what's six six seven so what is six six seven in relation to 666 well we saw that 666 is the number of beasts consciousness man in a state of the lack of activation of thought emotion and action those three aspects of consciousness remaining inert well six six seven represents that only action has been activated has been brought online and someone is acting without thought and without emotion they're acting without thinking and feeling now what does that sound like that sounds like a robot an automaton ones whose actions are automated but ultimately does not think or feel they just perform the actions and this is exactly what police are people who simply perform actions without ultimately thinking or feeling and you I don't know if that came through on the air but there's a thunderstorm rolling through Philadelphia right now and there that was a pretty big lightning strike there just as I was making that point which is I mean you know the synchronicity can't be any greater as far as I'm concerned the synchronicities pas are just piling up enormous Lee you know the strike of lightning as soon as I say that that's a robot that's an automaton that's someone who's acting without thinking and feeling nature coming through and and sounding with with sound and light is amazing to me so this is what is being said wordlessly just through the numbers themselves now let's just look at the word FOP a FOP what is a FOP that means something as well a FOP is someone who's trapped in ego this is a slang term it's someone who's totally obsessed with themselves it could also just be a simple derogatory term as well he's a fob you know he's just someone who you know doesn't really care much about anybody and is just you know he's concerned with himself it could mean that you know he's obsessive and you know is overly concerned with how he looks too but in general it just means the person's overly concerned with themselves they're trapped in ego that's what a fop is cares only about himself and then the numbers six six seven representing the failure in thought and emotion but activating the body so taking action not really knowing why you're taking it and not caring and this is what the basis of every police state is is a being in that state of consciousness or I should say lack thereof the lack of true consciousness now the second satanic aspect of this symbol is the raising as if that's not already bad enough the raising an image in image number one eleven more syncro mysticism one one one the three pillars I did not plan that folks that just worked out like that and the image is about the three pillars and an important aspect about them that the pillar of unity should be raised above the pillar of duality not the other way around and yet here on this sigil in the middle of the Fraternal of Order order of polices emblem we see the pillars of duality are enshrined and held up above the pillar of unity with the checkerboard floor of the house in between them this is representing that the dualistic principles are upheld over the unifying principles where in other words keep them in dual or polarized vision keep them seeing the world as us versus them keep them in those chronic states of duality and brain imbalance chronic imbalance toward the left brain hemisphere or the right brain hemisphere keep them in a state of internal opposition mostly as I said the opposition has to be within has to be internal opposition not just the external opposition of keeping them warring with the the general population that they see as outside of themselves these police you know they don't see themselves as being with us as being part of us they see it as we're separate somehow no you're not you're not separate from anything you're going down and on the same ship and unfortunately you're the ones drilling holes in it and can't see what you're doing because you're under such depth of Mind Control an indoctrination but most of all the thing that prevents them from seeing it is that they're in a state of internal opposition they're ultimately they don't have their thoughts emotions and actions unified they're taking actions that betray conscience that betray what they really deep down inside genuinely no to be wrong they're betraying what they know to be right and they're doing what they know to be wrong they're betraying conscience and that state of opposition is what the word Satan caught where it comes from the word Satan means a poseur one who opposes one who creates strife one who creates opposition an adversary that's what the word Satan comes from in Hebrew language ha Shaitan means the opposer and it is it's not just Satan in in bib in the biblical language when the word Satan is depicted it when I wouldn't when it appears in the original text it is written as Satan hashset on the Satan the adversary the opposer meaning that there is one force that does this and that is the internal opposition that exists within man when he is in a state of dualistic consciousness when he is not in the state of consciousness that as he thinks so he feels and so he acts with no contradiction between those three aspects of consciousness so we looked at all of the reasons why people act like this why is just as important to understand the what more important even the indoctrination the poison all of the it really it comes down to one thing it's all poison

poison going in when garbage goes in garbage comes out you put garbage into a person their behavior is going to be garbage that's all it comes down to so the forms of poison through food through medicine shown in the next couple of slides through mass indoctrination and hypnosis in mass media what these people are taken in constantly all day the trash that they read in the newspapers the trash and magazines the trash that they take in through that idiot box called the television and the trash and poison that they've been fed in the outcome-based educational school system and for people who don't understand that term you better really become familiar with it and start looking into what OBE is and it doesn't mean out-of-body experience it means outcome-based education understand that the form of so-called education which is just indoctrination and indoctrination toward different varying degrees of socialism what this school system came from was national socialist education methodologies from the Nazis they called it man 3 learning and before them the Bolsheviks had the same system and the their system of Education doctrine ation I shouldn't even call it education it should be called outcome based indoctrination is what it is it says call it education as a misnomer because it's not education its indoctrination it's not really drawing out what's within a person it's not leading them out of darkness it's leading them into darkness speaking untruths into them so that they are led into darkness for people who want to become aware of how this system works and how it's propagated you really need to check out Charlotte Ezra beats work the deliberate dumbing down of America yeah it's a big tome but I guarantee you'll learn a lot by reading it and understanding how this education system came to be and what it's doing to the minds of our children so that's a huge part of their actions their identification complete identification with an institution and taking that on as you know ego identification as being who they are playing that role so fully that that is becomes their identity that they think they are that soldier there's no deeper aspect to the self in their mind they are the lower self you know they are the role that they play in society and that's what's turning them into the automaton agents of evil and they can't see it can't see it because all the individualism has been crushed within them they're part of a collective and a collective doesn't really have conscience a collective is only concerned with the survival of the collective the individual has conscience the individual can make a distinct definite determination objectively between right and wrong identification with a group is the the first step toward the death of conscience certainly an identification with an institution is really the beginning of the end of conscience Thomas Jefferson really talked about this even before you know anybody realized what was going on with the takeover of Education here in America you know he understood just from a general perspective he said that if a nation expects to be ignorant and free in a state of civilization and expects what never was and never will be ignorant does not go hand in hand with freedom they can't exist simultaneously period you want to be free you have to be knowledgeable you have to have the light meaning knowledge of what's really going on within you and that these people don't have it they're blindfolded they're hoodwinked and like I said they're all too happy to get on those strings of the puppet master because they don't want personal responsibility image number 119 and 120 show that you know willfulness to blindfold oneself you know see the world through this distorted filter and then ultimately because you hate personal responsibility so much you're all too willing to just jump right in there and be the willing puppet of a puppet master image 121 shows what it really is to be a soldier in today's world thieves of resources of other countries that's that's what it really comes down to and I don't really care who's offended by that like I said get his offend as you like if you're in this institution that's ultimately what you're being used for but you obviously probably like being used or you have this ridiculous childish outdated distorted notion of what a soldier actually is some some asinine version of look T or honour that has nothing to do with being a soldier zero because you just want to be a member of a group of a collective and and be a team member with somebody else so you have something bigger than yourself well here's the newsflash genius there's nothing bigger than the self that's what you still haven't gotten and I'm talking about the capital S self if you have a connection to that you have a connection with the universe but you don't have a connection to that and so therefore you want this connection to to this Big Daddy version of the family and who's gonna take care of me it's just another variant of what is known as the race spirits the familial spirit and the race spirit then the occult traditions referred to as being the thing that comes in and devastates and destroys the individual the spark of the divine within and gives oneself over to the collective and that's why the usurpation of human freedom and the destruction of freedom and encroaching tyranny is always going to be created by a collectivist mindset people have to understand the way out of that is getting in touch with the self and understanding that the magic number is one ladies and gentlemen I've said that before that's the magic number not only oneness you know from a perspective of seeing everything as not not separate but from a perspective of unifying yourself within the self within the context and the framework of the higher-self bringing your thoughts emotions and actions into a state of non-dualism and that is never going to be accomplished by identification with groupthink or with a collectivist mindset on I'll leave it right there and we will wrap up this topic of being a cult mockery of police and military next week thanks for listening folks hope you enjoyed today's show that's all we have time for this week we'll see here next Sunday

Grant Cameron Richard Dolan Steven Bassett and myself my talk will be on the moral issues involved in the continued cover-up of extraterrestrial phenomena and I'm going to be attempting to get at the reason truly why this is continued to be information like this has continued to be suppressed and covered up but moreover even than the why is why that continues who actually assists the most in continuing that continued cover-up who is ultimately morally culpable for something like this for information that humanity needs and information that is so potentially transformative in consciousness that is being held back from the human species and I'm going to look at who's ultimately responsible for that we're going to look at moral culpability when it comes to that and this lecture that I'll be giving so this is coming up September 28th 29th and 30th I will be speaking on Sunday September 30th I believe I'll be this first speaker of the day on the 30th so for more information on this is happening news announcements I was interviewed by the illuminated one Curtis Davis who is going to be one of the speakers at the freer mine conference on his show occult science radio this past Wednesday August 8th 8 8 and the interview is now up in the news section and it was a very intense one I really uh brought out you know the heavy guns on this interview so check it out in the news goal so we have 500 out of the required thousand dollars to keep that going and keep this show ad free please continue the great efforts ladies and gentlemen it is much appreciated okay so let's jump into our topic for today we've been covering the topic of the occult mockery of police and military here on the show over the last several weeks I'm going to attempt to wrap up this topic today there's been slideshow images posted each week as I've been covering this topic to the what on earth is happening calm radio show page go to what on earth is happening calm click the radio show tab and underneath the player you'll see images for today's show on that section there was the free or Maya conference banner I will be making a flyer for the free your mind conference and posting that shortly both to the website and to the water on earth is happening dot-com site haven't gotten a chance to done that just as yet because I've been working so hard on building the new website for the conference the second image up there for under images today for today's show was the MUFON PA conference flyer and then image number three simply showed this section of the entire section on this radio show which I call the way out which is our solutions section image number four is simply a list of the solutions that we've been covering over the past many months and will continue to cover over the next many months we've covered most of these were in the second column talking about the non-supportive dominators three more topics coming up on the second column there in the way of solutions eventually I'll be getting to talking about entheogenic conscious context to help to assist one in changing one's consciousness I will be talking about the power of positive thinking and talking about the responsibility that we have once we have taken knowledge of truth into our self to help others to awaken help others in their process in their journey toward truth so these are topics coming up on what on earth is happening in the future very shortly coming up the topics which will continue the subsection in the solutions section of the non-supportive dominators will be carnism the practice of eating other creatures and how that is really poisoning the energetic field through the amount of suffering that takes place in this regard so we'll be talking about carnism as one of the ultimate forms of domination and one of the ultimate energetic scenarios that is actually creating the situation of our enslavement here on this planet that's a future topic probably coming up as early as next week depending on if I get through all the material I want to cover this week another topic coming up in the in the support of the the concept of non supportive dominators is women's role in this regard how women can play a powerful and transformative role in the non support of dominators solution and how they need to step up into that role and claim it as their own and claim it as something that they are in a unique position and in an empowered position to take action in so that's another topic that's coming up very soon on what on earth is happening so underneath the player on the radio show page you will see a cult mockery of police and personnel slideshow images as haves as has been the case over the past many weeks there are 148 images there you can open them like a slideshow and follow along with the presentation last week we left off talking about the ego identification that is involved in a dominators mindset how they completely take on the role how they identify wholly with their position as a cop their position as a government agent their position as a soldier and that becomes their identity they have no deeper sense of self the true self they are trapped in this role that they are playing and believe that that is their entire identity and that gives them all of their purpose for being in the world and they don't know anything else other than that that is their entire life and if that's your way of seeing yourself as what you do you're already in a mind-controlled state because you're acting under a false assumption because it is not true that that is who you are it may be what you are doing currently you know it may be your current role in life but it isn't who you are it is not who you are and yet these people have become completely identified with the concept of their role as who they are and that's one of the most difficult things to break ideologically to separate from because that's ego death and since these people are so identified with the ego they consider that death to them to the self in the true sense so I'm starting out here rehashing a little bit with image number 117 reviewing just a bit that's where I'm picking up the talk from today and this is part of a colossal level of ignorance when it comes to who we really are ultimately not only ignorance of what's going on in the world they're ignorant of that to make no mistake whether they believe that they are informed whether they believe that they are red individuals they have not really put it all together they have not seen the bigger picture they may have a focus on you know a part of the tree in a part of the forest but they have not pulled back and seen the entire forest and seen then the entire area and then pull back and seen the entire continent and then pull back and seeing the entire global situation they don't have a big enough worldview they don't have a wide enough sense of the big picture of what's taking place on this planet and they certainly don't have the true long view of history when it comes to tyranny when it comes to understanding psychologically the motivating factors of in any given society or time or place so they're not holistically intelligent human beings whether they want to believe that they are or other people want to claim that they are or not intellect is left-brained true intelligence is whole brained and they don't have that true holistic intelligence operating again whether it's claimed to be there or not the case actually is the truth of the matter is that they are these are not holistically intelligent human beings mmm the biggest reason of which is because they are so identified with the role that they are playing they're trapped in ego identification which is one of the main barriers to the to the awakening to the true self the true realization of who we really are and when we're in that level of ignorance don't expect to be creating anything that even remotely resembles freedom you're not going to be operating as an individual you're going to be opt or operating in the collective mindset because you're so identified as being a member of a group we talked about this last week the whole idea of the collectivist mindset and how that is in and of itself a detriment to human freedom and is always gonna be working against it Thomas Jefferson made the statement I read this this quote last week he said that if a nation expects to be ignorant and free in a state of civilization it expects what never was and never will be ignorant and freedom our antithesis of each other they are diametric polar opposites and can really never be brought together to simultaneously coexist where there is ignorance there will not be freedom and where there is true freedom ignorance will have been dispelled especially ignorance of who we are at a deep fundamental spiritual level and that's the problem moving on to image number 119 now the quote Jefferson was 118 119 shows what the people who still believe in authority and still believe in government there they all have the blinders on none of these people are awake to truth none of these people are holistically intelligent none of them are seeing with the true one eye the balanced brain and the awakened spiritual vision none zero no matter how much they may claim to be spiritual a claim and then your behavior your actual actions in the world are often opposed to each other someone's claimed that there are spiritual II activated human being and then their actions sometimes are completely polar opposites and and their actions are a betrayal of their claim you know when people say that there's allegedly spiritual and then they still support the idea of government you know that they're they're kidding themselves they're not only trying to fool you maybe not even deliberately trying to fool you but if you believe it you're being fooled and they're certainly fooling themselves whether they're just outright lying and making stuff up or whether they actually believe their own crap that they're truly spiritually awake and still supporting dominant a Dominator institution like the military or the police or the government you can't reconcile these two things they're diametric opposites and the people in the so-called New Age movement who think that there's any such thing as an enlightened police officer or any such thing as an enlightened soldier there are either one of two things they're naive dupes who don't understand what real spirituality is because it takes into oneself true spirituality takes into oneself the idea that the truth that there is no such thing as authority of any man or group of men any men and woman or group of men and women over any other individual there is no such thing as authority if you believe in the concept of authority you're up rating under a religion a false religion at that and a religion that only does harm only ever has done harm only ever will do harm in the New Age movement again if they believe in this concept that somehow the idea of a truly awakened spiritual individual awakened to the true the true spirituality if that can be that they if they believe that can be reconciled with a believer in authority in any capacity they are either a naive dupe where they are willfully consciously leading you down a path of disinformation they are willfully lying to you in deceiving you because the case actually is that if you're truly awake truly awake you know that authority is a fraud you know that authority is an illusion and you know that that's what the entire spiritual quest is all about what we're here to remember is that fact that there is no authority except the truth and that all of the controls that we place upon people according to the laws of men are all invalid these are arbitrary dictates they okay you can make the claim some of them are in keeping with natural law with cosmic spiritual law but even if one is not that still negates its authority and there is no authority inherent in the ones that are happened to be in harmony with nature's law because those laws were already in place anyway and man didn't make those laws you know stating something that already is doesn't make you the author of it I can state gravity happens to be in effect here on earth and that's the case well that doesn't mean I'm the authority on gravity I'm stating something that is the concept of authority is the major stumbling block when it comes to being truly spiritually aware and the New Age movement once again you know they don't talk about this because they say oh this is something that's negative and we don't want to talk about that and draw more of the negative to us now do we and this is another false teaching this is another spiritually false teaching about this the law of attraction and there is such a thing as the law of attraction we covered it in the natural law section but it's not what a lot of these New Agers are teaching that if you focus on you know something that happens to be going on that's unjust and talk about it and expose it and try to make it right that you're gonna draw that to you that's bunk that's New Age bunk and I'm telling you who put that who put these ideas out there Satanists and dark Luciferians put these ideas out there they told me they were going to be doing it years ago when I was involved in the dark occult they told me wait until you see the ideas we're gonna float out there for the New Age movement the hooks that we're going to sink into the New Age movement and people will bite them willingly they said you they told me you would not even comprehend what people are willing to buy the crap that they're willing to swallow if they think it's gonna lead to their spiritual betterment so they know there's a lot of naive people out there willing to buy ideas like this because they have their blinders on they're ready to go on the puppet master strings you know this is true both for them the chronically right brained like the New Age movement and the chronically left brained like the soldiers and the police that's the whole problem is that you know as we see on image number 120 yeah that puppet met puppet master is there make no mistake about it they're they're those puppet masters they're not imaginary or illusory they're out there but the problem is is that the puppets have the willingness to jump onto their strings it isn't like it isn't so much like that being you know bound and tied and held against their will and made to dance by the puppet master they want to be in that position they love being in that position because it means they don't have to do any of their dynamic movement and any of their true work for themselves they're so ready to be led by other people again the pen is open ladies and gentlemen it's up to us to walk out of it you know the Sheep want to stay in the pen they want the puppets want to stay on the puppet master strings that's the problem and ultimately it all comes from the ideas we're going to be talking about today the lack of holistic intelligence the willingness to be led and be part of a collective the lack of true self respect the lack of true conscience the true objective knowledge of the difference between right and wrong and ultimately the lack of personal responsibility which people continue to refuse outright image 1:21 shows what the military as the Dominator force of the international banks and the Dominator force of you know the westernized world that is controlled by this you know that the money masters and the occultists the dark occultists who lie behind them this is what they're being used for used for and again anyone who thinks that it really isn't like this if any soldiers happen to be listening get as offended as you want to get because that's how it is that's not my opinion that's what is you're under an erroneous assumption that it's not this way because you don't see things clearly from your identified perspective you're being used used you are being used as a hired thug a muscle man to go out and do whatever these international bankers command you to do and take whatever resources they command you to take and if you don't agree with that statement it doesn't mean that that Myia that it's my opinion it's not my opinion it's that which is and it doesn't also does not mean that your opinion is equally as valid because you're under a false or an erroneous opinion as to what your role actually is and you can't see it clearly again from your identified perspective that happens to be the case what I just said that's what is and if you don't see it like that the bottom line is you're not being honest with yourself you haven't stepped back and looked at it from afar and decided to be honest with yourself again there's a very there's a famous quote that an honest man once he has recognized the truth will either once he has recognized that he is missing that he is mistaken will either cease being mistaken you know he'll correct his actions or he'll cease being honest but you know that's so powerful because isn't that really the case what we're talking about here is people who just aren't honest you know they're not speaking the truth they're not being honest with themself above all else so let's cut through it all and just be honest this is what the military's role is and if you don't see it that way you're wrong that's how it is it's not my opinion this is what they're hired to do ultimately to secure resources that this country happens to one and that the international bankers happen to want them to secure in the possession of the United States under the domination of the United States and they go out there and act as hired thugs period and if you're offended by that like I said tough that happens to be true and it's the same way all the time this never changes this dynamic this is how all tyranny always encroaches no matter what society it happens to be so image number 122 is a very powerful political cartoon that the dominators that are soaking up all the resources that other people ultimately need and that we should be first of all in the in the event of oil shouldn't be probably taking out of the earth at all there's been alternative energy systems for hunt a hundred or more years available you know when we look at all the suppressed energy technologies that have been developed and out there since the days of Nikola Tesla and even before all of this raping and pillaging of the earth's resources is completely unnecessary and again that requires a lot of reading that requires a lot of understanding as to what is possible by looking into the science and looking into the the power of great invent inventors like Tesla and others but this is what because of this manufactured scarcity this manufactured lack mentality that the military of this country always is involved in or any other tyrannical regime they're telling you that they come as liberators but what they're really doing is just stealing they're just taking what they want so that they can hoard more for their later use and other people that may be using certain resources in a given area are deprived of it so it's the it's the dominator hoarding mindset that keeps the planet in this state of fear through the idea of scarcity that there's not enough for everyone that there's not enough to go around and again I'm not just talking about oil here I think we shouldn't even be doing what we're doing regarding oil I consider oil the life's blood of the earth and we should not be tapping into the earth the way we're doing it to take as much oil out of it it's it's not ours what is ours is the energy that's inherently abundant all around us that is for our use not our abuse but our use and Tesla and many others had ways of employing that kind of radiant energy and we're trying to explain it to the world but they seem to be too far ahead of their time their minds too advanced for the barbarians that were all around them in the past and the majority of people today are in that same barbarian mindset unfortunately that's why it's so difficult to get people involved and excited about something like free energy or they're so beaten down and downtrodden mentally that they believe that this is some kind of a pipe dream and then it's not possible not only is it not is it possible it was being done a hundred years ago and actively being suppressed since then so another thing that you know these dominators do when are stepping into this sick role is they're actively now involved in torture you know because if people don't want to comply they need to be put into pain compliance police are doing this with tasers and sound sound weapons and the soldiers are doing this with waterboarding and you know all kinds of other sick techniques that you see here in image number 123 you know which synchro mystically adds to a six which is all about failure you know police are raping people's natural law rights telling them they can't gather and speak the the blurring of the lines between police and military the militarization of police so image 123 and 24 shows you really what these sick individuals these psychologically demented beings that have been turned into golems are doing to the human population because they think they have a right to do this no such right exists for any of these activities it does not exist no more than if you just randomly tried to do this to other people they haven't the right period and they should be stopped from doing this people need to develop the will to stop them from doing this because that is a right to stop wrongdoing is a right and when you're shutting down people's right to free speech you're building a totalitarian system and you don't have a right to do that no one has a right to stop someone else from speaking from piece of lis assembling and speaking I don't care what traffic you're blocking this is always used as the excuse or the justification it doesn't matter some someone's right to drive is going to be supe superseded by a huge group of people wanting to air their grievances someone driving isn't there to air grievances okay they can step aside for a moment while a protest is taking place the airing of grievances is more important than a motorist right to happen to pass by a particular street at a particular time and Dead is offended about that as you like that also happens to be the case so if people are getting ready to stand that's the whole point anyway the whole point is to make it uncomfortable for people to inconvenience other individuals so people stand up and say hey maybe this is something I should be paying attention to maybe rights are being violated here by what these people are talking about and maybe I shouldn't be so concerned into getting to where I'm going on time and I should be taking a listen to what's being said you know but no the police don't think of anything like that they say I'm gonna follow orders I'm gonna do what somebody someone else told me to do that I believe I have the right to do and that I believe other people have to obey me have to comply well you're mistaken you're mistaken you haven't the right to do any of those things you haven't the right to go and shut a peaceful protest down you don't have that right you never had that right you never will have that right no matter who tells you you have that right or not it doesn't exist because the action of shutting down someone else right to speak is a wrong it can never be made into a right it can never be justified made into a right you're always wrong for doing that morally under natural law and whenever someone's rights are abused in such a way they already possess the right to stop someone from abusing those rights from usurping them from attempting to take away something that is a right you have a right to stop someone from doing that the problem is there's not enough courage on the part of the population to stop these individuals they believe they can't stop them well believe me if enough people said no and stood up and said we're going to take action to back up that word we're not just gonna sit here and let you do this if enough people did that they would never be able to get it done it wouldn't happen and that's the problem in any totalitarian regime that has existed on this planet not enough people stood up and said no to domination said no to dominators you will not do this we will use whatever amount of force required to stop you from taking other people's rights from taking my rights and the rights of other people in every totalitarian regime there has never been enough people willing to come forward and do that and I don't know about you folks but I don't I personally don't see enough people here in the United States standing up and saying that that's the whole problem they refuse to get involved in the non support of these people and call them on their crap that they don't have any right to do this because ultimately it all comes down to self-loathing it all comes down to the hatred of the self by the individuals do this nobody who's self-respecting could could possibly put on that uniform and go and follow orders it's impossible every person who was involved actively killing people in the Nazi Party could not have had any self-respect you can make the claim again in your words that you have self-respect but you don't in reality you don't have any self-respect to do that you would never treat another person like that if you had any respect again that means to take another look at and it means to take another look at your actions so if you had taken another look at your actions and develop the true respect you wouldn't be doing things that are wrong you wouldn't be taking wrong action with your body because you would respect yourself and you and respect truth you would respect natural law and none of these people have this attitude their attitude is I hate myself so much because of whatever things have been done to me abusively in my life that I'm just going to go and take out my aggression on somebody else and hurt somebody that's their attitude they love hurting other people because they hate themselves and let me tell you something yes I do have this psychologically figured out yes I do understand this dynamic no this is not my opinion I understand how it works in the mind you go deep enough into the mind of anybody who follows orders like this and you're gonna find this dynamic definitively definitively it's not extrapolation it's not interpretation it's not stretching I'm telling you that's the case these people ultimately at a deep psychological fundamental level nested however deeply it may be in the human psyche hate themselves and that's the problem that's the problem and that's what our work is is ultimately to teach these people that you're sick you are ill you are psychologically ill and you need help you need help to become better so that you will not be ill anymore that's the whole point I'm not here to try to beat down these people even further than they've already beaten themselves down through their own self-loathing I'm here to tell them you there's an issue here if you have any care about yourself or anyone else which hey maybe it is beyond that point maybe that's the whole point they don't they just hate everything and have not an ounce of care left in them that's what a true psychopath is you know that people like this are becoming like a true genetic primary psychopath even though they may not have been born that way their what is known as a secondary psychopath one who has become a psychopath in their mindset and ultimately in their behaviors so image 125 is showing you what their mindset is because of their own self-loathing you know police sitting there destroying the rights of other people and ultimately destroying the rights of their own children and everybody else just their mindset is I'm gonna kick your ass and get away with it because people consider me up as in a position of authority through their completely erroneous belief system called a religion and that's the entire point a believer in that religion called Authority is automatically a slave you're not only a slave in your own mind you're helping to put chains on other people by even propagating that belief system the entire belief in authority is a belief system of a slave and the police aren't masters of anybody they're totally enslaved and can't see it and ultimately they they probably don't even care they would probably tell you I don't care that I'm enslaved or enslaving others and that is proof that you hate yourself no one with any amount self-respect would enslave themselves or attempt to enslave anyone else because they love themselves because they have true self-respect and true self-love that's what's present within my psyche I have taken another look at myself deeply probably deeper than most people on this planet are willing to look at themselves and made a radical transformation in my mindset and behavior as a result of that development of self love and self respect and the problem is that these people don't have either and no one's helping them to develop it and again this is because they are a sequestered member of a cult they are sequestered cult members they spend all of their time in the cult locations they spend all of their time taking in the cult propaganda and all of their time doing the cult activities these are cult members they are psychologically diseased cult members I don't know how much clearer I can put it and that the the way to take someone out of a cult mentality is always the same you have to break in on top of the signal of the cult and constantly bombard that person with all alternative information such that the signal of the cult is weaker and the signal of truth is stronger and unfortunately there's not enough people doing that that's why these people aren't walking away from their jobs another big part of taking deconditioning someone from a cult is getting them out of the physical environment and that's so difficult to do because these people will say how am I going to eat what am I going to do for work they're dependent on the system that's enslaving them and everyone else so they don't want to walk away from it so the idea is someone has to come in with information at every possible spare second which speaking the truth unapologetically hardcore not giving something to these people in baby spoon bites it doesn't work that way folks if it did more people would be changing it doesn't work that way we have to stand and speak the truth in no uncertain terms unapologetically without fear and if the person doesn't like it and gives you an attitude it doesn't matter you will have planted a powerful seed if you stand in truth powerfully not in a wishy-washy way which so many people do in the truth movement if you know it speak it forcefully if it's true speak it forcefully again be bold and mighty forces will come to your aid as jack blood says the universe is going to reward the strong the bold I don't mean the physically strong I mean those who's truly stand forward in truth and put those ideas out into creation speak it in no uncertain terms so this whole dynamic of slavery of willing servitude was talked about by the social engineers and mind-control experts of the past century Julian Huxley eugenicist mind-control expert social engineer he said this is slide number 126 he said that a really efficient totalitarian state would be one in which the all-powerful executive of political bosses and their army of managers control a population of slaves who do not have to be coerced because they love their servitude and this is what I would suggest the police and military are already in this mind state they love their servitude they love being pets of their political masters and their financial masters and ultimately of their dark occult masters and again the only way anyone loves their own servitude is if they hate themselves it follows logically ladies and gentlemen it's not even something that needs to be thought about at any you know super deep level if you love yourself truly you wouldn't be doing things to enslave yourself you would pull back and stop supporting that effort if you really understand the oneness of everyone you wouldn't be trying to enslave anyone so unfortunately again it needs to be emphasized these people are the the lap dogs of their occult overlords in image number 127 these are these faces these are the individuals whether you have any level of so-called respect for these people or not whether you're honest with yourself about what role they're truly playing the truth is that these are the ultimate builders of the dark new world order these are the what the construction workers the builders and again that brings us back to the term Mason the concept of the builders we are all builders it the only difference the only qualitative difference lies in what are you working toward what is your building project what materials are you building with and ultimately what are you erecting what are you bringing forth into manifestation what are you building we're all quote Masons we are all builders of our experience collectively through our thoughts our emotions and our actions well if you have the mindset of a slave you're certainly going to be building a world of enslavement if you have no true self-respect you're gonna be building a world where there is no self-respect and no respect for others if you have no love within you you're gonna be building a loveless world think about it folks what is within us we're going to bring forward and it's going to express in the external domain that's an inescapable tree you'll pick it up in this point after this this quick two-minute break we'll be right back you're listening - what on earth is happening [Music] [Applause] [Music] and welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening com we're into the second hour of the show today and we're talking about the non support of dominators we're wrapping up a section on the occult mockery of police and military which we've really already covered the symbolism the occult language the occult numerology involved in the covert mockery of these individuals by their overlords by their dark occultist masters who are ultimately using them to power the enslavement agenda and again that's what these people need to be seen as and that doesn't necessarily mean that you hate them at a deep level as true individuals the essence of the the soul the essence of the divine that's within them it means you yeah yeah you can hate and despise their actions sure I know I do I think their actions are other utterly deplorable and they should be ashamed of what they're being used for if they were honest with themselves they would take a look at that and if they had a shred of decency within them they would step back from those behaviors and it doesn't make a difference why you continue to do what you do it doesn't matter if you have a family to feed does not matter let me say that very emphatically saying I have a family to feed and this is why I oppress other people's rights is no justification and people will get all up in arms over that how could you say something like that easy it doesn't matter whether you have a family to feed stop doing what you're doing anyway you put yourself in that situation through all of the things you did to make your life the way it is develop the courage to say no I'm not going to continue to do wrongdoing even if that wrong do pays me and puts food on the table for my family go find another job that's the bottom line that's the answer say no to helping with the dominator agenda and let me tell you something folks people who think that this is going to be reformed from within these institutions you're kidding yourselves even harder you think you're gonna keep Authority and the concept of authority and control in the world and somehow you're gonna build a world of freedom where oh yeah these people and the people who who manage them who direct them are just going to use this quote Authority for good things right as if that could ever be done as if the entire concept of authority isn't backed by one concept violence it's backed by violence meaning taking coercive action which you don't have a right to take your your coercing the will of other free beings that's what all government and all authority is based upon coercion which is violence which is never within the right under natural law it does not exist within anyone's right to take actions such as that therefore I don't care why you're doing it it does not matter it's not even that I care or don't care that's even irrelevant the whole point is it doesn't matter to the universe the universe isn't going to say well I understand why Jim continued to oppress the people of the United States in his role as a police shutting them down with sonic weapons whenever they gathered to protest I understand why he drove that LRAD machine and destroyed people's your eardrums I can I told Leo understand why he did it do you think that the universal law universal cosmic justice cares why you did it see the whole point is people are ascribing human qualities to the laws which govern this construct called our three-dimensional universe the universe doesn't have emotions like a human being ladies and gentlemen it is a it is a construct that is based on law that cannot be broken true law not man's law it's based on universal cosmic law that works unwaveringly perfectly at all times and places everywhere in this domain you know it's it's the same law that if you walk off a building you will fall it's the same law that if you put your hand in a bottle pot of boiling water you will be burned that's what will happen there are laws that govern these outcomes so when you're breaking cosmic law you're always going to get something that's negative bad uncomfortable chaotic and ultimately bringing forth more evil into the world that's just a law it's how it works you're never going to change that and it doesn't matter why you chose to do it the why regarding the reason or justification you chose to do that is irrelevant it helps people to understand what's going on psychologically in that person's mind to help try to get them out of that bad behavior that horrible choice to continue to do that thing but ultimately to the universe to the manifested outcome that you're choosing through that behavior the why is irrelevant it's always just going to give you the result you're always going to just be given the result for the behavior the reason why is not going to be taken into account and that's something that again is another big false New Age teaching it doesn't matter whether someone was doing it because they really truly enjoyed it or whether they were doing it because they felt they had no other option and couldn't feed their family otherwise and this is new age crap that is being taught that there is a difference between those two choices there is no difference the outcome is creating the same dynamic you are through what you are choosing you're creating the same dynamic whether you did it to feed your son or whether you did it because you just liked hurting people that's it and people have to get over this notion that these choices are in some way different because of how we justify them justification is meaningless meaningless the behavior is all that matters let me say this again let me say that again you get this idea if you get nothing else the justification for evil behavior is meaningless the only thing that matters is the action taken do you understand do you get that you need to get that it doesn't matter why you chose to do something that was wrong you chose it because you're always responsible for your actions whether you think you are or not whether you want to be or not the fact of the matter is you are responsible and the fact of the matter is that what you're creating as a result of choosing a particular behavior you're always going to get that outcome regardless of why you chose it by choosing a particular behavior you're creating a particular manifestation and it works like that 100% of the time flawlessly and this is the level of awakening people need to get to when it comes to actions when it comes to how we're creating our reality through natural law together not one individual another bunk New Age teaching is that each individual is creating their own reality and everybody's going to experience something different based on what they choose the wrong answer again this is more dark Luciferian nonsense teaching that has been thrown into the New Age coffer and pumped out there you know to people who are so ready to accept nonsense like this because they believe I'm gonna create my own parallel reality that's gonna be different than everybody else's yeah good luck with that yeah you know great wonderful that you think that but you're here with everybody else collectively making a reality that we are sharing that we are all part of the creation of and it doesn't work in that New Age junk way that you think it works that you've been deluded into thinking that the law of attraction works that you just create there's a whole reality based on what you hold in your mind that's not how it works naive person we are collectively creating it the reality that we all share through the experiences that we are putting that we are generating through our behaviors through our actions and those actions are ultimately predicated upon our thoughts and our emotions about what's going on within the psyche of the individual and that's what's driving their behavior and then the manifested result comes out through the behavior through the actions that we take in the world in the physical domain and that is a shared result it is a shared result it is a shared result no one's creating the world by themselves okay the problem is that when you put so many people together willing to do wrong action they act as the battery for the enslavement agenda depicted here in image number 128 this is a slide from the movie the matrix Nia Morpheus is explaining to neo you know that what the matrix wants to convert people into is the battery for its agenda the source of energy that will actually go out into the world and create the manifested result through the rearrangement of energy and resources that the dominators want to see its causality ladies and gentlemen every effect is always preceded by a cause we don't put the cause into manifestation the effect can't come into manifestation and the cause is the behavior we're behaving in a certain way and then the universe is giving us is is generating through that behavioral choice a result and if the behavior is imbalanced and chaotic and it is not in harmony with natural law so will the result be it's it's almost so simple it's almost stupid I keep telling people this is not difficult to grasp this is almost so simple that it's like when you finally see when you finally have that aha moment and say wow that's how it is that's how it actually works you're like how could I not possibly have seen that before how could I have been so deluded and so naive into not seeing it and again it's because of all the other bunk and nonsense that we're holding in our mind that we're refusing to detach from and get rid of we need to empty out the mine again mindfulness is actually about emptying the mind to make it ready for truth you can't fill and already filled glass you have to empty it out if you want to put something new in and that's the whole point people are so full of nonsense that they can't take in this simple to grasp truth that we are collectively creating the reality that we have to experience in this world as a result of our behaviors in the world behaviors which are predicated upon what we think and how we feel therefore the way to change that is to change your thoughts your changing your thoughts therefore you change the emotional reaction to what your information you're taking in and ultimately your behavior will be changed and therefore the outward manifestation that you experience in reality will be changed for the better and police and military don't understand this at all none of them 0 blanket statement folks blanket statement get over that New Agers then no one can make a blanket statement that's true there are blanket statements that are true all the time everywhere and their blanket statements that aren't true blanket statement that happens to be true is that no police officer ultimately understands the law of manifestation or the law of attraction the true one you know they can claim that they understand the bunk New Age one all they want that's not how it works they don't understand what's really generating our experience here on earth none of them zero if they did they would never step into that role or position upon coming to a deep understanding of it and understanding means this is what I'm going to use to drive my action that's what I mean capital you understanding intellectually happening to you know be aware that this is how it's working is different than standing under something that you are subservient to that natural law you are bowing to a law that the universe has put into effect and recognizing that I cannot continue to act like this if I want the manifested result to be better so then I don't continue to act like that I change my behavior so I'm generating a different outward manifestation and therefore you are truly standing under that law that's what understanding capital you understanding means I'm not talking about intellectual grasping that's not what I mean that's different from true understanding of a dynamic that is inherent to the universe inherent to creation so zero police have ever understood the law of attraction the true law of attraction and manifestation until they've ceased being police zero soldiers have ever understood this law of manifestation until they have ceased being soldiers you cannot continue to do that action and truly understand what you're bringing forward into manifestation it's an impossibility those two things are irreconcilable and as a result in that level of ignorance they are all acting as the battery for the matrix of enslavement all of them not some not the majority not the quote bad apples that people talk about all the time in their mind washed their brainwashed mind-controlled state that it's just a few bad people in these institutions wrong it's all of them in their ignorance of how the laws of nature work 100% no matter what time in history no matter what culture no matter what place on this planet 100 percent of police and soldiers and other people involved in government institutions do not understand how the true laws of attraction and manifestation work in reality zero they are they are taking their role and stepping into the hierarchical compartmentalized pyramidal structure that we've talked about depicted on image number 129 in a different way in an in a stylized way you have the god of this world money you know that these fake pieces of paper and digits on a computer screen that people ascribe real value and worth to at the top of this system and what I would say is really there's something lacking here there's the people behind the money system you know which are the true occultists of the world who have invented this occult God to to enslave people in this system they're really running the entire show then you can get into who's running them you know who's actually behind them which goes right off this planet ultimately and again it doesn't even matter who's controlling it the game is always the same the fake beliefs that they want you to ascribe to are always the same regardless of who it is it could be interdimensional beings it could be you know beings from other worlds it could be just dark occultus here could be it doesn't make a difference who it is the who doesn't make much of a difference it's the how they do it and why we cooperate with it that needs to be understood once those dynamics are grasped fully then we can change it you know under them you have the politicians and the royalty and the underneath them you have the priests class the exoteric priests class let's make that distinction there you know the esoteric priests class I would put up higher than that bag of money on image number 129 the esoteric priest class that's running this control system is above that bag of money that money is who they set up as the God for everyone else and you have the politicians royalty below that you have the the exoteric priest class feeding the religions of the world the false religions of the world to everybody below them you have the strong arm you know the the muscle man in the in the form of police and military below them protecting that small clique that small quote elite from everybody else you have the the so-called aristocracy the people who think they're living large just because they could you know have a little bit more baubles and trinkets than everybody else and eat a little bit better than everybody else and then you have you know the working-class idiots and morons of the world who don't even look at themselves or understand anything you know who just magically want the world to change without ultimately changing who they really are deep down inside and changing their thoughts in their mind they think that they can stay ignorant and be free like Thomas Jefferson was saying is an impossibility you expect something that never was and never will be that's just how the laws of manifestation work so this is a great image and I think it explains the hierarchical structure that ultimately the people who are ultimately powering it are all of the people down at the bottom level and I would say the people who are ultimately rocking this structure with their actual physical effort are the police and military without any question without them that structure would fall apart completely yes there's more people continuing to support these efforts above them which is why they're shown at the bottom holding it up the people stopped holding the whole thing up at the bottom there's not enough people to control the population of the world forcefully physically it would fall apart on its own if people stopped giving over their consent and their approval to it start talking about it harshly that's the whole point don't justify it or say oh it has to be this way no it doesn't have to be this way nothing that is man-made has to be the way that it is the only things that have to be the way that they are are things that nature made you're not going to affect what nature does and on a grand scale to this world you can think you're gonna have an effect on that but ultimately if nature wants to have its way trust me it's gonna have its way one way or another you're not that powerful every human being together isn't even close to that powerful not even close nature wants to have its way with this planet it'll have its way and you know depending on the circumstance you'll barely have enough time to bend over and kiss your ass good-bye but anything that's man-made anything that's human created can be changed if we made it we can change it this structure is man-made it's not something that that the universe is holding in place by an act of its will believe me the universe is not as imbalanced as our sick diseased twisted minds the universe did not build this structure we built it and therefore we can take it down we can unmake it what we have made we can unmake it's just an act of will it's like knocking down a building that takes a lot of energy and effort it doesn't just magically happen on its own you know unless buildings just magically turn into dust and powder and collapse into their own footprint and less than you know 10 seconds you know that sometimes occurs but you know what are you gonna do there's an anomaly every now and then you know but structures that we've built we can take down we erected it as a result of our effort and our work and our energy and we could do the same we can take it down as a result of our energy effort and work and what it's all about is taking off the shackles of slavery if we want to take off the shackles truly we have to stop supporting the institutions that are putting them onto us and the ideas that they propagate they that mindset has to be pulled back from because we have to realize altima what we're doing to ourselves as we're putting ourself into a huge prison into a huge cage we're locking it up tight we're throwing away the key and again the images I'm talking about now are 130 and 131 131 shows the prison planet locked by the master lock you know and whose hand is that that's not the dark occultus hand ladies and gentlemen wrong you know whose hand that is that's your hand you hold that key to lock or unlock that lock on this world by changing your mind or keeping it the same way you change your mind you start to understand

Authority as an illusion you start to understand the monetary system as an illusion these are false religions you will be unlocking that cage first in your mind and you'll be helping to unlock the overall dynamic of the world on a quantum scale again quanta means an amount quantum means amount we're locking that lock when we refuse to change our mindset and continue to support these completely immoral institutions that are based on violence start truly understanding what non-violence really is not what you think it is and again non-violence doesn't mean in 100 percent of situations regardless of what happens to be being done to you being peaceful that's why I would say I'm totally nonviolent I am for non-violence but I am NOT a pacifist being a pacifist and being someone who supports non-violence is totally different totally different things someone who is nonviolent supports the non-aggression principle that you should never initiate violence against anyone else because you haven't the right to initiate violence against anyone else but that doesn't mean if violence happens to be initiated against me by someone else that I'm simply going to sit there and take it and remain peaceful that's what a pacifist might do there being you know beaten for no reason for nothing that they did wrong and they're just gonna sit there and not respond well I'm certainly not a pacifist in that regard I'm gonna defend my rights if something like that happens to me by whatever amount of force I need to call for it from within myself or from anyone else to use defensive force in the capacity for which it is intended within my rights to beat back that aggressive attack I am NOT going to sit there and take something that someone else is doing that they have no right to do and that does not make me a supporter of violence that make that makes it that is demonstrative that I happen to deeply understand the right to defend one's rights which all ready exists I have the right to defend my rights I have a right to defend my property I have a right to defend my body myself my lowercase s self the physical self I have a right to defend that why because it's mine why do I have a right to defend my property because it's mine why do I have a right to defend my life because it's mine why do I have a right to defend my rights because they're mine it's all about ownership the principles of ownership and those who don't understand those principles you're helping to lock down that master lock you're helping to lock down the cage of the prison planet and ultimately turn this world into a vision of what's depicted in image number 132 which is a hell world and we're rapidly heading into that reality and don't think it can't happen we are rapidly heading into the reality that is going to be indistinguishable from hell on earth unless we change our mindset and change it very quickly and that's not fear mongering that's telling it like it is based on the dynamic that we're already seeing in place the philosopher Vernon Howard I've quoted in many times this this quote is so profound because it tells what it's all altum Utley about the work that's ultimately going to be required to undo this mess that we've gotten ourselves into and stop supporting dominators and the world that they're helping to build is to look within that's what true respect is about looking within taking another look at yourself Howard said that human sickness is so severe that few can even bear to look at it but those who do look at it will become well and this is the exact opposite of the new-age bunk teachings of never look at the negative now look at the shadow never look at the shadow material all the deep dark dirt that accumulates in the subconscious and the unconscious that's what we need to look at and make conscious bring to the conscious level of awareness if you're not willing to do that work you're lost and you're part of the dynamic of enslavement the idea here is to look deeply within the introspective of the self that's what development of true self-respect is all about so that quote by Howard is image number 133 134 again the dynamic is entirely about respect and that takes place within you got to look in the mirror you have to look inside the self respect again comes from the Latin words re which is a prefix meaning again as in over again okay and SPECT re SPECT Oh SPECT re means to look at so respect means to look at again to take another look at what you're looking at again is your own thought processes you're looking at your own subconscious and unconscious motivations you're looking at your own psyche you're looking deep into your own soul and finding out what you're made of looking at what is there why you're behaving the way you're behaving why you think the way you think what you're holding on to that isn't serving you that's what the development of real self respect is all about it's a process and until you can respect yourself you can't give respect to another how can you give something that you don't have within I can give respect to other human beings because I have self-respect to give I have to have it for me if I want to give it to other people you can't give something that you don't have already to anyone else and that nothing is truer than that than self-respect nothing could possibly be more true you have to have self-respect in order to give respect to any other human being when we go down to the deepest level of this it is all about the awakening of the human consciousness and the the deepest expression of the awakening of consciousness is a deep knowledge not only of who we are but it's a deep knowledge of the objective reality of right and wrong what is right action what is not right action because it causes harm to others and therefore it is a wrong action that is not relative it is not morally relative it is objective it exists inherently in creation regardless of how we happen to feel about it right action is action which does not cause harm to other living beings wrong action is action which causes harm to other beings we need to develop that true objective knowledge of that and then put it into practice through our actions such that our actions are not in contradiction with that knowledge that's what non-duality is about and once you're living like that you have truly given birth to conscience within yourself because that's what conscience is conscience is knowledge it is the objective knowledge the definitive knowledge of the objective differences between right and wrong behaviors the objective difference and its definitive knowledge it's certain it isn't relative it's 100% certain knowledge that's what conscience is and then standing in your conscience actually acting conscience acting within conscience that is action you know that's that's that's wisdom that's putting action into practice putting knowledge into practice wisdom is what you do with what you know so if you're acting within conscience that's wisdom because you've already taken in the knowledge and understood it that's what conscience is knowledge between right and wrong of the difference between right and wrong and if you don't betray conscience you don't take actions that are wrong that you don't have any action to any right to take because they cause harm so what conscience is is it's common sense reality being able to perceive things as they actually are common sense which is what we all should have and the problem is we're all fallen in our senses we are fallen in consciousness consciousness is all about the ability to sense reality the ability to perceive that which is taking place within us and around us we define that on day one of this show show number one so common sense is what conscience actually is and we get that right from the word the word again is always telling us language is always telling us the reality in which we are embedded conscience comes from the Latin prefix con Co n which means together or with and then the second part of it science again science meaning knowledge comes from the Latin verb ski Oh ski ra which means to know so conscience means to know together literally from the etymology of the word it means common sense knowledge and that's why we're in the situation were in as a people because we've lacked we've lost our common sense because we've lost our connection to conscience we have lost the of the knowledge the definitive knowledge of the objective difference between right and wrong we no longer carry that within ourselves as individuals on a day-to-day basis and then act within the parameters of that knowledge which is what wisdom is so there's very little conscience and wisdom in the world and the biggest reason for that is the collectivist mentality the idea that I want to try to give up my responsibility to learn the difference between right and wrong for myself I don't want to do that that's hard work that involves exercising my moral judgment exercising my judgment to bring my perceptions into compliance into harmony with nature's laws I don't want to have to do that those are hidden laws you know that's not something that you can see written on a blackboard clearly or in a book clearly it's something do you have to work through as a process and it takes time and dedication and effort and hard work that's what personal responsibility means being willing to put the time dedication energy effort hard work in to get something extremely valuable back as a result truly valuable that has values within it meaning moral values meaning values of truth of integrity of honesty of justice of peace harmony freedom and none of the people who join up with these collectivist institutions deeply have any self-respect none of them have truly developed on their own a deep working understanding of what conscience really is the definitive objective differences between right and wrong or they wouldn't be involved in a collectivist mindset mentality and cult as they are it would not happen so ultimately these people don't have these things developed within themselves as an individual again you can clean words and reality are two different things folks you can make the claim all you want that somehow these people have a conscience as an individual the claim will never make the reality true the claim of that being the case is never going to make the reality true the reality is that by definition because they are involved in an institution that is predicated upon order following they cannot be acting within conscience that's a diametrically opposed dynamic if you are an order follower you are not following conscience the end it's cut and dried it's so simple the only way you can ever possibly be following conscience be exercising conscience following isn't even the right word acting within conscience exercising conscience the only way you can actually be doing that is if you are not following orders because you're making the willful decision the choice on your own to take that action regardless of what anyone else told you to do again a religion is doing something unquestioningly because someone told you it was that way and that's what these people have adherence to a religion and their religion is Authority their religion is authoritarianism that's the ism of their religion authoritarianism collectivism to get out of that religion you have to stop being an order follower you have to make a decision I am going to exercise conscience I am going to definitively know the difference between right and wrong and I'm gonna choose the right over the wrong not what because of what someone else told me because I know it definitively from having looked into it and done that hard work to develop true self respect true self love and being willing to extend that respect and love to everyone on this planet that's what conscience really is that's what true self-respect is that's what true self-love is and it can never be developed in a collectivist mindset because this is something only the individual the true individual acting on their own behalf can do for themselves so what is the ultimate answer here stop trying to be like anybody else stop trying to be a copy of someone else you're a unique expression of the divine essence you're a unique individual why would you want to be a copy of anybody else and I've underlined the word cop which is the root of copy and that works out that way green language wise again it could be a coincidence it could there our significance in the coincidence however cops are copies you know you could write green language you could sound out green language by saying a letter so Co P could be pronounced copy you're not changing the vowel sound cop car right and then P copy copy copy and I would suggest it is an accidental maybe man didn't make that word like that and there's of course other explanations for why the word cop came into being but the whole point is the universe should happen to arrange it whether it was again synchronistically created or syncro mystically created by the universe it's telling us something isn't it if you're involved in this institution and this is the role you're playing in your identified mind state you're a copy the answer is don't be a copy stop trying to be involved in collectivist group dynamics collectivist group dynamics are never based on conscience they can't be based on conscience because conscience can only be possessed by a thinking individual not a group only a thinking individual has conscious groups don't have conscience that's why when I tell people I work with this meetup group or I work with this activist group I'm not a member of a group I work with people who have come together and basically stated similar objectives or aims that doesn't mean that if they say we're gonna go and do something that's wrong I consider myself part of that I'm not a part of any group I'm a unique individual expression of consciousness and I'm not a member of a group at all ever I was once a member of a group when I wasn't conscious when I didn't have it developed conscience but when I developed that conscience what did I do I step back from involvement and identification with all groups now that doesn't mean if I agree with the goals of an organization that I may help them toward that goal but again I don't consider myself part of a group collectivist mindset dynamic at all and that's the entire problem is that so many people identify with collectivist ideology and then they give themselves over to it and call that what you want I call it what it really is mind control you are giving in to a force that is acting to control the mind and there is no bigger example of that on earth than the institution that is present everywhere on the earth globally known as government again the etymology of the word and yes this is the etymology of the word I'm so sick of people trying to say that the second part meant a does not come from the latin verb latin noun mind men's mentis is the verb the ablative form of the word is meant a governments the first part of it is goo burn re govern comes from the Latin verb guber nari which means to control you could also render that in Latin since classical Latin did not use any in the language you could render a be an internal B in some Latin words with a V particularly if it is surrounded by valves as the is GU burn re goober no GU burn are a means to control you could write it as GU Verne ra gu v ER and a GU verno hoover nari so governo govern are a meant a immense mentis it means to control the mind this is what that means and people will say where you could attach meant meant to any other word that uses men yes because meant means the state of the active state of and that's what we're talking about when we talk about mind it is the mind state the state of mind the state of being the state of being is always governed by the mind how anything ultimately is in manifestation became that way that that that effect was put into manifestation by the cause that ultimately came from the mind that's the first hermetic principle the principle of mentalism that's the first general principle of the laws of nature that ultimately what we hold in mind becomes the manifested state of being so of course M ent means the state of the way things are it's the State of Mind that made it that way so you could look at it as a controlled mind state if you want to look at and that's exactly what government is which means you had to be put at some point under mind control to be in a controlled mind state I mean you know people want to nitpick and split hairs with etymologies by saying oh that's not what that means yes it is if you understand while it's a deadly the connotation that this etymology came into being through instead of taking it so left brain linguistically see again this is the difference between Rane intellect and true dynamic whole brained intelligence intellect and intelligence are not the same thing and if we're ever going to get out of that controlled mind state again responsibility is the key and understanding there is no justification on the part of the universe the universe is never looking at the reason why you did it this is new-age bunk teachings to say the universe is gonna care it's gonna make a judgment as to why you did it then you felt like you were trapped in a corner there all your back was up against the wall you really had to do that negative evil action to that other person which you could have refused to do I'll make an excuse all right you know don't worry the karmic consequence for that will be negligible that's what you that's what you think the universe is going to say because you think you had a good reason for doing a harmful action and you have another thought coming you have another thought coming there is no justification for the usurpation of someone else's natural law rights if you steal you are going to be held to account and that's all natural law boils down to taking that which is not yours to take you could break down all of the natural law harms in any way you can harm somebody it comes down to theft that is the universal overarching natural law transgression theft you took someone's property you took someone's safety you took someone's well-being you took someone's life you took someone's rights all natural law is theft is the taking of something that does not belong to you and that's never justifiable I tell people you want me to break down natural law spiritual cosmic universal law so we understand what we're talking about here you want me to break it down as shortly and succinctly as it can be broken down I can give you a sentence comprised of two words don't steal that's what natural law commands don't steal there is one commandment in the universe don't that's it you don't need ten of them you need one don't steal and it doesn't mean steal just physical things it means don't engage in the dynamic of theft in any way you do that you won't be breaking natural law and again there it is it comes back only to the dynamic of ownership what do we own what don't we own and learning that is the highest moral responsibility it's the highest responsibility of the individual which is why so many people want to shirk it they don't want to do that work they don't want to take that responsibility unto themselves a gentleman who I consider a mentor is David Icke and again people write me things about this how could you have respect for somebody with some of the theories he proposes David Icke has never told anybody to believe one thing he's ever said ladies and gentlemen he's put his information out there and he said if it resonates with you you take it you do what you're gonna do with it and leave the rest at in every one of his lectures he begins the lecture that way so I don't know what these people are talking about you know trying to say that in some way he's trying to get people to ascribe the way he thinks he's telling you think for yourself and I again he's putting out things out there that take a lot of courage to put out because of how out there they may happen to sound to some people and that takes courage and I have a tremendous amount of respect for that individual for doing that and I'll continue to state that and that's why he's the first person I dedicated my presentation series - he talks on responsibility in one of his books he says accept responsibility for yourself and your actions your self and your actions thoughts and words they're yours your own actions thoughts and words you alone make choices you alone are answerable to the consequences of your behavior let me say that one again you are answerable to the consequences of your behavior no one else the feeble excuse that your boss required it the establishment expected it holds no truth or justification there is no truth in that there is no justification you can't turn or wrong into a right I continues and we're on slides number 141 and 1 140 and 141 now he says what is the point of having principles if you allow others to dictate your behavior at the end of the day you will judge your performance and the contribution you have made to creation it will not be based on what another expected of you or what you did because you felt trapped and here's that dynamic again ladies and gentlemen it does the universe is not going to care about the reason you took an action because you felt trapped or you felt this was expected of you or you felt too uncomfortable to want to do the work to change it doesn't matter why you did it the only thing that matters is the behavior itself being chosen and acted upon that's it once you do it it's done and you're responsible and it's yours and you need to own it ownership it all comes back to that and there's the problem too many people don't want to take ownership full unjustified ownership meaning you're not trying to pass on that responsibility to someone else by justifying or by saying oh this person told me it was ok we need to take full ownership of our own actions and make a willful decision to bring those actions into accord with natural law meaning we are not taking any actions that are based in harm and coercion violence in other words and the support of violent actions is just as wrong that's like you know getting behind a street and saying go and beat this person up and you're gonna stand there and watch an innocent person getting brutalized and say wow that's awesome I totally support and condone that well that's what you're doing when you support the concept of authority because the concept of authority is rooted in the concept of violence and when you support government and when you support dominators you are ultimately supporting the aggression principle or violence I wouldn't even use the word principle and aggression together I shouldn't even do that it's the aggression ideology which is violence that violence is okay and that's the whole point for authoritarianism for totalitarianism excuse me to thrive to come into being and to thrive we have to be firmly rooted in our mindset in the religion of Authority authoritarianism is the place where all violent aggression against human beings natural law rights stems from and totalitarianism is just its ultimate expression it's the end of the road where that ideology goes - that's what the non-supportive dominators is ultimately all about it's getting out of the mindset that there is such a thing as some people's authority over other people i depict this in slide number 142 showing different authoritarian regimes throughout time and it's always about the notion that underlies it is that authority is real this religion is what underlies this manifested result throughout history called an authoritarian regime or a police state or totalitarianism every one of those is always backed by this religion and it is a religion and it is a false religion because authority is not the truth it does not exist this is an erroneous concept that only exists in a diseased psyche it's an illusion it does not exist in nature it does not exist in man it is a belief system the fact of the matter is that the only authority in nature is the truth itself this is the only thing that we should understand meaning stand under say that our lives are in service to it not to any man or group of men any institution on the face of the earth or any other planet for that matter the only thing we should be standing under is the truth which is the true light of creation truth is the one authority and until we understand that that everything else is a pretender to that throne is a pretender to that creative essence we're not getting out of this prison planet and things are gonna get darker and darker and bener but on the day we do step out into that light of truth we're gonna see the chains of bondage fall away from this world and hand-in-hand together we can ascend to a new level of consciousness and awareness and at that point the stars are the limit [Music] occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of the choice and now here is your host Marc past ago [Music] welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website Oracle broadcasting com today is Sunday August 19 2012 the show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time that's 4 to 6 p.m. Central we have a great show planned for you here today and it is going to be a controversial show indeed today on the show we're talking about the ultimate expression of domination carnism the religion and that's what it is if we're honest with ourself about killing that has the main belief system of killing animals and eating their dead flesh to quote nourish ourselves we're going to be talking about carnism in no uncertain terms here today no punches being pulled on what on earth is happening and let me give the tagline for the show before I even offend anyone get as offended as you like as regarding what's going to be said on the show today because it's gonna be hard hitting and as I said it's gonna be very controversial and what I'm gonna do at the beginning when we get into the subject matter is really define what the word controversial means because it's a word that's actually been hijacked in the English language and we don't really understand its real meaning so carnism a topic that I may be covering for two weeks I don't know it depends on how quickly I can get through this material it's a whole lot of material and it's information dense so that's the topic coming up for today and possibly next week future topics are going to include women's role in the non-supportive dominators remember we're still on the subtopic in the solutions section of the non-supportive dominators and that's why carnism plays such a big role in this again as I said it's the ultimate expression of domination that taking of another's life so we're going to talk continue this topic for as long as it takes to get through it and then I'm going to be talking about women's role in how they can influence men who are dominators in their lives how they can be a strong supporting influence in helping men to get over this need to dominate others and to want to be part of this chain of obedience women can help with that task of changing their minds and they can step into that in a powerful way that's gonna be coming up in a week or two on this show then we'll be doing two entire call-in shows on the topic of the non support of dominators which we've been talking about for many weeks and before we even get to that I want to reiterate this in the weeks before we lead up to the show I am going to have prerequisites if you want to come on this onto the show if you want to call in and speak about carnism only that topic will have a prerequisite or a limitation place if you want to talk about any other area of domination of the non-supportive dominators it's completely open lines but if you want to talk about carnism particularly if you want to speak in defense of carnism I'm setting a ground rule for the show for these two shows I'm allowed to do that this is my radio show and if I want to set a ground rule for a topic of discussion I think that's perfectly fair so the only ground rule when we do these call-in shows in a couple of weeks if you want to speak on carnism or the support of carnism is i will first ask you if you have seen the movie earthlings in its entirety that means from beginning to end not in chunks or sections have you sat down and watched that movie in its entirety then you can talk about carnism but I'm not taking Hall's on carnism from anyone who has not seen the movie earthlings from beginning to end that's the only stipulation that's the only ground rule I'm setting for the discussion on the non support of dominators because I have a feeling that a lot of people are gonna want to call in and talk about the topic I'm going to introduce today because of how controversial it is and we're going to again define what that term really means here today so that's coming up on what on earth is happening I have many event announcements so please bear with me and this is again some people like that I do this some people don't like that I do this I feel this is one of the most important aspects of the communication on this show is explaining to people what events are going on in your area this is Philadelphia is my area that's where I'm from I'm gonna use this as a platform to promote other local activists in what they're doing so and that's also to influence other people to get involved and be active and create a community in their area so I think this is one of the most important aspects of the show and I will be continuing to give local event announcements that are happening here in my area for the people that listen to this show in this area so they know what's going on here other people who have events in their area you should do anything you can to promote them and bring other people out and get them actively involved in spreading the message of true freedom so many events coming up here it's very busy things are picking up I mean it - it is - the year of prophecy change 2012 and I mean things are really accelerating help this year as it stands we have a very small core team of organizers who cannot do this alone we are admitting that we cannot do this with the numbers that we have we need more conference organizers who are serious about this who understand why something like this needs to be done who understands the issues involved and can dedicate some of their time to helping with this conference if you are in the Philadelphia area and you want to dedicate some time to or helping to organize this conference please get in touch with me okay so in regards to help with the conference from a monetary perspective because people don't just fly themselves out and lodge themselves of course to bring people together which is what a conference means con meaning together and fair a meaning to carry or to bring bringing people together has costs associated with it since people in this world still believe in money unfortunately I wish it weren't that way but to bring these people to a live venue to gather them together and have a great event like this we are going to have costs associated with that so to offset those costs we're going to have a series of font raisers and we're going to bring people powerful information and entertainment in these fundraisers the first free your mind to conference fundraiser is coming up here in Philadelphia on Saturday September 15 2012 at eight o'clock pm at Liberty's Pub Liberty's restaurant and bar pay liberties is in the Northern Liberties section of Philadelphia at 705 North 2nd Street that's the corner of 2nd and Fairmount it's going to be a 15 Pennsylvania will be entitled morality and disclosure moral issues involved in the continued cover-up of extraterrestrial phenomenon it's a topic I don't often get into especially here on what on earth is happening I have spoken on it at past conferences but this is a great opportunity with a lot of phenomenal speakers for more information on this conference please visit MUFON PA that's m UF o NP a.com or you can also visit main line MUFON comm a group that I also work with here in the Philadelphia area in the suburban region mainline MUFON comm is their website and you can click on annual conference to read BIOS and topics of the speakers for this conference okay I was all this show called unpinned on the critical mass radio network out of the united kingdom unpinned with paul rip on i did this show this past tuesday and it is now up in the news section of the what on earth is happening website so you can check that out I got into psychopathy heavily on this show and that the topics the characteristics of a psychopath and this is something that I think I'm going to actually talk about a little bit when we talk about carnism because carnism particularly the practice of actually doing the slaughter of these animals that are then consumed actually creates secondary psychopathy that is one of the effects of working in a slaughterhouse is that you actually become a secondary psychopath even if you aren't a primary one genetically it can actually make you into through the desensitization to suffering into a secondary psychopath and that's one of the dangers which we'll be talking about today last event announcement I have is that the ad-free chip in for the show stands at seven hundred dollars we need to raise one thousand by the end of October so I want to thank everyone who has contributed it has gone much better than my wildest expectations please continue to make your generous donations and every little bit helps and it is all heartfelt lis appreciated and we can get powerful information out without the kind of kinds of interruptions that you know we were used to here on the show so let's get into our topic for today and again as I said this topic is quite controversial so what does controversial really mean and by the way all of the slides that I'm going to be referring to can be found on the what on earth is happening dot-com website go to the radio show page and right underneath the player for the radio show you will see images for today's show as always these provide numeric links you can click them and follow a slideshow of images that that deal with what I'm going to be talking about here today the first image was for the free your mind conference the second image was for the fundraiser the third image was for the MUFON PA East Coast Conference the fourth image were on the entire topic the entire section of this radio show slash presentation that I call the way out which is all about solutions oriented approaches to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness image number five simply is the listing of the grassroots solutions that I talked about here on the show ten of them overall we've gone through all of the ones in the left-hand column and are making our way through the right-hand column now with the non-supportive dominators we've already actually looked at the development of mindfulness coming up on the show we will talk about using entheogens or psychedelics in a positive conscious context for transformation of consciousness the power of positive thinking and the responsibility that we have ultimately once we have taken enough information into ourselves to then help others to awaken by putting information out there freely for other people that's coming up we are of course still talking about the non-supportive dominators with the topic of carnism being as i've called it the ultimate expression of domination and again this is a controversial topic we're looking at image number seven now on the slideshow the word controversial is radically misunderstood in the English language radically misunderstood people think due to repetition and obfuscation and simply accepting the connotative meaning of a word but never looking at the root meaning of the word or the etymological meaning that conveys so much more and deeper information about the true intent and the true meaning the word through this obfuscation and this repetition mind control technique we have come to believe and accept that the actual true definition of controversial simply means debatable or disputable something that is arguable and can be debated that is not let me emphatically state that is not what the word controversial means the word controversial comes from and is derived from the Latin language the Latin prefix contra and you can look this up in any Latin dictionary any physical Latin dictionary you could download digital Latin dictionaries so you could look it up you could use online ones and confirm this the word contra which is the first part of the word controversial means facing face to face or against up against okay and that's when we're talking about opposition oppositional okay contra it means up against face to face with that's what the first part of the word means so what are we face to face with or up against well we need to look at the second part of the word versio this comes from the latin verb ver so ver sorry and this means to change or to alter and a lot of people say well that word means to turn as well yes verse over sorry also does mean to turn but it doesn't mean physical turning like the turning of a doorknob it means changing like the turning of the seasons transformation one thing turning into something else that's the cut the actual meaning of when when we're talking about which concept of turning the word verse over sorry means in Latin it means to change into turning from one thing to another okay metamorphosis transformation and that's what controversial ultimately means it means coming face to face with changing coming face to face with having to change because information has come your way and has explained what really is versus what you previously believed about it and stayed attached to the belief about it and that's why this topic is controversial not because it's really debatable not because that there is holes in the argument I'm going to make I'm not really making an argument I'm going to state the truth about what is in nature what actually exists I'm gonna state the truth about what this religion is about regardless of whether anyone thinks that it's a religion or not that is in fact exactly what it is I'm going to state the truth in moral terms about what we're doing to ourselves as a result of continuing this practice and I honestly am finished caring who it offends like I said at the top of the show get as offended as you like it doesn't make a difference when we're up against truth we either have to change or we are going to experience horrific consequences and that's not the only reason we should choose to engage in the truth and to align our behavior with truth not just for selfish reasons ultimately you have to do it because we understand that it's the truth and for no other reason because serving the truth ultimately is the will of creation for us and if we do that we're not going to create any self-inflicted suffering and will ultimately ultimately be able to create whatever we want out of this construct that we call physical reality we will be able to manifest our real desires and I'm not talking about lesser lower desires base desires I'm talking about creating what is truly beneficial and good and orderly and beneficial to evolutionary progress in consciousness for ourselves the higher self ultimately so controversial means absolutely means face to face with changing having to look at yourself in the mirror and say now that I know this I know that I'm going to have to change and I'm gonna tell an anecdote about that when I realized this I won't do that right now I'll do that later on possibly even next week depending on how I have a lot of information to get through this is again gonna be an information dense program so I've briefly told the anecdote on the show before but I'm gonna reiterate it and explain to people how I went through this process from carnism to abandoning carnism and how long that took for me so it wasn't an overnight process although when I did start it it wasn't as difficult as I thought it would be it was actually much easier so let's define what I mean by carnism because carnism is not a term that most people readily recognize or have a working definition of and we're moving to slide number eight now carnism is what people have traditionally referred to as being a carnivore or a meat-eater okay it's sometimes also referred to as being an omnivore omnivore carnivore meat eater these are terms that explain the practice omnivore carnivore meat eater but they don't explain the underlying religion the belief system that is inside someone's psyche that drives that behavior a behavior that they would not want done to them but yet they want to do to other beings okay and that's ultimately the only thing that really needs to be understood the we could go on forever talking about health concerns and health arguments regarding this topic but all that ultimately needs to be understood is if you don't want something done to you you shoulda not you should not do it to anything anyone else at all you should not do it to other beings period so when we're talking about killing if you don't want to be killed when we're talking about being eaten if you don't want to be eaten you shouldn't be killing and eating other animals and that's all it alternately comes down to this comes down to the principle of ownership the the absence of aggression the absence of domination the principle of self ownership the principle of non-aggression the principle of non-violence to others that's all it comes down to and this is intimately and inextricably connected with human freedom and why we don't have it why we're not free beings this is one of the reasons we are not free beings when you understand the law of Correspondence not the suggestion of Correspondence not the guests at correspondence the law of Correspondence see that's the entire problem folks in a nutshell people do not know that the law of Correspondence is in effect they believe in their erroneous religious belief system that that is somehow a belief it's not called the belief of Correspondence it's not called the suggestion of Correspondence it's a law that's operating in nature just like any other physical law like gravity like electricity you know the laws of electromagnetism the laws of gravity these are laws that exist they are binding binding they are immutable for something to be a law it is binding and is it is immutable that's what an a condition known as a law is it's something that is unchanging cannot be changed by man because man did not create it nature put it into effect and it's binding whether you like it or not whether you understand it or not it is in effect and you are affected by it and this is what man does not want to be man does not want that to be because ultimately the the true disease in the psyche of man is that man wants to be God and make the laws of nature and you're not that you are not that force you are a part of the totality of that all-encompassing force and intelligence but you are not it yourself and therefore you don't get to make that decision by yourself just deciding arbitrarily what will be it's up to you to perceive accurately that which is and then live in accordance with it that doesn't mean not to try to change the willful behaviors chosen by other people chosen willfully by them when they have a choice not to act a certain way so it doesn't mean don't try to change the external conditions that are created by behaviors through people's choices that's what we're here to do to influence change in that regard once we understand the definitive difference between right and wrong we then have a moral responsibility to work to change that dynamic for the better so let's look at what this concept of carnism is that this is a belief system it's a religion in the true sense of the term religion people do not think of it as such though they think it's just a practice but the practice isn't the important thing to look at more so than the practice the most important aspect to look at is the belief system that underlies the practice that's not based on any truth that's fundamentally that's based in fundamentally flawed axioms an axiom is an underlying belief structure and when you build something on a foundation of junk that isn't firmly rooted in truth you're only gonna build disorder and chaos and the entire religion of carnism okay is a religion that is entirely based upon violence which is an inherently fundamentally flawed axiom regarding how we should conduct ourselves in the world it is a fundamentally flawed axiom so I define and others have defined carnism as a dogmatic religion it is a religion in the true sense of the term that which holds us back that which binds us ties us holds us back from forward progress of where we want to go a dogmatic religion based entirely upon violence the main belief system of which is is that it is morally justifiable and/or necessary to kill animals and eat their dead flesh that is what carnism is that's not my belief about what carnism is that's not just my definition of it that is what the belief system of eating animal dead animal flesh is it is a religion based entirely on violence and its main belief system is that it is somehow morally justifiable and/or necessary we're gonna address this term necessary okay to kill animals to slaughter animals at your whim and then consume their dead flesh that's what carnism is and I call it my term for it is the ultimate expression of domination there is no our expression of one life-form dominating another life-form then completely murdering it and then consuming it eating its flesh if you don't want that done to you you probably should not be doing it to any other animal or Bing because the real expression of the golden rule of the law of Correspondence is a twitch see this is this is the way it wasn't stated in the New Testament the way it was stated is do unto others as you would have them do unto you but that doesn't really get into the why you should act like that why should you behave in such a modality well the reason why and this is even this is just a lower reason why you know this is a selfish reason why you should do unto others as you would have them do unto you the reason is is because the the real law of correspondence is going to state that as you do on to others that will be done unto you that same modality of behavior and experience you will have to experience for yourself you will have to experience it it being done unto you because this entire universe is a construct that acts as a mirror what we are pumping into its field of intelligence it is dynamically changing itself that's why it's called the universe the one change universe re the one changed the one thing changing it it reforms itself it rearranges itself to bring us the experience that we put forward into it the energy we pump into it through our consciousness and the expression of our consciousness our thoughts our emotions and our actions will ultimately be re-expressed back to us in other words we are reaping what we are sowing we are experiencing that which we are putting out so the reason to live in harmony with the golden of do unto others as you would have done unto you is because as you do to others will be done unto you that's just the way the universe works that is the way the law of Correspondence works and that is not a belief system I can't state it enough that is not a religious belief that is a universal scientific law let me state that again the law of Correspondence is not a religious belief it is a universal universal meaning everywhere in extant reality no matter where you go it is true and in effect scientific law it is a universal scientific law it is a reality and it is our job to recognize it as such to understand how it works so that we can bring our decisions our behavioral decisions into alignment with this higher spiritual law and stop creating self-inflicted suffering for ourselves and that is what the main reason that really carnism should not be being practiced by human beings it is morally wrong because it is based on violence which is always immoral and it is an expression of the domination of other beings and if we don't want to be dominated we should not being engaged in domination now we can get into other and Soleri arguments about it but ultimately that trumps any of the physical $0.05 world arguments or concerns of this topic in general the moral issue Trump's all of anything anybody wants to bring up about health aspects so now that we have defined carnism I want to start talking about what this practice does and why people continue to make arguments that it really has to be continued why do people argue that this is something that we have to keep doing that we can't stop eating animal flesh we can't stop eating dead animal flesh we have to continue that the three basic things that people bring up the arguments that they will bring up all the time you'll never hear a carnist really deeply delving into the moral issues you'll never hear them talking about this the unimaginable suffering of animals and again I'm going to link on this podcast the film Earthlings weeks in advance of the calling show if anyone's gonna call in and talk on this topic your views are not gonna get on the air on this program unless you've seen the movie Earthlings in its entirety if you want to talk on that that's what I'm asking in payment for coming on my show you will have to watch the movie Earthlings in its entirety all the way through and do it without looking away from the screen how about if we add that as a stipulation because I've done that twice in my life and let me tell you something if that doesn't make you sick if you're not physically sick like I was when I watched the movie Earthlings I was curled up in a fetal position completely sick and you know what that's the beautiful perfect successful intent of that film and I want to thank its filmmakers for making me that ill I want to thank the filmmakers let me say that again for making me feel that sick I understand exactly what you were doing in the making of this film and the amount of courage that it took to make the film is colossal so I'll be linking that film for those who haven't seen it and I would probably suggest that it is the majority of people on the earth who haven't seen that film and I guarantee there's plenty of people who want to argue for carnism who won't watch that film they'll keep making their you know completely inhumane immoral arguments and they won't bother to watch that film but if you're gonna want to talk on this topic on my show you're gonna have to watch I've watched that film otherwise you're gonna be abruptly and rudely cut off and hung up on and I have the right to do that you want to talk on that topic you're absolutely free to do so I'm also absolutely free on the show that I conduct to decide what topics will be discussed at a particular time on the show to give airtime to to give precious airtime to and I usually have a totally open floor but for this topic since it's too call-in shows on the specific topic of the domination that withdrawing our support from the domination of other beings the non supportive dominators for the one subtopic within that subtopic of carnism if you want to bring up anything regarding it the prerequisite is you will need to see the film Earthlings from beginning to end in one sitting not watching it in tiny little pieces because you couldn't take it all at one time you reserve the time and then actually do it watch it from beginning to end then I'll be willing to hear what you have to say but until then in all honesty I'm not interested in what you have to say on this topic unless you've watched that film I'm not interested in your uninformed opinion on this topic okay because my my entire response to someone who will just wholesale advocate this religion is maybe it should be being done to your children maybe it should be being done to you sometimes that wouldn't even get somebody's emotions up in an uproar you know you want to advocate this being done for other beings maybe it should just be done to you or how about we do it to people you love and care about how about we do it to your children you know you're not putting yourself you're never seeing the suffering of another from your position you're not putting yourself in that position I should say seeing it from their position you know stepping into into the shoes and did the experience of another and I'll say you want to also have a look at what goes on type into Google Images go to google.com hit images and then type into their animal slaughterhouse it's probably a phrase I'd suggest over 99% of people have never typed into the Google Images search engine just do that and take a look at what really goes on in the quote meat industry the murder industry the bloodletting industry the altar of sacrifice industry because that's what it really is occult eclis the poisoning of the entire morphogenic energy field of the earth industry let's call it what it really is the total pollution of the energy field in which we all live that's what the meet quote meat industry is have a good look at a lot of those images you know which I did before the show and probably put some of the most tame images that I found into the slideshow for today and there's some out there I'm telling you that if they will weaken you to your soul if you have any humanity within you weaken you to the very level of the core level of your being for those of us who aren't already turned into secondary Psychopaths or who weren't born as the freaks called primary Psychopaths which we're not really going to get past that condition until we really understand the genetic manipulation that has been done to this species another topic I haven't really gotten into hardly at all on this show and only briefly touched upon it in presentations I've done elsewhere so the advocates of carnism of this religion let's call what they are they are acolytes of this religion all right they are adherence to the religion of carnism they make the 3 ends argument it's called and this is known as the normal natural necessary argument I believe this was coined by Melanie joy and others and Melanie joy is a psychologist who talks about the deep underlying issues within the human psyche the attachments to this belief system that ultimately drive this behavior that underlie this religious practice and she does a phenomenal job helping people to really understand the core belief system that underlies carnism I'm gonna post a video by her as well which I also highly recommend because it really gets you looking in the mirror the video all posts by her Melanie joy dr. Melanie Julie and hey by the way I'll just throw it out on the show now that I've mentioned her name if anybody has a contact for her I'd love to have her come and speak at the free your mind to conference so I've not been able to get in touch with her I've actually made an effort to do so but it has not been successful so I would like to get in touch with dr. Melanie joy and invite her to come to the free your mind to conference to talk about the religion of carnism and why it's one of the main things that's holding humanity back from its evolutionary progress and its true freedom so I'll throw that out as an official public invite and if anybody has contact information like I said just get in touch with me so the normal natural necessary argument as expressed by Melanie joy and many others let's look at these claims these are the physical $0.05 world five cents arguments for carnism and I'm just going to in fat achill e state at the beginning here none of these hold any moral truth at all not only do they not hold any moral truth they don't hold any scientific truth there is no scientific evidence to support these claims they are misunderstandings at the very very best and they are pure fabrications to deliberately deceive and mislead at the worst the three ends argument is normal natural necessary this argument is provably false amoral meat industry propaganda ultimately that's what it is and people who are buying into these arguments have bought into mind control techniques they've bought into mind control methodologies that have been started by the meat industry because they realize that there is a seed that has been actually put forth into the earth a seed of higher consciousness than is an expression of the non-aggression the non-violence principle and they don't want they want to smother that seed they don't want it to express they don't want it to grow because that will mean less profits for them that will mean their gravy training that they've been on since they've got so many people believing that this practice is normal natural and necessary will dry up if people really awoke to a higher level of consciousness regarding the immorality of this religion called carnism so what is the normal natural necessary argument it states that eating meat is normal that because so many people are doing it that it's okay that it's normal you want to be normal don't you you don't want to be that freak who doesn't do things that other people do who is you know alone in the crowd do you see this is a psychologically persuade argument not born in facts it's born in fear has nothing to do with science and knowledge and morality it's all based in fear it's all based in erroneous perception and the management of that perception which call it whatever you want I call what it really is mind control that's what perception management is so the normal argument is simply conveying what the dominator culture the local operating system of domination is telling people is normal it's not what's right it has nothing to do what's with what's right it has nothing to do with what is just it certainly doesn't have anything to do with what is true all it is is playing on perception you want to be like the crowd don't you you don't want to stand out right now because standing out takes courage doing what's right takes courage it takes going against the grain it takes swimming upstream the courage to swim upstream it's it's the courage for the individual to stand up against the group and that's the second part of the term context the green language part of the term controversial see it's contra meaning up against or face to face with verse ra meaning to change and I al in green language it means face to face with changing I versus the all the I the individual versus the group I all face the face with change I all that's not an accident and people can make light of that all they want I know people just totally ditch on the language of the birds and don't understand it because they're so trapped in the left brain I get it I get you don't understand that what a cult language is about I get that you know many people don't understand that there is a hidden language that the is speaking to us at all times and places trying to wake us up because the universe wakes us up through archetype language numbers shape and form vibratory energy it doesn't wake us up through English words this is coming in through those arc types through the language that we have constructed so ultimately the deeper part of ourselves is trying to wake us up through the language we've constructed that's what green languages and there's so many people that absolutely do not get it and aren't going to get it they don't want to get it because to get green language is to develop a deep understanding that you're living in a magical reality you're living in a reality that is so far stranger that you then you could even possibly conceive because again it's ultimately you reflecting back to you that which you really need the most that's what this whole thing is to learn and grow so the normal argument is all based on follower mentality you have to want to be a follower to accept this first part of the argument of normal natural necessary it is the entrenched and instilled beliefs of the dominator culture that makes something normal and all you're doing by grafting on to that belief is you're accepting that belief system that's based in domination and violence as your own because you don't want to stand out or be a unique and individual you want to identify with groupthink I'm telling you I didn't become vegetarian for health reasons I didn't become vegetarian as part of any damn trend I could care less what a trend is going on I became help I became vegetarian for moral reasons that are based in truth that are based in nature's laws cosmic universal spiritual laws when I recognize that and I recognize that my actions we're in opposition to that higher spiritual law I could not reconcile those things I could not say well I know this knowledge I have a deep understanding of this knowledge but my behaviors in opposition to it and that's okay with me no it wasn't okay with me I came face-to-face with changing myself what I is what I had to change and I ultimately made the decision to go through that process of change we will continue to talk about this after this very brief two-minute break we'll be right back here on what on earth is happening to continue to discuss carnism [Music] [Music] all right folks we're back continuing to talk about carnism as the ultimate expression of domination over another being part of our non support of dominators solution section here on what on earth is happening let's jump right back into this topic we were talking about the 3 ends argument of carnist the normal natural necessary with normal being the really representative of simply the normal quote unquote normal belief of dominant culture or the Dominator culture is more accurate to say it is based on follower mentality groupthink and collectivism follower of mentality groupthink and collectivism and has no regard for the actual moral issues involved as does the natural and necessary argument now natural spend a little bit of time on and necessary as well because people believe erroneously through their religious belief systems that it is man's natural state to consume the dead flesh of other animals that he has killed they believe that that is somehow that quote natural order which is the complete antithesis of the true natural order this is based on complete lies and disinformation regarding the linear progression of man's evolutionary progress on the earth and it is based on Darwinian theory this notion that the species with the biggest claws and sharpest teeth come out on top when it is ultimately truly the most conscious being that is the highest aspect or highest expression of nature's order it has nothing to do with the most vicious being as a matter of fact that's the thing that probably holds back the evolutionary progress the most that beastial form of consciousness so the this practice of carnism has nothing to do with nature with us just be natural predators and that being part of our nature part of the art this argument is it well we see other animals that this is their being this is their nature and they eat meat they consume other animals so why shouldn't we do it well the first and foremost answer to that is we're not the same kind of animal as them it doesn't make a difference what somebody else is doing this is the same argument if you see other people jumping off a bridge would you go and do that well you would be the same level of retardation and stupidity to just do that practice just because you see it being done by those who are lower than you animals are a lower form of consciousness than human beings there is a differential in conscious awareness on their part this isn't some kind of myth or belief system there is such a thing as different levels or different places that we are in consciousness and human beings arguably hey I have to qualify that should be at a higher level of consciousness than animals and isn't to say we're not part of this kingdom that we call animali of the animal kingdom the animal world were an expression of animal life and and that just comes from the latin term anima which means soul imbued with the soul an individual expression that's all it means we're different than the plant kingdom in that regard the plant kingdom is connected to the earth soul it is not that we aren't but we are an individual ated expression imbued with movement able to actually be you know not grounded in the earth in its soil and move freely upon it and possibly even beyond it that's what makes an animal different than a plant because people will one of the arguments we'll get into when we get into the occult side of things which will probably be next week there's so much information to cover on this topic I mean I may go three weeks on this topic who knows but part of what we'll talk about is the argument people make well if eating animals is eating plants is the same thing and it's also just as morally wrong and I'm gonna refute that argument and explain to people yes plants have a form of consciousness but what you have to look at when when you understand the deeper occult spiritual aspects of this that means the hidden spiritual aspects of this entire concept of stopping eating animal flesh when you try to apply that to plants the same thing doesn't hold true because they do not have the individuated expression of consciousness and yes that does matter yes that is for real it's not something that is imagined you can come to understand that if you do enough seeking deep internal work and reading to understand the laws of assimilation which we're going to talk about when we talk about the occult aspect of this topic the law of assimilation is what we have to realize when we're talking about what we should be putting into our body in the first place and meat is definitely one of the things that is going to make the body the most imbalanced and unhealthy and I'm very very profoundly sad that I didn't grasp this at a former time than I did earlier it could have made my journey so much easier and I would have come into good health before I had to go through absolutely horrific things with my health and overall feeling and well-being and again that's even it just not even to just want to make yourself healthier and feel better and be more energetic to take on a plant-based diet that's even the ancillary reason as I've said that's the secondary reason for wanting to do it that's still a selfish motivation the non selfish and ethical motivation needs to be the alleviation of suffering for other beings because if you're not concerned with the alleviation of suffering for other beings then you're helping contribute the dynamic to the dynamic of enslavement and you know a lot of people talk about you know they make these other arguments about meat being killed humanely oh these animals are being killed humanely that humanely slaughtered hey the taking of a life by violence is that taking of a life by violence you don't own that life to take it's not yours otherwise it would be called your life a cow's life is not your life and that's another thing if you're gonna speak in defense of carnism I want I want you to be able to make the statement I own other animals lives I want to hear that actual phrase leave your mouth before I want to know people to know that's your belief system that's what you believe before you speak in defense of it on this show anyway you will have to at least make that claim I want you to have seen earthlings in its entirety and I want you to make the claim that another animal's life is yours it belongs to you to take you can make those claims you could talk on the defense of carnism at least for a time you know I'll give you the floor for a little while to make whatever point you're going to make but unless you're gonna be willing to come on and bare yourself in that way to people I'm honestly not interested in hearing from you on the on this particular topic so the natural argument is based on Darwinian theory and it's based on this erroneous idea of linear progression of civilizations as well if you really get into it it's making the argument man is designed somehow to eat meat and we're the we are a part of this quote natural pecking order Oh before I get back in it I just wanted to very briefly continue to address this topic of humanely slaughtered meat there is no such thing that's a complete absolute misnomer and another thing that the meat industry put out there to try to allay people's consciences and not to get them to think about what really goes on in slaughterhouses and I'll tell you another thing people think that oh you know different religions have different ways of taking the animal life one of the absolute worst forms of meat butchering and slaughtering is kosher form of it because the animal is fully conscious upon the life being taken they're not you know given a stun shot to the brain so that there's brain death before they're actually killed their throat is slit without anything just a totally conscious and there's a image of this being done in a full video of this being done in earthlings watch it you know you'll see the inside of a kosher butcher II and just see the kind of suffering that goes on there and it's just unbelievable that people can just think that there is any kind of a humane or religiously acceptable means of taking an animal's life it's killing another Bing that's what it is and then you're eating something that's already dead the life has left it it's already dead and you're eating eating it you know we have to understand what's really being done to the Morpho genetic field the energetic field that we're all living in as a result of this suffering being pumped into it on a daily basis and let me tell you something who's behind this industry is the dark occultists dark occultic religious belief systems lie behind this continual and perpetual altar of sacrifice if you still don't understand that's who's behind the poisoning of this energyfield that we're all living in and ultimately creating the entire enslavement system you don't understand anything it's not just political it's not just financial it has its has it's bigger than banking it's bigger than money it's the old religion that's what the dark occultists themselves refer to it as and it's the religion of domination it's a religion that some people are going to be God here on earth because they detest and despise nature's law so much that they are going to rule in hell rather than serve in heaven and they're gonna become God here that's their ultimate religious belief and that religion spans all cultures all places on the earth all exoteric religious backgrounds regardless of what exoteric religion the person happens to be claiming that they come from it spans all races all religions all walks of life every institution on the face of the earth every age range the sexes you name it because the occult is not limited to any one particular organization institution cultural background or religious background there's people involved in it from every walk of life everywhere on this planet and people need to understand that dynamic because they get hung up and it's this group or that group or this group or that group so let's look at more about this natural quote it's natural argument it's also based in this idea that just because something has been going on for a certain amount of time that somehow lends legitimate to legitimacy to it and that's some kind of a complete logical fallacy it doesn't make a difference how long something has been going on the way it's been happening that will never make it right wrongs could be going on for millennia or even millions of years and still be wrong you know to make the argument well man's existed in this condition for you know hundreds of millions of years who's to say that it shouldn't be that way the laws of nature is to say that it shouldn't be that way this behavior is a choice that can be stopped at any time it's not something that we need I'm going to get to that part of it they'll say it's necessary and just because something's been going on for however many enormous number of years is never going to morally justify it you know that's like saying well human slavery has been going on for tens of thousands of years what why do you have such a problem with it maybe because it's morally wrong how about that it doesn't make a difference it's it's a complete non sequitur and our logical fallacy entirely you're bringing up something that has no time scales that has nothing to do with morality doesn't matter how long something that's immoral has been going on it's never going to make it into something that's moral and the other part I call the we are argument the we are is part of this natural that meat-eating is natural people say we are hunter-gatherers you know we were hunter-gatherers for our entire evolutionary progress let me tell you something there is no such thing as we are something that we are we can consciously direct our evolution if we are in conscious control over our thoughts and understanding what's really going on in our motivations in the deep recesses of the human psyche if we're aware of that then we are in a position to be able to consciously evolve ourselves and there's no such thing as we must be this thing forever we can will ourselves to be something beyond that the we are argument there's no such thing as what we are we are what we choose to be that's another thing that really we have to really deeply understand ponder think about contemplate you know there's no set way things have to be we can consciously choose to make something different and be something better than what we are that's what evolution is all about the willful conscious choice to be something better than you were in the moment before that's what evolution in consciousness is about so we are what we choose to be we're capable of consciously evolving past where we quote-unquote are by an act of our will capital W will another way I would say this is we will be what we choose to be that's our choice no one else's the only thing that's not within our will to choose is what the laws of morality are what right and wrong is that's something that's set in immutable it's its extant it is inherent to creation it's like saying I don't like that stars or stars I wanted them to be something else I want this the Sun to be something other than what it is it's a component of nature you're not gonna change that oh maybe you could develop some kind of technology that destabilizes it at some point of uh you know technological growth but ultimately you're not changing that which is you're not gonna make a star into an apple okay nature created it you're not going to make what you want out of it and this doesn't just apply it physically of course this applies to the moral laws that are inherent to creation which I have called natural law and what I'm now increasingly simply terming Universal spiritual law to avoid the entire confusion and the hijacking of this word natural because in connotative lee in people's diseased mindset they believe that this word means something completely erroneous and completely actually antithetical to what it really does mean diametric opposite to what the word natural really does mean and again natural comes from the term net tear in Egyptian it is the net tear all the spirit all the all spirit everything is spirit this is a spiritual construct for experience and it is all based on the laws of spirit cosmic or universal spiritual law which I have been calling natural law but again I'm actually moving away from that term because it's so hijacked the term natural people think it means this quote Darwinian natural order that isn't even what Darwin said it people think it means now he was saying there had to be a lot of evidence in the fossil record to support his theory that's never been found and yet it's been turned into a religion which is what Darwinism is it's another religion a completely dogmatic belief system not based in truth that holds humanity back from forward progression evolutionary progress in consciousness it's what Darwinism is just like carnism so the we are argument needs to be completely and wholesale rejected it is a logical fallacy in and of itself and it you know it shows the worldview poisoning because that's the dynamic that this entire natural argument is based upon what do you think human nature is what do you think the possibility for change is if these aspects of the psyche about how we view these dynamics of the world that we're living in and our expression of consciousness is poisoned I've called this world view poisoning these are the type of thoughts we're going to have these are the type of views we're going to hold on to and they're completely imbalanced they're completely poisoned and ultimately they keep us in a state of powerlessness and the only way to get beyond that point is the heal worldview by understanding what true human nature is about and understanding the value of individual life we talked about this in the section as a matter of fact that was like the first real solution I got into was worldview poisoning I believe that's the first solution on the the grassroots solutions for positive and lasting change that we listed and talked about if you don't heal the worldview nothing is going to be orderly or healed from that point forward you're not going to create any kind of positive expression or manifestation if your worldview continues to be poisoned and this is part of the natural argument for carnism that we have to get past the third is necessary and the main expression for this people actually have made biological arguments I'm sorry not biological ecological arguments for why we have to keep eating meat which is so ridiculous I'm not even going to talk about it because the meat industry is one of the biggest ecological polluters of the entire world and if you look at how much if you just look at the stats regarding how much environmental degradation it takes to raise a pound of meat versus plant food the stats are absolutely staggering you know I mean we're doing so much destruction to the environment by the practice of animal rearing animal husbandry and and carnism that it's almost incalculable the impact that this is having on the living system of the earth the main aspect of the necessary argument isn't even just this ecological one this ridiculous ecological one it's the fact that we need to consume meat to be healthy and this is complete logical fallacy as well as I'm going to explain and this is all born in meat industry propaganda part of the argument that was made for this was done in the work called the book called the vegetarian myth by Lee air Keith and I do encourage people to read this book okay I'm not gonna tell you don't read the propaganda for the other side absolutely check it out I try to suggest borrowing it so you're not giving money to a diseased worldview like that but we're trying to find it online but when if you read this book with open eyes and ears if you read this book understanding the worldview poisoning aspects if you read this book understanding the attachment the ego attachment that is born that is has reached full expression in many people and you understand the lack of willpower on people's part and ignorance on people's part regarding what real how real health is generated through nutrition this woman seems to make convincing arguments to people who are not really in the know because she argues these things normal natural necessary that's the main crux of her argument very much ignores and takes the emphasis off of the actual suffering of these beings the actual suffering of the animals she knows hardly anything about real nutrition she doesn't understand nutrient density in plant-based foods how to unlock that how to take that into the human body she was doing veganism all wrong completely wrong and I'm not even going to completely advocate just a vegan diet I don't have a problem with the vegetarian diet or what some people have called the non strict vegetarian diet one that incorporates dairy products which are animal by-products if you want to go vegan wonderful make sure you understand the health concerns associated with that to do it and do it the right way this person was not doing it the right way and then blaming the dietary choice itself or lifestyle itself because she didn't have the full information regarding how to do it right you know she's put pushing this Paleolithic diet which again is another form of meat industry propaganda and poisoned worldview based on this Darwinistic notion of linear evolution linear civilization linear progress of civilizations so she makes erroneous statements in the book as well saying that you know we have a dietary need for actuated fat and cholesterol which we don't the liver makes the amount of cholesterol that we need and we can get all of the essential fatty acids from plant-based foods the essential fatty acids can be taken in from the plant-based foods the things that the brain actually needs to build the neocortex of the brain the whole brain but specifically the neocortex which is responsible for higher order thought function and truly human characteristics and especially conscience and more moral concerns all of that can be gotten through plant foods I'm going to talk about what is necessary by the body and talk about what plant-based foods we can derive those nutrients from and believe me they're in these plant-based foods in in in dense quantities there's no reason that the human being now or ever needed to actually consume that animal flesh this is a myth this is something that has been propagated by people who want this practice to continue unabated and unchallenged in the mind and it's provably false the idea that it is necessary to eat meat is provably false first of all I don't need I honestly you know people who love the entire backing up every single solitary claim that is ever made by the human voice you know they want me to provide actual claims for this and I'm going to I'm gonna actually provide the claims what is necessary by the body that the knowledge of what is necessary to be taken into the body and what plant-based foods we can get that from today on the show and the the problem here is that people actually don't think that simple experience is proof of the in invalid nature of the belief that you need meat I'm a healthy energetic intelligent vital being and I do not consume dead animal flesh and haven't for five years five years ago when I went through a deeper aspect of the awakening before I started speaking I finally reconcile this immoral behavior that I was participating in with the knowledge that I had taken into myself and I willed myself to stop doing that immoral practice so what we have to understand is there are people who are simply living proof experiential proof that that argument is a logical fallacy and have been for hundreds of years we're going to talk about that more when we get into the occult side of things I'm going to be bringing up work by high-level Rosicrucians and Freemasons on the topic of the immorality of the consumption of animal flesh I'm gonna be looking into the works of Max Heindel probably next week on this this topic from the Rosicrucian cosmo conception and i'll post links to all this information as well with this podcast we'll be getting into the law of assimilation will be I'll be reading excerpts from the document known as vegetarianism and occultism by the freemason C W Leadbeater and it's a phenomenal short essay I guess you could call it it's not really a book that really gets deeply into the moral reasons and the occult reasons for ceasing the practice of carnism so the necessary argument let's take a look at some of its claims there's this thing known as the protein myth that you can only get the proteins needed for the human body by taking in animal flesh and this is incorrect this is a logical fallacy that is repeated it's a myth that is believed in by people let's take a look at what the body actually really does need the body does need protein this is true the fallacy comes in that the proteins that we need can only be found in an animal matter in animals dead animal flesh and that's not the case okay the amino acids that we really need by taking in protein and having the body break it down that's what the body really needs through protein so there are tons of plant protein sources and if your being a vegan and you're not getting enough protein in your diet is because you're doing it wrong if you're a vegetarian you're not getting enough protein in your diet because you're not eating right you don't have enough information about what the body needs and the particular foods that contain those nutrients in high enough densities and you're not put adding those into your diet on a frequent enough basis and that's it that's why people fail at veganism and vegetarianism they don't have the complete knowledge of what needs to be taken into the diet on a daily basis protein sources in plant foods come from the following things that you need to add into your diet if you're a vegetarian or a vegan legumes which is lentils beans and peas and chickpeas that's what you need to take in that's a big source of protein in the vegetarian and vegan diet all forms of legumes soy beans which are not technically categorized as legumes but if you add soy tofu tempeh tempeh probably better because it's a fermented form of it a lot of people say that it doesn't have some of the possible bad health benefits of some soy products when it's taken in high amounts I think so should be used sparingly and legumes should be one of your main sources of protein grains also have proteins you can get good amount of protein from millet from quinoa quinoa is an excellent source of protein that's a grain a lot of cereals box cereals if you're gonna eat that you know people who you know I guess don't engage in mostly raw food diet diet when it comes to veganism aren't going to touch processed foods like that but cereals have protein in it as well through the grains rice has protein oats house protein we again it has gluten in it which is shown to be somewhat detrimental to certain aspects of health as well but it has protein in it dairy products have protein milk cheese yogurt eggs of course have protein nuts and nut butters so peanuts almonds walnuts cashews pecans that there's basically protein in all nuts and nut butters seeds have proteins at protein sesame seeds chia i'm sorry not chia pumpkin seeds sunflower seeds so tons and tons of plant derived protein sources for people to say you need to kill animals and eat their flesh to get the protein you need in the human diet is erroneous it does not hold any scientific weight at all it's an invalid claim we need calcium in the human diet for bones you can get that from soy tofu you can get that from cereal grains as well okay you can get that from kale kale has protein in it broccoli has I'm sorry calcium we're talking about calcium now kale has calcium in it broccoli has calcium bok choy is another excellent source of calcium legumes also have calcium in them again lentils beans chickpeas nuts and nut butters also have calcium in them and seeds also have calcium in them as well so more more plant vegetable derived sources seeds legumes plants that have tons of calcium in them if you're not eating these foods on a daily basis you're doing vegetarianism and veganism wrong the human body needs iron iron is in many different plant derived foods as well strawberry tomatoes broccolis peppers etc zinc zinc is needed in the diet it's found in grains we tofu nuts seeds beans peas lentils and cereals alright vitamin b12 this is one of the big arguments against that people bring up against vegetarianism or and/or veganism well vegetarians don't really have any problem getting enough b12 in their diet because if you're going to eat any eggs or take in milk there's b12 within those those things vegans will often have to supplement their diet somewhat with things that are in that the things that have b12 within them soy beverages nutritional yeast and cereals are important when it comes to getting enough b12 vitamin b12 in the diet and it is an important vitamin it can be done with a vegetarian diet and it can even be done in a vegan diet in a vegan lifestyle it is not impossible it requires some will in order to do it and do it properly and people who aren't doing this properly want to blame the entire lifestyle and the choice the moral choice and say somehow it's necessary that we need to take in dead animal flesh and again I would say what this really is if you really read the vegetarian myth and try to psychoanalyze what's really going on in this person she doesn't have enough knowledge she harmed her body through the ignorance that she did this type of diet with she didn't go in with full knowledge she harmed her body developed chronic disease as a result then tries and turn it around and blame it on something other than her own ignorance and that is what's going on psychologically with Lee AER Keith it's transference of blame to someone who to the the actual practice of vegetarianism and veganism not her ignorant which actually caused her conditions and she's not only in a physical condition I would emphatically stays in a psyche condition of psychological imbalance and this this is evidenced evidenced greatly by some of the statements that she makes when she talks about when she broke her vegan quote vegan I want to say that also emphatically she didn't really live a vegan lifestyle she binge dawn meat because of urges that she had that's not being vegan being vegan is not eating any meat products any animal products at all okay even animal derived vegetarian your you don't eat meat you don't eat any animal flesh you will use eggs cheese milk etc so dairy products and plant-based foods but she did not engage in Creole veganism number one so that's a misnomer when she claims she was vegan for decades isn't accurate and secondly she also betrayed the psychological underpinnings that were really going on in her mind when she basically talked about when she broke her you know vegan streak and started eating fish again because she loved the tuna fish and she made the statement that when she ate her first tuna fish sandwich after you know being vegan for so long that she couldn't even believe the the absolute incredible euphoric feeling that she got you know every cell in her body was tingling you know she put it like and she said wow this is what it really feels like to be fed and to be alive no incorrect that's what it feels like to be an addict and to be getting a fix because you're still not willfully strong enough to overcome to an immoral practice and you're still so hung up on how it makes you feel meaning not the real you the higher case as self you but the lower case s the sense self the five-cent self she's so attached to how that felt let me tell you something ladies and gentlemen no one in my entire circle of friends and family and you can ask anyone anyone who knows me anyone who knows people who know me I challenge you call them write to them ask people if there is anyone they know in their circle of friends that includes me okay if they know me personally when I was a meat-eater when I was a carnist who could put away more meat than me I want you to go and ask them and fun seriously I know personally no one else I'm not saying there's there's tons of people who are like you know professional eaters and you know they're what do you call a competitive eaters I'm not saying I could put away more meat than anybody I'm saying in my circle of friends and family members I was able to put them put away more meat than any other person that I know personally in my life that's what I am saying and that can be corroborated by asking anyone who knows me the amount of meat that I would eat when I was younger you would have a hard time even conceiving of it I'll tell an anecdote right now we went to a place here in Philadelphia I won't mention a name to plug it but it's a restaurant that brings you continuously brings you meet that is grilled in a South American barbecue style way and basically they give you it's like a total decadent thing they give you a chip on your table that has a green side and a red side literally this is true and you you keep it on green if you want them upon seeing that your plate is empty of meat como bring you more different cuts of meat and when you're finally full or sated you flip it to the red side and they know even if there's anything on your plate or even if your plates empty don't bring any more because you've had enough and we went there Barb and I went there years ago when we were both still carnist we were it was some some occasion of someone's birthday or something we went there with a large group of people there might have been like 12 or 13 or 14 people we sat around a big table at this South American barbecue style restaurant and we you know all started with our chips on on green and started going and they started bringing us food and at the end of the night everyone was so completely overstuffed and just you know gorged literally gorged and me and a one other friend we're sitting there with our chips dawn green I'll say his name his name was John we were sitting there he was a former boyfriend of one of Barb's friends and he was you know kind of a big guy and me and him were sitting and just going toe-to-toe talking about different cuts of meat and just gorging ourselves and everyone else was long done and we were still eating like for 45 minutes after everybody had stopped and they're just watching us like laughing that we could possibly put away that much meat on our own and I think I even slightly outlasted him when he finally flipped over his chip mine was stolen for like one more bit barely you know but that's what kind of immediate or I used to be so again in many of these cases when it comes to mindset when it comes to morality when it comes to excess I was one of the worst offenders you know I think that actually places people in a deeper position of being able to turn themselves around it actually almost gives them the benefit or the edge you know this is the concept of the lukewarm or in the worst position those who are the hottest in other words they're in the the deepest chasms of consciousness they have an opportunity to see it's you know that maybe you don't really see the reflection until you're almost at the very bottom of the chasm of that floor then you finally see your reflection in that and then you have an opportunity to really to spring up to the highest you know Heights that's kind of the way I look at it because if someone like me can do it after the level of attachment that I had to me than anyone can and I'll just tell you another brief anecdote that I said I was gonna get into when I first made the decision to stop eating me it was after seeing the movie Earthlings and basically I had cognitive dissonance going on within my mind and many other people will be experiencing this if you're honest with yourself you know and you're still engaged in this practice and you want to see real freedom and you you know want there to be actual peace and non-violence on the earth and you're honest with yourself you're probably in this condition of cognitive dissonance trying to reconcile oppositional behavior with knowledge of right and wrong and I was in this state for a while after seeing that movie and I made like sort of a subconscious promise to myself it wasn't even a promise it was a deep realization and a recognition that now that I know this now that I know what really goes on now that I know what I'm a part of indirectly I'm an indirect part of it you know and not saying it nicely that's even a euphemism what I'm really talking about is I'm a participatory member of violence by proxy and murder by proxy so I knew that I was contributing to that dynamic and don't get me wrong don't think that I'm saying one person stopping eating meat changes the whole dynamic no it's all about amount for a quantum effect to build and then express a certain amount of people have to make a choice with in harmony with natural law so I'm under no delusions that just me doing this stops it somehow oh it's going on on a beta and we could talk about numbers and I will get into numbers but you know I decided that again it's me versus the all it doesn't matter what the all is doing I need to worry about what I'm doing what are my actions contributing to am I be part of the dynamic of the creation of that suffering am i part of the dynamic of the negative injection of energy into the field of consciousness that we're all living in and the answer was yes I had to ask myself the question that I tell people to ask in slide number 11 you know after I'll talk about numbers a little bit and I'll ask that question but it's essentially what what am i contributing in the way of energy pumping energy into this dynamic on earth am I on the right side of that equation is what my behavior is doing contributing to the negative energetic dynamic on earth and the answer was yes and therefore I had to approach it apophatic lee meaning from the negative perspective meaning I need to stop doing something that is harmful am i engaged in harm were indirect harm that's the question then stop doing that action it's the apophatic pathway to truth is this behavior engaging in harm does it include engagement with harm and engagement in the violence ideology the ideology of violence and domination and if the answer is yes to that question then you have to apply apophysis to your behavior and apophysis is the method of saying no the practice of saying no pulling back from that which is doing harm again I've said repeatedly over and over again it isn't so much about what we need to start doing it's almost entirely about what we need to stop doing to create freedom we're holding freedom back by what we're doing we stop doing those things freedom is the natural expression it is the actual base underlying form of everything we just need to learn how to be in that state of consciousness and stop doing what we're already doing unfortunately you know we've come to such a horrible fall in consciousness that our our condition the default condition that we have created is that you know tyranny and enslavement and oppression and violence is like the default condition here on earth well the only way to really change that is to stop engaging it stop supporting it stop obeying it stop complying with it saying no apophysis pulling back from engagement in actions that are immoral because they cause harm then the manifested result will be peace order harmony freedom and justice on earth until we pull back from those behaviors don't expect any of those things don't expect them to magically manifest while we're still engaged in harmful immoral behaviors the the laws of nature do not allow for that it's an impossibility it just doesn't work that way folks so I mean let's briefly talk about numbers how many animals are murdered in the in the United States alone last year in 2011 in the United States alone over over ready for this figure 10 billion with a B yes 10 billion that's a 10 with 9 zeros after it 10 billion animals land animals only were slaughtered in the United States alone in the year 2011 in one year over 10 billion that's a low estimate it was something like ten point three billion was the actual figure ten over ten billion with a B animals and if you factor in aquatic animals animals that live in water the sea or our freshwater the total number of animals killed for human consumption in the United States alone just last year in one year was you ready for this 65 billion animals with a be 65 billion animals only in the United States that's not the entire world that is 9 times more than the population more than 9 times greater than the population of the entire world as far as human beings go worldwide figures were astronomically higher if you take the total amount of animals both aquatic and land raised amount of animals slaughtered killed at the hands of human beings for consumption of their dead flesh in the year 2011 alone in the world the number is horrific it's 150 billion animals 150 billion animal lives were violently taken in the year 2011 alone by a human population of 7 billion people that is over a 21 to 1 ratio for every person alive on the planet and I ask people to ask only one question when it comes to looking at those figures what is this practice doing energetically to the field of energy and consciousness in which we are all living what do you think it's doing and I asked you to say try not to try to find out what it really is doing versus what you think or believe try to get actual empirical data about what that's actually doing and it's possible to do that work if you really want to know that answer lies within all of us the true answer to that question about what that is doing lies within each and every one of us if we're honest with ourselves if we're willing to do the work to go within ourselves to acquire that answer you may not find that answer in a school book or an encyclopedia or even on the internet but it exists and there is a truth regarding it and I'll tell you what it's doing and don't believe me try to know for yourself that is turning the energetic vibratory energy the vibratory dynamic of this planet into a hell world these animals suffer inhumane and cruel treatment often not even being able to stand treated like a thing you watch the movie Earthlings and put yourself in the position of one of those animals and and if you can't identify with that level of suffering you're you are a species as they call it in Earthlings at the very very best but really what I would say that someone who can't really foot I would say if someone does not really have a deep visceral emotional gut reaction in a negative way to what they see in the movie Earthlings you should be seriously concerned that you are already at least a secondary psychopath and I know that's even that's like you know a catch-22 because how can a psychopath really be concerned about anything well maybe it's not because psychopaths are generally concerned about themselves but they just don't care that they don't care you know that's how psychopathy works so I'll suggest it in a different way if you watch this movie with someone else and they don't have a visceral emotional gut reaction to what they're seeing in a negative way then you will be really empowered to know that you are probably most likely dealing with a psychopath and I would say if you're gonna watch it with somebody else try to be wary about whether they're faking feigning that concern that emotional reaction you could tell if you're good enough at reading people whether they're faking it or not because if it's not gonna produce that you know empathetic painful reaction in the human heart I feel tragically sorry for anyone because they've been turned into something that is quite less than a human being and they've been robbed of a birthright which is to truly feel so that's my challenge and I'll be posting the link to the movie and I've told people in the past I didn't recommend them watching it because of that reason I'm gonna reverse my position on that and say you really want to get involved in the real dynamic of why human freedom isn't a present condition here on the earth and probably is not going to be for a long long long time as long as we stay attached to these erroneous belief systems and these false axioms that we have built our behavior upon I would suggest that earthlings is actually a good movie to view to understand why that dynamic is in place and on next week I'm going to really talk about the occult aspects of this dynamic and really get into the principle of Correspondence you know I put a somewhat comical image if you could even call it that that I found out there floating around as an internet meme a human being laying on a table with aliens around them saying all the different justifications for the continuance of carnism oh we have our own problems we don't have time to worry about whether they suffer or not you know and this guy is laying out on their feast table with an apple in his mouth surrounded by you know vegetables and trimmings this is an image number 12 they kill other animals for our food so why shouldn't we do oh there's that erroneous logical fallacy quote-unquote natural argument don't worry this one was killed humanely quote unquote you know the logical fallacy that you can murder some something humanely I do feel bad but I could never give up my meat it's just too tasty let's be honest that's what the real justification is in every in everyone's mind they don't want to employ the will they don't want to exercise the will to change and be an existing behavior that is ultimately destructive and is ultimately creating part of the done it is part of the creating dynamic of why we are enslaved and if you don't understand that you still don't really get the why you can only see the wat you can see the symptom and you might disagree with the symptom and you mayn't I want the symptom present but you still don't have the master key of Y in hand that it's happening because you do not grasp the principle of Correspondence the law of Correspondence that as we do to others will be done unto us the end for all eternity in all times and places so if you don't want to create self-inflicted suffering and you want to be free then do unto others as you would have done unto yourself and that's the true Christian teaching and the truth at esoteric Christian perspective when it comes to this issue I'll also talk about this fallacy of God giving us dominions over the animals that's taught in fake Christian next movement that's all the time we have for this week folks I know it was hard hitting

freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pastor [Music] freedom for the people that's what this show is all about ladies and gentlemen welcome one and all you are listening to what on earth is happening right here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio today is Sunday August 26 2012 my website what on earth is happening calm the networks website Oracle broadcasting dot-com this show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time that's 4 to 6 p.m. Central Time we have an awesome show lined up for you here today and it is going to be information packed an information dense show coming your way we're going to be continuing to talk about the practice of carnism and how this is one of the factors that is ultimately keeping humanity in the prison based modality of consciousness in which it currently resides we're going to be getting into today the occult aspects of carnism the occult reasons why this is a practice that we should not be undertaking in our daily day-to-day lives and I'm going to be talking about the moral justifications for a carnism the reasons people give to continue this practice and then we hearing from a couple of high-level occult researchers occult authors who I find their views valid and enlightening and who I do not follow their views their views are ones which I actually encountered after coming into the knowledge regarding the immorality of the practice of carnism for myself after that I actually encountered the gentleman's work who I'm going to be reading from today and these come from a couple of different occult traditions we're going to be talking about reasons for for ceasing and desisting the practice of carnism from the masonic and Rosicrucian perspectives and when i say those terms i mean from the original esoteric intent of these traditions not as they have basically degraded down through the centuries and come to us in the modern form but this these are esoteric teachings that come from out of the ancient world and really date back to traditions that go right back into ancient Greece and Egypt and even far older than that right into the dawn of human antiquity so that's coming up on the show today this of course is an ongoing continuation of the solutions oriented approaches that we're talking about about how to get out of this mess in consciousness that we've worked ourselves into so this is all part of the solutions section that I call the way out and it's part of the non support of dominators and the non support of the practice of domination over any species the it's it's part of removing oneself from the concept of having authority over other beings because as we've talked about many times in the past there is no such concept it is an illusion that is the byproduct of a imbalanced psyche so that's coming up on the show today I have many event announcements and please bear with me through these because it's so important there is so much stuff that's going on and it's good stuff this stuff that's happening and these meetings that are taking place and gatherings of people I mean photos for two new confirmed speakers just confirmed earlier today dr. Lauren Lauren Marais and Ross been great speakers added to the free your mind conference and we will be adding more as more people confirm so we're probably going to have around 25 speakers when this is all said and done it's going to be an incredible unique event and if you can be in Philadelphia in April of 2013 do not miss this one it is going to blow the roof off of the Arch Street meeting house so the next event announcement I have is the truth freedom prosperity monthly free documentary screening and discussion evening at a scene food market and cafe 719 South fourth Street here screened this month is part 1 of the movie's original intent by the filmmaker James Yaeger James Yeager will also be appearing live at this event he will be introducing the film and taking questions after the film's conclusion so you won't want to miss that great documentary filmmaker he's the maker of Fiat Empire a phenomenal film about the Federal Reserve and this film is about what the original intent of the founders of this country was all about and how we have really veered wildly off course from that intent so that's Thursday August 30th 6:30 p.m. at a scene food market 4th and Monroe streets in Philadelphia for more information visit www.gfi.com/webmonitor check it out tons of speaker BIOS already posted a brand new website for the free or mind conference the next event conference for full bios and abstracts of the speakers all right that's the main event announcement some what on earth is happening news I was interviewed this past Friday night August 24th on down the rabbit hole with pop I always enjoy being on Popeyes show on Orion Talk Radio Network the show will be up in the news section in the next couple of days I am going to pull the archive from Popeyes show from down the rabbit hole and I'll be posting it to the what on earth is happening new section in the next couple of days I will be interviewed on wide awake radio with Charlie McGrath on of wide awake news.com this Monday night August 27th at 9:00 p.m. Eastern Time you can listen in to that show at wide-awake news.com Charlie's show is also carried on the rents radio network on this coming Tuesday I will be guest hosting for Bob Tuscan on the Bob Tuscan show Bob is on vacation this week he's having guest hosts all week and I will be filling in for Bob on this Tuesday August 28th from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. Eastern here on Oracle broadcasting the ad-free chip in effort I have to so commend and congratulate people and thank them from the bottom of my heart we have already hit our goal for the second three month period this is phenomenal news I can't thank people enough for so generously donating to this cause of keeping the two main hours of this program ad free with only a two minute short intermission in between the two hours now ad-free on what on earth is happening so let's keep the chip and effort going the next three month period will be starting the donations for which will be for February March and April period and will need to raise approximately another thousand for that period which the time period to raise that will end at the end of January so I'll be posting that new chart soon but if you go to the ad-free chip-in page in the news section of what on earth is happening calm you'll see that we have hit our goal for the three month period that we were shooting for so absolutely thank you and great work to people who have really put an effort forward to make this show remain commercial-free I will be I want to announce that I will be refraining from doing extra radio interviews during the month of September and October so I will not have interviews on other shows during these two months this is because there is so many duties associated with the organization and promotion of the freer mine conference that I am basically going to take a short break from additional interviews for that two month period to focus fully on the organization and promotion of the free your mind to conference I'll then be ramping up the efforts again starting in November to heavily promote for the show and I'll be doing radio interviews again starting in November but I need this approximate two-month period to really focus on this work for the conference so I just wanted to announce that as well since we are still in the non-supportive dominator section the solution of this radio show there will still be no calls until this entire section is completed which will be in the next couple of weeks the upcoming topics after today's show on carnism will be women's role in discontinuing the support of dominators and the dominator culture and I will be probably doing one show one entire show on that topic starting next week and then I am planning on inviting a guest on the following week to talk on that topic I'm not going to announce that just yet until I have it definitively confirmed but a great guest possibly coming up in two weeks here on what on earth is happening for the full show we'll probably take some calls for that show but the calls for the entire topic of the non-supportive dominators in general will be coming up probably in about three weeks and I'll be doing two entire call-in shows on that topic the one caveat to that is if you want to speak in defense of carnism I'm making it a prerequisite if you want to come on the air and voice your opinion on that that you must have watched the movie earthlings from beginning to end in one sitting without like you know shirking away from it going and doing other things looking away from the screen I want to know that someone has paid attention and watched this documentary film about the horrors in in the practice of carnism and the procurement of meat as a quote unquote food so that's the one prerequisite if you haven't seen that film and you're gonna try to speak in defense of carnism I will abruptly cut you off and hang up because that is my requirement I have a show I bring people on to share their views if you want to share that view I'm not stopping you from doing it I'm just saying if you want to do it on my show then that's the requirement is that you have seen that movie in its entirety because I will have questions that I want to direct for you having seen it and still in the defense of this practice so that's the only caveat or prerequisite to the call-in shows that are going to be coming up okay I'd like to direct everyone to the what on earth is happening calm a website go to the radio show tab and there you will see images for today's show as always that highlight the topics and ideas that I will be talking about here on the show today so let's jump in with the topic I'll just go through the slideshow briefly image number one is of course a poster for the free your mind to conference I finally got around to working one up and there you see an image number one I'll be adding speakers to this flyer as more of them confirm image number two is a conference for the first conference fundraiser the matrix trilogy decode and presentation highlighted in that flyer image number three is the end the fed flyer for the nationwide end the Fed rally image number four is the flyer for the MUFON PA East Coast Conference image number five is the slide that I called the way out which is the title of this entire section so this is all about solutions and the grassroots solutions for real positive and lasting change are listed in slide number six the section that we are on now and have been on for many weeks is the non supportive dominate that's slide number seven last week we started this topic and really talked about health concerns connected with the topic of carnism with the religion of carnism and we basically dispelled a lot of these myths regarding why in the practice of eating meat is natural normal natural and necessary this famous three ends argument which we completely blew apart last week and will continue to do so this week so image number eight just showed this simple etymological definition of the word controversial which I said this topic would be the word controversial is derived from the Latin language the prefix contra means facing face to face or up against and the verb vers ra which the second part of the word is derived from verse over sorry means to change or to alter so when we put them together we understand in its root definition the word controversial in fact means coming face to face with change face to face with changing with having to change and that's why things like this are considered controversial what we really are saying is we're face to face with something that is telling us we must change and that creates discomfort in us because ultimately we don't want to change we want to stay where we are we want to stay in our comfort zone so that's what this issue is ultimately all about evolution always must take us out of our comfort zone and into unknown territories so it is always controversial when proposing behavioral changes to people who have simply done these things in an unconscious state of mind their entire lives and been taught that it is ok and there that there are justifications for these practices we defined carnism last week as a dogmatic religion moving on the slide number nine now as a dogmatic roulette based entirely upon violence based entirely upon violence the main belief system of which is is that it is morally justifiable and/or necessary to kill animals and eat their dead flesh I called carnism last week in no uncertain terms the ultimate expression of domination the ultimate expression of domination we blew apart as I said the normal natural necessary argument last week this argument I've said is provably false amoral meat industry propaganda it is not normal it is not natural and it is not necessary and we looked at those provably false arguments last week we talked about the numbers of lives extinguished needlessly in the animal population just last year alone 10 billion land animals in 2011 alone slaughtered for their flesh if aquatic animals water-based animals are taken into consideration that number in the United States alone in the last year alone totaled over 65 billion with a be lives extinguished worldwide figures were over double that number and places the total number of animal deaths at the hands of human beings in the year 2011 alone at over well over 150 billion animals that is 21 times the population the human population of this planet this week we're going to start in with looking at justifications for the continuation of this practice and we're going to look at them one by one and really there's there's many more justifications than just the number I'm going to list here but I want to foe on six major justifications for the continuation of the immoral practice of carnism it is a religion as I've said it it's not just an ideology in a practice it's a religious belief system it is based on things that are not grounded or rooted in fundamental principles of truth therefore it is a religion a religion is defined by the root word relig RA in Latin which means to tie back to hold back or to thwart from forward progress that is what the word religio relig re means to thwart from forward progress by tying or binding religion is binding we've talked about this before on the show religion can also have an alternative meaning of reuniting or reconnecting to something and that something being truth being the universal spiritual laws of creation the universal laws of consciousness if you will and that's what we need to retie ourselves to reconnect ourselves to reunite ourselves with that is true religion but in the sense of religion being used in this world organized religion and false ideological belief systems religion is a binding practice that holds us back that thwarts us from forward evolutionary progress in consciousness so that is the sense I'm using the word religion in the connotation I'm using it in and we talked about what justifications are justifications are we could also look at the root word of justification it comes from the Latin us meaning right or law and the Latin verb youfuck RA which means to make or to create so when we put these together justification it means to create a right to make up a right that does not exist to make a right out of a wrong to imagine to oneself and to try to tell oneself that are wrong is a right that's what justification are justifying something is doing it is trying to make a right out of something that is wrong morally wrong and justifications really hold no wait they hold no water there something that there lies that we tell to ourselves that's really what a justification is justifications are lies that we tell to ourselves about what we may be doing what we are allowed to do that actually causes harm to other living beings there's no such thing if it causes harm to other living beings you shouldn't be engaging in that practice so justifications means the creation of rights that do not exist and I put the slide number 13 with alien beings a seemingly comical slide until you really think about it you understand this is exactly what humanity is for anybody who's truly aware you realize Humanity is food by our own choice by our own ignorance through our own ignorance we are food I mean you want to really know what the purpose of the present planet is it's to make you food that's what the purpose of it is in no in very simple easy to understand language if you want to really know what the end goal is it's you being eaten and you can look at that in physical terms if you really want to look at it that way I have no problem with you even looking at it that way but you're being spiritually devoured the essence of you is being devoured by the dark forces that currently are in control of this planet and you're being used as a fuel source for them you're being eaten by them by those forces by those entities if you will so this is a ostensibly comical piece of social commentary here in slide number 13 but if you want my opinion it's literally true it's quite literally the case and these aliens have a human being on their dinner table with an apple stuffed in his mouth and all trimmings around them like a Thanksgiving dinner like a turkey on a table during Thanksgiving dinner and they're all making individual justifications the six aliens who are seated around the dinner table around the Hume the dead human being are all making justifications for why they feel that it's okay for them to continue the practice of slaughtering human beings and using them as their food so we'll cover these one by one and I'll talk about what these arguments really are these justifications for carnism which I list on slide number 15 slide number 14 is simply the etymological definition of justification so slide 15 shows these justifications for the practice of carnism and the first is what I call the apathy and ignorance justification the we don't really care about them they're them we're us we don't care about what happens to them we can't care about what happens to them we have too many other concerns don't you know you know after all they have nothing to do with us they're different and separate from us what happens to them is their own lot in life we got to worry about what happens to us the apathy I don't care about their suffering and ignorant if I don't pay attention to it or look at it it doesn't really affect me the ignorance justification I should call it and start using that inflection when using that word ignoring because that's what it really is is a it's ignoring the injustice it's ignoring the suffering the quote that backs this justification up is we have our own problems we don't have time to worry about whether they suffer or not so that's the apathy and ignorance just if ocation and if you want to remain apathetic and ignorant you know what invariably ends up happening enslavement you can't have freedom without care and intelligence and if you want to ignore things you don't want to pay attention you don't want to acknowledge and admit to what's really going on you're gonna end up enslaved if you don't care you're gonna end up enslaved if you want to remain apathetic you're gonna end up enslaved that's how the laws of nature actually do work the second argument oh they kill other animals for food why shouldn't we do the same well we see this happening in quote-unquote nature you know we see animals being carnivores and killing other animals for their food why shouldn't we do the same why shouldn't we just act as other beasts of the field it seems like that's the natural order right well I call this the fundamentally flawed idea of the quote-unquote natural order justification this is this involves an erroneous perception of what nature's laws actually are and it's based on Darwinian evolutionary theory Darwinian of macro biological evolutionary theory which there is no scientific evidence to support and people will horrific aliy react to that statement well go look in the actual fossil record and look at all of the mental gymnastics that is done to support to prop up this theory of macro biological Darwinian evolution Darwin himself didn't believe in this theory at with the religious fervor that people of the modern world accepted he said that there would have to be ample provable scientific evidence within the fossil record over many species of transition transitional species and you'd want to know how many of those actually have been found in the fossil record exactly a big goose egg zero so for the people that just take a look at a practice that an animal happens to be engaging in right now during its evolutionary development we say that's the way it forever has been is now and forever shall be for all time and actually believe darwin's theory this idea of survival of the fittest and survival of the the most ruthless just because we see certain animals engaging in that those carnivorous practices today in the modern world which I've made statements in the past that I do not even necessarily believe that it has always been that way that animals always were carnivorous in the way that they are today just because we see them engaged in certain behaviors and practices today and certainly there is no reason we need to follow an example like that because we are a higher thought capable being then the animals were referring to just because they're doing it doesn't mean you should follow suit and go and behave like an animal you're supposedly something a little bit more in consciousness in evolutionary terms in consciousness then a base animal at least we're supposed to be this idea that man is nothing more than an animal is one of the roots ideologies of Satanism one of the root ideologies of Satanism is man is absolutely indistinct from other animals completely and therefore go ahead and just engage in animal behavior and if you don't believe me go look that up I should know I was a priest in this religion in my past so I should know all about it better than most people right don't even take my word for it go read about it for yourself those podcasts were all posted in the 70s in what on earth is happening for more podcasts go go back in in the early 70s I believe listen to the shows I did on Satanism and dark luciferianism read those resources understand that their mental of worldview and ideologies and that's one of them that the natural order is kill or be killed slaughter who you have to slaughter to get your way and do you know ensure your way of life I call this the fundamentally flawed idea of the natural order which has nothing to do with the actual natural order in nature zero to do with it it's based on a completely erroneous assumption based on very brief thin slicing instances of time and you're making a judgement on what the totality of natural order actually is and it has nothing whatever to do with that erroneous perception we're gonna be talking about that a little bit later on the show the third justification God gave us dominion over the animals I love this one I can't you tell how much I love this one folks this is my favorite of them all God gave us dominion over all the animals so that means we can murder them and just use them as we please yeah yeah that's that's God's commandment to us right he said you can go in murder as viciously violently and abundantly as you want as long as you're doing it to animals not other human beings just go and do it to them because they're completely separate from my my creation you you're my favorite ones but then I don't really care about what you do to them so just go right ahead and Christians actually believe this bunk they actually interpret the Bible in a way that allows for their immoral justifications and their diseased psyches to say I'm just gonna continue this because I interpret that God claim that this was okay and they're not even reading their own book they don't even understand their own book they don't even understand they understand the words of the Christ in their own Bible zero less than zero they have what I call negative knowledge of it not only do they have no idea what the actual teachings the the Christ consciousness is all about but they actually have ascribed things to it which have nothing whatsoever to do with it and to get back to a zero point to a clean slate would involve themselves digging themselves out of a hole for a long time I call that the state of negative knowledge not only don't you know anything you've you've put a whole lot of erroneous beliefs on top of the zero point yeah so you have to dig your way back to zero just read the book of Genesis first of all if you want to even acknowledge this whole notion of you know the Bible says you know to engage in this kind of practice or not engage in this kind of practice I think that's a horrible way of judging what's right and wrong first of all is that men wrote it in a book and claimed that it was the inspired Word of God and therefore I'm gonna just follow that blindly you need to know you need to develop true conscience which is the definitive knowledge of the objective difference between right and wrong not have a belief system about what you think is right or think is wrong and then back it up with man written words that you're claiming is the divine and inspired Word of God let me tell you something the Bible is written by flawed men for the reason of reasons of their own agenda and yes they're putting some truths in there absolutely because to have a poison pill be taken by anyone you need to wrap it in a whole lot of good stuff otherwise you'll smell the poison you'll taste the poison and you won't want to take it into yourself that's how that technique of obfuscation works that's how that technique of worldview poisoning works to get the poison in you have to wrap it up in something that is very good and I'm not saying that that's always the case but with the biblical writings and the specific choice of the Canon of the Bible and deliberately obfuscating and eliminating and keeping out of the official Canon and other books that could be said to be as equally quote unquote divinely-inspired this done during Constantine's reign Council of Nicaea do the historical research you know they're leaving out a whole lot of other things that say things that are in direct opposition and contrast to what's being said in other books in the Bible so the Bible's self-contradictory number one and I'm not saying there aren't good truths to be found in it I've talked about them many times on this show but you know let's just give a quote from Genesis that supports the idea that God gave Dannette did no such thing as his claim to give us dominion over the animal kingdom and say we could just use them as our food as we see fit in Genesis chapter 1 verses 29 and 30 and this is before the fall you know in consciousness before this horrific event took place that plunged men in the into the mindset of the animal kingdom really that led to a do munition in his consciousness and awareness the words of God are attributed to this following quote quote I give you every seed-bearing plant on the face of the whole earth and every tree that has fruit with seed in it let me just read that again I give you every seed-bearing plant on the face of the whole earth and every tree that has fruit with seed in it they will be yours for food so far no mention of animals being given to people for food and to all to all the beasts of the earth to all the beasts of the earth and birds of the air and all the creatures that move on the ground in other words everything that has the breath of life in it I give every green plant for food I'll read that again to all the beasts of the earth and birds of the air and creatures that move on the ground everything that has the breath of life in it I give every green plant for food no mention of other animals even to the other animal no mention of humans eating other animals or even animals eating other animals for that matter zero mention of those practices so I would ask the quote unquote religious people they're really nothing of the kind they're the false religious people that's why I call this the false religion justification who don't consider suffering as the main guiding point to bring you to the truth of what actions you should or should not take if it's generating suffering you shouldn't be doing it and I have no problem with the terms you should or you should not that's part of the new-age bunk agenda to tell you you should never point a finger at anyone else and say you're engaging in something that you should not be because why oh that wounds their little precious ego so you don't want to say anything about it ever nonsense that's another false religion called the New Age movement never ever talk about the negative or or you know threaten someone else's belief system Oh cuz the ego reacts right well you know what maybe that's the whole problem maybe people aren't speaking enough about the truth and about what's right and then other people just think oh there's hardly any reaction to this there's hardly any blowback to this so I'm just gonna continue this practice unabated nope no one's really calling me out on it that's the problem folks we don't call each other out on our that's the problem this new-age notion of just just letting people do all the harm that they want never say anything to them never bring up the negative never call somebody on the things they should not be doing is nonsense nonsense and anybody teaching that is a false spiritual teacher so I call this argument the false religion justification because it's coming from these completely erroneous notions of religion and even what their own books have told them and yeah you can find contrary things to the quote I just read you out of Genesis fine you're gonna find contradiction in the Bible want to know why it's a man written book again to justify human agendas and they put a lot of spiritual truths in it so that people would accept it but also in doing so accept the other stuff that they were throwing in the mix and if you don't understand that that's what the Bible is you're very very naive very naive or just trapped in that modality of mind control called religion which we talked about and you don't even understand the Asheboro theological underpinnings of world religions go back into the earlier shows and pull up the podcasts on Astro theology to look that up to understand that so the next argument the next justification in favor of carnism don't worry this one was killed humanely I think now just let's think about that just think about these words killed humanely hmm hmm I can't figure this one out let's try it again killed humanely yeah these are complete antithesis of each other they're diametric opposites treating someone humanely does not involve killing them so these are polar opposite words and yet you're using them back-to-back in the same sentence trying to get them to mean the same thing I call this it is not what I call it it's Orwellian doublespeak so this is the 1984 double speak justification you could put two diametrically of opposing words together and in in your cognitive dissonance attempt to get them to mean the same thing killed humanely right keep believing that folks keep believing that because killing is a humane practice it can be done in a humane whay right you're taking someone else's life without their consent but you could do it in a humane way keep believing that keep lying to yourself in other words the next justification is the I call this the separation worldview justification the idea that we're all separate and opposite you know and opposing in nature and you know there are beings that think like us so oh then we should treat them like we are like we want to be treated but anything that's not like us you know this is alien or foreign to us well we should treat that with this regard or that gives us the permission to treat it with this regard not necessarily that we should but if you happen to start treating it with this regard well that's okay because they're not like us they're not the same as us this is the phrase here is they're not conscious or aware like us so it's okay to kill them for food and then people will bring the opposite of this argument in actually I've heard this brought up as a justification for continuing to eat meat saying well you eat plants plants are a form of life we're going to directly address this today this notion of well since plants are a form of life it's equally as wrong to consume them and make them a part of your diet and people will actually use that justification and say well hey if you're going to eat plants and it's wrong to eat them why not just go right ahead and eat animals anyway and there's no real difference well there is a difference there is a difference and if you understand the laws of assimilation if you really understand the natural laws the true natural order that does exist here you would understand yes we can at this point in our evolutionary development consume plants for our sustenance I would say at some point when you get when you move to be as it evolved that you would not need plants as part of your diet that the physical vehicle would be so light or so non-physical that you would not need plants then I would even go and make the statement you shouldn't be eating plants let them be if you can live on breath live on breath if you can live on light live on light and these things are possible not everybody is at that point in evolutionary development I would say the human physiology is at the point of development where we can live without eating animal flesh dead animal flesh and I don't even see really there being any point in time where we could not have where the practice of carnism was necessary I don't really see there being any time when that was the case that it was necessary to do what we're doing to animals that is completely poisoning the field of consciousness and energy in which we're all living look up some of Rupert Sheldrake's work with morphogenetic fields in Morpho genetic fields it's phenomenal research and it's actually borne out in modern science when you look at Unified Field physics you understand this guy isn't just talking about this from any spiritual just a spiritual point of view this is backed by modern scientific knowledge what we're doing is we're going to talk about that today in the reading you know part of the reading I'm going to be giving how this is poisoning the energy field in which we're all living the practice of carnism to look at the this animal life as just being not like us so it's okay to treat them how we want is total justification and I call it the the the separation worldview argument seeing everything is separate from everything else instead of suffering is suffering and it should be our our mindset to alleviate suffering regardless of what type of creature is experiencing it the final justification is well I do feel bad this is justification number six on slide number 15 I do feel bad about what we're doing to these animals but I could just I just could never give up my meat my meat it's just too tasty I just like it too much and what I call this is the no justification justification also known as the truth because let's face it ladies and gentlemen that's the only truth regarding why people are really continuing to hold on to this practice they like it they're used to it it's too difficult to change they don't have the will they don't have the care they don't have the knowledge that's all it comes down to they don't want to change that desire to alleviate suffering for all beings is not born within them and therefore true conscience is ultimately not born within them get is offended about that statement as you like that happens to be the truth this is the real justification for continuing the religion of carnism I like it too much I'm comfortable with it too much you know changing would be too uncomfortable and too difficult and require too much effort and willpower on my part that's really what they're saying so what I want to do for the remainder of the show is begin to transition this information from the five sense point of view which we really focused on last week about how people think it's normal natural and necessary to eat dead animal flesh and oh I I couldn't possibly be vegetarian I my body wouldn't get what I need I'd be sick I'd feel weak etc all based in ignorance of not doing the vegetarian lifestyle properly okay and these are all arguments that are still based on the self still based on the person who's doing the consuming of the meat they're all still selfish arguments they're all still $0.05 arguments and they're all based in justifications because none of them are based on actual knowledge or truth what I want to transition the second hour of the show too is let's start looking at the occult arguments not even arguments the occult reasons the occult knowledge that lies behind why this practice is deplorable and when we I'm not asking anyone to believe or accept the two pieces of writing that I'm going to offer here today on the show you need to look into this and do your own due diligence you need to do your own research your own homework most of all you need to look within this is an issue that deals with conscience this is an issue that deals with the internal makeup of the individual it doesn't even altom utley rely on anything that is external to the self I said that last week one needs to go in and look at their behavior and ask themselves the reason why do I engage in this type of behavior is this behavior ultimately harmful is it ultimately creating suffering for other beings if it's creating suffering for other beings it's creating suffering for you if you understand the non-separation the non-duality of existence many people do not understand that they do they are not at a place in their psyche where they are even capable of grasping that truth so we're gonna look at the laws of consciousness relating to reasons why we should really desist and stop in the practice of carnism we'll look at the law of Correspondence and cause an effect and we will look at two different occult traditions that have dealt with moral reasons why we should not be eating dead animal flesh as I said last week morality Trump's all arguments in favor of Karnas because this is universal spiritual law to do no harm to choose moral rights over wrong to choose moral right over actions which create suffering for other beings so we'll get into these readings right after the short two-minute break you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network we'll be right back [Music] okay everyone we're back we're gonna continue to talk about carnism practice of eating dead animal flesh and justifying it as something that is moral or necessary here on the show this is part of our ongoing talk about the non support of dominators and domination so we're going to get into the occult side of things right now and I want to read some excerpts from a phenomenal occult author by the name of Max hind el hei ndel I've talked about him in the past I've mentioned him extensively when I did the show with Bob from Cincinnati on the Rosicrucian tradition Heindel was a Rosicrucian who very much favored vegetarianism and talked about the moral reasons for ceasing and desisting in the practice of carnism so what i'm going to read here are excerpts from max Heindel 'he's magnum opus his great work known as the Rosicrucian cosmo conception these are excerpts that deal with nutrition assimilation and natural law or spiritual laws the universal laws of consciousness if you will so on the science of nutrition max Heindel said actually quite a bit there's an entire section on this in the Rosicrucian cosmo conception and again i asked no one to believe in this I asked you to listen with an open mind research this material on your own come to your own conclusions based on conscience in okay so here's a quoting from the Rosicrucian Cosmo conception on this science of nutrition quote it may be said generally of the solid foods we take into our system that fresh vegetables and ripe fruits contain the greatest proportion of nutritious nutritious matter and the least of earthly harmful substances as we are writing for the aspirant to the higher life for the aspirant to the higher life and what he means by that when he uses the term higher life he means of higher consciousness who are trying to actively evolve their consciousness to a higher level as we are writing for the aspirin to the higher life and not for the general public it may also be said that animal food should be entirely avoided if possible no one who kills can go very far along the path of holiness we do even worse than that if we actually killed we do even worse than if we actually killed for an order to shield ourselves from the personal Commission of the act of killing and still reap its results we force a fellow being through economic necessity to devote his entire time to murder thereby brutalizing him to such an extent that the law will not allow him to act as a juror in cases of capital crime because his business has so familiarized him with the taking of life and of course he's talking here about those who work in animal slaughterhouses which I mentioned last week that practice turns you into a secondary psychopath whether you were a psychopath or not to begin with it will turn you a normal healthy function functioning brain it will turn an individual's brain into the brain of a secondary psychopath and they will be basically indistinguishable in in behavioral characteristics from a psychopath from a type 1 psychopath continuing the enlightened know the animals to be their younger brother and that they will be human in the Jupiter period the Juke the Jupiter period he's referring to these cycles of evolutionary growth and development that the Rosicrucian tradition speaks of we shall help them then but we shall then help them as the angels who are human in the moon period are now helping us and for an aspirant of high ideals to kill either in person or by proxy we talked about that killing by proxy last week partaking in the results of the murder and therefore you're justifying that act as something that's okay morally for an aspirant to high ideals to kill either in person or by proxy is out of the question several very important food products from animals such as milk cheese and butter may be used these are the results of the processes of life and require no tragedies to convert them into food and I would amend that and saying yes it requires no tragedy but it often does involve them so you want to also if you're going to consume dairy you want to look at how that was made what was that done in a way that isn't tragic to the animals because it often is and those animals often still go to slaughter one of the reasons I've attempted as much as possible to eliminate milk from my diet and I I get the eggs that we consume from a non slaughter source where the the the hens who lay them are treated as practical members of the family by the family who who raises those chickens so he says that dairy products can be used because they require no tragedies on the part of the animals on the part of us toward the animals to convert them into food I would agree with that contention fruits are an ideal diet they are in fact evolved by the trees to induce and man to eat them again seed bearing plants the fruits of seed bearing plants probably the highest energy the one could take into their diet continuing they are in fact the highest in fact evolved by the trees to induce animal and man to eat them so that the seed may be disseminated as flowers entice bees for a similar purpose fresh fruits contain water of the purest and best kind capable of permeating the system in a marvelous manner and Ike we talked about how important the distilled water the distillation process of the plants bringing in that distilled water for the energy of the body is that's what you're really taking out of the plant when you chew it is the distilled water and then the rest of it is fiber which is also good for the digestive system but that's why juicing is so important it has the highest energy substance in your taking out and getting it directly into the human bloodstream continuing fresh fruits contain water of the purest kind capable of permeating the system in a marvelous manner it would be foolish for a man to change an ordinary diet which for years had adequately nourished him and take up a new method without due thought as to which would be the best for serving his purpose so he's saying here you don't need to immediately go vegetarian overnight you can transition weaned from the process and then you may need to do it that way because your body is so used to what you've been putting into it it could be a big shock if you suddenly try to up and quit meat and I agree I didn't do it overnight I wouldn't automatically recommend that someone do it overnight if you want if that's your fervent desire by all means attempt it but you have to be knowledgeable about what you're doing you have to be knowledgeable about the possible repercussions that that's gonna have on your system I would never tell somebody to just do that overnight you know more than I would tell them to just quit antipsychotics or quit antidepressants overnight these are often dangerous substances that need to be weaned off of slowly otherwise you could have all kinds of other side effects and that's one of the arguments people try to start making for why you have to continue to eat me know you're involved in an addiction an addiction has side effects that go along with it especially if you try to go cold turkey from the addiction so what Heindel saying here is absolutely vital to understand regarding the transition from the practice of carnism to a vegetarian or vegan lifestyle to simply eliminate continuing now can to simply eliminate meats from the ordinary diet of meat eaters will unquestionably undermine the health of most persons the only safe way is to experiment and study the matter out first using do discrimination no fixed rules can be given the matter of diet being as individual as any other characteristic the brain is the coordinating mechanism whereby the movements of the body are controlled and our ideas are expressed it is built of the same substance as are the other parts of the body with the addition of phosphorus eat which is peculiar to the brain alone the logical conclusion is that phosphorus is the particular element by means of which the ego and Heindel uses the term ego with a capital e to represent the higher self or the soul is able to express thought and influence the dense physical body it is also a fact that the proportion and variation of this substance is to be found is found to correspond to the state and state of intelligence of the individual so he's saying how important the mineral phosphorus is and I agree and phosphorus is found in green leafy vegetables especially if you look at beet leaves they have one of the highest concentration of phosphorus when I do juicing I juice whole beets with the leaves and stems and you know you want to cut off the bottoms and the skin of the beat the outside part of the beat but I juice the stem the leave and the beat then strain that really well and drink that beats and particularly beet leaves the amount of phosphorus in them is excellent for the body continuing it is therefore of great importance that the aspirant who is to use his body for mental and spiritual work should supply his brain with the substance necessary for that purpose most vegetables and fruits contain a certain amount of phosphorus but it is a peculiar fact that the greater proportion is contained in the leaves which are usually thrown away it is found in considerable quantities in grapes onions sage beans cloves pineapples and in the leaves and stalks of many vegetables carrot leaves beet leaves etc and the stalks also in sugar cane juice but not in refined sugar now he's transitioning these are more excerpts from the Rosicrucian cosmo conception on the law of assimilation the law of a quote the law of assimilation allows no particle to be built into our bodies that we as spirits have not overcome and made subject to ourselves I'll read that one more time the law of assimilation allows no particle to be built into our bodies that we as spirits have not overcome and made subject to ourselves that is the law of assimilation there is life in every particle of food that we take into our bodies and before we can build that life into our bodies by the process of assimilation we must overcome and make it subject to ourselves the more individualized is the particle to be assimilated the more energy will it require to digest it and therefore the shorter time it will remain before seeking to reassert itself so the more individuated the form of energy that you're putting into your body the harder it is to break it down the more energy is required on the part of the body to break it down ultimately the more wear and tear goes onto the body by taking that individuated expression into the body you want something that is less individuated that's why plants are much less individuated than animals animals are an individual for mancha sness not part of the group mind of the plant kingdom that's why it's an entirely different kingdom it is a different individual higher level expression of consciousness than is the plant kingdom which is here to nourish us at the stage of evolutionary development that we are at mentally physically and spiritually this is the main reason that yes it is okay for us it is at this point moral for us to consume plants but not animals we are at their level of individuation their suffering should be respected plants also have a form of consciousness I'm not denying that people write to me and say Oh mark plants have a consciousness - I get it I understand plants have a form of consciousness read the seek the book the secret life of plants is actually an excellent book on that topic what I'm saying is we at this point still require that symbiosis with the plant kingdom through taking their nutrient elements into our physical body we do not require that when it comes to animals therefore it is unnecessary it is a needless act of killing there's a needless act of consumption that's suffering that's going into the world is needless so continuing with this law of assimilation which is very critical for people to understand Heindel says if it were possible for man to use just minerals as food they would be ideal for that purpose because of their stability and the little energy required to overcome and subject them to the life of the body we should be compelled to eat very much less in quantity and also less than we often do now the plant kingdom is next above the mineral it has an organization capable of assimilating the mineral compounds of the earth the plants take in the minerals they assimilate it because of their capabilities we don't assimilate those minerals directly from the earth we do that through the plants animals do that through the plants man and animal continuing now man and animal can assimilate the plants and thus obtain the chemical compounds necessary to sustain their bodies and as the consciousness of the plant kingdom is that of dreamless sleep it offers no resistance it requires but little energy to assimilate the particles thus derived and having small individuality of their own the life in soling the particle does not seek to escape from our body as soon as the food derived from more highly as soon as food derived from the more highly from more highly developed forms meaning animals therefore the strength derived from a diet of fruits and vegetables is more enduring than that derive from a meat diet and the food supply does not require as frequent replenishing besides giving more strength in proportion because less energy is required for assimilation and I am living proof of this law ladies and gentlemen because of you spoke to me and talked with me and met with me and hung out with me when I was eating me the level of energy that I was at mentally and physically is nowhere close nowhere even closely powerbal - how much energy I feel on a daily basis eating the right way and I mean that word in the term of correct and moral I'm now eating right as opposed to what I was doing in the past and I told people last week how I was the biggest meat-eater around that I knew in my friends families and acquaintances no one could put away more dead animal flesh than me so if I could do that I'm living proof that this is doable by anyone continuing now food composed of the bodies of animals consists of particles which have been worked upon and interpenetrated by an individual desire body one of the types of expressions of form that exists within us and on you know going off on a tangent here momentarily there are different forms within the the being there's the dense body the vital body the astral body okay these are all talked about in the system the the spiritual tradition of Rosicrucianism and he's making reference to one of these components of the self here which he calls the desire body so continuing food composed of the bodies of animals consists of particles which have been worked upon and interpenetrated by an individual desire body and thus having been individualized to a much greater extent than the plant particles there is an individual cell soul which is permeated by the passions and desires of the animal it requires considerable energy to overcome it in the first place so that it may be assimilated yet it never becomes so fully incorporated into the polity of the body as do the plant constituents which have no such strong individual tendencies and that's because as I said before they're not an as individuated form of expression of consciousness as our animals continuing quote the result is that it is necessary for flesh eaters to consume a greater weight of food than is required by the fruitarian also he must eat oftener moreover this inward strife of the particles of flesh cause greater wear and tear on the body in general as I just finished saying because it requires more energy they'll under the law of assimilation the body is actually going to wear out at a quicker pace by a heavy meat eater than one who engages in a plant-based diet and science is finally starting to be beginning to show this and admit this and communicate it to people continuing quote therefore when flesh food derived from the herbivores therefore when flesh food derived from the herbivore is such an unstable diet it is evident that if we should try to use the flesh of carnivorous animals in which the cells are still further individuated because they're taking in individuated forms okay which we would be forced to consume enormous quantities of food eating would occupy the greater part of our time but not withstanding that we would always be lean and hungry that such is its effect can be seen in the wolf and the vulture there leanness and hunger our proverbial cannibals eat human flesh but only at long intervals and as a luxury as man does not confine himself exclusively to a meat diet his flesh is not that of an entirely carnivorous beasts nevertheless the hunger of the cannibal has also become the burden of a proverb if the flesh of the herbivore were the essence of what is good in plants then logically the flesh of the carnivore should be the quintesson quintessence the meat of wolves and vultures would thus be the creme de la creme and much to be desired this we know is not the case but quite the reverse the nearer we get to the plant kingdom the more strength we derive from our food if the reverse were the case the flesh of carnivorous animals would be sought by other beasts of prey but examples of quote dog-eat-dog unquote are very few throughout nature this next section are excerpts from the Rosicrucian Cosmo conception on the principles of live and let live so this what is what I would consider natural law underpinnings the real natural order Universal spiritual law underpinnings for a vegetarian diet quote the first law of science is thou shalt not kill of occult science I pardon me I'll repeat this the first law of occult science is thou shalt not kill to do no harm that's the first law of occult science knowledge of the knowledge of conscience natural law the universal spiritual mostly unseen or occult enlasa thou shalt not kill is law number one do no harm continuing and that should have the greatest weight with the aspirant to the higher life the first law of occult science thou shalt not kill that should have the greatest weight with the aspirant to the higher life as I said the moral truth about carnism trumps all of the justifications in the five senses that are used to justify this practice the real question is is it right do you own the life of another to take and use as you will and the answer is No another that's another part of the argument people use while you're killing plants no a lot of plants you don't need to kill the plant to use its fruit or its leaves some vegetables yes you killed the entire thing by by taking it from the ground but if that is also not necessary you can survive on the fruit and leaves of vegetables and nuts and seeds and berries things like that it does not have to be the entire plant destroyed so that's another part of the fallacious argument that your doing as much harm and wrong when you you know eat vegetables and plant matter that as when you're eating animals continuing we cannot create so much as one particle of dust therefore what right have we to destroy the very least form all form is an expression of the one life the life of God we have no right to destroy the form through which the life is seeking experience and force it to rebuild a new vehicle sometimes the objection is made that life is also taken when vegetables and fruits are eating eaten but that statement is based upon a complete misunderstanding of the facts when the fruit is ripe it has accomplished its purpose which is to act as a womb for the ripening of the seed if not eaten it decays and goes to waste moreover it is designed to serve as food for the animal and human kingdoms thus affording the seed opportunities for growth by scattering it in fertile soil besides just as the ovum and seem semen of human beings are ineffectual without the seed Adam of the reincarnating ego and the matrix of its vital body so any seed any egg or seed of itself is devoid of life it is if it is given the proper conditions of incubator or soil the life of the group spirit is then poured into it thus grasping the opportunity so afforded of producing a dense body if the egg or seed is cooked crushed or not given the conditions necessary for the life the opportunity is lost but that is all at the present stage of the evolutionary journey everyone knows inherently that it is wrong to kill and man will love and protect the animals in all cases where his greed and selfish interest where his greed and selfish interest has not does not blind him to their rights man will love and protect the animals in all cases where his greed and selfish interest does not blind him to their rights the law protects even a cat or dog against wanton cruelty accepting quote sports that most wanton of all our cruelties against the animal creation he's talking about hunting for you know the sake of killing it is always for the sake of money that animals are murdered and and bred to be murdered he's saying except in sport by the devotees of sport the helpless creatures are shot down to no purpose saved to bolster up a false idea of prowess on the part of the Huntsman it is hard to understand how people who appear otherwise sane and kindly for the time can trick can for the time trample upon all their gentler instincts and revert to bloodthirsty savagery killing for the sheer lust of blood and joy in destruction it is certainly a reversion to the lowest savage animal instincts and can never be dignified into the remotest semblance of anything manly how much more beautiful it would be for man to play the role of friend and protector of the weak absolutely magnificent as far as I am concerned and people should take a reading like that to heart and should contemplate it on their own so again that was three sections three excerpts from sections of the Rosicrucian Cosmo conception by max Heindel which is posted with last week's podcast and will be posted again with this week's last week's podcast was 121 this week's is number 122 now that was from the Rosicrucian tradition and once again I mean I caught when I say Rosicrucian tradition I'm talking about the esoteric original intent that is ancient that is not born in any particular modern large system of Rosicrucian teaching I considered that that is true to the original intent of ancient esoteric Rosicrucianism as what I'm going to read momentarily is true to the original esoteric intentions of the original ancient free Masonic tradition so this is written by the freemason C W Leadbeater and that is of course a pseudonym because he's you know the beater of the lead the metals the base metals attempting to turn them into gold it's now chemical pseudonym this is from his essay known as called vegetarianism and ocultism vegetarianism and ocultism which was published in 1913 by the Theosophical publishing house I'm going to read an excerpt from the earlier part of the essay and I'm going to skip over the the first entire section of the essay which is all about the $0.05 aspect of vegetarianism the bodily aspects of it okay which I covered last week and you can read this it's going to be posted with the podcast as well I'm going to begin I'm going to pick this up in the section where he talks about the occult reasons for being a vegetarian but first he defines what occultism is and one of the best definitions of occultism that I've read he says Leadbeater says quote how shall we define ocultism the word is derived from the Latin occult asst meaning hidden so that it is the study of the hidden laws of nature ocultism is the study of the hidden laws of nature since the great laws of nature are in fact working in the invisible world far more than indivisible ocultism involves the acceptance of a much wider view of nature than that which is ordinarily taken the ocultist then is a man who studies all the laws of nature that he can reach or of which he can hear and as a result of his study he identifies himself with these laws and devotes his life to the service of evolution and he doesn't mean macro biological Darwinian evolutionary theory he's talking about evolution in consciousness evolution toward the higher life toward the higher self now going but farther in the document to hit the section called occult reasons for vegetarianism he says quote under this heading also we shall have two sets of reasons those which refer to ourselves and our own development and those which refer to the great scheme of evolution and our duty toward it so that once more we may classify them as selfish and unselfish although at a much higher level than before I have I hope clearly shown in the earlier part of this lecture that there is simply no room for discussion in regard to in regard to the question of vegetarianism the whole of the evidence and of the considerations are entirely on one side and there is absolutely nothing to be said in opposition to them this is even more striking leave a case when we come to consider the occult part of our argument there are some students hovering around the fringes of occultism who are not yet prepared to follow its dictates to the utmost and when he says dictates he's not talking about any particular system of occult teachings he means the dictates of the laws of nature which are dictates meaning they're spoken into re into inherent reality by the creator himself and they're not suggestions they're laws that are dictated by the word the energetic underlying intelligence of all creation that's why there are natural laws their inherent non man-made immutable binding conditions which we define when we talked about natural law so there are some students hovering around the fringes of occultism who are not yet prepared to follow its dictates to the utmost and therefore do not accept its teaching when it interferes with their personal habits and desires I'll say that again people hovering on the fringes of these great teachings these laws of nature who are not yet prepared to follow the dictates of the laws of nature therefore do not accept its teaching when it interferes with their personal habits and desires continuing quote some such have tried to maintain that the question of food can make little difference from the occult standpoint but the unanimous verdict of all the great schools of occultism both ancient and modern has been definite on this point and has asserted that for all true progress purity is necessary even on the physical plane and in matters of diet as well as in higher far higher matters in many books and lectures I have already explained the existence of the different planes of nature and of the vast unseen world all about us I have also had occasion to refer often to the fact that man has within himself matter belonging to all these higher planes so that he is furnished with a vehicle corresponding to each of them through which he can receive impressions and by means of which he can act can these higher bodies of men be in any way affected by the food which enters into the physical body with which they are all they are so closely connected assuredly they can and for this reason the physical matter in man is in close touch with the astral and mental matter so much so that each is to a great extent a counterpart of the other so he's saying there's really no separation they're all affected each part of the self each part of the dense vital astral bodies they're all connected they're all feeding off of each other's energy what you do to one you do to all this is part of the non separation the unity aspect of consciousness we have to stop looking at the physical and spiritual in separate terms in terms of separateness they are one continuing there are many types and degrees of density among astral matter for example so that it is possible for one man to have an astral body built of coarse and gross particles while another may have one which is much more delicate and refined as the astral body is the vehicle of the emotions passions and sensations it follows that the man whose astral body is of the grosser type will be chiefly amenable to the grosser varieties of passion and emotion whereas the man who has a finer astral body will find its particles more readily that that it's particle is more readily vibrate in response to higher and more refined emotions and aspirations the man therefore who builds gross and undesirable matter into his physical body is thereby drawing into his astral body matter of a course and unpleasant type as its counterpart and then what do you interact what do you think will be the result of the behavior of that individual in most cases continuing quote we all know that on the physical plane the effect of overindulgence in dead flesh is to produce a coarse gross appearance in man that does not mean that it is the it is only the physical body which is in an unlovely condition it means also that those parts of the man which are invisible to our ordinary sight in other words occulted the astral and the mental bodies are not in good condition either thus a man who is building himself a gross and impure physical body is building for himself at the same time coarse and unclean astral and mental bodies as well that is visible at once to the eye of the developed clairvoyant the man who learns to see these higher vehicles sees at once the effects on the higher bodies produced by impurity in the lower he sees at once the difference between the man who feeds his physical vehicle with pure food and the man who puts into it this loathsome decaying flesh let us see how this difference will affect the man's evolution impure vehicles is the next section quote if it is clear that a man's duty with regard to himself is to develop all his different vehicles as far as possible in order to make him finished instruments for the use of this make them finish instruments for the use of the soul there is alt there is still there is a still higher stage in which that soul itself is is being trained to be a fit instruments in the hands of the deity a perfect channel for divine grace but the first step towards this high aim is that the soul itself shall learn thoroughly to control the lower bodies so that there shall be in them no thought or feeling except those which the soul allows all these vehicles therefore should be in the highest possible condition of efficiency all should be pure and clean and free from taint and it is obvious that this can never be so long as the man absorbs into the physical encasement such undesirable constituents so he's saying garbage in garbage out it's very simple you put that which is of a lower vibratory energy in you're going to have a lower vibratory energy be built as a result these are the building materials not only for the physical vehicle but for the spiritual vehicles as well continuing quote even the physical body and its sense perceptions can never be at their best unless the few food is pure anyone who adopts vegetarian diet will speedily begin to notice that his sense of taste or smell is far keener than it was when he fed upon flesh and that he is now able to discern a delicate difference of flavours in foods which before he had thought of as tasteless such as rice or wheat the same thing is true to a still greater extent with regard to the higher bodies their senses cannot be clear if impure or coarse matter is drawn into them anything of this nature clogs and dulls them so that it becomes more difficult for the soul to use them this is a fact which has always been recognized by the student of occultism you will find that all those who in ancient days entered upon the mysteries were men of utmost purity and of court of course invariably vegetarian carnivorous diet is fatal to anything like real development and those who adopt it are throwing serious and unnecessary difficulties in their own way Leadbeater here is making the contention he's actually claiming that those who studied and partook of the ancient mysteries were in fact almost invariably vegetarian continuing quote I am well aware that there are other and still higher considerations which are of greater weight than anything upon than anything upon the physical plane and that the purity of the heart and soul is more important than that of the body yet there is surely no reason why we should not have both indeed the one suggests the other and the higher should include the lower there are quite enough difficulties in the way of self control and self development it is surely worse than foolish to go out of our way and add another and very considerable one to the list although it is true that a pure heart will do more for us than a pure body yet the latter can certainly do a great deal and we are none of us so far advanced along the road towards spirituality that we can afford to neglect the great advantage that it gives us anything that makes our path harder than it need be is emphatically something to be avoided in all cases this flesh food undoubtedly makes the physical body a worse instrument and puts difficulties in the way of the soul by intensifying all the undesirable elements and passions belonging to these lower planes nor is it the serious nor is this serious effect during physical life the only one which we have to think of which we have to think if through inducing loathsome impurities into the physical body the man builds himself a coarse and unclean astral body we have to remember that this that it is in this degraded vehicle that we he will have to spend the first part of his life after death because of the gross matter which he has built into it all sorts of undesirable entities will be drawn into association with him and will make his vehicles their home and find it and find a ready response within him to their lower passions it is not only that his animal are more easily stirred here on earth but in addition to this he will suffer acutely from the working out of these desires after death here again looked at even from the selfish point of view we see that occult considerations confirm the straightforward common sense of the arguments on the physical plane the higher sight when brought to bear upon this problem shows us still more vividly how undesirable the devouring of flesh since it intensifies within us that from which we most need to be free and therefore from the point of view of progress that habit is a thing that can be cast out once and forever man's duty toward nature then there is the far more important unselfish side of the question that of man's duty toward nature every religion has thought that man should put himself always on the side of the will of God in the world on the side of good against evil of evolution as against retrogression the man who ranges himself on the site of evolution realizes the wickedness of destroying life for he knows that just as he is here in this physical body in order that he may learn the lessons of this plane so is the animal occupying his body for the same reason that through it he may gain experience at his lower stage he knows that the life beyond behind the animal is the divine life and that all life in the world is divine the animals therefore are truly our brothers even though they may be younger brothers and we can have no sort of right to take their lives for the gratification of our perverted tastes no right to cause them untold agony and suffering merely to satisfy our degraded and detestable lusts we have brought things to such pass with our miscalled sport and our wholesale slaughtering all that that all wild creatures fly from the sight of us does that seem like the universal brotherhood of God's creatures is that your idea of the Golden Age of world wide kind leanness that is to come a condition when every living thing flees from the face of man because of his murderous instincts there is an influence flowing back upon us from all this an effect which you can hardly realize unless you are able to see how it looks when regarded with the sight of the higher plane every one of these creatures which which you so ruthlessly murder in this way has its own thoughts and feelings in regard to all of this it has horror pain and indignation and an intense but unexpressed feeling of the hideous injustice of it all the whole atmosphere about us is full of it twice lately I haven't heard from psychic people that they felt the awful aura were surroundings of Chicago even many miles away from it miss pissant herself told me are the same things years ago in England that long before she came in sight of Chicago she felt the horror of it and the deadly pall of depression descending upon her and asked where are we and what is the reason that there should be this terrible feeling in the air to sense the effect as clearly as this beyond the reach is beyond the reach of the person who is not developed but though all the inhabitants may not be directly conscious of it and recognized it as miss Besant mrs. Besant ed they may be sure that they are suffering from it unconsciously and that that terrible vibration of horror and fear and injustice is acting upon every one of them though they know it not the feelings of nervousness and profound depression which are so common there are largely due to that awful influence which spreads over the city like a plague cloud I do not know how many thousands of creatures are killed every day but the number is very large remember that the that every one of these creatures is a definite entity not a permanent reincarnating entity like yours or mine but still an entity which has a life upon the astral plane and persist there for a considerable time remember that every one of these remains to pour out his feeling of indignation and horror at all the injustice and torment which has been inflicted upon him remember for yourself that that the terrible atmosphere which exists about those slope which exists about those slaughterhouses we're remember that a clairvoyant can see the vast host of animal souls that he knows how strong are their feelings of horror and resentment and how those recoil at all the points upon the human race at all points upon the human race they react most of all upon those who are at least able to resist them upon the children who are more delicate and sensitive than the hardened adult that city is a terrible place in which to bring up children a place where the whole atmosphere both physical and psychic its charged with fumes of blood and with all that that means so Leadbeater is saying here the morphogenetic field is poisoned the field of consciousness and energy that we all live in is poisoned as a result of this practice of carnism and I made reference to that last week and will again in image number 12 on the slideshow look at the images and ask yourself the question what is this practice doing energetically to the field of consciousness in which we are all living I'm going to pause the reading here to go to a slide number 16 and just have people take a look at what's being said so far in these in this occult dynamic the the higher hidden dynamic which is really what we need to understand to understand what we're doing not only to these beings but to everyone to ourselves to the entire species to other species most of all okay but we need to understand the self-inflicted effects through the laws of Correspondence the higher laws of nature the laws that ultimately govern the consequences of our behavior I showed this slide last week but with no explanation it was too small fish being eaten or pursued to be eaten by a larger fish and then that fish ultimately being pursued to be consumed by an even larger fish people will look at this thing but at this scenario and they will say well that's the natural order everything eats everything else this form of life eats that life and then that life eats then the life below it and a life above it eats it and this is a completely erroneous worldview when it comes to what the natural order actually is this has nothing to do with the quote natural order so I put on this slide this scene does not depict the quote natural order the natural order is that everything does not eat everything else that is not what the natural order is what this scene depicts is chaos not order chaos is depicted in the scene where everything eats everything else and then is eaten by things above it that have the its same level of consciousness of low consciousness this is not what the creation has intended for its creations the creator has not intended this for all of its creations to suffer in an eternal prison of eating and being eaten this is a choice that is created by a belief system that's what this picture is depicting it depicts the chaos that we have chosen and created for ourselves through our false belief systems or in other words religions of which carnism is one of the biggest on earth along with the other false organized religions along with the religion of authority and ultimately the religion of money which drives everything all of our other negative belief systems largely driven by that belief by that religion that's the religion of the New World Order as I called it is the God of money the middle fish in this depiction is humanity that is the middle the middle fish the one that's eating the smaller fish below it but being eaten by the big fish above it that's us folks whether you realize it recognize it want it to be true or not that's us not because that's the natural order that's where we've put ourselves that's the condition we created for ourselves by ignoring the laws of creation and in that ignorant we're creating this condition this is not the universal natural order the way it must be the way it always has been in forever shall be that's an erroneous worldview that is not based in truth at all the fact of the matter is this is what the human condition has become because of our attachments to religion to false religious beliefs to false belief systems in general so this is what humanity has become like and this is what humanity will be like for as long as we continue to engage in such fundamentally flawed ideologies like carnism and many others that attachment is what is going to keep us in that position and that is what the law of correspondence dictates that as we do so shall be done unto us so if you want to be free you have to allow other beings to be free as long as you enslave and consume other beings you will be enslaved and consumed that is the law of creation you just don't want to acknowledge it you just don't want to admit that's how it is you don't want to admit that that's the reason why you're in the prison that you're in the my freedom movement doesn't want to acknowledge that it wants to say I can have things both ways I can still be a Dominator I can still be involved in the process of murder and and domination over other beings and somehow magically I can still have my freedom bestowed upon me and it doesn't work that way ladies and gentlemen it doesn't work that way understand the laws of correspondence and causality we're creating this prison for ourselves by our attachments to false beliefs we break those false belief systems we can step out of that chain again this never-ending chain is all about the chain of obedience and attachment to falsity to lies we step outside of that attachment we would be that fish stepping outside of that chain no longer being a part of it saying no saying no and that's what it's going to take that level of will that level of care that level of intelligence bringing all three of those aspects into harmony into unison with each other and engaging them now next week I'll wrap up the reading the end of the reading of Leadbeater but it will also be posted to the website I think it bears finishing the last two sections where I paused just to finish it but I want to basically wrap up with a phenomenal quote this is in image number 17 by Gandhi image number 17 in the slideshow Gandhi said that a nation's moral progress can be judged by the way it treats its animals a nation's moral progress can be judged by the way it treats its animals I would ask everyone to watch the movie Earthlings which will be posted again with this podcast and ask me and ask yourself the question how is our moral progress going remember ladies and gentlemen there are only two mistakes that one can ever make along the path to truth not starting and not going all the way that's all the time we have for this edition of one on earth is happening religion because that's what it really is and that'll be in the first part of the show today and then the second part of the show I'm going to transition topics to go toward another sub aspect of the solution of the non-supportive dominators talking about women's role in the non supportive dominators and strategies that women can actually employ to become a powerful force of influence in the lives the general public who wants to help out a little bit with that effort it is image number two on podcast number 123 next announcement is the free your mind to conference fundraiser number one we're conference ok I have three new interviews up in the what on earth is happening new section that I did over the past couple weeks the first is down the rabbit hole with Popeye from August 24th also wide awake news with Charlie McGrath I was on his show on August 27th and I did a guest host spot on the Bob Tuscon show on Tuesday August 28th those three shows are now up in the news section of the water on earth is happening website you could download those and check them out the one on earth is happening ad free sponsorship of course has hit its goal for the second three month period a phenomenal effort on the part of the listeners and I humbly thank you because you cared enough to make it happen and to make this show go ad free for the for both hours of the show so we'll be resetting the ad free goal for the next three month period which will be from February March and April February through April I'll be resetting that over the next week or so and we'll begin that effort once again I'll be taking September and October off for additional radio interviews and the reason for that is I'll be focusing fully on the organization and promotion of the free your mind to conference so you won't see any additional interviews going up in the water on earth is happening news section as that is the place they are usually posted until around the beginning of November when I will start doing interviews again next week we have a very special guest coming on the show - what on earth is happening to talk about sacred feminine energy and women's influence in the non-support of domination and dominate our culture in general I'm gonna welcome next week to the show Laura Magdalene Eisenhower one of the speakers for the free your mind to conference she also spoke it for your mind one back in 2011 I can't think of anybody better to discuss this topic of women's role in the non-supportive dominators with so next week look for that interview full two-hour interview with Laura Eisenhower next week on what on earth is happening in two weeks we will begin our first full call-in show on this topic the non support of dominators and the Dominator culture we'll be doing two full two-hour call-in shows starting in two weeks there will be one prerequisite rule if you want to call in and in any way defend the practice of carnism as part of this discussion on the non-supportive dominators if you're calling in to defend the practice then the prerequisite for doing that is you will have to have watched the movie earthlings the documentary film Earthlings in its entirety and I posted links for Earthlings in podcasts number 121 and 122 so that's for free online you could go and watch it entirely for free the only people who will have that prerequisite are those who want to come on and advocate for carnism so if you don't want to do that it's not necessary that you've watched that to make comments on this topic but I will also be limiting the discussion to this specific topic everything that we've talked about in the solutions section called the non-supportive Dominator so far on this show that's what the topic is going to be for the two call-in shows okay that having been said let's jump into our material for today's show as always you can get the images what on earth is happening dot-com / radio what on earth is happening dot-com / radio that's the radio show page underneath the player for the show you'll see images for today's show and there's 30 of them there the first few images were promotional Flyers the sixth image was a 6th 7th and 8th image is regarding the general topic that I have brought up as a solution to the problems humanity is facing in consciousness and I call this entire section the way out grassroots solutions for real and positive change and we're on the topic the the solution called the non supportive dominators last week and the week before we talked about the religion of carnism in the truest sense of the word religion which comes from the latin verb relig ra which means to tie back to thwart from forward progress that's what religion in its negative connotation actually does it isn't a true religion it's something that is not based upon anything that is really rooted in reality it's not true it's something that's based in an illusion it's based in a belief system it isn't based on truth it isn't based on natural law it isn't based on morality it's based in an erroneous belief system that someone is trying to justify in their own mind and in that sense a religion holds us back while carnism is a religion it's a dogmatic religion that is based entirely upon violence the entire ideology is based on violence if you really break it down and get to the the root of it and and you're honest with yourself this is something that is entirely based on violent behavior its main belief system is that it is morally justifiable and/or necessary to kill animals and eat their dead flesh that is the religion of carnism we talked about this over the last two weeks I called it the ultimate expression of domination which is why we need to understand that what we are doing to other beings is going to be reflected unto us and we are going to be made to share in that experience and if you don't know that that's the case you're not really fully awake you're not really fully conscious if you do not deeply understand the law of Correspondence that it is in operation in the universe not because I say so but because it is a law of nature it is inherent to creation there is nothing you are going to do to stop the manifestation of that law it is in existence you are bound by it as you do to others will be done unto you the end that is a law of the universe and therefore what we are doing to animals ultimately is going to be reflected back to us and we are going to experience it in some form through some expression or manifestation and that's the main reason for stop stopping doing it you know actually I would say there's the bigger reason is because it's simply wrong and that it's causing suffering that's the main reason and you know the secondary reason the the reason that just sits just under that that's almost equally as important is because this is how we're creating our reality you know it again what we do is going to be reflected back to us through the laws of creation therefore if we want our reality to be just we should treat other beings justly if we want our reality to be nonviolent we should be nonviolent to other beings and unfortunately we're bringing all this suffering down upon ourselves and this is one of the practices through which we bring that level of enslavement and suffering upon ourselves through it's a choice last week we talked about the justifications for carnism and I went over six justifications including the apathy and ignorance justification whereby we say we have our own problems and we don't have time to worry about animals and whether they suffer or not that was justification number one the second was the fundamentally flawed idea of someone's completely erroneous notion of what they call the natural order unquote which has nothing to do with the real natural order of the cosmos it's this Darwinian concept of survival of the most ruthless that they believe in religiously this is the concept while other animals kill animals for food so why shouldn't we do the same right we're we're animals just like them well no we're not we're not animals just like them we're supposed to be human beings we're supposed to hold ourselves to a higher standard and not engage in violence and you know yet this is people's absolutely poisonous worldview of themselves this comes from ultimately a lack of respect it ultimately comes from seeing oneself as unchangeable that the will cannot be employed to change oneself let me tell you something if we employed enough will we can change not only our behavioral aspects of ourselves we can change our form we could actually change our deep right down to our DNA we could possibly change but people don't believe that's possible you know they have a very inadequate view of who they are what they're capable of doing and it's just a completely poisoned worldview to think of oneself as no better or worse than any other animals you know this is this is taught in Satanism one of the main tenets of Satanism is human beings are animals no different than any other animal that's one of the main satanic tenets look it up if you don't believe me go read The Satanic Bible by lhave which is a concrescence of modern-day satanic a fil I D illogical tenants is what that book is of course this religion is much much older than him he's only putting it in modern book form that's all but this is a ancient religion they the the adherence of it themselves call it simply the old religion and one of its tenants as I said is man is no better than any animal that walks in the field and we should stop denying our totally carnal nature and just give ourselves over to it and this is part of this fundamentally flawed notion of the natural order quote-unquote the natural order because it's not the real natural order the third justification for carnism that we talked about last week was the false religion justification that God gave us dominion over these animals or so we interpret different clause phrases from the Bible as telling us so and that means we can just murder them and use them as we please when of course this is all false religion handed down to us by man and has nothing to do with the laws of creation the 1984 doublespeak justification don't worry this one was killed humanely you know this is free-range or this is humanely taken life and there is no such thing you put the words killed and humanely together and you could just see it's just Orwellian doublespeak if you're killing something you're obviously not treating it humanely because you're killing it this is plain as day to someone who's being honest with himself but most of us are not the separation worldview justification well these animals aren't conscious in the same way we are so it's okay to just kill them and use them for food this totally ignores what we're doing that's creating the suffering that these animals are undergoing it's not looking at it as as all beings suffer as one being suffers all being suffer it's taking this totally separation' worldview that it doesn't matter their suffering is meaningless to my existence and my quality of being and it's not we're all connected we are all fundamentally one at the universal field level of consciousness and therefore if others are suffering we should want to alleviate that we should want to be involved in the alleviation of suffering for all beings not just ourselves and then finally the no justification justification as I coined it last week or in other words the truth also known as simply the truth and that is well I do feel bad about what I'm doing here but I could never give up my meat quote/unquote my meat you know it's just way too tasty it just tastes too good I'm too addicted to it I could never developed the willpower to really change who I am and desist in a practice of violence or violence by proxy which is what carnism is and those are really the justifications that we use to try to create a right that's what the word justification means creating right making a wrong into a right of course this is an illusion it can never be done it will never be done it's only an illusion that exists in a diseased psyche that is trying to make a wrong action okay in their own mind in their own psyche so we also looked at the law of Correspondence last week when it comes to this practice and the law of Correspondence simply states that that which is above is like to that which is below that which is below is like to that which is above or in other words the universe is self-similar across all scales across all sizes and I would suggest modalities of behavior it is also self-similar meaning if we continue to create chaos chaos is going to be generated for us by something that is above us in the Creole quote not the real natural order okay the universe is going to intelligently rearrange the field of consciousness around us to provide the experience that we have been generating through our behaviors and it's going to reflect that experience back to us so that we will learn the lesson that hey it's not okay to behave like this we should not be engaging in such practices and people look at the image that I presented and they think of it like oh well that's just the natural order Oh life eats life and you know a little bit life that's real small gets eaten by something that's bigger and then that gets eaten by something that's even bigger no that's not the natural order this is the Darwinian notion of the natural order that is a religion that is based on dogmatic religious belief systems this is not the real knack to order this is not what nature does this is chaos this is the state of chaos it's the exact opposite of order things everything eating everything else that's chaos ladies and gentlemen and that's chaos that we have created by not saying no to this condition this is a condition it's not the natural order it's not nature there's a difference between the human condition and human nature we've talked about that ad infinitum on past shows this scene does not depict nature or the quote-unquote natural order as people envision in their minds rather what it depicts is the chaos that we have created for ourselves the chaos that we have chosen through our behaviors and through our false belief systems and we have created that chaos for ourselves we've chosen it for ourselves by staying in that role and I'm talking I'm on image number 11 now try to be better about stating the images I always get ahead of myself in that regard and forget to state which image I am on but if you're following the slideshow this is slide number 11 and again the images can always be found for those who may just be tuning in at the what on earth is happening calm website radio show tab underneath the player for it for the show it'll be the the caption will say images for today's show you can click on one of the numbered images it will bring up a slideshow and you can jump to any image you want from that point we're on image number 11 also these images again are posted with the podcast so if you're on the podcast page you'll see related images and you can also get them from there all of these images are also downloadable so you could download them and maintain an offline copy if you so choose all right the middle fish in this image as I said last week is humanity but this is our condition it's not the way it must always be you know that would be the definition of permanent he'll never being able to change your condition and that isn't the case we are capable of changing our condition see it's part of poisoned worldview to think we can never change anything and that it just always has been this way and always must be this way that is a diseased psyche it is a diseased worldview if that's your take on what's going on and I really feel bad for anybody in that state of consciousness I feel terribly sad for them because they've already given up hope and really there is no way they could affect any positive change you know until they abandon that that's why worldview healing was the very first solution it wasn't way down near the bottom of the solutions it's the top unless you can do that you're done you're not involved in the solution unless you can heal worldview you have to look at what is true nature what is the real natural order instead of this nonsensical to are winning and view that most people have you have to look at what is the real value of the individual and you'll have to look at what is the real possibility for change and be honest about all of those things knots they stay attached to a dogmatic religion or belief system about those aspects of life and until you heal worldview and stop taking that poisonous worldview that we're just animals so what's the difference what we do you know also oh this is just the natural order that's nature that's human nature and that's the nature of things and no it is not it's you're fundamentally wrong you're you're working off a completely flawed axiom understand what an axiom is an ID you're basing a foundational ideology on top of it's your foundation and if that's broken the house that you're building on top of it will be a house of cards people are building entire belief structures on top of fundamentally flawed axioms belief systems which they've held dogmatically for no reason other than it's been repeated to them ad infinitum endlessly by people who they think are authorities or experts on the topics instead of really looking into it for themselves and seeing what really is there and those people's psyches are broken as a result folks they're broken beings because they've accepted this totally poisonous vile worldview and this is one of them the idea that that this image depicts human nature instead of the law of Correspondence based upon our willing choices that are creating conditions that we must experience in reality that's what this image depicts that's what the law of Correspondence is stating not that things must eternally be this way that that's a condition that's created that's generated the generative principle goes hand-in-hand with the law of Correspondence we are generating or creating these conditions through our behaviors and as humans we are held to a higher standard of knowledge we are capable of understanding cosmic spiritual law or natural law we are capable of grasping the laws of the consequences of behavior so this middle fish in this image on number 11 will be humanity it doesn't have to be but it will be for as long as we continue to engage in such fundamentally flawed ideological axioms such as carnism as just one of them there are many many others of course in general the aggression principle the aggression ideology in general as long as we continue to engage in fundamentally flawed ideologies such as that that aggression is okay to continue to do and support by proxy as long as we engage in these fundamentally flawed ideologies we will be that fish getting devoured yeah maybe devouring some others that are below us quote-unquote below us you know that we view as being below us but ultimately will be getting eaten at the same time and I told people last week on the show humanity is being eaten we are being eaten as a result of our ideological practices that's how the law of Correspondence goes to work to bring us justice the universe is a perfect machine of justice and humanity is getting exactly what it needs what it must experience based on where our thoughts emotions and actions are at and that will be our condition until the day we change those modalities of consciousness our thoughts our emotions and our actions when they change the law of Correspondence will spring into effect and bring us a different manifestation manifested result a different manifestation but not a second before we will continue to get what we've always gotten because we're continuing to do what we've always done when we change that the external reality the external manifestation manifestation will also change so I started reading from the essay vegetarian vegetarianism and ocultism by C W Leadbeater last week and I didn't get quite to finish that we were talking about the occult reasons for ceasing the practice of carnism and I want to finish that reading because we got into the second section where he started transitioning away from you know some of the occult reasons we shouldn't do this for our own benefit but there are also occult reasons meaning hidden reasons reasons based upon hidden knowledge the knowledge of hidden laws of nature which is what this show is all about the laws of behavioral consequence as I call them or simply natural law cosmic spiritual law universal spiritual law is what we're talking about again it needs to be clarified because when you use the term natural that has a totally hijacked connotation in most people's minds because they've been hammered from their birth with this concept of Darwinism relating to the natural order when it has no such bearing it has no such connection so I want to continue reading this document to the end of it this is vegetarian vegetarianism and ocultism by C W Leadbeater we're at near the end of the document I want to pick up from the section called man's duty toward nature then I'm going to read the sections ghastly unseen results and the better time to come so quote then there is the far more important unselfish side of the question that of man's Duty toward nature every religion has taught that man should put himself always on the side of the will of God in this world on the side of good against evil of evolution against retrogression the man who changes himself on the site of evolution realizes the wickedness of destroying life for he knows that just as he is here in this physical body in order that he may learn the lessons of this plane so is the animal occupying his body for the same reason that through it he may gain experience at his lower stage he knows that the life behind the animal is the divine life that all life in this world is divine that animals therefore therefore are truly our brothers even though they may be younger brothers and we can have no sort of right to take their lives for the gratification of our perverted tastes no right to cause them untold agony and suffering merely to satisfy our degraded and detestable lusts very strong words thereby led beer and I concur it is our greed our selfish interest our attachment that makes us continue this practice there is known each other need for it it is not a necessity as we covered two weeks ago we absolutely destroyed the natural normal natural necessary argument right here on this show and gave tons of supportive evidence to that fact continuing to quote Leadbeater quote we have brought things to such a pass with our miss called quote sport and our wholesale slaughtering x' that all wild creatures fly from the sight of us does that seem like the universal brotherhood of god's creatures is that your idea of the golden age of worldwide kind leanness that is to come a condition when every living thing flies from the face of man because of his murderous instincts there is an influence flowing back upon us from all this an effect which you can hardly realize unless you are able to see how it looks when regarded with the sight of the higher plane the occult plane in other words the unseen the difficult to see continuing every one of these creatures which you so ruthlessly murder in this way has its own thoughts and feelings with regard to all this it has horror pain and indignation and an intense but unexpressed feeling of the hideous injustice of it all the whole atmosphere about us is full of it twice lately I have heard from psychic people that they felt the awful aura of the surroundings of Chicago even when many miles away from it mrs. Besant herself told me the same thing years ago in England that long before she came in the sight of Chicago she felt the horror of it and the deadly pall of depression descending upon her and asked where are we and what is the reason that there should be this terrible feeling in the air to sense this effect as clearly as this is beyond the reach of the person who is not developed but though all the inhabitants may not be directly conscious of it and recognize it as mrs. Besant did they may be sure that they are suffering from it unconsciously and that the terrible vibration of horror and fear and injustice is acting upon every one of them even though they do not know it in other words our practices toward animals are affecting the field of consciousness the interconnected field of energy in which we all are living we're not separate from that vibratory energetic field and whether we're conscious of it or unconscious of it it is having an effect upon our wellness a pound upon our well-being and ultimately upon the conditions that we are living with that we are living in that are affecting us every day on a day-to-day basis we're part of that dynamic we are driving that dynamic through our behavior the next section is called ghastly unseen results quote the feeling of nervousness and profound depression which are so common there are largely due to that awful influence which spreads over the city like a plague cloud I do not know how many thousands of creatures are killed every day but the number is very large remember that one that every one of these creatures is a definite entity not a permanent reincarnating in devant individuality like yours or mine but still an entity which has its life upon the astral plane and persists there for a considerable time remember that every one of these remains to pour out his feelings of indignation and horror at the injustice and torment has been inflicted upon him realize for yourself the terrible atmosphere which exists about those slaughterhouses remember that a clairvoyant can see the vast hosts of animal souls that he knows how strong are their feelings of horror and resentment and how these recoil at all points upon the human race they react most of all upon those who are least able to resist them upon the children who are more delicate and sensitive than the hardened adult that city is a terrible place in which to bring up children a place where the whole atmosphere both physical and psychic is charged with fumes of blood and with all of it that means and Leadbeater is talking about the City of Chicago back at the turn of the century which was the biggest meat production facility in in the entire country and probably still is continuing quote I read an article only the other day in which it was explained that the nauseating stench which rises from those Chicago slaughterhouses and settles like a fatal miasma over the city is by no means the most deadly influence that comes up from that Christian hell for animals though it is the breath of certain death to many a mother's darling the slaughterhouses make not only a pest hole for the bodies of children but for their souls as well not only are the children employed in the most revolting and cruel work but the whole trend of their thoughts is directed toward killing occasionally one is found too sensitive to endure the sights and sounds of that ceaseless awful battle between between man's cruel lust and the inalienable right of every creature to its own life it's all about the principle of ownership folks don't take what you don't own it's not your life to take from that animal it is their life they own their life that is their right as Leadbeater says the right the inalienable right of every creature to its own life I read how one boy continuing to quote I read how one boy from whom a minister had secured a place in the slaughterhouse returned home day after day pale and sick and unable to eat or sleep and again I guess this is even before some you know child labor laws and the children were put to work in these slaughterhouses back then it's horrific continuing use uh day after day pale and sick unable to eat or sleep and finally came to that minister of the gospel of the compassionate Christ and told him that he was willing to starve if necessary but that he could not weighed in blood another day the horrors of the slaughter had so affected him that he could no longer sleep yet this is what many a boy is doing and seeing from day to day until he becomes hardened to the taking of life and then some day instead of cutting the throat of a lamb or a pig he kills a man and straightaway we turn our lost for slaughter upon him and think that we have done justice I read that a young woman who does much philanthropic work in the neighborhood of these Pest houses declares that what most impresses her about the children is that they seem to have no games except games of killing that they have no conception of any relation to animals except the relation of the slaughterer to the victim this is the education which so-called Christians are giving to the children of the slaughterhouse a daily education and murder and then they express surprise at the number and brutality of the murders in that district yet your Christian public goes on serenely saying its prayers and singing its Psalms and listening to its sermons as if no such outrages were being perpetrated against God's children in that sinkhole of pestilence and crime surely the habit of eating dead flesh has produced a moral apathy among us a moral apathy among us are you doing well do you think in rearing your future citizens among surroundings of such utter brutality as this even on the physical plane this is a terribly sere s'matter and from the occult point of view it is unfortunately far more serious still for the occult disease the psychic results of all this sees how these forces are acting upon the people and how they intensify brutality and unscrupulousness he sees what a center of vice and crime you have created and how from it the infection is gradually spreading until it affects the whole country and even the whole of what is called civilized humanity and I'll jump in there and say exactly this is affecting the entire morphic field of consciousness that we are a part of you engage in these practices they do not stay where they are at and just because you try to hide them and erect huge walls and and fences your that doesn't mean that that energy isn't going beyond that area just because people aren't seeing it if you want to really see what these practices are and I guarantee you what you're even seeing there is not even the worst of it by any stretch of the imagination watch the movie earthlings watch it all the way through try to watch it through without looking away from the screen and I'll bet you can't even do it most people don't have the stomach to do it I congratulate someone who has the stomach to even sit through the entire thing you have a strong constitution and it should affect you negatively that's what it's designed to do and it's doing a good job of it that documentary it should make you feel sick because that's the energy we're all taking in as a result of these practices and you think that that's gonna build a good body and brain please continuing with the document quote the world is being affected by it in many ways which most people do not in the least realize there are constant feelings of causeless terror in the air many of your children are unnecessarily and inexplicably inexplicably fraid they feel terror of they know not what terror of the dark or when they are alone for a few moments strong forces are playing about us for which you cannot account and you do not realize that this all comes from the fact that the whole atmosphere is charged with the hostility of these murdered creatures the stages of evolution are closely interrelated and you cannot do wholesale murder in this way upon your younger brothers without feeling the effect terribly among your own innocent children surely a better time shall come when we shall be free from this horrible blot upon our civilization this awful reproach upon our compassion and our sympathy and when that comes we shall find presently that there will be a vast improvement in these matters and by degrees we shall all rise to a higher level and be freed from all these instinctive terrors and hatreds the better time to come we might all be freed from it very soon if men and women would only think for the average man is not after all a brute but means to be kind if he only knew how he does not think let me repeat that again he does not think he goes on from day to day and does not realize that he is taking part all the time in an awful crime but facts are facts and there is no escape from them everyone who is partaking of this abomination is helping to make this appalling thing a possibility and undoubtedly shares the responsibility for it you know that this is so you know that this is so and you can see what a terrible thing it is but you will say what can we do to improve matters we who are only tiny units in this my tea seething mass of humanity in His only by units rising above the rest and becoming more civilized that we shall finally arrive at a higher civilization of the race as a whole let me read that sentence again folks because that's probably the most important sentence in this essay it is only by units rising above the rest and becoming more civilized that we shall finally arrive at a higher civilization of the race as a whole the quantum effect that I've been talking about that many people have been talking about it doesn't matter if you don't perceive that a lot of other people are doing it it eventually as individual units change themselves a quantum effect will be built up as that amount Rises and it will eventually spill over to the whole it is about numbers but we need to get to that critical mass number when this becomes common sense knowledge our consciousness being elevated by desist in such murderous practices just you know lifting our own consciousness up will be an influence in the whole field of consciousness for the totality of the all continuing the quote there is a golden age to come not only for man but for the lower Kingdom's a time when humanity will realize its duty to its younger brothers not to destroy them but to help them and train them so that we may receive from them not terror and hatred but love and devotion and friendship and reasonable cooperation a time will come when all the forces of nature shall be intelligently working together towards the final end not with constant suspicion and hostility but with universal recognition of that brotherhood which is ours because we are all children of the same almighty father let us at least make the experiment let us free ourselves from complicity in these awful crimes let us set ourselves to try now that's like that I called that on the show breaking in just for a moment I called that phrase on the show on Rosicrucianism that I did with Bob from Cincinnati on a cult Empire that's the ultimate Rosicrucian commandment try we must try to improve ourselves engage the will to make ourselves better than we were the day before if we're doing that no one can fault us let us continuing quote let us set ourselves to try each in our own small circle to bring nearer that bright time of peace and love which is the dream and the earnest desire of every true hearted and thinking man at least we ought surely to be willing to do a small thing as this so small a thing as this to help the world onward toward that glorious future we ought to make ourselves pure our thoughts and our actions as well as our food so that by example as well as by precept we may all be doing we may be doing all that in us lies to spread the gospel of love and compassion to put an end to the reign of brutality and terror and to bring nearer the dawn of the great kingdom of righteousness and love when the will of our Father shall be done upon the earth as it is in heaven and I mean that is just so profoundly powerful that I think it just speaks for itself and nothing else really needs to be said on this topic I mean that is I'm going to wrap up right there the topic of carnism people should read that entire document vegetarian is vegetarianism and occultism by C W Leadbeater and really contemplated really reflect upon it because it says everything that needs to be said it says it all when it comes to this and I think we'll pause there for this brief two-minute break and on the other side for the next hour we'll be talking about women's role in the non-supportive dominators and specific things that women can do to help the influenced men in their lives to cease and desist these immoral practices be right back after this brief two-minute break folks you're listening - what on earth has happened stay with us [Music] [Music] all right everyone we're back this is the second hour of what on earth is happening today is Sunday September 2nd 2012 I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm for the second hour I'm going to transition the subject matter and we're going to begin another subsection the final subsection in the non support of dominators solution this is part of our solutions section that I call the way out in which I present 10 overarching solution oriented approaches to the problems that humanity is facing in consciousness now we've been talking about domination we've been talking about how people are under the erroneous impression that they own the lives and rights of other beings that's what this is all ultimately about that's what this entire planet that's what the the people are on this planet to learn this lesson that's what all the souls who come here are for that's what they're here for to learn what you own and what you do not own that you own your life your liberty and that you're not to take the life liberty and property of others don't steal in other words when people ask me how can I boil natural law down to its primary essence I can do it real easy in two words don't steal theft is the ultimate transgression in different forms against the laws of nature all natural law transgressions boil down to a form of theft murder rape theft trespass murder the theft of other lives and you know attempted murder assault etc it's you're attempting to take the life and well-being of another and that's not you to take rape theft of someone's freedom to associate sexually with who they will you're taking that you have no right to take that freedom of association theft of property taking physical things someone else is using trespass that theft of someone's security within their own layer you have no right to take that from them ultimately it's all theft the theft of someone else's rights is something we're most certainly here to learn and that's problematic for most people because they cannot understand the ideological the philosophical principles upon which the non-aggression way of being in the world is based they can't they don't understand deeply understand self ownership they don't understand the illusion of authority they've bought and are attached to these notions and they're all illusory they're all based on a poisoned worldview and religious thinking believing in something that isn't true believing in something that is not based on nature not based on that which is that's what truth is it's simply the way things are looking at it honestly and coming to an accurate understanding of it that's what the process of the discovery of truth is and unfortunately people are so diseased in the mind there's a disease of the mind and the soul and the body too through all the poisons that people take into their body we poison the morphic field of energy all around us and therefore we can't see clearly regarding these rights in the last document I read Leadbeater defined what occultism was at the beginning of the document he said house we define ocultism the war the word is derived from the Latin ocultist meaning hidden so that it is the study of the hidden laws of nature not the hidden suggestions of nature not the hidden opinions of nature the hidden laws of nature binding conditions binding conditions they are self existing they are binding and they are immutable they cannot be changed we have to wisdom is understanding what actually can be changed and what cannot be changed that's part of wisdom that's part of discernment and I would say that's discernment that's knowledge that's understanding and then wisdom is putting that into practice in your life such that your behaviors are not displaying contradictions with that knowledge so a great definition that Leadbeater gives of what is the study of the occult people still have a lack of understanding of this and they still think that this isn't the most important knowledge to grasp and to take into oneself because they're still thinking in religious terms being told oh this information is somehow evil and that's the only connotation you see it through this information is knowledge of truth about how the laws of nature operate to bring us the experiences that we've ultimately chosen for ourselves through our behavior so I call them the laws of the consequences of our behavioral choices now that's what natural law is get over this hijacked notion of the term natural and understand what it really means it is inherent to creation it is that which does exist so Leadbeater said that the word is derived from the Latin occultist meaning hidden so that what occultism is is the study of the hidden laws of nature since all of the great laws of nature are in fact working in the invisible world far more than in the visible they're unseen in words they're not readily seen you have to make a true study of them through looking at their consequences their manifestations in order to really come to know and understand them okay quote ocultism involves the acceptance of a much wider view of nature than that which is ordinarily taken the occultist then this is what an occultist actually is listen up folks understand what occultism and an occultist actually is an occultist then is a man or a woman who studies all the laws of nature that he can reach or of which he can hear so what you can come to an understanding of through your own direct experience or through someone else sharing their experience secondarily and you you know trying attempting to verify their experiences of it through what they have written or expressed through word that's what the occultist is and as a result of his study he identifies himself with these laws and devotes his life to the service of evolution because the only way we really evolve is by coming into harmony with these hidden laws and this is what most people on this planet in their ignorance and ego absolutely refused to accept that these laws are in existence that they are bound by them and that these laws are not changeable by man this is because we're largely trapped in a completely masculine dominant society a masculine dominant form of energy in which we are bathing and a masculine dominant ideology a mental and psychological framework that is completely imbalanced to the masculine and it lacks the presence of the sacred feminine qualities that's one of the reasons we can't come to grasp natural law people who have a hard time with that concept are so imbalanced toward the left brain they're not in a state of good mental and psychological health regardless of what they would claim or even what modern science might even claim regarding them when it comes to the higher level knowledge about how the human psyche operates and that real health regarding the human mind and body and spirit the people who cannot grasp what I just laid out regarding natural law are seriously debilitated they are in a state of ill health when it comes to the psyche because their actual physical brain is imbalanced toward the left brain hemisphere this has to do with physical brain health which has to do with energy that you're putting into your body through food through water through your emotional makeup through the practices that you engage in on a day-to-day basis and this is why so many people can't see the simple basic truth about how aggression and violence is wrong and the answer is to live non violently not to take that which by force by coercion that which does not belong to us and that's what the entire crux the entire root of the problem that we're facing here on earth is all about it cannot be stated much simpler than that if people still don't understand that that's what the problem humanity is embedded in and it's putting them into deeper and deeper bondage and Chains and enslavement they don't understand anything they have not yet gotten to the root fundamental causal factors that are driving the dynamic here on earth resulting in their enslavement and again that's because there's an imbalance toward the masculine energies and the sacred feminine qualities of the individual have been really left to the wayside and are not being focused on and are not being engaged in and are not being built back to a level of health so when we talk about what woman's role can be we have to understand what we're really talking about is physical gender when we talk about women versus men females versus males in the physical gender of a species and I'm I am addressing physical gender here today not just what would be called mental or spiritual gender which is what I've been talking about when I talk about the masculine qualities versus the feminine qualities that exist in every individual so we need to make that distinction clear first there is physical gender male and female then there is what is known as mental psychological or spiritual gender which has to do with qualities that are existing within every individual and that I would use the term masculine and feminine to describe not male and female and again the problem is that the masculine is dominating and the feminine is not really engaged in in any level of depth in other words the spirit aspect of the mind body spirit is lacking that's what the feminine energy or the feminine principle is all about our spiritual lives it is the nurturing qualities the intuitive qualities the creative qualities that exists within us and the focus again is taken off of these in modern culture especially in dominator institutions so what I'm going to talk about here today is kind of a review of the entire section on the non support of dominators and I'm starting with image number 12 we're actually talking about physical gender as well today how women specifically the female of our species can play a significant role step into a powerful and empowering position in all of society to help dissuade the men in their lives from continuing the practice of domination and enslavement of others and the stealing of the of other people's natural inherent rights women can have a powerful influence in this regard all of the roles that they play in society as mothers as sisters as wives okay we are all in some form or another powerfully engage with and influenced by the women in our lives and I would say the primary role is the role of motherhood influencing the makeup of a child is such a powerful responsibility specifically when it comes to a woman's role as a as a parent what woman's role as parents and of course I'm not taking anything away from the family dynamic of mother father and child what I am and I'm that dynamic is quite under attack as well by cultural marxism and forces that are really trying to break down that family dynamic in order to bring us into a totalitarian system because when there is that dynamic present there's a more of a vehicle and an opportunity to teach morality to the child because a a more stable foundational structure being that family is is present and it's a more nurturing environment now I'm not totally defending all aspects of family life there's hardships to come with that there's a lot of imbalances and neuroses depending on the respective imbalances and neuroses of the individuals within a family largely talking about the parents in that regard because they're the ones who are driving the family dynamic but specifically to go back to the woman's role in how they can help shape and influence the mind of the of the men around them the first and most important way they can do that is in their role as a mother by learning the principles of non-aggression non-violence the absolute illusion of authority and then communicating that deeply to their child one of the ways they could actually practically engage in that is through home home schooling if it is possible for them to engage in that because putting your child into a government indoctrination camp is ultimately going to result in some form of mind control at least in a home school environment a mother and a father can convey moral lessons to their children without the state stopping that from occurring and you know you could teach them the curriculum that they need to pass the classes and everything but the whole point is here you also really have an opportunity to be around them for a significant portion of the day so that you can convey accurate understandings about moral law to them and see this is the problem which is missing this is one of the biggest dynamics that's missing because most people just ship their children right off to a new government indoctrination center where there are no values taught the only values are adherence and obedience to the state that's what's taught in government indoctrination centers total and complete complicity with the authority of the state and a child no matter how much the influence might be good at home if they're put around that four six seven eight hours a day or longer it's going to have an influence on their mind and the way that they think and their worldview so the only way you can really truly control that or have a better effect upon that is not putting them in these schools to begin with and that's a severe a dedication a dedication or act a devotional act an act of love that's it's not easy to do that I'm not a parent but I understand what would be required in order to take on that role of being a a teacher to a child every day I look at it like it's hard enough coming on here once a week and doing a two-hour program and giving you know speeches and presentations out in the world but to have a young influence that's a young mind that's your responsibility to guide and shape on an everyday basis is an absolute incredibly huge responsibility and one that's sacred so that's the first way that women can get involved in this see I put an image of a woman being nurturing to a man on image number 12 and just being supportive we have to understand what the non support of a

Dominator really means what it ultimately means is being supportive of the true self the true being that is underneath the ego role you know the identified role that a man plays in whatever institution he's identifies himself as being a part of so it isn't supporting the soldier it isn't supporting the policeman it isn't supporting the government employee or the politician it would be not supporting that role so you would ultimately be coming in to the support of the true being that is buried by the identification with that institutional role see this you have to go back to the shows I did on ego identification total attachment to the roles that we play in society this is what unaware woman would be trying to help her the man in her life get out of whether it be her son her father her husband her brother any any man that she has a close affinity with an association with so image number thirteen is the exact opposite of what we're talking about we're not talking about supporting what a man is continuing to do that he should not be doing that's ultimately based in domination and and the aggression principle so this image of supporting the troops you know wearing your little ribbon or your button and waving your placard signs to say our family supports our soldier and keep our promises to whatever country we happen to be bombing this week or this month is the exact opposite and wrong notion to be thinking of what I'm talking about helping to support a male by not supporting their role as a Dominator image thirteen depicts the wrong way of going about it which most people think of as oh I want to support you know the person in this role the object here is to try to take the real being back because they've been stolen the real essence of the Bing is gone if they're identified in their roles as police and military and as we said police and military are ultimately the construction workers who are building the world of enslavement whether you want to believe that or accept that or not is is up to you that's the truth there are architects of this plan most certainly there are dark occult architects but they're not the person who are actually doing the work to build the enslavement society the police state society the people who are actually doing the physical tests on a day to day basis to build that world of enslavement are the police and the military and there is no refutation that can be offered to deny it is the case that is the fact of the matter so one of the first things women need to do is to get over if they want to step into this powerful transformative role which I would say is their birthright as women as females who are embodiments of the sacred feminine energy one of the things that they must do if they want to step into that role in a powerful way in an in a powerful powerful and influential way is to themselves become extracted to extract themselves from the dynamic of emotional mind control and that can be difficult for many women to do because they so powerfully embody that sacred feminine energy and quality when the emotions become hyper dominant and this can happen particularly in the female gender a lot of times people can go into the opposite level of imbalance the imbalance toward the feminine instead of the masculine and imbalanced toward that that feminine often results in this dynamic that I've talked about on the show in the past called emotional mind control this is identifying with the emotions that one feels when they are around a person who is playing a specific role in their lives so in other words a woman who is a daughter to a man okay the man's her father and he's a police officer and he's going and he's working and he's abusing people's rights on a day to day basis even unknowingly unconsciously he thinks he's doing the right thing but every day in his role as a police officer he is engaged with evil because he is engaged in the aggression ideology and he's ultimately destroy helping to destroy rights thinking that he's doing something that is good well a woman who's under emotional mind-control cannot clearly see that dynamic because they're identified fully with the role of that male as a father figure to them so she's seeing daddy she's seeing the the provider of the family she's seeing the guy who goes out and plays with her and you know takes her to different places and buys her you know meals and and you know gizzard desserts and you know spends time with her with her mother and you know has a great time in his role as a father so she's identified with that role emotionally and that's blinding her from pulling back from her closeness with him in that particular role and seeing clearly the abuses and the wrongs that he is doing in his role as a Dominator so if someone's still under this level of emotional mind control oh my brother is involved in this my father is involved in this my son does this job and therefore he can't be bad because he's identified with me and I love him and you know he can't be a bad person this is emotional mind control and this is the first thing one has to get over one has to see the truth as it is and stop identifying with the role because then with the role that you are emotionally tied to with that other person because then all you're seeing is them as a good person and you're you're not being honest you're not looking at the situation objectively you're just feeling the situation and conscience is not about feeling conscience is ultimately about knowledge it's about knowing definitively the objective differences between right action and wrong action and then the exercise of conscious is willfully choosing the right action over the wrong someone an emotional mind control cannot do that effectively because again they're attached to the role it's part of ego identification it's part of the healing of worldview getting out of that ego identification it's one of these emotional mind control and ego what we talked about as barriers to the awakening to the true self and if you're still in that lower sense identification you're not really going to have much of an influence and a fan effect so really what we're starting with is you have to wake yourself up first obviously you have to wake yourself up fully and really no natural law know the difference and be able to articulate it as well you need to know the difference between right and wrong and be able to effectively communicate that so I would say in in acting as an influencer you have to have your knowledge be on point and have woken up yourself in regards to true conscience and to natural law and then you should work on your communicative abilities such that you can verbally carry that information to other people in an effective way and if you're an emotional mind control you're not going to be able to do that effectively you have to understand that the men that we're talking about and let's face it the Dominator of society is male-driven again physical gender plays a big role here excuse me physical gender does play a role in this regard men happen to be the stronger physically of the the two genders of humanity therefore they're the ones who are most employed in the task of nomination in these different institutions that employ domination and slide number 15 shows ultimately men are the creators of the dark new world order these are the people who are actually building the prison planet they're building the prison society again they're not the architects they're they're following the orders of the architects often unconsciously and unknowingly and as we saw on a previous show they're often themselves trapped in what is known as the abuse victim cycle this is a cycle psychological physical trauma this chart in image number 16 shows how this cycle works and perpetuates itself unless someone finally steps in and breaks the chain and breaks the cycle through applied knowledge care and willpower and they don't have to do that alone that's again woman's role can be coming in and helping with the healing of this psychological and physical trauma in the lives of the men who they are around so that's part of it if you have you have to understand the abuse victims cycle and you have to see signs of it and talk through it with the person now you have to have a deep understanding of the psyche and what is going on in the individuals life so conversation is a gigantic part of this dynamic and again to converse means to change together Khan in Latin means together or with and verse are a means to change so by conversing you're changing together you're helping that being work through the problem because guaranteed guaranteed a hundred percent there will be abuse victimization that cycle will be present in the life of the dominator invariably unquestioningly guaranteed because if it wasn't they wouldn't be acting the way they're acting or they would have already healed from it you know and they're they're currently not acting that way because maybe they didn't experience that and now they're healed and it is possible to heal from that kind of trauma but you need to go and do the homework yourself and understand how this dynamic works within the psyche you can go back and you know I scratched the surface of it talking about the abuse victim cycle here on a former podcast but you need to really do your own due diligence and do your own homework and really look into these psychological dynamics for yourself in a big way ultimately what you're trying to get the Bing that you're working with pass is the notion that since I have suffered therefore I need to cause suffering for others and that's what all ultimately is nestled and held deep in the psyche and in the subconscious of everybody who's doing the work of a Dominator everyone no invariably as I've said bar none blanket statement yes this is 100 percent of the people engaged in this have have deep in their psyche this notion since I have suffered I must cause suffering and I said on the show in the past when I talked about that slide which is presented here I slide number 17 that is the total mindset of a slave that is the slave mindset that is the mindset that will keep you a slave eternally an image number 18 shows what you really are if that's the mindset you have you are a prisoner yourself you are you are actually willfully by holding on to that attach to mindset keeping yourself in a cage maybe not even realizing it consciously and what you're really doing is you're preventing the development of true respect for yourself because no one who's developed a true level of self-respect continues to hold on to an attachment like that then Oh since I've suffered in my past I need to keep that going you know this is all I know and I just want to make other people feel the way I do about myself ultimately it means you have no self-respect to perpetuate that cycle you can't really like yourself to want to continue to do that it is impossible so part of a woman's role in this regard how they can be a powerful influence in this regard is to be supportive in the process of extracting what that trauma was that's where the Sacred Feminine nurturing energy comes into play you need to really hear what's being said by that individual and again I'm just saying women can do this please don't confuse what I'm saying here I'm saying specifically women can step up into this role they already have very much inherently that sacred feminine energy presence and have that nurturing quality that nurturing side many of them again that isn't to say the masculine form of imbalances and present in women either as far as gender goes so you have to understand it's a complicated dynamic and I'm not saying that men cannot step up into this role as well but specifically we're looking how women in their societal roles with men can help to be a big influence in that regard because they are their mothers and their wives men are very apt and willing to listen to the advice and the opinions of the women who are important to them in their lives at least if they're not a total jerk and a total you know egoic driven mind that really just cut off from everything else but you know I think if if mothers really started telling their their children their male children some of these dynamics because they understood it from a deep perspective themselves I think there would be some receptiveness on their part and that's part of the problem is not enough women have really stepped forward into this knowledge in a very deep capacity you even look in the truth movement it's so dominated by men who are speakers and communicators of this information I mean there and that is not to say that there aren't many women in it but it's a skewed dynamic number-wise you know it's a very skewed ratio of men to women in the in the alternative research and alternative media community that's attempting to convey this knowledge so it's bottom line about helping the person to redevelop true self-respect you're taking the person out of that dominator mindset by helping them to really engage the self and look at what made them hold certain opinions made them hold certain ideological points of view you get down to the bottom line essence of that and you will find pain you will find trauma you will find suffering and I'm not I'm saying that as a blanket statement it is going to be 100 percent true 100 percent of the time that's what you'll find when you start peeling back the layers of that psychological onion you will find trauma and pain and that's what they're holding on to they're attached to that in some respect and therefore they're not really taking another look at it they want to bury that and suppress it this is all suppressed emotion when you suppress the emotions you're suppressing the sacred feminine energy and this is what all of these men are doing and that's the expression is the lashing out violently against others because they're not dealing with something that's going on traumatically within and so the development of respect is a process of doing that internal work you don't have to do it alone you could do it with someone else that's why I suggest women step up and take on that responsibility and I'm not saying just women do that I'm saying women can have the most profound and powerful effect and influence in that role I think they can have a better influence than men if they were to fully take that on if they were to own that dynamic they were to own that responsibility and step into it in a big way in a full expression I think they could be better at it than any man could because of certain inherent qualities and characteristics the female persuasion of our species do inherently have respect again in Latin means to take another look at if we do the adam etymology of the word re in latin means again and Specht are a means to to look at so we're helping them to do introspective work take another look at what's going on inside of them and it's not just understanding things that are going on within it's also looking at things that are objective that are inherent to all of nature its then helping them to understand what rights are the objective difference between right and wrong which is not set or made by man which is part of the underlying aspects of all of creation the Creator put right and raw set the laws of right and wrong in place man did not it is up to man to make that discovery so that he can bring his behavior into alignment with those laws and stop creating self-inflicted suffering for himself and anybody in the position of Dominator doesn't understand that they have not yet really fully received that knowledge or even if it's been around them they've rejected it for some reason because of these psychological imbalances often food and balances another part of the the role that a woman can play in helping to achieve balance and higher consciousness is getting the men in your lives to eat better and stop eating polluted poisoned food because it has every much everything to do with what you're putting into your physical body as much as it does what you're putting into your body through mental food into your makeup through mental food so the physical food can't be ignored either and that's something that I just wanted to touch on briefly women can help with the shopping and the preparation of meals and men can do that too but to be an influence a lot of men don't want to think about that they want to eat whatever they want you know it's that that animalistic quality that that man masculine side of things it's just oh I I can I can eat this and take it and it won't have any effect you know a lot of men think like that women have to try to bridge that and be a balance to that and play the nurturing role in helping to influence a better diet very significant because what we eat is going to become the makeup and comprise our body our brain and then ultimately our mind and that's going to influence behaviors and we talked about this extensively on those sections on food on this show carnism is another big aspect of that you know helping the man to understand the suffering that this is creating and they're a part of that they are not only engaged in it by proxy or even directly if they're you know engaged in the practice of slaughtering these animals in slaughterhouses but indirectly they're being affected by through take the taking in of that food and they're taking in of that energy of suffering what we're trying to help communicate here to the victim to the person who really is you're reaching out to to try to help transmute and transform into some something better than what they are currently is an understanding of rights through the understanding of what is right what is wrong what rights do people have because they don't cause harm so in understanding natural law with these nominators you have to try to convey over and over again that in order for there to be harm someone has to be hurt in some way in order for there to be a violation of natural law so many of these people are going in attacking and caging people who never hurt another living soul you look at the example of a cop who jails someone for using drugs or even selling them voluntary exchange voluntary interaction no coercion involved putting a substance into one's own body that they own the principles of ownership voluntary interaction non aggression non coercion all need to be grasped at a high level so they you need to help communicate the knowledge to them that a living being has to be harmed or defrauded in order for an actual violation of rights to have taken place and if that isn't the case you shouldn't be taking any action against that person and yet that's what these people do these dominators do every single day of their lives and by doing that they're ultimately taking that which isn't theirs the right of others a free association of ownership of their own body supporting the concept of Taxation is another one these people going in jailing people and taking their freedom away for not paying an extortion paying into an extortion racket that said I'm gonna be going used largely to do other murders and someone objects to that and says no I'm not going to do that no I'm not you're not gonna steal for me whether they even object to it on high moral grounds or just saying what's mine is mine and you're not gonna take it from me i labored for it I earned it and you're not just coming in and taking it based on services you say you're providing that I have no right to refuse and that's all taxation is is another form of theft and supporting it by jailing anybody who refuses to engage in that extortion racket is wrong is not a right and they believe that it is because oh the government said that I can do that well this is the second part of understanding natural law the second main tenant is that rights that do not exist for an individual cannot be granted or delegated by man's law to any other individual or any group of other individuals if something is wrong for one person to do steal from another physically hurt or assault another defrauding other then it you can't make a piece of legislation saying because we've agreed that we're going to allow this we're gonna delegate that wrong we're gonna say well this is a wrong for an individual but you can do it in this role you're playing government the people that call themselves government now they're allowed to do it the military they can do it the police they can do it because they're special they have rights that other people don't have and of course this is an illusion and it's all nonsense none of it is true it's all based on falsity it's all based on illusion it's all based with on that which does not exist in nature the creation of rights no one creates a right folks you can never create a right ever you never created a right man never created a right man cannot create a right today men will never and can never create a right into eternity understand that rights are created by the Creator they exist inherently in the universe man did not make right from wrong he did not make rights the rights we have exists because of natural law the law of the Creator not man's laws no man-made rights ever you can write down anything you want on a piece of paper that doesn't change truth it will never change truth man does not create or invent rights man cannot delegate rights that don't already exist inherently in creation it's an impossibility it's an illusion if you believe that can be done you're under mind control and you're under deep illusion you're sick you are ill you are mentally psychologically emotionally and spiritually ill if that's what you believe because that's false it is not the case ever blanket statement it is 100% true that man never created a right ever and never can and never will because rights are not made by men the end nothing else to say regarding that that knowledge has to be drilled in to people drilled in whether they want to hear it or not whether they want to understand they're not the ego has to break when it comes to that folks the ego must break that's what the solution is all about breaking up the ego which is the solute which must be dissolved the ego is the solute you're not not gonna make a solution if it's hardened you're gonna have a suspension you're not gonna have a solution a solution means that the solute the hard substance is broken up is dissolved and that's what the ego is hard headedness and don't be afraid or accosted by the ego as you encounter it in other people you need to stand in your truth stand in truth and keep hammering on it until it breaks and no that has not been done that has not been tried in any kind of a wide sense that's why people are still engaged in these immoral practices it has not been done and that's an effort that women can really come to the table and step into that that place of force not violence the use of force standing in the force of creation the will engagement of will when you're attempting to help this being out of their self-inflicted suffering which they're so desperately clinging to because ultimately they don't like themselves what you're really trying to do is help them to develop self respect and self love being what self respect and love would never be involved in that institution for any reason they would not be able to do being deceived about that being something that's good it's based in violence it can't create order it can't create anything that's good it's not possible according to the laws of creation not just because I said it is impossible it's the way nature works to bring us our experiences through our choices of behavior natural law is the laws of the consequences of behavioral choice that's what it is not because I said that's what it is that's because that's what it actually is in nature and we can come to understand how that force is operating in our lives at all times and all places and that knowledge is the development of conscience which is again what a woman is ultimately trying to bring forth for discovery to a man in her life you're bringing forth knowledge you're you're the bearer of that knowledge of that light that this is the Venus energy the goddess energy that we're talking about the sacred feminine presence the holy spirit be the natural embodiment of that to convey conscience the definitive knowledge of the difference between right and wrong again coming from the Latin language con a prefix meaning together or with and ski o ski air a meaning to know to develop conscience is to develop common sense people don't understand that that we're in the situation we're in because we've lost common sense because we've lost con science common knowledge knowing together what right and wrong are then helped to embody those principles and show by an example how to live that Sacred Feminine truth because the exercise of one conscience is willfully choosing right action over wrong action once you have that knowledge in hand that's what the exercise of conscience is ultimately as a woman in the roles that we're talking about here and being this powerful feminine influence you need to embody that by actually living it yourself exercise conscience and set an example through your own behavior by definition it is an impossibility for anyone to be quote following orders and exercising conscience simultaneously cannot be done this is another thing that needs to be communicated to people in the role of Dominator and again you always hear me saying in the role they are not actually that thing that's not their essence that's not who they are that's who they become identified with they've become identified with that role reaching these people is about dis identifying them detaching them from identification with the role that they're playing in the world and ultimately what needs to be also communicated is that they need to step into personal responsibility and stop justifying actions that are known to be wrong justification again means to create a right which we've already talked about emphatically cannot be done it also comes from Latin yes jus means right or law and youfuck are a means to make or to create justification therefore means to create a right to create right out of a wrong justifications hold no water they should not be given validation we should not be excusing people based on them saying oh well you know I was just following orders we're in two slides number 24 and 25 now I was just following orders needs to be thoroughly renounced and rejected because that is never a valid excuse or justification for immoral and criminal behavior and again women need to call their men on this they need to call them on their crap of saying well it's okay for me to do this because such-and-such said I could do it and I'm just following orders that's my job I'm just doing my job if you as a woman are truly stepping into the role of personal responsibility that's what you have to try to help convey the conveyance of that is part of that duty as an embodiment of the feminine energy the spirit energy I quote the research or David Icke he said this about personal responsibility quote accept responsibility for yourself and your actions thoughts and words you alone make choices you alone are answerable to the consequences of your behavior the feeble excuse that your boss required it that the establishment expected it holds no truth or justification stop just letting these men off on this concept of justification and saying it's just their job no it isn't it's personal you're doing things that are personally affecting the lives of other people for the negative for the worse and taking their rights which you have no right to take and women out there who are taking this to heart and are going to start putting this into practice in their lives with the men in their life ultimately what you're helping to in flow as a spiritual alchemist is to get them to say no and to stop engaging in that practice of domination of others saying no apophysis is the solution that means the ego has finally broken down and accepted the truth what truth that there is no such thing as authority in the three-dimensional realm at all no one here is an authority you are not the authority there is no such concept of authority the right to rule over another and dominate them Authority is not truth the truth needs to be our only only authority in our lives and our highest responsibility needs to be to the discovery and communication of the truth in this realm without having been said what you're ultimately doing by stepping up into this powerful role of influence with the men in your lives and communicating these truths is you yourself are being becoming a sacred feminine reflection of the of the very embodiment of selflessness you are giving over oneself not being motivated any more by selfish worldly concerns but truly being motivated by the desire to improve and evolve the higher self and I'll leave it there folks cuz that's all the time we have for this week next week coming at you a special two-hour interview with and is the great-granddaughter of Dwight David Eisenhower she is on a profound mission to complete his legacy and reveal our true origins with extraordinary intuitive gifts gifts which are deeply connected with the Magdalen and Gaius Sophia energies of love and wisdom these two forces connect many dots that are coming into our awareness now more than ever as our solar system aligns with the Galactic plane in 2012 while residing and traveling independently in over 20 cities in the US and abroad Lara developed a broad knowledge base that weaves together the esoteric and alchemical aspects of nature with our ancient roots the present world and our future potential Laura lectures and those workshops on issues critical to global transformation seeks to empower the individual so that harmony can be restored to our world with great passion and courage laura is helping to return sacred union divine wisdom and the many faces of the goddess that have been buried and forgotten for thousands of years ladies and gentlemen welcome - what on earth is happening Laura Eisenhower Laura welcome to the show hi mark thank you so much for having me absolutely really looking forward to this interview ever since the first for your mind conference at which you spoke and your lecture very much impressed me and I've been looking forward to speaking to you ever since and you're going to be coming back to for your mind - for another round here in Philadelphia and we're really looking forward to that coming up in April of 2013 yeah that's gonna be excellent I'm really excited definitely so Laura why don't you tell the listeners a little bit about yourself the work that you do and the type of information that you communicate well my work really started a young age I was pretty aware of what my work was going to be just you know being in this family and you know really reflecting energetically within myself of you know what's really happening on the planet I could tell there was a massive imbalance I could also feel that this world is running on a program that just felt you know artificial and not really you know based on the depths of who we are and so I was always probing deep into the mystery of you know our origins and really you know what the warning of the military-industrial complex means and it just put a deep focus in to the missing links you know energetically in terms of ourselves you know what's within us that we need to call to our attention to you know awaken and empower so that you know we're not locked in these programs these deceptions these distorted I guess you could say distorted versions of the masculine and feminine and how they relate to one another and you know how it's affecting our planet and why there's so much pollution why there's extinctions why there are these you know technologies that seem to be in fluency nature and this and that so of course all that came to me later but my whole life has really been like this mission and adventure sometimes very dark and difficult at other times very illuminating and eye-opening I was also involved in a recruit and in 2006 to go to Mars so it really put a lot of dots together about you know the the Divine Feminine and the targeting of you know the goddess energy and just how much that that role or that that that part of us has been you know sort of kicked out of out of the way so my work is is just really to you know bring attention back to that and and to really look at you know what we need to understand - you know shift in the most positive way on the Ascension timeline definitely now would it be fair to say that you were kind of always personally awake to these dark forces that are at work in our lives or did you gradually become aware of them over time can you tell us a little bit about you know your personal process of awakening what were you are you always aware of these forces or did it happen in a stepwise progression I guess you could say it happened this you know in gradual steps the first thing was knowing that you know the Divine Feminine energies have been buried and I remember saying to my mom I feel like I've been buried alive and I have to dig myself out and I was like you know eight years old and she was like geez that's pretty heavy and and then of course you know understanding who this man was he was such a big focal point in our family you know Eisenhower and you know what the wars were about what you know these deeper layers of his presidency and you know him as a general in the second world war what what was really going on under the surface because I had you know heard so many rumors growing up about extraterrestrials and treaties and so I'm I discovered how much all of this is connected you know how our ancient history you know the suppression of the Divine Feminine and these treaties with the government that have you know pretty much taken place before the Second World War have you know been to lead us on to a completely different timeline you know heading towards new world order where you know mother earth Gaia is absolutely under you know technological control and that force within us is you know definitely targeted as we see in the media and in television and just the programming that were all raised in and so this was all gradual just sort of opening my eyes to why intuition was so set on understanding this or being in tune with it and so it's just been a gradual unfolding I wrote a book called the Grail of Venus chronicles from Hell and the quest to unite heaven and earth throughout my journey just about you know this deep underworld journey I had gone on to I guess you could say break free of whatever controls were upon me and it really came to a head in 2006 when I was recruited to go to Mars because it's like everything failed in my life and there was almost nothing left but to go to Mars and I was convinced that it was to protect me and to get me off planet and then I later discovered that those that were recruiting we're behind the technologies that are creating these disasters so it really helped me understand that a lot that we see on the world stage is a false flag is in a sense theater in order to absolutely fool us so that we stay very distracted and out of touch with you know the force within us that can create global transformation and help set us free from you know the control agendas of our shadow government which is basically the government and of course religion and you know just all the insults you know that mother earth has gone through and that we're going through you know on a mind-control level and how it's concentrated in certain projects you know that a lot of people have you know exposed whistleblowers and it's it's just so much more monstrous than we can even grasp so you know growing up in this family just allowed me to see just how this all connects and I think people are sometimes shocked like how can you tie in the Divine Feminine and all this mythology and archetypal stuff with extraterrestrials and government stuff but you know what I'm here to reveal is that they absolutely are connected and and so yeah I would say starting from the age of six until now it's been a gradual I wouldn't say so much awakening but mission to recover myself from these forces and to help humanity see where they're being led astray and where they're with how we're all targeted really absolutely and let's let's shift focus start to talk about this transformative potential that you kind of alluded to this is what we are calling the Sacred Feminine energy or the Divine Feminine would it be fair to say that you view this as the energy of the heart as true care yeah it's definitely you know some people get caught up in you know gender viewpoints you know what a woman should be like what a man should be like and a lot of it just really isn't genuine - you know sacred union finding that harmony within ourselves where it's not a power struggle you know where women are you know taking over a mentored you know trying to suppress but that we can find within ourselves you know that dance that relationship that you know utilizes our differences but in a very harmonious way you know brings it into oneness and that androgyny that you know puts us in that higher chakra connection to you know our higher self and how that you know can come into our beings to really resolve the imbalance that we see in the larger world so it you know it has to do with the mystical feminine the the nurturing the the love the the tenderness the protection the unconditional love and just how that's the force of the cosmos and of mother earth and Gaia and that we're absolutely connected to this it's our blueprint and they've tried real hard to disguise it in these these you know exploited roles where you know the feminine is just sort of an object and the man is just the Dominator and it plays out in our personal lives as it's playing out on the world stage and it's just important that we just you know aren't sharing conspiracies but we look at ourselves to see you know where are we feeding them where are we buying into it and where have we become agents in a sense by adopting these programming's in the way we treat one another exactly absolutely now this sacred feminine expression people should be made aware that we are absolutely talking about something that is it is extant within all of us whether it's we're not talking about physical gender of male and female we're talking about the masculine and feminine forces or energies that exist within us all regardless of physical gender it exists within males and within females so can you speak to that distinguishment between the physical gender and what I've kind of termed mental and spiritual gender yes well on a gender level I mean all of us you know have masculine and feminine energies in us and when we suppress one or the other you know we're not really living in balance same goes with our left and right brain if they're not functioning together or just our viewpoints on spirituality and science or you know even you know good and evil it's like these forces need to come together so that they can learn something from each other and you know it's an alchemical process you know the alchemical marriage and so you know men who are in touch with their feminine side you know it's not that they're becoming like a woman but they're in touch with the part of themselves that could connect to their own mother their own nurturing quality their own ability to listen and and be you know available to to really understand you know women and and men sometimes just run this this very dominating control energy it can be very egotistical and then women can adopt that too and sort of you know get out of touch with their Divine Feminine because they're becoming more like a man so you know it's just important that we understand both and that we don't adopt those roles just solitary on their own because the divine masculine understands the feminine the divine feminine understands the masculine and it's not a battle it's it's it's a relationship and so these roles have been so distorted but when we you know allow that ego part of ourselves or the dominating male part of ourselves to recognize the feminine within it's softer it's it's more compassionate it it's less about control and it's more about you know harmonizing like I said and utilizing you know the magic that can come forth from allowing that union to take place not only that it improves our relationships it draws to us you know that perfect complement because we're not attracting what we're lacking to sort of fix that emptiness we're actually embodying it and sending that frequency out which brings you know a more balanced reflection in our outer life and our relationships and so you know it's just very important that you know we recognize both and whatever gender that we have you know is is a more genuine expression because you know same thing with right and left brain we need logic but we also need intuition we need to CERN men in these times and so the feminine role is extremely important because it gives us that connection to the intuition and because it's within men it's not just saying this is a feminine thing but everything has a negative and positive charge everything has a feminine and masculine vibration in nature but it's how the two come together - birth life and it's also about understanding the light and dark and not branding one or the other it's it's it goes for all things we need to understand that the darkness is like the soil it's the creative fertility it's the darkness that births it's not darkness that we should fear but they've taught us to fear darkness and they've you know sort of stepped into that arena so that we don't journey into that mystery we in a sense give our power away because we're afraid of ourselves and that's what they want when we can own our power and step into it you know there's nobody else that can step in there for us and we're actually standing in our sovereignty and we're you know standing in our power and we can make more informed decisions very very powerful I couldn't agree more now can we talk a little bit about the process of releasing from attachment because that's really what so many people are trapped in they are trapped in the their ego identified roles and can't see past that to their true essence so what do you think some techniques could we could employ to help ourselves to release from the attachment to these identified roles that we play in daily life well it's really just you know if we see things in duality right wrong good bad even though we know that there is good and bad but but when we can start to have less judgment and more neutrality you know we can start to you know see what in ourselves is is creating this outer reflection and even though you know it's not all gonna disappear just because we have found that place in ourselves or that divine center it sends out a frequency that assists in awakening others and assist them and stepping up into who they are and so it has a ripple effect you know it's not gonna happen overnight but it will happen if we can all take you know self responsibility so you know ego ego is very much in duality it's very much you know wanting to defend itself wanting to you know fight and battle you know a lot of it's just wanting to be right wanting to have control and we need to understand that you know the things that we sign up for that are uncomfortable and painful are fine for us you know whether it be getting a tattoo getting exercise going to the gym you know doing things that are very uncomfortable we're okay doing as long as our conscious mind is signed up for it what we can't handle are the things that take us by surprise that that causes discomfort we have to be willing to see that these things show up for a reason we can't be in judgment of the challenges and expect everything to be good all the time we have to face it head-on in order to in integrate it and so you know ego you know in a sense is failing higher consciousness just like on the planet the global elite in the patriarchy is you know suppressing the feminine and and higher consciousness of the masculine and feminine together it's targeted the feminine because that such a opening to you know the birthing and the creativity and the power but ultimately it's it's it's the Union and and ego you know likes to suppress it it doesn't want to listen to the higher self it wants it wants for itself it's service to self mentality ego is very much me me me III for us to let go of attachment we have to really ask ourselves are we motivated by serving the greater good in ourselves and in this world or is it just about us and where we're gonna get ahead and where we're going to you know make a lot of money or you know have a conquest you know by winning that girl or vice versa winning that male and just really you know diving deeper you know like where we're in our heart where we're in our wisdom and we actually see each other as spirits and souls and we can you know appreciate that essence rather than that superficial sort of shell of identity that you know really robs us from a beautiful experience in connection where you know people are living in integrity so ego just you know I would say ego service to self and we're in an egoic world right now and I call that you know our connick rulership which rules the lower chakras and kind of keeps us from being in the heart that is the portal to you know our higher self which which anchors heaven on earth and so when we discover that in our own beings we become that force in the world that emits that information so yeah I mean ego you can't get rid of it but instead of it running the show it could definitely be informed and learn from the higher self and take its guidance because that way the willfulness of ego can become divine well it can start to listen to the higher self and act in service to it rather than suppressing it absolutely and this is something that I've often talked about on my show now you know it isn't about the total annihilation of ego it is about bringing the ego reining it in and bringing it back into service with the higher self and the will of creation so I absolutely love your take on that can can we speak to the role of courage in this because look looking within and being honest with oneself truly being honest with oneself taking personal responsibility all of these things require immense courage so courage has been traditionally seen as masculine but really is it not the full expression of the sacred feminine energy of the Divine Feminine itself yeah I mean it takes a lot of courage to dig deep into a place where we're not encouraged to go and it's you know important that people understand that egos not just the arrogance for the mimimi it's also the broken person that doesn't feel good enough or worthy and it's it's that duality of you know it's either arrogance or insecurity rather than confidence and humility which is you know a more honest polarity because they you know work together where you're humble and then you're confident in what you're able to receive and what you're able to surrender to you rather than everything being about the successes and failures so you know courage on a feminine level is is the willingness to let go of you know all these different things that define you know what it means to be a woman in this society you know people are so obsessed with appearances people are so obsessed with you know playing a certain role to appease in a seductive way rather than sharing the essence of the mother of you know the divine nature of this planet you know the elements of earth air fire water and you know that alchemy of bringing in spirit that's able to turn everything around and it takes a lot of courage because you know at first you know it might not draw a lot of attention and you know it might mean that a person's a little bit isolated if they're not around people who understand it but it's the willingness to say who cares you know as long as you're true to you as long as you know you're being honest with yourself and you're willing to just resurrect these hidden parts that do not like to be suppressed you know then not only are you you know being courageous in your own self you're stepping up to the world and saying I'm not gonna buy into this programming anymore we have to understand that our energies are being used against us every time we you know slip out of integrity or we're focused on ego and superficiality you know we're we're creating exactly what we don't want you know when we go deeper they can't reach that place you know the dark side that whatever you want to call it you know these agendas can't really reach that essence because they don't understand it they require us to be split and separate and in duality and in superficial like you know wants and desires in order for them to take our money and take our attention and take our time you know to to support our enslavement I mean we almost hand our freewill over and this is the game you know we can't they can't take our freewill but they can certainly manipulate us and deceive us so that we gladly hand it over because we don't question ourselves so I think the courage is in taking a deep look at who we are going into uncomfortable territory purging the programs purging you know you know all the different stuff that distorts us and and facing our wounds and giving them the love and light of our own wisdom body in nature and recognizing that the Great Mother you know will take care of us and provide for us we don't need this money system it's it's it's it's it's courageous because you know it's basically saying I don't need the system I know and trust in something far greater and it'll take care of me and I don't just say this lightly like some kind of philosophy my whole life has been about proving it to myself by living that kind of lifestyle where you know I let go of so many attachments to just sort of be upfront with myself and spirit and say okay now what am i a victim or am I going to be taken care of because I'm in alignment and there were times where I would fall into fear or you know survival and nothing worked out you know the attackers and the energies that were after me you know increase but the more I stepped into my power the more I just faced myself and resurrected those parts of me that we're missing that what they were preying upon you know and brought it to the surface miracles happened and those forces just started to almost run away like they were more scared of me so it just takes a lot of courage but you know the beauty is it's the most natural thing you know if we could stop worrying about what other people think or thinking that we need to appease you know a certain program in order to fit in or to be accepted by the opposite sex you know then we can you know fall back on ourselves and we can have that self-reliance that makes us less dependent on the system and less dependent on others and and that kind of strength is something that will carry us through and I think all of us needs to get to that place so that it's not about our significant other you know healing us it's not about you know the system you know providing us everything that we need and us being victims to when they don't it's us being able to say we don't even need it at all because there's an incredible magic the cosmos is filled with magic and miracles and abundance and the Yogi's understood this they were able to pull stuff out of the sky so you know my goal is to not only lift the veils between life and death but help us understand that we can return to a place where we can come and go from the physical at will we we can you know return to you know the roots of who we really are without you know living in this bubble of these cycles of reincarnation based on the lessons of duality because it's time to graduate and get it already because this is the time where we need to you know look at ourselves and ask ourselves have we really learnt the lessons that we came here to learn have we really you know taken the time to pay attention to what it's trying to say are we just slipping further and further away into you know amnesia and so you know it's it's radical self responsibility and self-awareness and it's a beautiful thing but yeah at first it takes a lot of courage but once you get it going the rewards and the Bliss that fills one's being you know gives one the indication that that's absolutely the right track well that is most absolutely true and that is really what courage is all about is getting that momentum going it starts practicing it in our own lives on a day-to-day basis the the dynamic of refusal to cooperate with something that is coercive with evil itself this is part of this entire section of solution oriented approaches that I've been talking about that I call the non-supportive dominators saying no act actually refusal to cooperate with this dark force that is in the world that desire to control that's what I've proposed as the ultimate solution to the problems that beset humanity currently and would you agree that saying no is actually a feminine force that that is that is passive energy you're taking a pass you're not accepting into yourself that which is degrading to the higher self and you are passing on it you are deflecting it away it's a form of an employment of the feminine energy in our lives yeah that boundary is extremely important because you know the feminine energy is always birthing it absorbs energy a lot and if it's not in alignment to one's own essence if it's you know some sort of programming or you know distortion that energy will start to you know be birthed into our world and it'll reflect back and it'll just continue to feed you know exactly what we don't want and so you know the feminine force you know being able to say no is you know the same thing you have to say to a molester or just somebody who's trying to take advantage or manipulate you know we have to understand that love isn't you know giving yourself away love is saying I love myself enough to have a boundary I love myself enough to stand in my power and in my truth and I love myself enough to not let people get away with this because it becomes tough love where it's not about judging the attacker it's about saying you know you're not going to do this to me and giving them that energy back to them so that they can you know have it bounce into their court and you know when I was up against the Mars recruiters you know saying no is what set me free and I just I said no and I said no and exposing them bringing it to the light is is what had them leave me alone and you know it was it was so frightening in a lot of ways but at the same time I had no fear I had no fear because I didn't see them as Dane yeah I didn't find them scary I saw them as very weak I saw them as very desperate and but what was frightening is that wow you know people don't even know this exists and you know being up against this and needing to expose it is is is is is a little bit daunting but you know if anything that comes out of it it's not that I care that people believe me it's the power of saying no and and having a boundary and choosing what you wish to birth and create in this world and not letting anything in that is in not in agreement with who we are we are creators we are not here to listen to Authority and have them tell us we need to get off planet we need to do this we need to that do that mother earth is not here to eject us and abandon us or kick us off planet there's agendas that are trying to do that and they're blaming Mother Earth and these catastrophes that they're saying she's creating with an actual effect they're creating them they've created this whole theater and when people are really in touch with their feminine energy they can tell the difference between who the mother is and what her intention is compared to what these controllers are trying to say which is oh yeah that was an earthquake or that was a tsunami or you know those chemtrails are nothing and you know it's like everything is so disguised that we would think it's all natural but it mimics the organic creation and gives it back to us in a distorted version that people think is real and so you know saying no is basically saying that doesn't feel right that doesn't feel good and it's the protection it's the same sort of protection a mother has over her child you know it's the way we protect ourselves and that's the highest form of love is it's standing up and you know not having it just be kindness or weakness it's its power love is power and you know I don't have enemies I don't consider the marg recruiters my enemies I'm just waiting for them to quit it so that I can embrace them but you know I'm I'm not gonna give myself away I'm not going to allow myself to go down a road that I don't want to go down I don't care what that means I don't care if it means I'm dead I'm not here to be controlled that's number one whatever happens to me outside of that I would rather deal with then give my power to anybody and that's saying no and that's honoring the feminine that's saying that one is the temple and only those that you allow in are allowed in everybody else that doesn't belong there doesn't belong there and but they're still universal love and there's still compassion and they're still forgiveness but you know we certainly don't have to open up the door to anybody an attacker a rapist you know it's just it's it's boundaries it's so important fantastic absolutely I call no the most powerful word in the universe you know saying no to the dark forces that are at work in our lives and in this world is really all about saying yes to ourselves ourselves our true selves our higher selves it's about saying yes to the truth and that's again for me that's the highest embodiment and expression of the Sacred Feminine that we could possibly aspire to so let's shift the roles just a little shift gears just a little bit maybe we could talk about what alchemy is what what is your view of alchemy what is it how is it practiced tell the listeners about your take on what alchemy is all about well there's a lot of different forms of alchemy as we know you know there's the the quest for the Philosopher's Stone I guess you can say and you know some might create Ormus or you know different versions of it but you know I like to go to the real organic version of alchemy you know on a soul level you know soul alchemy we're returning lead into gold we're returning the old paradigm into the new by you know taking responsibility with the light and dark within ourselves you know the shadow self looking at it you know casting a light on it and seeing you know where it needs you know connection to one's higher self it's bringing those forces together on the larger world stage you know there's an example with the pentagram upside down how that's you know the force of matter the force of the physical you know in control and in charge with the higher self suppressed the alchemy of of really awakening and taking one's power back is turning that star up right again and allowing the Rays of spirit to come in so that spirit is the dominant force spirit is shaping matter rather than the other way around they want us to be locked underneath you know the physical where we're in survival we're in poverty we're desperate we're you know needing dependency on the system and each other you know locked in that system rather than you know global family and unity consciousness and you know one so empowered in their spirit nature that we're able to shift things like a dream or like a lucid dreamer that's just able to raise oneself into a higher existence and higher frequency which reflects you know that dimensional shift and so you know we see it on the world stage you know as the cosmos and these Venus transits draw a pentagram in the sky the cosmos in itself is alchemical in what its giving us the zodiac for example there's a dark light at the zodiac the dark dark light of the zodiac is the negative polarity of these planets for example Neptune the negative polarity of Neptune would be escapism addiction you know the lost soul but the you know the positive polarity would be the mysticism spirituality multi-dimensional awareness and so you know here we are in the lessons of duality you know on the spinning wheel of necessity during this you know these cycles of incarnations to really learn you know the light and dark the light polarity and the dark polarity our job is to be able to see both and bring them together and understand that no matter how dark and difficult it is there's another side to the coin there's incredible power on the other side and all the gifts that that energy represents if we can just harness it and understand it and so you know the alchemy is you know recognizing that in the depths of darkness in the depths of despair addiction misery you know just being lost and and just really out of it you know that one can actually dig deeper and discover that there's incredible transformation there's incredible you know forces that are waiting on the other side for us to get in touch with it and when we do everything turns around because nothing's linear everything's in cycles you know we go down into the depths but if we don't bring ourselves back up again we're kind of in stuck you know it's cycle but when we you know carry it all the way through we're actually you know like nature does death regeneration birth death rebirth you know just that whole cycle and you know just like when a flower you know dies it composts the soil and the next growth is even stronger and so as a humanity going through the cycles of this wheel of necessity this zodiac we're given the chance to regenerate and come back stronger each time utilizing our lessons utilizing the wisdom that lies in the seed you know rather than identifying with the weeds that want to strangle it because we're not taking care of who we are and we're not standing in the wisdom of our of our unfolding you know so to me we don't need to attain enlightenment we need to maintain it we're already enlightened beings but the thing is if we don't tend to the garden if we don't pull the weeds if we don't give it sunlight and water if we don't take care of the plant you know we're going to be trampled we're going to be you know covered by all sorts of things and we're gonna lose sense of who we really are so you know to me you know alchemy is just that focal point of knowing that nothing on a dark level no radiation no chem trail nothing out there that's dark is a fixed destination and we have the ability to turn it all the way back around and and and I've done a lot of probing into this you know for example the nuclear reactors have plutonium uranium and neptunium as their main ingredients now when we think about those three planets those are outer planets those are planets that we all deal with now the stuck version would be that we're all poisoned and we're we're just suppressed by all these technologies and poisons but the next step is to understand the makeup of these things and seeing the other side the other side - you're honest is a breakthrough it's truth but the negative polarity is breakdown and being you know kind of pushed under the negative polarity of Pluto is death destruction but the positive polarity is transformation and rebirth and like I said with Neptune escapism lost soul and the positive polarity is multi-dimensional awareness and and spirituality so when we can harness the light side of it all and bring it full circle we're actually creating global alchemy but we have to understand soul alchemy first to be able to incorporate it into the larger picture but the two are very much you know going on you know just like the Mars agenda breaking down the Mars agenda is just like breaking down the ego we see it on the world stage a secret Mars agenda just like the secret lives we've been living where we're attached to the ego we break through that we expose it we bust it for what it is and all of a sudden something opens up we take it full circle and we're resonating with our higher self that's all alchemy is the ability to know that there's no stuck destination everything is cyclical and when we get that motor running we actually are supercharged and our creative energy is powerful and we utilize the light and dark the masculine and feminine the good the evil the right and left spirituality and science and we actually turn it into something rather than fix ourselves with a belief or something that keeps us stuck in the middle where we can't you know spin our wheels we're just like stuck in the mud I think that's right on point that's just a really great view of what alchemy really is and what it's intended to do it's all it is all transfer transmutation it's it's taking one form of energy that doesn't serve us and changing it working with that energy working with what is given to us and then changing it into something that we can actually use an employee for our higher benefit and maybe you could speak to the role of physical gender when it comes to this dynamic of transmutation you know transmutation is all about changing one's self first and then becoming a powerful influence to help others to change themselves so how important or maybe that might not even be the right way to say it but could you speak to women's role specifically in a physical gender sense in that overall dynamic of transmutation especially when it comes to the things that are going on right now in our world well it's so clear you know that you know a person all they need to do is look in their wallet and pull out a wad of cash look at a bunch of Illuminati symbols and a bunch of men on a dollar bill there's not one woman on any bill or any coin and so it doesn't take a genius to see that we're being dominated by a male force women have stepped up and decided to play the male role for a woman to really stand in her power and to change the game and to create the alchemy that we need to on the planet right now we need to understand that we don't need to become like men and men don't need to stay the dominator we need to resurrect the feminine energy within the feminine within the masculine because this is the most compromise force right now and you know same with the divine masculine energy which has been kicked to the side you know for the controller forces so you know on a gender rule you know it's very important that women you know are just embodying you know a deep expression of their soul essence that it's not just about the physicality it's not just about you know the sexual aspects it's about the power of creation you know we have the the cosmic mother we have the womb of creation the galactic core is like the mother womb and the natural stargates are absolutely connected to the mother and you know so for us to really on as a feminine gender you know stand in our power we have to resurrect something that's really in alignment to mother earth in the cosmos and and and and this shift time that we're in and it goes beyond the ego identity of how we see ourselves you know it goes into just you know the creation I mean we're creating in a sense and birthing a new world but it's already there but what we're birthing is ourselves out of the shell it I see the ego almost like a shell that needs to be cracked like an egg so the goodies fall out you know because it's just so limiting and it's so like blocked and in a sense it's kind of like the bubble we're in we're veiled and so for the feminine energy you know to stand in her power is to lift the veils because it reaches you know into like all kinds of regions and it becomes you know the force of of you know birthing and and and just you know nurturing and and you know it's an energy that one feels it's not about what one sees it's it's it's it's that essence and so you know I just encourage women you know not to try and play the role of men but to just stand in the power of the creator with a boundary you know with with you know that that knowing of you know just just what real beauty is and that's this is the thing with venus and like the Luciferian agenda it's it's also associated with venus but it's all about the the downward plunging into the material it's about the false light it's about the false light of material obsession fame fortune and willfulness on a Venus you know pleasure level the higher octave of Venus though which is the Divine Feminine you know which is turning the star up right again is all about you know true beauty love wisdom nurturing the maiden the mother and the Crone you know a woman who's able to be in her elder years and just who loves herself just as much as when she was the maiden and it's it's being able to embody you know the triple goddess you know all aspects of the feminine Kali the underworld aspects even the rage you know not being afraid of any part of who you are but allowing them all to work together all these different aspects and owning them rather than limiting oneself because of what men want us to be or what society wants us to be but breaking free of all that and just accepting even the aging process you know and I know we're lifting the veils from you know life and death and we're gonna get ourselves back to just to get the ability to regenerate but until then these cycles that were in our beautiful thing because it's all about you know understanding nature and and the most beautiful way to connect with the feminine is by connecting with nature to understand you know that that purity and innocence again and men need to do this - of course and so it's just shattering the programs the things that we were raised on things that we see and you know just oh I mean everybody women struggle so much with insecurities as they try and break through these programs or they get stuck in the the role or men get so stuck that you know they only appreciate you know this type or that type and it's really time to just shut all that and look at the energy look at the essence and just celebrate the beautiful qualities that we have without all this other stuff that's me is really stepping into the feminine power absolutely and you know the reason I asked the question regarding physical gender role is because when we really look at the domination the forces of domination at work in our lives we I think we should just be honest with ourselves and say that you know it's men who are really bringing in this dark new world order it's it's people who are involved in the military and the police and this is largely physical gender males okay so I was asking that in order to get your take on kind of how can women gently begin to persuade and influence men that this is not the right path to go down to be a Dominator to be someone who engages in coercion in the the usurpation of our inherent natural rights what do you think women can do to try to bridge that divide because there's a big divide there and in bringing these males who are part of this domination system over and helping them to experience Sacred Feminine and energy true care so that they can realize that what they're a part of the agenda that they're a part of often unwittingly is absolutely wrong and needs to be you know step back from they need to step back from that take another look reevaluate it and recognize it for what it is which is evil which is pure coercion and it's wrongness it's the full expression of everything that's wrong how can how do you think women in in who are connected with these men in their lives you know because that these men will all have mothers they will all have sisters and and wives and girlfriends and you know there's women all around them in their in their family and their relationships their personal relationships can you tell us a little bit about maybe what you think that women in these men's lives can do to help transmute these energies that these men have been working with that are poisonous and destructive and helped to eventually transmute them over to something that is more in line with truth and with the feminine energy I love it and that's but you know immediately the first thing that came to me was you know reaching that being for who they truly are not talking to their corruption not relating to them based on the evil that they're doing or that they're not aware of doing don't empower that you know reach to their spirit you know talk to their inner child talk to you know the place that you know exists with them and empower that you know when you speak to them rather than you know getting angry or fighting back or you know just I mean what I do and what I've done you know with law enforcement with Mars recruiters with you know very very controlling men that have been in my life oh my god uh you know I just try and locate their spirit nature their their inner child that that little a boy who's lost you might not have gotten their needs met maybe not in many lifetimes because you know mothers you know have a hard time knowing what it means to be a mother I mean a lot of that is returning people are really you know restoring all of that but you know men might not have been nurtured by their mother they might fear the feminine power because they don't want to be vulnerable they're taught to be in their ego so you have to make it safe for them you have you know a person just has to make them feel safe to be vulnerable safe to be in touch with that inner child so that they are actually looking for the mother so that they can remember they actually missed the mother they love the mother you know because if we keep relating to them as the bad male you know the controller the oppressor the Dominator then you know we're still at battle we're still at war so my approach is to kind of you know not look all that and just kind of let that all just be sort of this false you know she'll that they're caring and go right for the heart and just talk to that part of them and I swear to God in my life it has made all the difference in the world because they feel safe they feel like wow you know they actually feel a sense of emotion they feel a sense of compassion and you know and it's not about you know seducing them so you get their way and get off a ticket it's about you know talking to them you know from the essence of even if you don't have kids but but but we all have the mother in us you know and just relating to them like the mother you know not treating them like a child but talking to them like you know there's somebody that just doesn't know that needs guidance that needs to just remember rather than empowering everything that you hate about them because that's not gonna help so it's just radical unconditional love um you know like the Mars recruiters I I say I thank them and I just you know I say I want I give them love and they just you know they expect me to be angry and you know I even joke around with them and I and I once said to them I said well you know you can kill me but you know I'll reincarnate even more pissed off but you know you know I'm not pissed off at anything except for the fact that we all need to work together and you know I've actually gotten that far in a few conversations and you know there's a lot of just put down their arm or put down their weapons put down their BS and I've actually looked at me with respect and said you know what even one of them said and I swear to God maybe we should drop everything and just follow you and from a group of men that that have their hands on some heavy-duty stuff or at least are associated with people who do that was quite shocking I think I even saved that email cuz I'm like oh my gosh but you know the point is it's like we are a family and and when we dig real deep and we we can see through all these different layers of controls and programs and stuff that they've inherited or that they've been encouraged to be growing up and we can just look to the heart and soul of that being you're gonna bring it out you know and we need to do that with each other in relationships just just communicate with a part of that being that you want to see rather than communicate with the parts that you don't like absolutely I think also playing the the influence of an setting and example in one's own life is also a big influence on other people if we really understand what the the Ellucian - the problem is and how that it is heart based it is something that embodies this expression of the Divine Feminine energy within ourselves that one of the best ways to help people to experience that is to live it in your own life is to really be in a vehicle for for true care be a vehicle for this expression of feminine energy and that will ridi all around you people will see that coming forth through you and that will inspire them to want to take on that energy as well absolutely yeah I mean we need to own you know who we are and you know nobody can really penetrate that if you're standing strong in that if you're not playing into the game you know the game can't be played it takes two people and so you know just being the example just standing in your power standing in your truth and you know having love in your heart and just you know staying as neutral as possible and and just you know compassionate you know really just breaks them down they don't really you know because the whole point is just like a demon they want our fear they want our power but the minute you kind of laugh or you just you know aren't you don't allow it you know they they don't know how to be scary anymore because it's not working you know you can't you can't engage in something that you don't want to engage in you simply have to empower what works and being the example and holding it in yourself is the strongest way to do it because you know I've seen so many you know people wearing you know that Dominator male role energy and and I've seen it break down I've seen it just fall away and and you know just even you know living in DC or visiting you know with some of these people that are just full-on patriarchs you know just sitting down with them and just having a normal conversation where you know they can just see you as a soul rather than you know just some silly female or you know or something you know that they should take advantage of or you know or me seeing them is just you know you're controlling DC freak you know just just getting to the real heart of it can do a whole lot but I would you know we can't do that unless we own it within ourselves we have to accept all these different parts of us in order to raise its consciousness I mean I like to say you know allow the master in you to greet the wounded child to greet you know the broken soul allow the to meet because they have something to share with each other you know allow your divinity to face the evils of the world you know because they have something to teach each other you know but we can't slip our vibration down to a really low level to confront it we have to confront it from a level that we want them to attain definitely let's shift gears again and talk about what some of these archetypal energies are can you let us in on what the you consider to be the Magdalen energy and what you consider to be the Gaia Sophia energy and how these are different expressions of the Sacred Feminine how they differ from each other well I mean I see them as very like I see all aspects of the feminine is one you know and we've all sort of I guess you could say been been a little bit scattered or shattered and we sort of identify with archetypes but you know when one sees like the tarot deck or the zodiac I I like to as a reader and an astrologist and a tarot reader I like to almost help people get to the zero point get to the center of the wheel get get inside the wholeness of it inside the circle so that one is embodying all aspects you know so that they're the wholeness not just because if you're one thing that means you're not the other Li McCloskey put this really well who created a tarot deck you know if you choose just one archetype then then in a way you're saying that you're not all these other things so you know the Magdalene energy to me is is you know that Venus energy the sacred union you know the the embodiment of sacred union within and and and then that outer hero's gamos the sacred union with another you know it's it's that rebalancing it's it's it's getting you know out of the lower creator-god energy you know the the god of the old testament the Demiurge and is raising that consciousness back to the christ consciousness because that you know transverses you know this this this lower world and so the Magdalene energy um is very strong in that and she's had you know a lot of different incarnations that represent heroes gamo sacred union and you know the path of Venus which is going into the underworld facing the gatekeepers and the controllers and you know in a sense purifying the mother womb as she does it you know we have so many controlling energies and technologies dark rituals and abuses that go you know on underground in these underground bases which is like you know in a way the mother womb has been infiltrated and so that the path of the God is the path of the Magdalene energies the Sophia energy and the Venus energy is to go into that darkness at like an on of the seven gates of Hell or you know Persephone who gets abducted by Hades you know there's a period of going into that darkness but the beauty is you rise again you don't allow yourself to be oppressed then you come back out and then you know just like Demeter and Persephone that the things flower again it's like the season we're coming up to our brief two-minute break right after the break let's continue with talking about the Magdalene and Sophia energies ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting my special guest this week Laura Eisenhower we'll be right back [Music] [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network on your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show our special guest is Laura Eisenhower mark in the last section you are talking about the Magdalene and the Sophia energies we're going to get back to that in just a moment but I just want to give the call in number because we are going to take some calls from listeners in the later part of this second hour of the broadcast today so if you want to call in with a question for Laura Eisenhower on the sacred feminine energy let's give the callin number here it's eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the callin number for the show eight six six eight four one one zero six five questions for Laura Eisenhower coming up a little bit later this hour so Laura I'll let you get back to your breakdown of some of the different forms of the divine feminine energies namely the Magdalene and Sophia energies energy is like you know the embodiment of the Sophia on earth in a sense you know the higher and lower there's the cosmic Sophia and then there's the earthly Sophia and she very much as like a personification of nature and on the Venus path and so it had that's all about alchemy and and you know people understand the Holy Grail well the Grail is the womb of the mother and so you know it's it's it's about purifying that it's about you know going through you know these these cycles - you know regenerate life into you know continue with the process of you know incarnated with with humanity in order to you know get us to where we are today and and so this forces within all of us is the the divine feminine energy it's the part of us that you know it's so connected with nature and it's it's in our soul and so we have fire earth air water in our soul energy and so you know the Magdalene energy is you know working with those forces on an alchemical level and so as a personification of Venus the morning and evening star in sense compensates or redeems the lucifer energy we have to understand that all these forces are in us we can't separate them outside of ourselves so if there's the first plunging in the matter of the Venus energy on a Lucifer level then the the Magdalene Sophia energy is the Venus energy that rises back again it completes the cycle so that you know there's the transformation process to take the lower octave energy of Venus and raise it to the higher level of the Christ afiyah consciousness and this is very much Gaia I mean Gaia is you know what it is going through this and so you know the feminine energy is absolutely linked you know to Gaia Sophia in a sense is morphed into the planetary body and considered also you know the cosmic mother and and in that oneness it's a unified field so it's not about hierarchy it's it's that we're all one in this unified field that it's it's the one is that when we were in the womb of the mother you know all her children and at the same time it's the embodiment of everything before that even happened and that's what we're returning to so she represents you know the feminine aspect of God I guess you could say but you know once it's an earth embodiment it's a little bit different it means you know tapping into the universal energy that we're all capable of and it's being so devoted to that that in a sense the physical body becomes a vessel for spirit the Sophia and you know does this in the physical you know on a deeper level than the roles that we see you know men and women play it's it's it's it's it's living in in connection with nature and in the process that nature is in and she needs us to be in this process with her this is the co-creation it's not for mother earth to do on her own it's not for us to do on our own we're doing this together because we're absolutely linked our DNA you know so when we think we've been dumbed down to three strand DNA we're in a third dimensional reality this dumbing down has to do with the loss of the goddess the minute we awaken to her within we start to upgrade our DNA we start to open ourselves up and we you know become in alignment with the galactic core and also to the underworld which we restore as the mother womb not just some scary hell place but the womb you know where we birth and so there's a Sun in the core of our planet there's a Sun above us the Solar logos but then there's the mother energy and so it's the mask and and feminine working together and you know this is the essence of the goddess and you know people can you know turn it into a figure if they want but they have to understand it's not about that it's the feminine energy within all of us in the most genuine way is absolutely working with nature to bring about this shift and they know that that's why she's been targeted that's why the Templars have been infiltrated the Masons they have all this knowledge they know all the symbols they know her to such a high degree that you know in a sense I would say the Nazis and the real you know energies and these technologies are using this this power in this creative force to fuel their technologies to use against us and the minute we detach we call our power back we're owning that goddess energy and we're in alignment and we're on the ascension timeline we're on the positive timeline and and they want to do everything they can to steer us into the artificial one where they are playing the role of God in a very destructive non godly way absolutely fascinating I totally agree with you that that sacred feminine energy is ultimately a force that is like the force of creation and birth it's it's a womb force as you described it because that's really what it's attempting to do is give birth to something that is new to transform us into something new and give birth to it a new form of being and that's what the process of evolutionary progression and consciousness is all about is it not we say that last part again that's what the whole process of the evolution of consciousness is all about it's a birthing process yes definitely and you know that's why people you know in a sense can say you know I feel like I've lived you know five lifetimes in this one lifetime because we go through death cycles you know the Pluto energy the Scorpio energy is the big one for that and we all have that somewhere in our chart but it's you know that dark night of the soul that is such a necessary experience because it helps us get back in touch with our power that they want us to fear they want to take that away from us and use it so that we're dependent on them and you know the mystery and the power and and and and the womb is you know what we want to return to and what we want to understand and men are just as capable of birthing because it's ethereal is energetic it's it's frequency it's it's it's part of you know just our expression I mean when we talk we birth energy when we you know do something for somebody else we birth new energy when we you know are in union with somebody we birth energy when we're in good relationship with ourself we birth a new energy everything is is constantly omitting something from our beings and so to do the real birth thing to really get in touch with the Divine Feminine is to birth a more enlightened world by planting the seeds of higher consciousness into the darkness and fertile creativity of the womb and when we do that within our own beings you know from our higher self into the depths of our own power and our own creative you know energies you know then we are birthing a new expression into our world and we're bypassing you know these different programming's that you know want us to just kind of go along with what it's saying and so many people don't question it and the thing is the beauty of the goddess and her powers you don't need any of that you know you don't need to question you just need to embody you need to own the nowness you need to embrace the mystery because you know in the now we can take all our energy back and we can navigate forward you know with the freedom of our thoughts and our intentions you know being the guideposts not you know insurance and having a plan and you know knowing who we're gonna vote for next and waiting for the president to change you know something in our world we are the agents of change and we need to look at each other as the leaders we are you know our unified field and our unity consciousness is where our attention needs to be not on who the next president is and I'm not saying you know don't vote but don't do it and put all your coins on this person or you know don't expect something from them expect something from yourself vote for you because it's time you know that we stand in our power because it has it ever worked when we haven't and you know I know for some people they're like well what does that mean because they're so foreign to it but it's you know understanding that the potent work is in facing the challenges when they come up not being in denial not reaching for the next drug not running away from it but looking at head in the face straight on and and and and transmuting it and working with it and not looking at it as a distraction not looking at it as some burden that you know you're off for the day or having a tough time look at it as a real chance an opportunity to change the game because there's so much infiltration there's so much intrusion with these low frequencies they want to throw us off they want us to be in lower emotions that's why the moon is not even real it's just to emit you know frequencies that just throw us into a lower consciousness and we need to face it and we need to say no to it and you know and it's just like you know like to anybody don't want in your life we have the ability to protect ourselves with our biofield with with you know our own boundary of light to emit the frequency we want rather than absorb the crap we don't very powerful not another question you you think it is absolutely necessary for people to go into the depths of fear and suffering in order to change or can they can they take an easier path and and release that attachment to fear and to the ego before it come it comes to something like complete breakdown or even global cataclysmic experiences at a larger scale at the macro scale absolutely I mean that would be more for people that are finding themselves and suffering you know to take it full circle to you know awaken the inner master you know that the part of you that can lift oneself out of that victimhood or fear or suffering but you know if a person is doing pretty good and and a lot of stuff isn't coming up for them you know neutrality is is where it's at I mean we don't really have to go into the trenches if we just allow ourselves to be a new trial they allow ourselves to get out of the ego allow ourselves to really understand that a lot of that work has already been done you know the thing is you know once something happens it becomes a resource for all whatever Einstein is done whatever Tesla's done whatever you know we've done impacts lives it becomes a universal energy that we can all tap into you know we leave behind you know like a trail in a sensor or just information and resources and and and it's available to us so you know it's better to just recognize that our higher self has a connection to all these higher races you know that there's nothing separate from us that we're connected to all of it and we're not victims you know it's not about what the Anunnaki did it's not about Lucifer it's not about the devil as understanding that all those forces are within us and we need to understand how to work with them in our own beings you know because if we fear one or we neglect one we're not really working with it and you know it doesn't take a lot of suffering to just decide who's in charge when you allow your higher self to be the driving force of your being everything else falls into place when we empower our immune system any disease or attack that comes is easily solved by the immune system but you know if a person doesn't take good care of themselves or or buys into what the doctor is telling them and allows themselves to be controlled by it then they're caught in that disease and they're theirs stuck in it you know we can be stuck in suffering or we can decide that we're gonna hold the frequency that can actually deal with it so I look at you know the planet and and just in our own bodies as the same thing you know the immune system of ourselves is able to to deflect anything but when we're broken down and we're having a hard time and we don't know who we are you know disease comes at us because it's a messenger it's telling us this is where you need to be stronger it's not telling us go to a doctor and take a drug and ignore this something's coming for a reason we need to like understand that whatever shows up in our life is coming for a reason we can allow it to break us down and cause a suffering or we can empower ourselves knowing that we are healers we are wise we have the solutions we have the remedy we are the antidote and you know but for some it takes a little bit of suffering and and and going into the trenches and going into the darkness to recognize that again because we've been pulling out of you know some heavy heavy heavy duty stuff you know my dark night of the soul felt like it was you know much larger than just me it had to do with you know military-industrial complex stuff and some of the stuff I took on being a part of this family that I agreed to but on a personal level for people you know it's it's it's it's remembering laughter it's remembering the fool you know just just you know like it's a simple shift of perspective because the thing that fear and suffering does it's about helplessness not feeling like you can do anything that that that you can't change anything and and if we can own the fact that we have the power to do that then we don't have to sit in that stuff very long so I think neutrality you know just you know just having trust in oneself and and choosing what you devote yourself to and what your intentions are and making them very very clear you know because if you don't make it clear your creative energy ends up matching whatever mood you're in because it doesn't know what to do because you're not telling it you know what your intentions are you're just kind of spinning all over the place but if you say my intention is to be devoted and on the ascension timeline to be devoted to my higher self to serve the greater good that I don't think people are gonna have that many problems they'll find the stuff that comes at them it doesn't really have a place to stick but if nobody really knows what they're doing and they're just kind of lost in it all it's very easy to absorb the attacks it's very easy to absorb the toxins or germs or parasites or to be controlled by a male or be controlled by this global elite you know it's it's recognizing the part of us that doesn't need to submit to it and owning it but you know for some it takes you know falling down to get back up but at this point you know I don't think it requires a lot of heavy heavy-duty lifting but for some you know having maybe a difficult childhood or coming out of you know abuse or neglect or abandonment I mean you know yes it can take that to resurrect oneself but we have to remember you know plug into the primordial parents you know we're not just the story of this incarnation with our biological parents and the dramas and situations we've had with our relationships we have to plug into the fact that we're so much more and to carry that confidence that it'll see us through we don't have to get all stuck in just our own stuff we're so much more than just that and that's what the program's want that's why we have dramas in crisis because we're still buying into the reaction part of us it's still ego whether it feels good about itself or lousy about itself it's still ego and it needs to just hand itself over to something much higher which is just a much a part of us I mean God is a part of us we don't need to seek anything outside of ourselves we need to recognize it within ourselves to fully connect and then you know suffering ceases I mean I've had many years of suffering and I could justify well this is why and this is that but you know I don't need to go there anymore I mean I recognize yeah I signed up for this part of it but you know now it's like a piece of cake you know I just needed it to just remind myself of Who I am to stand in my power and to you know to hold that strong and to keep it and I've never felt so safe you know ever since and it doesn't mean that everything's improved it's just I'm not in my reaction nature I'm not in fear of what I'm seeing in the outer world because I know that it's somewhat an illusion it's still very real but my reaction in my perception is an illusion you know and it's it's wanting me to buy into the dark illusion but I'm buying into you know the fact that the illusion is a dream and I can be empowered dreamer and actually shift this and I had a lot of dreams that prepared me for the Mars recruitment and for even this sort of transhumanism agenda you know and one of the dreams you know these robots were attacking me and I got away from them and somebody handed me a whistle and said just play this whistle and I played a song and all sudden they all started to blow up this is before I even really knew a lot about these agendas but it just reminded me that when we play our own tune and we're just true to ourselves when we just sing our song and sing our tune or become a whistleblower or whatever it meant you know we're sending something out that says I'm not going to take this on you know and we have to understand that we are built with the wisdom to protect us and to tell us what we need at any given time we have to allow ourselves to trust that and not just listen to everything outside of ourselves or what this person has to say you know you know let it inspire you to look at your own stuff and find your own answers amazing and very powerful regarding the dream that's really powerful art type of imagery that you know blowing the whistle dispel the evil it's a shedding light upon the darkness is really part of what we really need to be doing in order to create positive transformation in the world that's all part of an overall worldview shift of looking at our personal value in a different light and taking a positive view regarding the possibility for change I called the dark teacher you know let it teach you don't let it oppress you let it remind you of where you're giving yourself away you know don't be a victim to it let it guide you into your power let it guide you into your truth because if something's lacking if it's causing you suffering and pain it means that there's something in you that needs to come to the surface you know but we're all we're so busy reacting and feeling attacked or feeling rundown or feeling like we're gonna be enslaved and that's the belief they want us to have because they want us to annihilate ourselves because as long as we're believing in and owning it we're gonna do it you know and and they're just providing the the stuff but you know would we allow it to help remind us of who we're not we can utilize it and have absolutely wake us up instead of put us in more of a trance and more amnesia definitely now let me shift the focus of the conversation just a little bit if I may I'd like to ask what you could consider a semi personal question you're you're a family woman you have two young sons could you tell us a little bit about how you personally work with your sons in your daily lives to kind of instill values and principles and bring forth a healthy thirst for truth and an understanding of true principles such as not aggression self-ownership and others how I pass that on to my children yes oh gosh I mean my children are just thriving I mean we've had a lot of difficult years they went through the Mars thing with me they've gone through so many broken relationships and it's you know and they've they know so much about what's going on in the world they they know the darker stuff and the deeper stuff and it's just about being very honest and and just you know really allowing them to get in touch with their inner feminine and really seeing me for who I am and not you know treating them like they're smaller or lesser or I'm their controller you know guiding them into being who they truly are you know that's the role of parenting because if we try and control them if we treat them the way the global elite are treating us then you know they're gonna shut down you know their abilities their gifts and their their powerful just purpose and so you know I I just I just I let them blossom I let them be who they are it's just you know III make them feel safe to share anything with me and and I just love them I just give them a ton of love and and I just help them understand you know what I go through and what my path is all about I help them see the larger picture I don't hide it from them I tell them what chemtrails are I tell them what we're up against you know but but I allow them to see things like school is just a way to you know get in the groove of just being disciplined with you know completing a task but you don't have to buy the information you don't have to absorb it to be truth you know own your own truth you know maybe you have to play the game a little bit but you know it's just radical honesty deep deep love just appreciation and respect and recognizing that children are the guides they are our teachers but I'm you know we're it's a mutual guiding you know they're raising me and I'm raising them I'm guiding them to stay safe but they're in a sense guiding me because they're the voice of the new generation and we need to empower our children we don't need you know to step all over them and tell them how it is but we certainly need to be honest about what we're confronting and what the world is for real so they can remember why they came here or else they're gonna shut down their purposes you know our kids should not be sheltered because they're not going to be able to activate the reason they chose to come to this reality right exactly very very good okay how about if we go to a caller what do you think sure okay all right call her you're live on what on earth is happening welcome and do you have a question for la reisenauer hello caller caller from yes jay-j you're on the air or Eisenhower I didn't recognize you normally yeah okay sure I just wanted to thank Laura for our work ladies and gentlemen this is Jay Parker who spoke at the last for your mind conference and will also be returning for for your mind to so continue Jay hi Jay I just wanted to do a thank Laura for everything she's doing and keep up the good work oh thank you so much Jay Jay thanks skin care you guys care Jay cool hi oh I just I'm it's so great to hear him oh here we go another caller caller from the eight one eight area code you're live on what on earth is happening our special guest Laura Eisenhower welcome a Laura and Mark thank you so much for bringing this information Laura you're just fantastic it will be ditto on the last caller but you know I'll tell you being a truther I've been a 9/11 truther for 11 years but almost 11 years and it's very very difficult and it's just like to me that's like the explosion and it's just like there's so many areas of the you know and I see the rabbit hole that I've been down to and it's like I'm having difficulties relating to a lot of my family and friends I'm losing because of consistent and it's hard I was just wondering if you can give me any kind of advice sometimes my blood boils you know I hear you I I had a lot of issues with just how to handle rage anger you know trying to get people to see something I'm the only person in my family that talks about et's UFOs and treaties that relate to Ike so I know know how lonely it can be when people aren't understanding and so I decided one day you know it doesn't matter if I convince them it doesn't matter if my friends get it I'm just gonna focus on the love because the best thing that we can share because everything is about frequency we're in a frequency battle you know it's about putting this into a lower frame of mind it's about separation I mean this is why the wars have happened this is why the war the false flags happen is is to cause us division to cause us fear to cause us panic and and and then to look at them as being the ones who solve it so when we can see the game and we know that it's actually you know our government that's doing it to us that's a whole nother form of anger it moves away from terrorism into just recognizing that that's those are our leaders you know that are playing this theater game on us and that you know obviously brings up a whole another level of anger and the need to inform people so what I've learned to do is just inform people in neutrality I know I'm planting seeds it doesn't matter if they get it right away but I'm putting it out there and I'm putting it out there and I just do it because I know I have to and regardless of the reaction whether I'm hated whether I'm insulted you know which I am a lot the chat rooms aren't very nice sometimes by YouTube comments or you know cruel oh yeah don't you think your plants don't you keep your like I mean this NDA and all that big billion dollars where is it in Utah to spy on all of us I mean that stuff is real that's before the 1.4 billion bullets are real epic the chemtrails light wine up and people all it's a terribly yeah yeah and then you someone and you show the crop circle it's the same thing so and people just don't care they're in such a deep sleep I know it's it's it's it's hard to not you know react because the thing is we have compassion we all want to go together we want our loved ones to be with us on this we want as many as possible because you know we're battling for souls they're battling for souls they want as many people as they can to believe in what they're doing and we want as many people as we can to just join in with us and unite but we have to just you know have neutrality and to understand that you know we're not really winning if we let it get the better of us you know we need to hold a high frequency we need to have compassion you know people just don't know how to accept this is too much for them but the thing is eventually they're gonna get it eventually it's gonna be so damn obvious which it already is to us I mean it's right in our face but when it really hits home then they're gonna turn around and say I remember what he said to me that's the guy who told me and I ignored him I shut him down now I'm ready to talk to him you know it's like people I went to high school I was voted most on it yeah I was voted most out of touch with reality for my senior class I was ostracized a lot in my community a loner I was like really like the Freak that the freak of the freaks and I was really alone and I didn't really tell people then so they just didn't know what I was up against but um people didn't know the man well I I just it's a part of my last name but I use my stepdad last name because I kind of kept it undercover until I got a grip on my path you know until I was really ready yeah I just I was kind of incognito a little bit with it was like I was working behind the scenes I was living a double life you know doing all the stuff most of my life teenage years and people didn't get it and I was you know facing forces that were so heavy and it ripped me to shreds people didn't understand what's wrong with her you know and then when I got a grip on it all and Here I am sharing the truth it's the same thing like what is wrong with her and you know now I'm like I just I don't even care it's like I came here to do something specific nothing's gonna get in my way I'm planting seeds or I'm you know inspiring people to at least be open-minded enough and I can't be responsible for what they choose to ignore but I can just wish them the best and just hope to god that they'll come around but I can't let them get to me any more because I can't carry any more anger I can't carry any more grief it's like my body's like hit that point where I can't go anywhere but up it's like I've experienced too much of these other things and I'm grateful for the process that has put me in you know because it helped me understand how how much I care and how important this is but it's not important enough anymore to tear me to shreds and and to bring me down I just I'm really focusing on keeping my energy up keeping my frequency high and just holding a loving vibration of compassion you know for those that are know what I do okay I mentioned an hour I got that rocks and Valium floor and but I know but I know I have it and I touched it and I it looked like it was like sugar the grains were going to come off and I couldn't get any of those grains off it was like so weird but they're always one last question and I really appreciate all your the comments will write it on and it's touched myself but as far as like you know the jump rules and all the vortexes wormholes and whatever how many of those on earth attached like elevate to Mars oh I don't know how many on earth I mean Andrew basiago would be the expert in that but you know the thing is with these technologies they're gray alien technologies and they're you know they're not healthy at all for the planet um we have those abilities and you know I'm all about opening the natural stargates from the time I was a child I knew that my job was to keep the natural star gates open whatever that means it was just what I was doing and I went to a clairvoyant Institute that validated that I was clearing wormholes in organic entities from wormholes so it's kind of similar to our chakras or energetic bodies in just our own connection to source we need to clear anything that's standing in the way and when we do that for ourselves we assist in doing it for the planet you know my rap might have been a little bit off you know into territory that is that took a lot longer or a compass you know things that related to the family line that I was in just the agreements that I came in with but I mean ultimately that's what it's about is clearing all this stuff and recognizing that we're we're here to get in touch with our light body to transform into the crystalline light body the markaba and you know these technologies in a sense you know rob us from that they it's like you know here they are screwing up the plan and and poisoning everything and then they're going to introduce this transhumanism agenda and all these gray alien technologies is being the solution but it's all these things that have screwed everything up and I'm not going to buy into just you know here's the solution when it's coming from the same people that created the mess I'm about leaving that part behind and getting in touch with you know our own abilities and doing it from the organic nature of just our own awakening the Ascension process coming from within you know III there's backup plan after back-up plan and artificial timelines catastrophic timelines if this doesn't work out there's another one that they've got going you know just - and we transverse that within ourselves you know where where do we feed it where do we walk on it where where we you know what part of us is still a part of that timeline and then pull ourselves off you know because nothing can destroy the positive timeline but we can certainly be swayed away from it and I'm so I'm very wary about you know these gray alien technologies and and you know it's important to disclose them and bring it to the light but my my thing is about you know getting in touch with how we're going to be able to harness our abilities and recall all of it because these are all imitator technologies this is our conic they imitate us and they turn it into something and then act like we need it and I'm bypassing all of that Laura I'd like to interject a little bit regarding the timeline that you're speaking about the 2012 prophecy the you know the time of prophecy the the prophesied opening up of our internal Stargate as a species so to speak and the positive timeline the transformation in consciousness you feel that that transformation that that transmutation and that positive timeline is a certainty or do you think it can go in a another way and if if so you know what will it take to achieve this positive timeline from where we're at right now well you know I mean I don't read a lot I mean usually I just mostly it's just coming from my intuition but if I feel something strong and if I'll like Google and seeds does anybody else agree because I was getting the feeling that you know somehow there's not enough coming in or you know I still don't see the changes so that I would have liked to see you know people I mean they still celebrate the Queen's Jubilee there's still these elections you know even conscious people are still buying into this and I'm not seeing you know the change that I would like to see in the collective but I'm seeing it in individuals and I and I really do think this is an individual thing I don't think that we are at the mercy of the collective like if they don't wake up we're all stuck with them I think that you know they're going to be you know maybe dealing with this 3d reality and they're gonna stay in this time loop and go through these lessons again or whatever they need but it really is all about service to self service to others those are really orientated towards higher self unity consciousness you know thinking in terms of the global family and the greater good all are on that ascension timeline and those that are you know service to self ego based or falling beneath the cracks of it all into despair and addiction and just getting lost or those that um you know just just are kind of in the middle and don't know you know it's it's it's questionable but you know these alignments you know are gonna come back around again I think 2035 is the next time they come back rat on but you know this cycle of this 2012 window period isn't as open as I as I would have liked and you know it's a little discouraging at times because you know it's like a labor of love since I was a child and my whole focus has been on it and sometimes I'm like god I just haven't done enough or if I just did this and I'm like no no don't think like that I know on an individual laced basis you know it's it's it's it's it's what frequency we hold what vibration we hold and there's rays of high-energy coming in constantly and coming from within us and as they come in there's something called an accretion where we take a step up we boost ourselves we upgrade we get to a higher place and very often just as humanity is about to take a big step is when there's a false flag or something in the news and what it does it creates sort of this virus you know and because you know chemtrails have nanoparticles and it's all about kind of plugging us into the artificial intelligence as long as we buy into the program we become susceptible to being plugged into the system in the artificial intelligence matrix and so as long as we refuse to react and as long as we you know stay centered in our service to others orientation and connection to our higher self and aligning with the goddess energy and divine masculine and feminine and sacred union we are on that positive timeline but I can't say that I really feel on a collective level that we're all heading there together as was hopes but I do know and oceania Deann Lisa Rene have even validated this that there is like a power chord that's still connecting that there are those who are ready to go and nothing's gonna like stop them but you know on a collective level it's it's it's not you know it has been hijacked the 5d ascension timeline and in a lot of ways has been hijacked it's not going to be something that everybody just wakes up to there are too many controls that people have immersed themselves and unfortunately but I'm not going to give up I mean I'm all about the positive timeline I'm not having any fixed beliefs about it I'm still gonna do all that I can but um I just don't see the collective being where I was hoping it would be I have to admit okay thank thank you for your take on that let's go to another call area code six zero two you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Laura Eisenhower welcome hello mark yes yes hi this is Ivan from Phoenix hi Ivan how are you welcome to the show oh thank you thank you hello Solara awesome hi there hi I've been listening to you guys here the last hour and a half I'm at work so here's some background noise that's part of the joy here I just had a couple of quick comments real quick sure you were talking earlier Laura about the feminine influencing the masculine that brought to mind John Perkins book Confessions of an economic hitman where he refers to the schwa the Amazon where they're women so the men when to stop when to stop hunting when to stop cutting down trees and all that stuff and how here in America it's like you know non-existent that women emphasize for the men to keep going to get more to keep bringing more money and you know all this stuff and that's part of the disconnection from nature is that you know the feminine has been put aside I wanted to bring that up if you guys have you know touched on that before with John Perkins Laurie comments yeah I mean I'm shocked it you know how the feminine role in the mainstream is is playing out it's just shocking to see the distortions and the programs on both levels you know the beauty of the feminine is the intuition is is the knowing you know the excesses and deficiencies because women are nurturers you know we have the instincts to raise children it's like we know how to meet the needs of the people and you know the masculine role needs to support that needs to provide what it can it helps you know impregnate her with new life I mean it's it's it's a dance it's a union that needs to work and it's shocking that uh you know women you know want you know they want a man with a lot of money they want this from them and they're there solely supporting the continuation of this patriarchal agenda and you know it's different in every country and every culture you know how it's playing out but you know the most successful societies were matriarchal but I'm going as far as to say you know I'm in unity consciousness Society you know that that it's its union its its cooperation its diversity in harmony that's oneness it's not about us all being the same or buying into just the oneness of it all we're we're just the same the same it's about being different and being diverse but having harmony recognizing the web of life of the mandala that we all are and allowing women to have their role just like our shamans you know our you know those that are born to be priestesses shamans I mean they're considered crazy or schizophrenic you know our elders are in nursing homes they don't even they don't remember anything because they have Alzheimer's I mean you compare that to Native American culture it's absolutely different the elders are the wise ones they're the ones that you know teach and you know I mean look what's happened to our culture it's it's when we compare it to those that live close to the earth and that honor the role of women it's night and day and it's it's it's insane yes yeah yeah I agree I was listening to Joe Rogan a while back and he did mention something about that how our society today here in Western exercises how we're lacking any kind of shaman basically you know anyone that would tell people what you're doing is wrong hey you should consider this and you know think about your actions and all this so yeah that's that that's kind of getting around very little but there are some people who are aware of that one other thing I wanted to bring up real quick mark in the previous show you brought up a lot of things about green language and that's one one phrase that I've never heard you define which is freedom and wisdom and everything that that I've heard on your show even today was Laura I keep going back to breaking down these two words to the green language free the million and wives Dominion because people just throw those words around I go wisdom is wisdom but not without realizing you know breaking it down you know and the language of the work of the third you know it's basically wise dominion of yourself with them you know think about your actions how it affects you and others around the environment but people don't do that they just think I'm wise because I'm saving money and have the good house and I'm healthy I workout and stuff like that but that's not retreat with them you know lacking the connection to the environment and you know the causality of all the problems and everything so you know I just wanted to throw that out there I absolutely I think that's a really powerful point and that term Dominion people think that it has a connotation regarding control but what it really is referring to is the control that we have to exercise control over ourselves in other words to bring our thoughts emotions and alignment into harmony into unison which that's what unity consciousness is all about we we think feel and act and no aspect of those three modalities of consciousness are in opposition with each other so that as we think so we feel so we act and that's what that unity that Laura's been speaking about is all about and that is true Dominion because those are the three things that all that all of us each one of us ultimately has the power to control in our own lives our thoughts our emotions and our actions that's what we are here to learn how to master so Laura your take on that I absolutely agree and you know wisdom is just recognizing how our words our actions and our thoughts affect everything and and making you know that part of ourselves more responsible for you know what we put out there and what comes at us and and and and knows how to work with it in a way that can actually raise it to a higher level rather than you know let it get us all caught up and you know this distraction it's like you know we're here to remember that we're masters in that you know our wisdom body has a lot to do with you know deep deep self awareness and you know not just you know knowing how to play the game well but knowing how to treat each other well in treating ourselves well and being you know a force of creation you know knowing that you know setting our intentions and having something that is an alignment to our higher self is the wisdom that we need and and that's everything right now I mean we're being taught our whole lives to abandon our own wisdom true wisdom is gaining it back letting go of attachments and recognize who are you when you let go of all those attachments who is the person that remains get in touch with you that person is and then you know once you get a strong foundation of who that person is you know empower it to the highest good and then be out there in the world and you won't find that your mood is made or broken by people and things and objects that you're in in a level of wisdom it's like you know a homeless person what a homeless person can be a victim and beg for money or a homeless person can sit there embodied and and have one's needs met have miracles happen and and it can be provided for that beam can be provided for if it's holding wisdom and holding it's light if we don't hold that perspective we sink into that victimhood and we have to remember that we are not what we are attaching ourselves to we are not the successes on the material level you know the true abundance and success that we have is our ability to know who we are without all of that and be able to still be creative and have our needs met yes it's all about getting down to the real core of our being absolutely brilliantly said let's move onto another caller Eric you are live this is the six one nine area code I believe Eric is the name you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Laura eisenhower welcome thank you hi Laura the depth of your knowledge on various subject subjects is truly amazing I've been doing a lot of research and reading myself I was wondering if you had any recommendations as far as groups or organizations ancient mystery school type things that you would recommend as being a positive source of information I haven't really delved into any of that myself positive source of information I think gosh you know see to me nature has been my teacher my backgrounds in wilderness expedition leadership and so everything I really know I just learned from you know connecting you know to to Gaia and and just you know learning how my energy affects the things around me you know the kind of animals that come to me the sort of experiences that I have and I found that you know those that were self service orientated in the groups that we travel with ended up getting in and taking out much quicker you know it's like they couldn't last because they weren't thinking of the group they weren't thinking of the hole and so I'm not saying you know go out on a big wilderness expedition but see that was my school was with the wilderness but I would recommend you know just because so much has been infiltrated out there I've stayed clear of everything and I and I'm a little that just just have a lot of discernment about you know what I would recommend somebody signing up for but you know I guess yeah I mean if you want to email me sometime you know I can I can you know look a little bit further into it I can't even think of anything that my friends have been a part of that they feel good about most people have had to leave things and say oh that wasn't for me the thing is to meet institutions and and other things you know their training wheels they help get a person thinking and going but ultimately I think the best place that we can go is within ourselves and then find that independence and find that self-reliance and then attract like-minded people to share that feeling of unity and community but to isolate oneself too much or to be underneath somebody else's authority or leadership when it comes to spiritual matters I'm just very wary abut I know there's probably some really good stuff out there I've just relied on myself and nature to guide me so I'm not the best person to ask but I'm sure there is good stuff so in other words I believe what Laura is saying here is she learned this from a perspective of gnosis direct first-hand experience through getting into actual contact with that energy firsthand so great call so here we go another caller I believe this is Tim Smith or one of the organizers of the free your mind conference he helped us organize the first conference and is on board with the organizational team for free your mind - Tim welcome - what on earth is happening with our special guest Laura Eisenhower talking about the earth Divine Feminine and the destruction of the Divine Feminine I just wanted to mention Sue's me and not just Disney but television in general but specifically Disney there are involved in the destruction of the Divine Feminine because major film betrayed women as a sexual symbol and they don't involve no it takes a a women as specifically a sexual object and you know they're involved in destroying that feminine energy at a very young age I just want to throw that out there and you know just so people are aware of this and if they have any kids in their life that they could just be aware of this and to let just know what what Disney is involved in and that's all I want imagine Laura your take on the influence of Hollywood and things like tim is talking about in influencing the mind toward certain ways of thinking about women in general yeah I mean I think that's like the cheese for the mouse you know it's drawing people in it's looking up to celebrity it's it's thinking that this is what you know one needs to be in order to be liked or to be popular to be liked by the male and then once you you know eat that cheese you're in the trap and then once you're in the trap then you're susceptible to where those agendas go which is you know not through organic Ascension timeline it's not the positive timeline it's it's under their control and you know and it's so dangerous it's so dangerous and it's so devastating I fortunately you know as a kid never bought into it I don't know how you know I I think just lots of past lives is just staying strong on this path but I I didn't I I didn't like it at all I mean I I just I never I was I can't even say I just got rid of all the Barbies and like never bought into just you know that whole thing so you know I I'm not like somebody who broke out of it but I can certainly say you know parents and and just you know young children like you know look to yourself I mean in your own beauty your own abilities your own uniqueness you know rather than emulating somebody on the screen or wanting to be like this it's like look at all the plastic surgery look at all the I mean even you know kids get it at a young age you know before they're even fully developed its horrifying it's all surface and that's what's promoted I mean our whole culture is promoting something that is so against who we truly are on the deepest of levels and in relationship and just amongst each other it's still promoted because people think that's the way it is that's the true reality and it's totally dangerous because you know that's you know that's the way a kid grows up and if they don't measure up to what those pop stars are they get bulimic anorexic they get surgery and they just because it's all about the surface and the thing is you know except the things you don't like about yourself because once you get in touch with your inner beauty you're gonna find that it radiates out to every bit of yourself that you don't like and it's so worth just doing that inner work and finding that that depth of love within yourself because somebody's gonna love you for that and it's gonna last a hell of a lot longer than somebody using you just for you know whatever facade you are able to play in your teenager younger adult years it's not the real essence of our genders it's not the real essence of a male to think like that either it's just all been programmed into us this is what the infiltration is done it's not you know who we naturally are if we were to rip all that stuff away and we were just to raise our kids without television we would totally be emerging into our divine masculine feminine without a problem that's who we naturally are when we cut our skin when we get injured the immune system responses to do something you know nature is wisdom and and love and and we're naturally enlightened beings this infiltration is absolutely throwing us off course and we got to pull ourselves away from it and get back on because it's not taking us anywhere we want to go I'll tell you that and as you know so Laura thanks so much for that response and I'll tell you I've never seen the phone lines light up like this you're certainly someone who people want to talk to we have a lot more callers online I'm not going to be able to get to them all probably within the show but I have another question for you if I may you consider yourself a clairvoyant healer through the application of intuitive gifts and if I'm not mistaken you personally practice the given Ettore tradition and astrology can you give us your view of divination as an intuitive aspect of the goddess tradition of the Sacred Feminine tradition and how you personally employ that gift yeah you know I don't like to actually use the word healer I should probably change it because I'm just helping I'm just assisting somebody in healing themselves I mean they they are absolutely healing themselves and what I do is I show them their wisdom I help them see something that they are blocked seeing in themselves I'm not here to counsel I'm not here to say this is what it is I have all the answers I'm the wise one here I don't do that at all I'm absolutely neutral and I look at the energy and I show them what they're showing me to help them get in touch with who they are so that they you know don't need me or need anybody to to remember that yeah I just get the ball rolling I guess you could say and just facilitate their own personal healing and so the cards for me you know we're all made up of these excuse me we're all made up of these archetypes where we're made up of you know our zodiac prints are our natal charts and just the the different forces that come in our life based on our agreements based on our past lives and you know what we still need to understand our strengths and weaknesses you know how we fall on our face and get back up again and I help people see that but my goal like I said is to get them back into the zero-point energy to break free of the zodiac break free of the wheel break free of the time loop break free of identifying with just different archetypes and to embody the wholeness of the masculine feminine and then to let you know the the power of your expression be your uniqueness and the part of your you know the flavor you came to express to be a part of the whole it's kind of like you know each part of our body you know holds the DNA of the rest of us but everything has a different function our lungs do something our liver does something they're absolutely different but they still function in the one body and the one being just like us we each have our roles but ultimately we're one and ultimately you know that one organ is attached to the rest of it and requires the rest of it to do its job and so you know when I work with people I just help them to see their own wholeness their own wisdom their own higher self so that they can get themselves out of the foreign energies and the programming's and the traps that they might have might have slipped into so that they don't have to continue on this wheel anymore excellent excellent okay so let's take another call here we go area code 8:04 you are live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Laura Eisenhower welcome yes it is hi how are you hi Laura this is Cindy hi Cindy I really like it you know I just it's just about the Sacred Feminine yeah there's the Disney and the you have to like I can't even look at you have to without vomiting you know just totally hijacked the Sacred Feminine and because you know everybody sees that the feminine is beautiful and and nurturing and everything but what I wanted to say is something that's equally repulsive to me as you have to if seeing the political you know the political stuff going on and it's it's like a demonic satanic thing where like a vampire has to be invited in by you they're doing some sort of occult ritual where you know they haven't voted all the elections are fixed anyway and I remember going to an election place in 2006 and I saw this guy who looked visually normal but I could see him energetically he was not human and he looked at me like Oh what are you doing here they are afraid of us because this group whether there are conic reptilian Draco demonic whatever you want to call them service to self however you want to you know group them they're done for you know and I just you know I don't know if it's just the splitting of the way between people who are awake and who aren't I hope we're just not flattering ourselves but I mean I just can't even look at the political stuff going on you know I think there's a lot of you know although religions probably were set up by Draco you know they there might be some truth and that's why I would respond to them but you know they say that you know they'll go into the mountains and wish that the stones will fall down on them because I think they get to stir it here on earth they're being quarantined and you know Alfred Webber talks about how you know the quarantine I was reading in a Barbara hand closed book which she wrote I think in 2006 about how 2011 the quarantine comes down but I don't know if we're being invited back into the galactic community yet because we're still too violent do you have any idea what's going on with that well you know the fallen systems angelic realms have fallen you know there's more than one controller group that's vying for control it but there is you know some collaboration too you know they they they have chosen not to a son not to redeem themselves not to right their wrongs but to use technology as it means to be immortal to stay in on this earth realm to use earth as their stopping point and and to trap as many souls as possible to serve them you know I I firmly believe that those that are ready to leave that are ready to ascend that have you know done what they came here to do and learn whatever lessons they came to learn will move on but you know this this control system the blackhole technologies the dark occult technologies they're very heavy duty and III know that you know in a sense you know we're up against that but you know it's the programming's we buy into that makes us susceptible and you know it's it's a difference between understanding that our life cycle is is that we're ascended as immortal beings to lift ourselves out of you know this this bubble that we're veiled under and that they might still you know run a time line that's that's here but yes it'll eventually come crashing down on them but see they use time travel and teleportation to run their life cycle like the the greys you know they have the 42,000 the p45 and the p50 twos which means 42,000 years in the future fifty two thousand years into the future right as their race is about to die out they time travel they come back they abduct they take our genetic information they're trying to keep their race alive because they can't ascend they cannot reach there their natural immortality or ascension process they refuse to be anything but service to self even though some are trying to help us or some want to you know turn themselves around it's still trying to function in this time loop as immortal beings so they don't have to go through death so they don't have to face their karma but at the same time you know some have chosen to play the dark role to then work out that karma and you know maybe a lower density fourth a fourth density planet and that's what people you know from the Illuminati have said you know who's to know but the point is they have their agreements we have ours we got to stay firm with what ours are and not get them mixed up with theirs but yeah I mean I just see technology as their means to create artificial immortelle in ours you know they envy and that's why they want to keep us trapped because they can't reach that and they want to harvest our souls in order to keep their agenda going and the more of us that can pull away from it the better but just one individual pulling away is enough for that one individual to get out of this I believe it's all about ultimately transforming the self and it doesn't even matter what other people are doing you have to stand in your truth because you know it's the right thing so Laura we're coming up to the end of the show we have about a minute and a half left I want you to tell the listener and he you've been a phenomenal guest I thank you so much for coming on I want you to tell the listeners uh how they can view your work online give them your disappointed by the turnout we were hoping that there would be a lot more people there but the people who did show up were very responsive and if I may say so myself I think I really knocked it out of the park with the matrix presentation and it went exactly as I had hoped that it would go as far as reaching people with that information so the people that were there were very receptive and I really interview a pre-recorded interview in late August with Popeye of down the rabbit hole on the Orion talk radio network and in that interview I discussed heavily and got deep into the occult aspects of the 9/11 event so I did a complete breakdown of the all of the occult aspects both symbolism and numerology of that human sacrifice ritual which is what 9/11 was and you can see that in the news section and Popeye has also put up a page on his radio webs website with all of the images related to the show he also made a cool video where the images go along with the interview as I as we conducted it so that's up in the news section of what on earth is happening dot-com also as I announced last week all audio for the what on earth is happening dot-com website is now posted via the html5 embed format and this requires no browser plug-ins such as flash to allow that content to play therefore it will open it up to all mobile devices like iPhones iPads and Android smartphones and tablets in an effort to continue to remove plug-in technology from my page and go to a standards compliant form of for audio and video I am also going to be changing over all the video to the site to make it html5 compliant the video now has been changed over to html5 in the news section but I'm still working on the videos in the actual video section of the website because I need to re-encode them and I'm gonna be uploading them to a new YouTube channel that I just set up so I'll be making that announcement when those go online in the next week or so it's just a time-consuming process to re-encode video and then upload it so when that's done I'll make the announcement and you'll be able to see that on the website also there is a new HTML based chatroom on the radio show page and it seems that that is working out very well I've got no complaints or reports of issues with that so that should also work in mobile devices as well so those are the changes to the website minor changes but I think important to note the ad-free radio the ad-free chip in effort for the to keep the water on earth is happening show radio radio show ad free has hit its goal for the second three month period and I thank everyone who made contributions will be resetting that chart for the next three month period which is between February March and April which we will have to raise the required amount by the end of January probably next week I'll be posting the new chart and we'll start over again with the the chip in effort for keeping the radio show ad free okay so today we are going to be having a an all call-in show on the topic of the non support of dominators as a solution to the problems that humanity faces I have one basic simple ground rule for the show really two basic ground rules first we're going to stick to the topic of the non-supportive dominators so it's not just a free-for-all we are limiting the topics to the solution as we have talked about it over the past several weeks months actually of the non support of dominators and the practices of domination that's what the topic is and I'll be doing a very brief review of some of the topics that we covered that are fair game for the discussion for this week and next week there is one prerequisite that I'm going to hold people to strictly during the course of the Collin show for this week and next week and if people are not respectful enough to respect my wishes for this prerequisite I'm not going to I'm not going to treat them nicely when they call in and they try to circumvent this prerequisite and just try to you know burst in with what they have to say they will be treated rudely and abruptly and that's all I have to say and you know I'm just telling people that out in the open because if you're calling into a host show and they have asked that you call in and if you're going to talk about a specific issue that you have taken in certain prerequisite information otherwise they don't want to hear what you have to say on that topic I think that should be respected I mean if you want to say anything that you want to say without any restrictions whatsoever please feel free to host your own radio show and then you can do that and that there's no problem but if someone is calling to my show and I'm asking that there is a prerequisite met which I'm going to get into in a moment then I feel whoever's calling should respect that prerequisite or not call into the show so with that having been said here's what the prerequisite I'm asking for if people call in to defend or support the practice of carnism of eating dead animal flesh which we talked about over the past few shows which was the one of the last things that we discussed in the section of the non support of dominators and domination if you want to call in to defend carnism I don't have no problem with anyone doing that but the prerequisite is that you yourself have watched the movie Earthlings in its entirety in one sitting not watching it in bits and pieces not watching it looking away from the screen when it showed something unpleasant sitting there in a way that you have been paying attention and watching it and you have watched this movie from beginning to end in its entirety if that is not the case do not call in an attempt to defend the practice of carnism because you will be hung up on if you want to defend the practice of carnism I don't have a problem with you doing that as I've said but if you're going to call in and bring up reasons why you think carnism should be continued to be practiced the prerequisite is that you yourself have watched the movie earthlings which I posted multiple times with my podcasts on the topic that you have watched that film in its entirety all the way through in one sitting if that is not the case do not call in and try to defend the practice of carnism because I'm not interested in hearing from you if that is the case if that is the case and you have watched that film you're welcome to speak your mind on the topic and then we could have I could ask some questions about why you feel the way that you do but if you haven't watched Earthlings and you're going to try to defend carnism you're not going to do it on this show I am going to cut you off abruptly okay I can't screen calls because there there's no ad break so it's going to be basically a you know off-the-cuff thing I'm just gonna take calls as they come in so here's some of the topics that we covered in this section entitled the non supporter dominators let me give the call-in number once again as well eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number start calling in now eight six six eight four one one zero six five here's the things that are going to be on the table for the discussion for today and next week as part of this solutions section we went into the subtopic of the non-supportive dominators and how this is really one of the most empowering solutions that we can attempt to employ and to get other people to employ in their lives we first discussed emotional mind control and this is a very important aspect of this topic because this topic brings up a lot of things that are very uncomfortable for people and very controversial we talked about what the concept of controversial really means if we break it down in language controversial means face to face with change that's what the enema logical meaning of the word controversial is coming from Latin contra meaning against or up against and verse RA in Latin which means to change so you are up against change you are face to face with change that's why this topic of the non-supportive dominators and the practices of domination themselves it is a very controversial topic for people to hear in many cases they are uncomfortable it makes them uncomfortable in many cases they don't like the messengers delivery style and this is most certainly the case when it comes to someone like me who is very straightforward and hammers these things in whether people are prepared to handle them or not I feel we have no time for baby spoon feeding and my approach is some would say without any sort of a soft attacked and that's fine I'd have no problem with that if someone else does have a problem with my attack they can go and listen to someone else you're free to shut it off and not pay attention to a word that is spoken here but I'm not going to change my approach I speak the truth unapologetically and forcefully and that's what I think is required I don't think we have the time the baby spoon feed this information to people so that's part of emotional mind control people not liking the messengers delivery so then they choose to ignore the message you know so another part a part of it is that people don't want a lot of this information to be true you know they want their belief systems to be the way things are in reality and so when they hear something that conflicts with their deeply-held religion then all of a sudden the emotions well up and they you know they come apart at the seams because somebody is attacking their religious beliefs and that's really is what we're talking about here Authority is a religion domination the the belief that that some can dominate others is a religion let's call it what it really is it's a religion so you know that's another thing that we really covered that this this belief system is definitely a religion the belief in authority and that's why so many people are so attached to so we talked about in this section the absolute nature of truth we talked about the concept of what a solution is you know that it's really to dissolve the ego it's the ego is the solute that needs to be broken down so that it we can go into solution approaches solution oriented approaches and truth is the solvent truth is that which is going to dissolve the ego and get people to finally admit yes I was wrong so we we talked about those general overarching concepts of what you know the the nature of truth is doing and what a solution really is from a philosophical perspective we talked about the fact that there's no political or legal solution to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness it isn't about voting in new masters it isn't about perpetuating the control system by continuing to give our support to it and keep it going you know through our our tacit consent that'll never create a solution the only solutions that are really available are those that are based in philosophy and a deep understanding of the laws of nature of the laws of behavioral consequence what we have called here on this show repeatedly natural law I call them universal spiritual laws because that is in fact what they are they are the laws that govern our choices and our behaviors and they are immutable they are always in place and we are always bound by them we talked a lot about conscience that conscience is the definitive knowledge of the the objective differences between right and wrong and what the exercise of conscience is it's actually putting that knowledge into effect it's choosing the right action over the wrong action once that knowledge is in hand we talked about how people make endless justifications for their immoral behavior because they don't want personal responsibility to choose right over wrong we talked about apophysis one of the most important and empowering concepts saying no to the dominator mindset saying no to the Dom the prac of domination and the people who support these practices that's what apophysis is all about it isn't about telling people what to do it's about saying that this is something that is causing harm and suffering and therefore you should withdraw your behavior from those practices you should not take part in certain behaviors that are based in violence and domination that's what apophysis is all about it's saying what the truth is not so that we can come to an understanding of that which the truth is we talked about culpability and and cosmic consequences for our behaviors some would call that Karma and I'm ok with that term but we talked about who is more morally culpable the order Giver or the order follower and we explained why the order follower is always more morally culpable because it is them who is actually taking the the action is them who is actually engaging the behavior and so they are the most responsible for the manifested result that occurs in our world we talked about the trouble about trauma and bullying and how that perpetuates the abuse victim cycle which we broke down and explained and how people become identified with either abuser or victim in that vicious cycle from which it is very difficult to escape unless one knows oneself and one psyche at a deep enough level we talked about dominators reasons for some of the behavior that they express including things like repressed sexuality and feelings of inadequacy and feelings of a deep ingrained understanding of how ignorant they really are and therefore they give up hope that they could ever improve their condition we talked about the concept of self less Ness of having lost a connection to the higher self having lost the connection to who one really is and having forgotten who we are and that this concept of the loss of that connection to the true self as being one of the prime motivating factors for people's violent and repressive behavior we talked about groupthink and herd mentality and collectivism we also talked about techniques of cults all the different techniques of the cults employ to keep their members isolated and brainwashed and that's part of the control system these same techniques that are used in any religious cult are the exact techniques that are used on the military and police institutions and the members of those institutions we talked about how these people ultimately want to abandon their personal responsibility to make their own decisions the the abandonment of personal responsibility is one of the main reasons that this control system is perpetuated in our lives it's why we're in a prison we talked about the symbolic occult mockery the symbolic and language based mockery of the police and the military and I did an extensive presentation of these symbols and forms of green language so that's open open up for discussion on today's show as well and then finally we talked we talked about carnism and how carnism is a religion that is based in violence and how we as a species do not see the effects of the law of Correspondence this law that exists in nature but is largely unseen to the eye because it takes a long time to manifest over a quantum scale in a macro scale and how carnism through our engagement of that practice we are basically putting ourselves into a deeper cage through the law of Correspondence and finally we talked about women's role actual the female sex their role that they can play in helping to influence men who are the main practitioners of the religion of domination in our world to how women can step into their empowering role of influence and nurturer influencer and nurturer to help these these male dominators discontinue their support for this prison system that they're building all around us so without having been said those are the topics that are on the table for discussion here today in our first calling show / this week and next week and we have some callers on the line so let's go to the phones here we go welcome caller you're live on what on earth is happening hello mark Bob from Cincinnati welcome it is indeed hey thank you for taking my call I didn't think I'd be the first one in the queue a pleasure oh thank you mark hey firstly wow your presentation last night in Philly most of us could not physically be there we really missed it there is somebody who kindly put about 45 minutes of your show yes of your presentation on YouTube I hope that they're able to post further if not we're definitely asking that you would do a presentation like you did the occult mockery of police presentation on what on earth is happening sluggard matrix trilogy revealed so to speak yes I was I was thinking either well either one or or both actually I'm definitely going to be posting the video because we did several people recorded it last night and I'm as I said I'm very happy with how the presentation went we did have one gentleman recording it with a tripod at an HD resolution and while the light and sound may not have been optimum for that room in there we didn't like bring a lighting rig or anything I think it's still gonna come across quite well and he is going to give me that video we are going to post it to the what on earth is happening website also post it to my youtube channel that I'll be announcing however other people did record it with handheld devices handheld cameras and and smartphones and if they're they're totally free to to publish that on whatever video websites they want and you know that's fine so I I'm aware that someone has already posted segments from the presentation last night and if they have any more they're absolutely welcome to do that no problem but I may also do a presentation here on what on earth is happening we give that presentation at some future point but definitely the video will be making an appearance at some future time within the next month or so on the website so that will be up they're for free okay thank you mark I just wanted to comment on two points there's so many and the non-supportive dominators however my skype connection is extremely poor I'll be quick sir the first one you you on your your kindness of sharing with us the Rosicrucian or Rosicrucian philosophy of non carnism and like many mark i I still practice carnism I you know you know I'm one of those aliens dining at the table in that very ingenious cartoon that sort it that you shared on your images on the past few shows on carnism um however I can agree with your complete understanding of the ether of the morph of genetic field is what you spoke of it as for the the morphic field of resonance we are indeed all vibration when we come down to brass tacks of the science of it and in this world we only have so much to contribute with our will in action and dining upon our lesser brothers as you said so eloquently is so true that that has to be the focus of why one would want to come to a ending of of dining on the carnal I'm still there but I'll tell you what my friend I think every time I sit down to eat the Beast I'm thinking now and it's it's it's quite a struggle thank you sir purchase putting that in my life and I said no one is required to make any sort of a change overnight this is a this is a deep held understanding and I I do also want to comment it isn't it isn't just a Rosicrucian philosophy it's this is obviously something that has existed for as long as man really has existed for those who have come to a an evolved way of thinking and I want to also REME ffice eyes that before people think that vegetarianism is in some way or another some sort of a religious belief that it is absolutely not a religious belief it is based on a deep understanding of the laws of nature the laws of Correspondence and I understand when I say that word nature it has such a distorted connotation in the minds of the mind-controlled because they've been brainwashed their entire lives through repetition over and over again that to equate the term natural or nature with the concept of Darwinism and social Darwinism this is ingrained in us from the minute that we're born into this left brained locked world okay that natural means the one who has the most ruthless approach the most vicious with the sharpest teeth and claws is the one who comes out on top and that is the exact opposite of the natural order that is what is called chaos that entire worldview leads to nothing more than chaos so it is exactly the opposite way around it is not that vegetarianism is based in any kind of a religion vegetarianism is actually based in understanding and then the practice of it is based in wisdom which is choosing the truth and choosing the right over the wrong action once we're at that level of consciousness the exact opposite is true when it comes to what a religion is it is the practice of eating animals that is a religion that is a religion for at where we the human species is right now in our place and consciousness for people to continue to engage that practice is a religious is an attachment to a religious belief and I know Bob that you don't take that with offense I understand that you are working of you yourself I know are working upon yourself through having spoken with you and talked to you at length it but some people will hear that with offense and take offense to it and you know what I'm going to say to that get as offended as you like because that's the case that's the truth when it comes to this carnism is the religion it is based in violence violence the right to do violence is a religious belief system in by definition by definition because there is no such thing as the right to conduct violence and if you believe that that's the case that you possess that right then you are believing in an illusion in an illusion and that by definition is what a religion is you are both it is a it is an unfounded belief that has no basis in truth in something that is completely illusory and that's the definition of a religion so that's what carnism is it is not what vegetarianism is vegetarianism the only reason it has an ism at the end is because it's being described as such as a practice as a way of being it is not a base in beliefs and for some people may engage in it because they have beliefs regarding it but that's not what I'm talking about when I use the term vegetarianism see people can even engage in the truth in a religious sense in a religious methodology but in the way I'm talking about the lifestyle of being vegetarian it has absolutely nothing to do with a belief system and it has everything to do with knowledge of how natural law operates in our world to bring us the experiences that we undergo right on mark and that in the last piece I'm sure there are people lining up to debate carnism with you and your guide there you will I find as much I say I'm totally psychologically prepared for both of these shows to be all about nothing but that you know but it won't be though people will bring up some other things but I I agree with you that probably will get more than our fair share of that yes they have my meat man I've got to have my meat anyway but the second point non-supportive dominators the assault mockery of police your your Testament of this dark occultism the architecture of the dark occult ring around us through symbolism subversive symbolism everywhere the square superimposed atop the square the octagon but the deeper meaning is the square set within a square the hypercube or tesseract as you've shared in that death portion I would like to point out that upon viewing the brand-new Memorial in New York oh yeah round zero to to to uh to in in noble the victims they stamped the hypercube on top of the memorial itself it is the square within the square the hypercubes be dropping down into a dark abyss of pool water flowing fountain water and down two squares the two swarms exactly together do you have a shameful mark shameful the memorial of the building was called Freedom Tower they bury slyly quickly changed it to New World Trade Center and that speaks for itself thank you for your voice mark good evening Bob thanks so much always a pleasure to hear caller from the 602 area code you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hello mark kind of wait for a second after you Bob I think I think yes I think perhaps my microphone was muted at inadvertently and I I just noticed that and took it off what I was saying is for people to check out Bob's a reference there of the hypercube or the dual square symbolism they talked about at the World Trade Center Memorial you can go on to a site like Google Images and search for images related to the World Trade Center World Trade Center Memorial site and you'll see what Bob is referencing there as far as the symbolism of the new Trade Center Memorial it's very interesting and fascinating symbolism and Bob's right on about how that represents the hypercube so call her welcome and what do you have for us today okay Phoenix Ivan mom hey yeah the press Iraq I was just wondering well I just wanted to mention that Russell mentioned in that Avengers movie they talked about a tesseract and it's that cube but there's in there so they you know totally have it all around it here and there really that's right and it is the source in the movie Avengers of the Dark Gods power Loki who represents a Lord of the underworld in Norse mythology who is the the the dark god of the underworld he is very very closely associated with with Satan and other dark entities in other traditions in other mythical traditions but and in the movie he wears a long flowing robe and carries a scepter of power and he has huge horns that look like ram's horns and are very reminiscent of how Satan is often depicted and the hypercube or tesseract is his source of power that he uses to control so very interesting symbolism in that movie as well and I would say the makers of that film have been under standing of some of the symbolism related to the tesseract or hypercube absolutely right now baby you see it all over the place well first off I wanted to say thank you to you mark because the last like five or six years I've listened to all kinds of information my job is pretty easy so I'm able to just listen to stuff for the eight hours and I've gone from like David Icke micro cesarean Jim Marrs and I got on synoptic media and I heard you on there and then that led me to your work and I listened to all the year episodes and got current and out of everyone that I listened to you were the first one that pretty much challenged me and kicked me in the butt into action when you said to know and not to do is not to know turn or not to care now so that really was founded with me that okay all these years all this information okay you know I would tell people here they're a little baby be a little video okay fine but wasn't doing much so you're the first one that really made me wake up I gotta be something I'm not doing something so I created a website will you know do it yourself thing or I just put a bunch of information links videos and websites and all kinds of stuff and that's a free your mind ain't be calm if you remember I had emailed you up yes excellent website excellent website by the way give it again for the listeners they should definitely check it out and this is an example of someone who is real Ivan is stepping up and he's doing something in his area he's forming a group he's a propagating information and I think it's a great inspiration to people so I'll give your website again definitely okay that's three your mind aids e.com so then I was gonna show the radiation ad for Arizona and I also started a meetup group out here by the same name which is you know meetup.com slash three-year mind AZ although all that connected to the website business music with lyrics video books blogs all kinds of stuff on there and it's not me saying that I have all the answers that I know everything it's me saying hey people look at what's out there look at this information that's being hidden from you that you're not aware of so that's that you know something that I keep you know keeps me busy pretty much that's really great I commend you for that Ivan and again like you said it is true that to know and not to do is not to know that that's actually not my words however that those are the words of the Chinese philosopher Yong Ming but I tacked on that little addition to know and not to do is not to know and not to care so what you're doing is you're taking your knowledge and you're putting it into action and that's the expression of wisdom and again I commend you for doing that and I hope more listeners would follow suit and really you know step up their involvement in this in this cause for and press for truth to touch on the topic that you're sharing about today I made a few notes here so carnism I agree with everything you'd be saying and I know that there's a caller I don't because they might have been gay in Colorado or something that he took challenging me back and forth a few months back sure but I understand both both Dave's point and your point because as I see it it's kind of like after someone shows up here on this planet and these roads you would think oh so that means we need cars no the other way around it cause we have cars we created roads right so Dave's argument that all the human bodies made to their just food and we have you know was supposed to eat food no it's if you go back you know the research that I found like micro caesareans work and even in Kubrick's Odyssey that documentary about David here telling us shows primitive man just eating grubs and stuff and then something external influences him yes and he starts a need and doing that and Caesarion she's on that about man being you know changed somehow yeah so if you go back ten twenty thirty thousand years we've been conditioned to need meat so obviously our physical structure will be you know made to digest food that's like having roads so if you hold you think you need cars no let's gather around since the cars with it then the roads are made so since we start eating meat then our you know each generation started you know being born like okay we're ready for me that's what I think you have a really valid point that people attribute our current conditions to the way that it always has been and I think that's a very dangerous and flawed stands to take because people have very little understanding of some of the things that really occurred in our very ancient ancestral past and you know I asked them sometimes the question how do you even know that the earth was even always like this you know and that this has been the condition of even the planetary conditions first of all if you look at what cataclysms really occurred physical pole shifts occurred in the past and there was probably temperate zones almost covering the whole earth at one point not like it is today you know what if what if the earth was at one point in a zero degree orientation with respect to its plane of orbit around the Sun you would have perpetual spring and food and crops would grow everywhere pretty much in the north end southern hemisphere all year long and there would be no time of death and time that the Sun was not giving its light and warmth directly to either hemisphere so people have to take things into consideration on massive scales of time and when they when they don't do that they are apt to begin to think well man has simply always been like this and always must be like this I again called that in the first show that I did on this topic the we are argument and the we are argument that we are one thing and have always been that and must always continue to be that is a fundamentally flawed and it's a poisoned worldview it's not only a flawed worldview it's one that is it's in infected worldview this is what the dominators want us to think like they want you to think that change is not really possible and that we cannot desist in certain practices that we may have been doing for very long periods of time but that doesn't make them right you know you could do wrong for an eternity and you're never gonna be suddenly converting that into doing a right it's still going to be wrong no matter how long you practice for this concept of or this argument that is often made while that's been going on for millions of years or that's been going on for hundreds of years this is all completely it's total logical fallacy because it doesn't matter how long a wrong has been going on for that's an irrelevant argument all that matters is it's wrong is it causing harm to other living things is it causing suffering to other living beings then it's wrong and the practice should not be engaged in and it's actually that simple right comments they're leaving to hear about yeah eating meat it's like a low steady humming noise the negativity you know not noticeable consciously but on a subconscious level there's all that negative death and just being confident it's like a low hum that people don't notice and they're like well why is there so much you know hate and refinement negativity in the world you know well because we're at war or whatever no it's because everybody's constantly doing this you know suffering suffering suffering because that constantly death every day 24/7 occurring behind the current that we have no idea is going on but yeah we open up first and take out the the chicken and the steak and all this stuff without thinking about where that's actually coming from what effect of doing that you put on the energetic frequency of the planet that's exactly right I think you have really great points and that's what I'm trying to explain that there are actions don't affect just our immediate surroundings they extend out into the field of consciousness and they are affecting the whole and that's where why we're living in a poisoned environment not only ecologically poison but poisoned insofar as the energy that is all around that we're constantly taking into ourselves the energy that we're all bathing in you know what I have a let you see to take out the cause and if I'm gonna stay on the line and if you have some more time in the next hour Ivan great great material fantastic and I will come back to you so great you hang on the line okay all right thank you thank you great call okay let me give the callin number once again we only have a couple other people hanging on the line right now hopefully we can get some more people in the queue I never saw calls like last week's show Wow Laura Eisenhower was very popular the most callers I've ever seen in the queue on any for any of my shows so hopefully we can get some some numbers built up like that so the calls are relatively sparse if you want to call in you'll probably have a short wait eight six six eight four one one zero six five is the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five call in there are many slots open and let's take another call here all right area code five one seven area code five one seven you are live on the what on earth is happening radio show welcome hello sure your name's Adrian welcome yes Gabby okay I'm sorry okay what was your question like in a lot of carnism people who practice kind of them yes oh right like argue your point when people like pointed out you even if you don't point it out wouldn't you do let it go and write good question I wouldn't even look at it as being argumentative or argue with them if you know what the truth is speak it unapologetically regardless of who you think it's going to offend and I know that's that's a tall order that's a difficult thing to do because that requires a lot of courage and stepping out of the mindset of what other people may think of you so I think that's probably the the best and most courageous approach to take that is directly related to truth because if you know what the truth is regarding this practice then you can't possibly do any harm by speaking that truth and I'm not saying you know run roughshod all over them and make them feel like trash I'm saying state it emphatically in no uncertain terms as the truth because if you know that it is then speak it as such and don't apologize for holding that understanding I don't even say holding that belief don't apologize for having acquired an understanding that this practice is not only wrong but is also keeping us enslaved as well people have a difficult time understanding that they're concerned with their freedom that's why don't call I say we still don't have a freedom movement we do not have a freedom movement on planet earth we have a my freedom movement a my freedom movement people are concerned about their freedom maybe the freedom of their family and friends but they're not maybe even the freedom of all humanity but they're not concerned with the suffering and freedom of all beings see they they think that you know they can be free and somehow others can still remain in states of total injustice suffering and and a you know continuous death and bondage while we enjoy the fruits of freedom and liberty and somehow that eventualities ever occur and that this is the cosmic joke this is the joke that's played on all of humanity it's an impossibility to be to have the state where suffering is ongoing and continuous and driven by us we're driving that suffering into the world okay and we can be free people who believe in that believe in a delusion they are delusional they believe in a religion and what you should look at it as in explaining this to people be unapologetic but understand you're talking to people and trying to bring them the truth to help them out of the suffering that they're creating for themselves so don't even worry about if they don't get it at first most people aren't gonna get this at first Ida I'm under no delusions no delusions whatsoever that I'm gonna come out here do a show against carnism explain to people why it's wrong why it's poisoning the morphic field of energy that we all live in and ultimately poisoning ourselves and that people are just magically gonna get it I would expect the vast majority of ears who that my words have fallen upon regarding that concept we'll reject it out of hand just because their belief system is so strong and they'll come up with rationalizations and you know so-called evidence to support their religion but of course you know all this is is attachment to an illusion it's an attachment to the illusion that violence can be continued to be conducted by us indiscriminately and yet magically we're gonna suddenly find freedom somehow it's never ever in eternity going to happen that way ever people need to get that out of their minds as soon as possible that's that's one of the religious beliefs among many others that are holding us back and keeping us in this cage and until we abandon those outmoded outdated dogmatic belief systems about who we are and what we're allowed to do here we're never going to be truly free and it doesn't matter see I'm gonna say that unapologetically to anyone who's whose ears are within range of my mouth and I'm not going to apologize for saying it because it's the truth it isn't my belief system that is not my belief I have no religion I am NOT somebody who is out here propagating my belief system I am somebody who has come to an accurate understand of how certain laws within the natural creation operate that through our choices in in the boundary conditions of these laws we are actually creating our reality the experiences that we are creating that we are bringing to ourselves whether we consciously are aware of how those laws operate or not and I'm going to speak that unapologetically because it is true it is not a belief it is the way it actually does work which is why this program is called what on earth is happening no question mark it is not a question it's about what is actually going on what we are doing you know that's why I said on the first show this is about causal factors and I'm trying to explain how a factor of causality operates in our realm to bring us our experiences and it works that way immutably unchangeably in varyingly 100% of the time flawlessly that is those are the parameters of nature and we would do well to heed someone who is trying to explain how those workings operate because we would save ourselves a whole lot of time and suffering but most people won't listen to words of wisdom because they have a religion and it's a deeply embedded one that doesn't mean you shouldn't keep speaking the truth again forcefully unapologetically if you're in the right speak it and don't worry about how its received thanks so much for the call we'll be right back folks [Music] all right everyone welcome back listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting Network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening comm we're doing an all call-in show this weekend next week on the topic of the non support of dominators a solution in our solutions section that I've been covering over the past many weeks here on what on earth is happening we have a wrapped that topic up now and we are taking calls on it so the calling number to join us is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number to talk about the non support of dominators as a solution to the problems that humanity faces is eight six six eight four one one zero six five we currently don't have anybody in the queue I will also entertain possibly some questions in the chat room if they are phrased intelligently and aren't posed in a juvenile way I will I will take questions from the chat room as well but for now while we're waiting for other callers to join us let's go back to Ivan who said that he had some additional points that he wanted to interject into the conversation and the other points that he had brought up so far were very enlightening so Ivan are you still with us yes all right here great would you have something further that you would like to bring up okay continuing on your non-supportive dominators I have a little section here I rolled out dominators out of protectors slash guides or suggestions what I mean by that is the intention I guess of people who want to be kind of chamonix or you know trying to teach people what's good for you that turn into command being or ordering people what's good for you so the ones in the position of hey you know what the speed limit at 40 miles an hour because this is for your safety you know if you get into a collision going 50 60 80 you're gonna get you know it's more dangerous than going forward so this is for your own good it went from that to know the speed limit is 40 and they're telling you that's how fast you got a goal and you got to listen to us because you know that's that's the law so it went from you know a protective kind of suggestive for your own good thing to know to basically just do as we tell you kind of thing better that's what I think the dominators are that now yes and I'd like to say something related to that see it always starts off control always starts off under the guise of good intention of that I'm I'm suggesting this as something that will help you and then it eventually decays and degenerates into do this or else and that's where we're at as a species now now when it comes to like what I'm talking about in helping to help people to get to a place of understanding about the laws of nature you could say well that is also a suggestion I cannot make anyone understand this I can encourage them to study it on their own to look deeply enough into causal dynamics and to look deeply enough into governing dynamics in nature and understand how those laws operate which takes a long time it's not like something that someone with very little understanding can just suddenly switch on in their brain and come to an accurate and deep understanding of it's actually years of study are required and this is something that people think that you can do somehow magically you know that suddenly somebody's just gonna immediately get how this works it isn't something that happens magically it look and even if you could say yeah that happens for a small percentage of people in an organic way that doesn't require a lot of effort maybe that's the case but so what that number of people who can do it like that are so small that for the rest of us that's a negligible number we we have to do it through sustained effort and continuous work and so if you're one of the people who just gets it wonderful and great and you didn't have to go through that painful process of breaking down your old belief system your old religion and abandoning those ways of looking at the world that didn't serve who you are and uh you know your the beliefs that just totally led into deeper and deeper suffering and you were able to do it suddenly and all at once you know that's great if that's how it happens but for the vast for a small minority but for the vast overwhelming majority of human beings what is required is often years of the breakdown of this old calcified belief system or religion and then a slow building up of the the real sight of the actual real spiritual vision that leads them to the understanding of these higher laws and that's a stepwise time-consuming process that does really need to be done in quite a linear fashion not only because of how left brain most people are but because you can't build the top floor of a house when there's no foundation that is built you have to build in steps you have to build in a stepwise progression you have to lay a solid foundation and then slowly build on top of that which is how this radio show program has been conducted since its beginning it's a later shows all recrop require prerequisite information that is built up in the first shows and then it builds up to deeper levels of knowledge from there which the earlier information is obviously prerequisite for understanding it's a stepwise linear progression that builds first on a foundation then we build the top floors after the foundation is solid so um one of the things I want to get back to in talking about with your comment here Ivan is that this whole idea of well if people don't accept the truth meaning let's take speed limits for an example that this road will be safe to navigate at probably no greater than 60 miles per hour and they want to break that suggestion they want to go against that suggestion and test the laws of order and chaos that what what is it in a human being that insists that no they may not do that and I'm going to absolutely step in and say I'm going to do something to you to prevent you from doing that what is it in the person who wants to become that Dominator then well you and I know the answer to that yes either you know that's what did you call it a second level or second degree psychopath before it even gets to that level what's the force that's at work inside of that person that's operating to make them you know get to that level of behavior get to that mode of behavior it's fear they're in a fear of chaos happening okay they're in fear of chaotic results in the physical world okay that's the main thing that drives it right so in other words they're in fear well if people drive this fast they're going to get hurt so we have to physically stop them from driving that fast and therein lies the fundamental flaw therein lies the axiom of belief that is fatally flawed from the get-go if you believe that you're going to physically control people's behavior instead of actually educating them as to the reasons why that certain things are in place that they're that the reason you should not engage in this type of behavior because it will create a chaotic result then you're not really doing the thing that will give the best results you're doing something that is in many ways or just about in every way a half-assed effort because you're saying instead of teaching why I'm just gonna say you have to do it because I said so and that's how it is otherwise I'm going to hurt you in some way what what do you think is gonna be more received better received I have an understanding that maybe perhaps you currently lack and you need to know what the consequences of that action are going to be unwavering unwaveringly in many cases because the laws of nature work in an unwavering way now maybe you might get lucky and you might get lucky for a certain amount of time in not having a extremely nasty consequence brought upon you by ignoring certain physical laws and higher laws but you'll never be able to get away with it indefinitely and eventually you will be caught up to and you will experience the extreme negative consequences of poor choice poor behavior so that the Dominator has is making a choice and saying and he's making the wrong choice he's saying instead of doing the work which is much harder to change someone's mind about something because you have helped to take the time and help to ingrain in them an accurate understanding of causal and governing dynamics that exist inherently in nature they don't want to do that that's the hardest work there is to do in life that is the great work they don't have the time or patience for that they just want to say I'm gonna physically stop you from doing it and threaten violence if you do it in some form or fashion and that's all based on one thing the fear of chaos as we talked about we talked about in the primal fears section the ultimate fear that is preyed upon on us every day is the fear of chaos chaos is the greatest teacher I have often said there are two teachers there both who I embody or represent as goddesses there's Isis and there's eros okay these are like sister goddesses their twin aspects of the same force which is truth okay they're both teaching truth Isis teaches it with love and compassion in Ghent in a gentle way and you have to come to Isis the gentle teacher with acceptance with open-mindedness open-heartedness and acceptance and then you don't need to suffer because you can take the truth in an open minded open-hearted way and then not create suffering as a result but if you refuse the teachings of Isis then she turns over the lesson to the disciplinarian who is Eris the goddess of chaos and Eris teaches you in a very harsh punitive way and says you ignored the teachings of my better half Isis I'm the harsh disciplinarian who is going to bring chaos into your experience because you ignored the higher laws and because you wanted to ignore the laws of nature and I'm going to explain to you why that's a completely illogical poor choice that is based in ego that you don't want to understand how things actually operate here and that you're under boundary conditions called the laws of nature and I'm going to bring chaotic results and chaotic experiences into your life so that you can learn that what you did was the incorrect way of going about things it was the it was the incorrect choice and then adjust your behavior accordingly the problem is yes go ahead I'm sorry you you continue in and all that onto it answer or correlation to that is the same story that everybody already knows you can tell someone you know what don't put your hand in the fire you'll get hurt that's wrong did you get burned open-minded this will be okay why do you say that well because it's happened to me okay I'll take your place okay fine but you're gonna have that other percentage that's gonna say yeah I don't believe you and we'll still stick their hand in the power and get burn and and their adolescent that's correct so in a lot of ways we need to almost release attachment from this idea that people should not be getting hurt the world is a dangerous physical place there are there are potential dangers everywhere whether you accept that understand that or not that's the case what we need to shed in the way of shedding fear is the fear of chaotic results chaotic results when we make choices are not har horrific outcomes they are teaching experiences that we need to learn from this most sinister aspect of this control system is due to the fear of the experience the control system is trying to sanitize the world from chaotic consequences this is the most dangerous horrific thing that could possibly come about because then the teaching experience that is made possible through chaotic outcome is also sanitized from the world and people are not apt to then learn what they did wrong and make a different decision what they're going to keep doing is doing the same thing indefinitely over and over and over again continuously creating suffering and that is what this control system once that's what it wants a prison of suffering from which there is no escape because there is no opportunity to learn from your mistakes to learn from chaos all they want to do is physically control but never get you to the understanding of the underlying causal principles and as long as we remain in that level of ignorance we will never understand why we have made the wrong decision and we will never understand why it is that we are actually enslaving ourselves yeah and the hints are all around us in and entertain the media I have a dream theater song here that one of the lyrics is I will not go to the light unto our path through the darkness caverns of my heart so it's like saying you know I'm not going to go you know live my life where everything's you know perfect and pretty and everything you know without learning what the suffering is all about what the darkness is because you need that path and you know because if everything is all you know that night what is that that cookie cutter commuted community with the white picket fence and the little dog and everything is all pretty but you never through the slums and the ghettos to see what the other sites like and you know if you're not going to have a full picture and then that's also in movies that's a line in Batman and I begin where Bruce Wayne is told you know why do we fall so to learn you know the cost as well well you're always facing always protected and then it's you know everything's all pretty you're never really going to know exactly picture you so let's let's go back to the example of you know speed limits on the highway right if people want to just flagrantly ignore that I say wonderful they should be free to flagrantly ignore it now what will happen as a result probably a lot of chaos right I'm not even in denial of that I'm not doubting that I'm not saying no it would be great and everybody would drive 120 miles an hour and there would be no accidents I'm not saying that there would probably be a lot of chaos and it would be a dangerous place to even put yourself into but guess what I would rather have that than what we have now because I'm not afraid of that kind of chaos because if that kind of chaos erupts it erupts onto the world because people just flagrantly try to ignore the laws of physics and totally drive as fast as they want as chaotically and irresponsibly as they want there's going to be a lot of death and that would not be a bad thing because first of all you would have to ask yourself why would there be so many people trying to drive like that to begin with that's first of all a cause one of the causal factors of that chaos and you would want to try to get to the root of what's going on in your head in your in your emotions in your thoughts that you would even express that kind of behavior see that's even brought on people's you know desire to drive like a maniac has brought on because of how repressed they are and right we would start looking at these things if some chaos like that were interjected into our life and we weren't tried we weren't being sanitized from it all the time you know people who are attempting to sanitize the world from chaos are doing one of the most absolutely disruptive and they're doing something that is a disservice to humanity we need to embrace not only Isis but eros as well we need to embrace truth but embrace the possibility for chaos that's how we shed our fear that we say we are willing to allow people to make mistakes even if they're horrific and result in death because we know at some level there is no death you know this fear that oh my god the world has to be made safe for nothing but infant children you know and anything that can't be brought down to that base level we need to purge and do away with it this is an asinine child's view of reality that is all based in total fear a 100% fear and that's ultimately gonna do nothing to put you into a prison you're gonna build a prison of your own design but and put yourself into it and throw away the key if that's the level of fear you live in all day you know 24 hours a day so chaos yes yeah listening to you now that brings up something a little bit off but it's still parallel George Carlin that little sketch she does about infection or bacteria everybody scrubbing this hygienic and all being clean and on it he talked about how when he was younger they used to jump in the East River and swim in liquid crap and they never got sick because their body was always exposed to this bacteria and dirt and filth a new system I practiced and knew how to deal with right there you go absolutely poignant so Ivan we do have some other calls in the queue but thanks so much for coming back on and sharing those great points with us listen if we hit another law I'll bring you back up if you want to stay on the line fantastic great stuff okay let's go to a caller from Philadelphia to15 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome yeah great to talk to you hey Who am I speaking with dr. Lebon if you pull it off yeah great what do you have for us today I think we're just talking about you know looking at some of the laws like the other speed limits for instance it's a great example I live in Northeast Philadelphia all right I live in Center City and I work in Northeast Philadelphia and every morning when I Drive up i-95 the main highway going up there everybody's on their way to work and they're all traveling well over the speed limit with everybody's doing 70 75 miles an hour and yet nothing bad is happening so if the police they really wanted to rev up a revenue-generating machine they could certainly do there but nothing bad was happening from that so all these laws that are being created to try to all these codes trying to control us really doesn't amount to anything other than that juicing the revenue machine and the control mechanisms of the state yeah absolutely I mean that's what they are they're their revenue men for the new king that's called government exactly and they don't they don't see that that's the role that they're playing they actually you know believe in their religion called authority and they accept that you know in their own minds at least they believe that they're doing something that is required and that is good at some level and they don't understand that what they're doing is one again one of the biggest disserve is's that you could possibly do to humanity because it's all based in fear it's all based on the idea that you have to control people's actions and you can't let them make their own mistakes and you know again it's it's this idea that human beings have to be perpetually safe if we can't get over that fear of the potential for chaos and suffering to happen in our lives we can't be free it's an impossibility right and you have some common sense you know so you understand that that's going to burn you so you try to avoid that outcome and you do that because you have some self-respect people who drive like a maniac obviously don't care about whether they hurt themselves or anybody else see it's all about care it's all ultimately about respect if you love yourself you're not going to go out highway and drive like a lunatic because you care about what would happen to you first and foremost actually you know even if you didn't care about other people you know a person who's even totally self-centered you know from a selfish perspective what drive like an animal because you know he cares enough about himself that he wants to stay alive but when the ego is so run amok that you don't even care about yourself then it's all me me me III but not even from a perspective of self-respect or self-care true self care it's like you don't care about anything you don't care about what could possibly happen to other people and most of all you don't even care about what could have possibly happen to yourself you know so that's all based on the lack of self-love an attitude like that and I would also say that the lack of knowledge and self-respect is displayed in police and and other control based institutions because they're in this fear-based consciousness that you know they have to control the outcome and they have to sanitize the world from the possibility of chaos happening and again both of those things are only going to lead us into a deeper and deeper prison society until we understand these dynamics from a philosophical point of view and from a deep perspective of the of working with these this shadow material if you will within the human psyche within each one of us doing that work that's the only way we're going to get out of this mindset that's leading us deeper and deeper into enslavement and a prison society especially the way this country was originally founded when you look at how Pennsylvania for instance was created policing is really a function of the people it was never a function of the state that's why we elect we elect sheriffs and constables and coroner's but in the 20th century all that was changed around like for instance the Pennsylvania State Police was an organization that was created in 1905 by an act of the Pennsylvania legislature but there was no there was no lawful basis in that there was nothing within the Pennsylvania Constitution to grant us that authority but if you want to have a state that can actually enforce its control you need to have your own enforcers and so this is one of the things that happened in Pennsylvania and I happen all across the country obviously yes and that further further subverted the individual sovereignty of the American people yes but the truth of the matter is that the power still remains with each individual citizen within each of the states and within the United States and as long as they are willing to actually stand up and take responsibility for that for the power that they actually have and part of that is partially it's being able to use the word no that's right thing that's right but also being a being able like you were saying earlier to speak out against these and justices that are happening and edgy can we rewrite and educating exactly I mean we really do have we have the ultimate authority this government that is currently being utilized by these dark forces is ultimately still under our control if we simply wake up and take it back and say no to the practices that they're engaging in right absolutely one of the things that I've done is I am I started to try to figure out a way that I can interface with the system as it exists in order to try to get true to some of these dominators I try to wake them up right hand today I within the last three months or so I became a constable in the state of Pennsylvania so I carry a badge now I'm not a police officer right I am a piece on the peace officer right I'm a peace officer in the traditional sense of how the founders thought about the way that we govern ourselves within this country and it's based on the natural law so the whole idea of some state trooper sitting behind the billboard with a radar gun is so antithesis suited for the whole idea of what it is to be a free is an individual yes absolutely well I I think that you know as more and more people wake up I'm seeing I'm really getting very positive feeling about that we can we can take this thing back it's going to work we're going to continue to have to work at it the education process is just daunting if I had if I had zero if I thought there was a zero probability that it could be reversed I probably wouldn't say a word I wouldn't come out and say a word but uh you know even if it doesn't work out that way we still have to continue on and speak the truth and do what we know to be right and that's why I do what I do you know I'm kind of detached from the outcome whatever outcome is granted I'm prepared to handle I'm psychologically prepared to handle whatever does come down the pike but I do still think that we can turn this around otherwise I like I said I probably wouldn't be saying a word so I thought definitely think that's a healthy attitude to take and you brought up really good points I thank you for for calling in and I want a comment on one of the things that you talked about which is um you know that we have to reach out to people and educate them and you so I commend you on what you're doing in trying to help to reach the dominators mindset to reach there yeah you know entire a way of seeing the world their worldview and try to change that from the it from the inside by working with them in that respect and I think you know we could go back to this speed limit analogy that Ivan brought up you know even if chaos happens as a result of people ignoring these laws whose responsibility ultimately is it it's all of the people because they didn't work with each other to bring an understanding of you know the causal dynamics that could lead to these negative consequences to each other they didn't work to educate each other the it was ultimately ignorance that led to that chaotic condition and the willingness to allow that ignorant to grow and spread unchecked so that's why we all have to make the realization we all have to come to the realization that the real great work is the work of Education it's the work of working with people and in a one-to-one basis you know and if you can in a wider scale in a bigger scale if you have access to certain kinds of media to help them to gain an accurate understanding of these laws that we're talking about so that they can make good choices that are in harmony with nature's laws and therefore they don't create all kinds of suffering for themselves and others and put the world into a deeper condition of darkness and despair that's what it's ultimately all about so I think the last caller makes a great point about you know reaching out to people and being an educator yourself so excellent let's let's take another call let's go to area code five one seven area code five one seven you are live on the what on earth is happening radio show welcomed by whom I speaking with pam pam welcome my daughter okay I appreciate that very much and for us we kind of feel like an orbiter led to you and then we can cross you and they're just saying something but we were thinking about the same time and probably agreed well that's this has been like a really first Pam Pamela I'm sorry your your phone line seems to be breaking up a little bit I don't know if there is a way that you could possibly clear that up I don't know if are you on a cell phone okay I'm not sure where the interference is coming from but continue I can hear and pretty much make it out and maybe try to speak a bit louder if you can yes for me it all started when Gabby said to me that I when I was cooking dinner that well see but that's part about this best ingredient is that it's made with love that's right absolutely sweet and that's true and then I thought okay well what if there is something to this what if there is some kind of field and that love does affect that what would be the opposite if it's you know it's not made with love and then I went on further and God about the animals and stuff and like when we eat animals are we eating their pain and their suffering and all ultimately above all else what would be the force that would be being taken into the individual by doing that practice and therefore that explains why there is so much of an infinitude of this force in the world but tell me what that tell me what that force is Pam hit hit hit hit it right on the head you said that there's death and suffering and you know despair in there and yes there is but what is ultimately the force that we are the force the energetic force that we would really be consuming which explains why it's permeating the entire field of consciousness here on earth what do the animals ultimately experience before they die that's right that's exactly right and that explains so much doesn't it we're taking that into ourselves why do you think we're such a fearful people look at what we're doing and then we're consuming that energy but people are so cut off from the the oneness aspect of things they still think of things in such a left-brain form of separation that they think that they're immune to that or somehow separate from it and they're not they're mistaken so you have a great understanding of how it all really fits together and works and how we're taking in that energy that we have ultimately helped to create it's a sad commentary that that's what we're doing as species but at least you have an understanding of how it works and you know I think that's a good way to start because now you can you know begin to speak and educate people as to what they're really doing what they're creating because we're a little more like right brained kind of people sure utter and I and sense you educate the males in our family and if I do say well you're you know eating that animals pain and fear and they're like okay you're strange well let me let me can I give you a suggestion with how to possibly approach people like that who you know are very left brained attempt to appeal to themselves attempt to always put it in in the sense of well if you were in this position if you were in reverse the roles in other words have them try to have them at least for a moment if they're willing to engage you for long enough to put themselves in that position and say what would you be experiencing if that were you that's the only way I think that you could begin to reach people like that it's one of the techniques that I would use but I feel your pain regarding how difficult it is to bring this subject matter up even to people and to get them to listen to it for any length of time because they're so indoctrinated that it is normal natural necessary this three ends argument and that it's just the way things are and that's the way it should always be there that there's that so ingrained in them that they can't even imagine that it could possibly be any different ever but you know I that's a little bit of advice I hope that you know you could maybe practice that or try it and see what kind of results that you get but you know I definitely hear what you're saying and like I said I feel your pain when it comes to that because I know there's a lot of shutdown people out there so Pam do you have anything else for us absolutely thank you so much okay let's go to another caller we have about 25 minutes left in the show I'll give the caller number one more time we only have another couple callers hanging on the line so 8 6 6 8 4 1 1 0 6 5 is the number to join us once again 8 6 6 8 4 1 1 0 6 5 talking about the the topic for the show today and next week for the call-in shows is the non support of dominators and anything that I've covered within that whole solution section over the past months is fair game here we go Wes from Ontario you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hello Mike thank you thanks wait to talk to you I really appreciate your message and I would like to thank you for your show sure thank you know you're the vessel of the information that's but it's great that you're doing it just a messenger that's all and well you do a great job at sending the message thank you I just I guess to be comical again say my name is Watson has been 30 days since I've consumed meet mediators Anonymous I been thinking about it a long time and when you started mentioning it in your solution section I really started in that's getting a deeper it was I guess grappling with the floor and against playing I got sort of caught up with that vegetarian this book my idea to and it created a lot of computers but you've clarified it for me I appreciate that and I made I just and when you put the caveat to watch Earthlings made it a gold and my wife was sort of on the fence of it I encouraged her to and what was the result if I may ask and can you clarify for the listeners what was the basis of that decision it was the wing face-to-face with the actual suffering and there it is you know in the process of having their food CII tell people this is the only consideration in this entire issue there is no other consideration the consideration is the suffering of life that life experiences and if you understand that you understand that you're a part of that and that you're actually perpetuating it not to pull back from it is a willful choice to stay within a system of control because that is being reflected back to you to you according to the laws of the universe and that is not a religious belief system it doesn't matter who calls it that it doesn't matter how much how firmly people believe that that's a religious belief it is an accurate understanding of the causal dynamics and governing dynamics in nature that are bound to the law of Correspondence if someone understands those laws deeply enough they understand you cannot continue in gate to engage in something that continues to perpetuate such forms of suffering and ever be free it's an impossibility so that is the only issue it's the suffering that's involved and now you make a great point there Wes and I I also really had a WoW moment when you were reading vegetarian and occultism by CWA when you were talking a different topic the odd be terrible yes sir maybe what the other guy when you're saying like the highest ideal is to try oh yes that's a Rosicrucian ideal a tenet of the Rosicrucian philosophy and mystery tradition is that we engage our will regardless of what is taking place you never stop trying to achieve a higher ideal I always have friends that quote from Star Wars you know the Yoda character saying there's no prize and though I always argue with and saying no if you don't try you never know if you can do it what to try is to do something you know that is to take action it means that you you know that you may fail or you you have the engage the possibility that you could end up not succeeding but you're going to again get up and do it again anyway and continue it's not it's about not giving up it's about a sustained effort of will and that is what care is all about never stopping caring never becoming apathetic just continuously engaging the will even if you're not immediately seeing the effects even if you're not immediately seeing big changes it doesn't matter you're in the world you're a part of the dynamic contribute your energy to the right and withdraw it from the wrong and never stop trying to do that in a better and better fashion that's what it's all about yes I really appreciated so when you started your solution section you were talking about the notion of being a shaman mm-hmm one who sees in the dark in one who can see in dark times yes when you spoke about that I had huge internal just a yes that's me and spending a long time in confusion and trying to sort things out and had a sense of things being wrong and things could be better but under bite people that were so submerged and everything they didn't see the point of even talking about it right right they want to turn away willfully anymore what's gonna poke what's there yeah unless you brought up some phenomenal points and you know I thank you for you know you're bringing these issues to light and for calling in and speaking with us so great call very much right are you you have a good one thank you all right so the toll-free number to join us is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five the topic for today and for next week continuing is the non-supportive dominators anything that we've covered on the non-supportive dominators solutions section is fair game to bring up and talk about and we don't have any new callers in the queue so I'll go back to Ivan and see if he had any other points that he wanted to bring up he had a small list and let's see if he has something else so Ivan from Arizona welcome back to what on earth is happening you have something else for us oh yeah mark the case of the previous callers they pushed on a few of the notes that I had here that I didn't touch on regarding the Constitution and founding fathers again everything seems to be taking a front to back or or backwards so my notes here have that people computing Constitution and founding fathers as giving us or the theaters of freedoms rather than the Constitution our founding fathers being like notaries or recorders or writers on paper okay what is in a banana leaf or self-evident we have already ours so people take that Oh our founding fathers Gables the Constitution gave us one alone that's the group of people that wrote down to share with everybody else turn while we already have yes that again goes to that Dominator is going you know from protective you know not now do as we say so everybody started you know taking the Constitution and founding fathers as oh that's not the source of our freedom and we have great until updated a now what we already have exactly it's a technique it's a it's a mind control technique called obfuscation is yes trying to trying to reverse the roles or reverse the the ideas and get people to believe something that was in no way the original intent and you know I don't think the any of the callers or listeners or maybe some of the listeners might be under that misapprehension but I think most people have a who listen to this show anyway I would hope have a kind of a firm grasp that rights don't come from the Constitution or from you know any the the the the pen of any man you know that their inherent and their inherent to creation and there are birthright born with rights and all that these documents were intended to do was to enshrine the natural basis of these rights and explained that they could never be separated from any man or woman by any other man or woman or a group of men or women so hopefully that is very clearly distinguished and it's very very synchronistic that you would bring this topic up as a matter of fact yeah of course this fits in with the whole idea of domination of the idea of man's law you know and this being the the highest law the highest law is nature's law it's not man's law but um it's it's extremely synchronistic that you should bring this up actually right now during this time because during this week between last week's show and this week's show I actually downloaded a large collection of videos from a BitTorrent website that was called let me see if I remember the title exactly it was called civil liberties and the Bill of Rights and it was a 37 video series about the intent of the Constitution what our civil liberties are and how the Bill of Rights you know attempted to protect them and I began watching the series and I was quite disappointed that in the series the actual lecturer the professor who is giving the lectures these college-level series of lectures on civil liberties in the Bill of Rights actually makes the statement that are the Constitution granted rights or gives us our rights and that was a very big obfuscation or possibly a deliberate misleading who knows you know I don't know the person you know personally who was actually putting these videos out or giving these these series of lectures but it was such an oversight that I was just I thought this was going to be a great series and you know you know go in and it was going to really make the the points that needed to be made regarding such topics but one of the first things the first fundamentally flawed axioms that he approached in the video was us making the statement that the Constitution granted rights in some way and I just you know I did a facepalm at that point and I'll probably still give it a chance and go through them because I don't just immediately dismiss something when I hear one thing that I don't agree with so you know hopefully I could report that it got better as it goes but it's funny that you would mention that point wanna you know emphasize it when this just occurred earlier this week in a video series that I had downloaded and begun to watch the Goldi mentioned C W Leadbeater I read his arianism and occultism yes and then about a week later at work one of my co-workers who also once in a while the six year old and we have like-minded conversations tells me I went to this garage sale and this guy has a bunch of old books that look kind of interesting and I you know it was pretty interesting the time stuff you might like one of them was by some guy called like Leadbeater or something a Meyerson of like what so she let me to sort out after the astral plane I'm like wow interesting isn't it for you yeah his work is very good um you know it's I have to make this statement to qualify it however you know just because someone puts out you know good or accurate work doesn't even necessarily mean that they entirely lived up to it in their lives Leadbeater you could look up had a lot of controversy that went on with him in the in the Masonic institutions and in the of the oesophagus so you know we have to separate the man from the teachings you know I can do things that are wrong in my life and that wouldn't invalidate things that I have said or attempted to convey we have to understand that human beings are not perfect you know and the best we can aspire to is to continue to try to make ourselves better and live up to the ideals that we have we have set for ourselves and and come to understand regarding the laws that we've come to understand regarding natural law so this is another aspect a lot of people's resistance to certain topics or ideas is they say oh well this come came from this person and he may have said that at this point or that I didn't agree with her said this other or done this thing that I found objectionable or questionable well that doesn't mean that it invalidates everything that the person ever did or said there are some things that we do that are in harmony with truth and then there are other things that we can do that we fall short of those ideals of those that higher aspect of consciousness it doesn't mean that one thing somebody ever did or said that you agreed with I'm disagreed with I'm sorry totally invalidates everything that they ever put out there neither should we fall on the other side that if you agree with something on some issue that that means he didn't write something else or do something else that was completely wrong and that you shouldn't go along with so we have to be discerning and the way to be discerning about it is to come to an understanding of not natural law ourselves then we can see is this person really in harmony with that do they have an understanding of it and are they projecting that not only in their works but in their actions in their lives as well take time if you want to continue if you want to continue to go on we can go till the end of the show unless someone else calls in we still have no one else on the line so I'll give the number one more time eight six six eight four one one zero six five but Ivan don't worry about if you have you know a list of things that you brought up I'm liking what you're throwing at us so just continue picture I have you know like on Facebook everybody goes around you the pictures with quotes and sayings and there's something here that you mentioned a little bit of it before and as you were speaking to kind of resonate with this and I can't make out where the quote comes from but I can read actually quote sure your work your work is not to drag the world kicking and screaming into a new awareness your job is to simply do your work sacredly secretly and silently and those with eyes to see and ears to hear will respond kind of quotas unfortunate talking about earlier with you know not putting anything everybody says another thing say this you know even so if you were talking about earlier in the show I kept looking at this like this is what he's talking about you can't force people you know to believe everything I know that determines the right way and I find is another people that would get it like the one of the previous caller said you know that's listening to your show and it's like aha moment did you know different things for different people at different times whether there's something they see or something they hear it'll come around and it's meant to come on for them right plant plant the seed you're planning a seed it's an impossibility for someone to unhear something so to not say it and to just remain silent even if you think that it's going to be a an uncomfortable result or you know a a tense situation possibly might develop I don't think is the way to approach it I think the way to approach it is to speak what you know to be true you don't have to do it in a totally offensive way or in a way that is gonna really make like I said make the person feel like total crap or anything like that well you can say in a way that is backed by the force of truth I'm not talking about violence I'm talking about force the force of truth truth is a force at work in our lives we're very resistant to it as a people but we can speak the truth with force with the force that is behind it and emphatically and unapologetically and put it out there and our words cannot be unheard it still went into the subconscious even if it didn't reach the conscious mind and it can sit there dormant as a seed until it's ready to sprout so definitely you know put put it out there is of the most of the utmost importance to not put it out there means you sowed nothing and therefore there can't be any you know harvest there can't be a reaping of the the the fruits of that labor the labor is to put it out there that is the work so a great point so we do have yes I'll tell you what we do have one other caller why don't I just take that one and I'll come back to you to wrap up the show how does that sound all right great okay hold on the line okay Keith in Arizona you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hey fantastic as always thank you I really enjoyed doctor Laura Eisenhower interview she was great absolutely yeah literally and I appreciate your tackling my subjects but a lot of other hosts don't you know buffet oh yeah 9/11 was an inside job but then they won't go any further and look at some other issues that you do one of the keys I found that's helping me it's you know we're talking about self-empowerment right you know eating better and deprogramming Armand and the one of the biggest ones I found instead of working with subconscious programming and it's occurring that I had not heard a lot of people talking about and I'm talking about childhood it's and past lives as well as you know present programming that will constantly get in and I wanted wanted to hear your thoughts on that oh boy is that is that a big influence I mean you know that's something that largely is remains unseen in our lives it's what people have called the unknown unknowns it's things that are so ingrained as as fundamental axioms of our our perceptions and our belief systems that we don't even consciously recognize their presence absolutely and this is done through you know the blind leading the blind it's done through ingrained indoctrination and repetition things that we pick up from our parents and our teachers etc people who we consider authority figures in our lives and we take their we take on their flawed fundamental axioms of belief into ourselves and then make it part of our programming so that's IIIi have discussed this a little bit in the past on the show but it's something that we probably should cover a little bit more and try to go deeper into that and how we can bring some of that hidden programming up to the surface so we can become consciously aware of it the more I do it the more present I am in other words more on acting based on what I'm actually confronting right as opposed years and traumas and hey it's like an onion I need to keep going deeper and deeper in it you're spending time you're spending time working with the self when you're working with that material that shadow material is what needs to be worked with it's not our enemy it's actually our friend when you go into those deeper recesses of the psyche where no one wants to go you know it's that deep dank cellar you know of ourselves and you start working with that to transmute that material that's what self work self respect self-love is all about most people don't want to take the responsibility to do that work but we must if we're going to really change the world for the better and that's you know something that everybody has to do on a one-to-one basis it's about going within and it's really about working with ourselves so I think that's a great point that you brought up and more people need to step into that observer mode of awareness to watch their own actions watch themselves become more aware of their subconscious their deep deeply rooted some conscious programming and bring that up to the conscious level so good point I'm at the point now where I'm reading what other people underlying motivations are that often they're not conscious though you kind of read where they're at and it's a great communicating with you I'm Stephen what appears sure anyway thank you very much we got bit by the out at the end of the show so thanks so much Keith for calling in Ivan calling next week and continue with some other points if you wish sire didn't get a chance to get back to you that's all the time we have for this edition of what on earth is happening folks have not been able to fully confirm the presence of a couple of individuals I think people are going to be really excited about but hopefully I will be able to make that announcement by next week we're actually by the week after because next week the show will actually be a replay I'm going to be replaying the show that I did the interview that I did with Laura Eisenhower from two weeks ago February March and April regarding the free your mind conference we do still need contributors and we still do need people who are willing to help to organize this event so if you're in the Philadelphia area and you want to get involved in helping out logistically with the free your mind conference please do get in touch with me at mark at for your mind conference calm or market what on earth is happening calm a donations would be very much appreciated we haven't really got many donations we collected a little bit at the first fundraiser we're going to be having other fundraisers event here in the local area but if you're not from the local area and you want to make a contribution to the free your mind conference which is very expensive to put on a conference and fly people out from all over the country get a venue in a metropolitan area lodge all the speakers it's something that we have you know a couple of benefactors who are helping us with but we definitely could have preached could use some donations coming in from people if you want to make a donation to the free your mind to event please visit the free your mind conference website at WWF confronts calm click on the donations page there you can send an email and you will receive instructions on how to make a donation to the conference buying tickets in advance is probably one of the best ways that you can actually make a donation I mean I would consider that as good as a donation we want to get tickets as far in advance ticket sales as far in advance as possible because we could then use some of those proceeds to help pay for the speaker transportation and lodging so getting your tickets in advance will really help us out and we would really appreciate it people can make their plans as soon as possible to attend and get the tickets that they are going to need as soon as they possibly can without having been said the end the Fed rally here in Philadelphia took place yesterday on Saturday September 22nd and I have to say great job to everyone who is involved as people know the last and the Fed rally that took place I had some you know constructive criticism to give because I felt that there were things that could have been done better and I think at this one a lot of people stepped up picked up the ball ran with it and really improved the effort there was less people out at this event and yet I still feel it was more effective the organization was well done congratulations to Michael Heights Mike Salvi doing a great job in an organization of this event and the March was done very effectively it was at a good pace wasn't rushed and people brought out flyers we outreach to the public I've never seen more people take this information from us than at this rally and I'll tell you another reason I think it was is when we commented on this at the rally there were the the Ron Paul errs did not really come out to this rally it was all focused on the topic of ending the fed it wasn't about supporting a political candidate you didn't see a lot of Ron Paul signs in the crowd you saw people who really had knowledge about what the Fed is how it's a total financial fraud how it's a Ponzi scheme and they were there to stick to that topic it was a focused effort and that's what made it effective when we reached out to people on the street they didn't see it as well this is some kind of a political campaign and who cares about that Kennedy they saw it as what are they trying to tell us you know about this institution and I'd say about 90% of people who I reached my hand out to with a flyer with information about this fraudulent institution took that flyer out of my hand and I've never ever seen that high of a percentage of people who were at least open-minded enough to want to receive the information it was usually about a 50/50 split in the past maybe even a little bit less than that about 90% of people took information about the Federal Reserve System at least out of my hand who I tried to hand it to yesterday on the street here in Philadelphia and that was an encouraging thing to see I also gave a talk at the event and that is up on YouTube I will probably post it to my site in the coming days so that's the event announcements that I have let's see if we have anyone on the phone yet let me go to the call center here yes we do have some callers so again the topic the non-supportive dominators open minds for the rest of the show here we go area code four eight zero area code four eight zero you are live on the water on earth is happening radio show welcome okay thank you very much I just I've been listening to you for about a year now and I want to thank you for for your rhetoric everything that you've been putting out and really thinks sinks in with everything I just want to know I want to ask you if you're familiar with the term aquaponics hydroponics but aquaponics I have heard of it but I don't know how much I know about it I know that I've read into it a little bit but why don't you tell the listeners what it really involves okay aquaponics is a closed loop of water it allows you to raise fish and all the nutrients from the fish water get sent to your plants and your vegetables your the root systems clean the water and send it right back into the front into the pond so it's a closed-loop you just no matter what climate you're in no matter how big of an area you're dealing with that you have even if it's a balcony you can you can be connected to your own food source and you know as I've been listening to that the carnism verses vegetarian I also want to you know just say not a lot of people are calling and we're doing this year about this are they well well I mean I would suggest I would suggest that we might not get very many people to argue the point because of the prerequisite that I set and what I have noticed is that those who defend the practice won't sit down and watch Earthlings or they haven't and if they did preposition will magically almost magically change because they are really seeing firsthand what this practice involves and I and then the reason why I just I really want to get the thing it cost about aquaponics is you know yeah if you're if you if you eat meat you know and you want to start an aquaponics you can you can raise tilapia that's that's the most popular thing to do with aquaponics errs and and you can still eat meat but I think this would be the way that we as individuals in our communities and start you know telling our neighbors hey you know no matter how much space you got you know you know we you know you can do this you can you can be connected with your food source we can start you know start on this track to where you know just getting our families involved in the in the in the actions of all doing these things that we need to more and more I think just like Ivan Alton finish a last call from last last week he's putting together a website he's out in Phoenix I'm out in Mesa out here in Arizona and and we're trying to do feels like the same thing put together a nice fashion package for everybody of resources and solutions for the people that are on the same page and and just just keep moving ahead it seems like there's miracles right around the corner and you know my daughter has leukemia and we're almost through with our treatments and we're hoping to have everything going on our side of town as far as our backyard and being connected with our food source but and and so we don't have that happen again we're you know now we're dependent on a lot of things just like everybody else and we've just got to keep chipping away and it it's there and I really can't thank you enough for for putting all this out there I can't you know I get frustrated every day but it's just you have to keep going absolutely well thank you for the call and what I would say about regarding you know raising fish is I wouldn't look at that as any different than raising any other kind of animal for consumption however one of the points I think that could be taken from this is that we do need to be around our own food I think part of the problem that we're facing in society as far as dependency goes is that food has grown well outside of where we live and then its trunk trucked in from outside and that uses way more energy way more resources makes it more expensive we need to be growing food around where we live and you know walking past our food on a daily basis that's really what a smart society would be doing and that doing it in the city it makes it difficult there are challenges associated but there's a lot of different techniques for people who want to do this and they're researchable and they work and if more people started doing them then it would kind of become an organic process that would become easier and easier to do the problem is so few people are engaged in that practice I can tell you we do have a little garden in our backyard but to step it up to the point where we can get the volume of food that we need it's it's difficult to do it and it's expensive to do as well so that we need to engage in you know practices that are kind of distributed and a lot of people are engaging them and helping out the effort there's a lot of information about this online you could even just look up on YouTube you know growing food around where you live there's projects and communities that are getting behind efforts such as that and I think that's definitely really important and it takes us away from dependency and domination because food is one of the biggest dependencies that there is and that's what the dominators ultimately want to control so good point brought up by the previous caller let's move on to the next caller caller from the 8th 1/3 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome what do you have for us Wow thanks so much for taking my call mark and I'm sure I'm speaking on a lot of people's behalf and just saying man so much gratitude for what you're doing you know your show is definitely a listening to it from the first podcast the last one it's just a it's been an ongoing spiritual experience for me and I really appreciate that well I appreciate that sir thank you yeah and I'd like to point the finger inward if that's okay yeah you know one of the alchemical green language words that I heard is a the word mirror clue in that the word neuro clue actually means miracle and one of the reasons I really resonate what your show is because you know I I was in the same spot to where you know I had to face my own reflection in order to in order to stay alive you know is either either I had to change or or I was going into the grave but man as soon as I faced myself you know and and came to grips man I got butter and and they say you know I'm a little bit nervous right now so sorry I'm not strong voice shaking no problem just take your time but uh yeah man I mean the place in consciousness that I was before before I went through that process and that you know I used to wish that the United States would just go over to Iraq and make it a glass parking lot you know just total I mean just dark dark place that I was in but the man as soon as I started facing myself you know I got better and just like you said and I remember a few podcasts back you said it's all about self analyzation that's self disclosure and amending the past and that's it part of what I brought up in the speech that I gave at the end of federal yes was that admitting that we are wrong is not a weakness it's a strength you know being willing to look at oneself say no my former actions were wrong and I'm willing to make an apology and the apology is actually changing the actions it's not just about saying that you're sorry it's about men actually reversing the course of your actions and doing something differently so that's definitely a strength and people need to see the admission of wrongdoing the admission of you know a formerly poisoned worldview and you know the actions that are based on that worldview being willing to say no that is that was wrong and I can reverse my position I can change my mind on that then do something different that is absolutely 100% a strength and not a weakness and should not be looked at as such by people the ego wants us in that condition where we can never admit that we are wrong that is a weakness that is what keeps us weak that is what keeps us you know how back from evolution and consciousness and ultimately what keeps us enslaved indeed and I I really gotta say man I love the the simplicity that you boil it down into in that you know we really don't have to go through all the all the conspiracy details about what's going on and especially with the monetary system you know we don't have to explain to people what happened at Jekyll Island and all that stuff I mean there's money it's violently imposed on us and no one can argue with that and and and to see that in your show and you're able to convey that information to such a boil down you know it's just all about right and wrong and it's all about face you know facing our own reflection and you know treating other people the way we want to be treated and the fact that that you extend that into animal practice as well man you know I'm working on that and uh and and I'm noticing immediate differences just in trying and straying away from me you know a couple of days a week and just how much better I feel morally since I feel better morally the actions that I'm putting into the universe this that they're better grounded and in the universe and will respond the universe will read it exactly and it's all about those mirror clues man you know I've been receiving those mirror clues now for fur along for a while for for about eight years and then here in your show has just definitely like it's refined it's refined me it's taught me so much and like I said man I'm sure I'm speaking for a lot of people that aren't able to call in right now but your show is just it is so awesome and I'm so appreciative of what you're doing I appreciate you sir so thanks so much for the call and you brought up a lot of good points there because the truth is always simple the truth is simple it is it isn't about you know bogging people down with an overabundance of details it's about getting down to the primary fundamental axioms of our belief systems and challenging them from that level it's from a deep philosophical level that we have to look at what our deepest deepest held beliefs are challenged them and find out if they hold true and if they do not they have to be let go the attachment must be released from them and that's what people have a difficult time doing because they've been so used to staying in that belief system that they don't know what else there is they're in fear of abandoning that because then their thinking goes too well what else is there what you know if I don't accept this what what is real you know and that's a very insecure feeling for most people we have to always take it back to the philosophical fundamental axioms we get down to the very base foundations of a belief system and analyze it from there take a deep look at it from there that's where we're going to get to the heart of truth and ultimately as this past caller said that's all about looking into oneself that's about looking into the mirror is what that's about so a great points great call thanks for the call let's go on to another caller here we go caller you are live on what on earth is happening welcome we have for us well yes hey work uh thanks for that thanks for the show it's great show thank you uh I come here this kind of like a also good news tip almost like it's it's not for the faint of heart and I would say that it rivals Earthlings in it and it's scale okay I would describe it as like a cultural phenomenon um I kind of stumbled upon an accident like because I yeah I found you on YouTube and YouTube is really great for all sorts of enlightening information but they're also really really great for spreading carnism as like a piercing tannic religion and there's a group that came on about 2010 and they do these they're means their main demographic audiences as I would say from college age college age students to 10 year olds home and what they do is they like get cones and pounds and pounds of meat and then they just do like craft it into things or any like act like they're cannibalizing it like they're you know like they're mad zombies and stuff and I think it's actually related to the bath salts incident as well as possibly the shooting the shooting that happened to Colorado as well as some of these other incidents that are happening with people are just going crazy because I know you know these people are it it's and it's really weird because people don't they don't look at they're like oh it's nothing it's nothing they're just it's just entertainment but it's so much more than that however no order yes there there is a ritualistic setting to a lot of these behaviors and you just need to look into how much pharmaceuticals are injected into these animals you know because of the living conditions that they live in hormones as well you know to make them bigger and it's it's unbelievable what we're taking in through a lot of this food and you know people will say oh well you know then you just go to two animals that aren't treated with moans like that or animals that aren't treated you know with chemicals like that it again as we talked about last week it's still a consumption of fear ultimately you're consuming something that was taken by through violence so you're taking in the energy of violence through the field of energy through the field of consciousness that we all live in the problem is that many people refuse to acknowledge that in our connection they don't want to acknowledge that we are not separate from our surroundings and from other beings around us we are not 100% individuated we are individually at expressions of consciousness but that doesn't mean we're cut off from everything around us and nothing that takes place around us doesn't affect us at a deep fundamental level you know that worldview that paradigm of separation is also what needs to be released we need to release attachment that we are separate from everything else and from the surrounding field of energy and life that is all around us we are part of that there is no separation between us and that and that's what this you know worldview healing is all about is about understanding that oneness that lack of separation to many people from a left-brain perspective are caught in that paradigm of separate separateness and to the extent that we're in that paradigm of separateness we are also in the paradigm of enslavement yeah and man well I I guess I can go from I was kind of being in a general sense but specifically it's like it's a YouTube it's at the 11:11 most popular show on YouTube that does this and I mean I got there I got pulled up on Wikipedia and just a list of episodes but they they've got like a food sacrifice and uh but and with that we've got like the psychology of the upside a pentagram they have Sam hauling it that huh that's the name of it that's that that's impressive nothing like hey I'll take a stew um they do live shows like they're even on Jay Leno so this is very this is really like a they're really really dark but they're it's weird cuz they're really popular kind of you can look when they're armed I've been bringing it right up into people's face you know the whole ritualistic aspect of it the satanic aspect of it they're coming more and more out right into the open because society just you know doesn't it they look the other way they don't even care they they just accept it you know it's like oh yeah it's just some uneven accept some of it are accepting it though some of them are they had one thing as I have a functioning cult like if you go on their Facebook they have you know they have like thousands and thousands of likes from the South Bay of comments talking about eating children and I didn't have they literally have a cult you know and and I'm other video games and movies they're coming out to like this Hunger Games the the hostel movies all these Saw movies that came out well I think the Hunger Games in particular is a pretty allegorical about what we could be facing if we keep going down this path yeah so I think I look at that film is like a warning I think people should check out that film and and the books because I checked it out I read into them and while you know I thought you know the the ending of the third book was it to me seemed anti-climactic I was expecting something a little bit bigger but aside from the literary aspects of it I think it's still a great allegory regarding the path that we're heading down as a species into total you know total serfdom you know complete and slave Manan surf them if we don't wake up and realize what's being done legacy worst answerphone serfdom doesn't even begin to it's a sacrifice ritual is what it is they're sacrificing children in The Hunger Games you know that's what they're doing so absolute the craziness is the people that with the show's called it it's on YouTube it's called Epic Meal Time and it's funny because it's it's abbreviated ent I believe ents are like paramedics yes and it's just it's it's really weird it's like my sister came back one day with some homework talking about spying for the xxx administration it was called FAA but the FAA is like a family independence agency it was really weird but they use these abbreviations I've been noticing more and more to associate things sure but Oh babies if you type dizzy huh oh yeah it just if you could check it out someone trying to tell people about it and trying to warn people but it's just I can't get any kind of validation that you know like like you know I go to my Christian grandmother and I try to tell her that if they say right on their thing that they're trying to create an antichrist and she's just like I guess it's just too much of a paradigm shift and you just can't take it the more carnage the more bloodletting the more fear that's released the closer they are that they feel that their belief system is they're going to absorb and and direct that energy this is part of the belief system in the dark occult is that the energy of suffering can be channeled and then directed by them for their aims whether you believe that or not that's their belief and why they continue to do the practices that they do so I haven't seen these particular videos personally but I'm going to definitely check it out on your recommendation and maybe I'll comment on it on a future show so thank you for the call and I definitely agree that there's an entire ritualistic aspect and overtone especially when you see these big huge gatherings of these meat-eating festivals and uh you know wing bowls and things like that that are all about you know putting people into the mentality of just you know animalistic consciousness and and writhing in that you know and you know over gorging yourself on as much meat as you could possibly take into your body you know before you burst it's there's definitely a ritualistic overtones I think part of it is to keep people in base consciousness and base awareness because that's what you know a degraded form of food and graded practices like that will ultimately do so thank you for the call let's move on to another caller area code six zero to area code six zero two you're live on what on earth is happening welcome what do you have for us hello mark yes okay this is Ivan from Phoenix five and welcome hi listen today's show if you hear a little bit of noise in the background it's because I'm at work so let me know if you can hear me clearly it's not then I'll cut it short not a problem you're coming through fine okay good well Wow what do I start I have notes still from last week and more notes that I wrote today and just listened to the first few callers here gave me a whole bunch of new stuff to grant one about talking about that YouTube video influencing people or showing all this death and carnage and everything such as on some of the notes I was going to bring up about movies something I noticed in film like Expendables 2 and active manner and other forms of that nature they tend to show a lot of blood and you know guts and everything of mother people being killed you know so if you're not American and it's fine to blow them up and kill them and everybody's cheering and it's cool right everything but the minute that American gets shot or or killed it's like oh my god yeah no matter films like that are reinforcing this insane notion of over nationalism you know like this excessive nationalism that everybody outside of America is bad as if we're the good guys or something like that and it's a a part it's definitely an influence technique that is used by the military industrial complex to actually get people into their way of thinking about you know of foreigners and other countries you know it's taken them into this xenophobic attitude and it's desensitizing them that these people are somehow not even human that there's some now you know that it's okay or justified to treat them like that so definitely that's that's part of the mind control system that is employed through film and Hollywood and at movies like that aren't allegorical in nature they are there to actually get into the subconscious mind and program it so deftly I added a little particular movies in particular that you brought up but I can definitely tell you that's a technique that's widely used right right and just recently we released in the Raiders of the Lost Ark and IMAX and I went and saw it and I was surprised that this technique obviously has been around for a while but I noticed it even in Raiders of the Lost Ark everyone is seeing Raiders of the Lost Ark is probably familiar with that classic humorous being of that sword needle being a Middle Eastern guy that comes out and indeed astronomist you know grab the gun and shoots them and everybody laughs and once I saw that I was like wow even back then just that subtle mind control you know implantation thereof you know Americans you know we can kill anybody up and look at cool they're cool to do it you know people we have the technology to do it right okay and let me see a mem I was gonna talk about apophysis and allegorical movies confiscation you mentioned The Matrix fan of the apes equilibrium hunger games I have pulled off a few clips together on my own showing you know that um all this boils down to basically saying no to Authority and right to reality that was another a thing wrong that was another big part of my theme at the end of fed rally yesterday was saying no and uh you know I really put my lungs into it yesterday and you know shouted the word know extremely loudly that was heard all across the entire arm you know historic area in in Philadelphia here so you know that energy that spirit is what we really have to take into ourselves if we're going to find the solution because the solution absolutely does lie and sing no no to authority no to these false religions that are really holding us back as a species and holding us back from evolution and consciousness their false religions of authority and money and I you know at some point I want to talk about it some interaction that I had with dominators at the end of Fed rally because uh it was very interesting to see where their perspective still is and uh you know I'm sad to report it's not good it's it's definitely at a very very low level of consciousness and in a very brainwashed State but I'll talk about that a little bit later so do you have anything else for Simon I I have quite a bit more so I don't know if you want me to continue now or you know come back later because I don't stay on the line again yeah that would be great so I'll take another couple of calls and then if there's a law I'll come back to you and also if there's a law I want to get into some of the interaction I had with dominators particular dominators at the end of Fed rally it will be an interesting a an interesting story so thanks for the call and I'll definitely come back to you so hold on the line all right thanks mark great all right let's take another call let me give in the callin number again the callin number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the callin number toll-free eight-six 6-8 four one one zero six five the topic is the non support of dominators anything that we have covered in this entire section on the non-supportive dominators is fair game emotional mind control the absolute nature of truth solutions what are real solutions you know that a solution actually is something that dissolves the false self it dissolves the ego in twos and puts into solution that there is no political or legal solutions that's an illusion that these are these are false paths that people get sent down and they're dead ends they don't lead anyplace they keep the control system going the only solutions based in philosophy and natural law we've talked about conscience justification for people's wrongdoings you know that they want to make endlessly apophysis as Ivan just talked about saying no as the ultimate solution we have to say no to evil that the say no to wrongdoing and stop participating in it by knowing what our rights are what they are not you know we talked about moral culpability and karmic consequences on the show and how at a fundamental level the order follower is always more morally culpable than even the order giver not that they're not both morally culpable but the follower the one who actually carries out the action is it even more morally culpable than the one who whispers in his ear telling him what to do we talked about trauma and bullying and the identification with abuser or victim as part of this very difficult to escape trauma and abuse victim cycle we talked about the reasons for dominators behavior the concept of them being disconnected from the higher self the concepts of groupthink and collectivism and the techniques of cults we explored how dominators ultimately want to abdicate and abandon their personal responsibility for their own actions we went into the occult symbolism that is that is attached to the dominators through their uniforms and regalia you know the occult mockery of the police and military we talked about carnism as being a practice that is the ultimate expression of domination and we talked about women's role in the powerful influence that they can have in the discontinuation of the supportive dominators if they step into that that role they step up in into it and own it and how they could be probably the most powerful influence in that regard so all of that's on the table for today and again the call-in number eight six six eight four 110 65 let's move on to another caller area code three zero one three zero one you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hey thanks for taking my call sure I'm getting late on your show sounds kind of interesting but what got me to call in is the fact that I went to the in the Fed rally okay and I heard that you went went to one as well and I usually thought well it was in Washington DC where I went to mine what city did you go to the Philadelphia in the bedroom where Philadelphia okay alright and how we can turn out in Washington we had about David Koch cash was their witness megaphone and in front of the Treasury Building and we were there for about an hour and with the people there were signs and I mean Adam Koch cash yes Adam cook ah yes yeah I'm gonna say his name wrong I think you said David I'm going home and Adam oh yes animal - yes and so people got up and took turns on the megaphone and you know talk and well while we were there for the treasure of this big white SUV came by with the window rolled down from the street and you can plainly see that the driver the passenger side had a you can see the but stock of his submachine gun so you maybe there's an intimidation factor I don't know of course they're trying to do that they want to dissuade anyone they can through fear to get them to stand down and you know what that is that's a sign of their fear see when anybody knows that they're a liar and an abuser and a person who engages in violence and a person who is ultimately wrong and everything that they're about and doing is wrong they have to justify that and they have to try to defend that with violence because they're afraid of the truth they don't want people speaking the truth that's how difficult it is to defend the lie truth doesn't really need any defense of it truth stands as what it is period bien and never ultimately goes away man can never destroy truth truth is in destructible it cannot be destroyed people can only ignore it for a certain amount of time but it's still there still always there and these people hate the truth they hate freedom they love being slaves they love their enslavement because what they're trying to do ultimately in their own psyche they believe that it is possible to advocate your own personal responsibility and it cannot happen it's it's not only that that you can't it's not not only like you can imagine that that can happen it's an impossibility in the universe it cannot occur you cannot give up your personal responsibility even if you try to do it you have not really done it you can only make the claim that you're trying to give your responsibility away to someone else that still doesn't make it the case that still never makes it true even if you're claiming I'm not responsible I take orders someone else is responsible and that doesn't make it true you're still incorrect you're still wrong and that's what all these people who love this control system love being slaves love perpetuating slavery because they don't want to do their own work on themselves they don't really want to be free they want to be told what to do because that's easier for them and they think erroneously incorrectly okay that they can somehow take their personal responsibility and hand it over to someone else and that's impossible they're attempting to do the impossible they want to add they don't like the fact that two plus two equals four they want two plus two two equal something else but it can't ever equal anything else that's that's an eternal truth that exists at all times and places everywhere in the extant universe and you know people will still try to make up you know ridiculous nonsense about how that you know that will might work out an arithmetic but not another case as well that's a semantical argument that a left brain moron wants to try to throw in you know some kind of uh that the the most ridiculous thing that might not conform to the rule and say well then the what rule doesn't apply everywhere in arithmetic two plus two equals four no matter where you're at in the unit the end that's the truth you know same is true about responsibility these people believe that they can hand it away and that's that's that's all based in fear fear of growing up you know they don't want to grow up they want to remain eternal infants well you're right most most people are lazy they don't want to think for themselves you don't believe the government propaganda the government lies these people that are in positions of minor authority think that somehow that you know they're at the top of the heap and this and and this and this draconian brutal police state can't be pulled off if people refuse to acquiesce that's right and turn on each other like rabid wolves right you're absolutely right without any demo and later on when we're putting from the Treasury Building yeah you've probably seen these big huge armored cars that the DHS is coming at what they look like Brinks trucks on steroids two of them and 202 black SUVs we're right near this intersection all four of them ran around in a circle put on their sirens for about ten seconds and then pulled away you know I guess another intimidation factor it's amazing that you experience this down in DC because in Philadelphia the the police were extraordinarily cooperative with us and actually helped to uh you know uh steer traffic away from you know the rally of protesters so that you know there wouldn't be any altercations with cars they are they helped you know basically ensure that there was good safety between the the people who were marching up and up and down Market Street here in Philadelphia and you know surrounding traffic and and that's what I think at best which should be their role if they're even going to do that or be present at all they actually perform the function that they should be doing and did not attempt in any way to intimidate anyone here in Philadelphia and as a matter of fact they engage this in conversation and I you know I'm going to talk about that a little bit in a bit the vast it until egos so well because they're such an intelligence divide that it is it's it's sad it's very very sad that weren't really talking about people who are so dumbed down that my I I actually feel pitifully sad for many of them so but but at the same time they were at least respectful and I have to give that a credit as human beings they were respectful of what we were there to do so that you know was definitely very different dynamic between Philadelphia and Washington DC and I'm you know not happy to hear that that's how you were treated in you know the capital city well how many people showed up for you probably rally I'd say we probably had about a hundred people in the total March which is also a pathetic number but again it wasn't about numbers I think it was about focused this time and you know whereas we might have had a few hundred people last time you know two or three hundred I don't think it was nearly as effective as this time because the people who showed up this time more quality knew the issue and were there to do some outreach to the public and that's why I think it was quite effective so you know while we had small numbers and I would like to see those numbers increase for people who really understand this issue and want to support it it wasn't about quantity it was about quality sure and then we marched up in front of the Federal Reserve building and I'm surprised that they allow us to get this close we marched from the public sidewalk up to the steps nearly to the doors of the Federal Reserve Building and we stood there and line and burn of symbolic dollar bills right and just started you know talking about the Federal Reserve and they're like a half dozen Federal Reserve guards almost within arm's reach from a couple of them armed with submachine guns and they just stood there and watch the last time we went there they wouldn't even let us get up that far for a minute how many people were at this rally huh how many people would you estimate we're at this rally about fifty or so I would say okay so even may be smaller than the Philadelphia crowd which is you're not saying much I mean the Philly crowd is it was probably as light as it's been for one of these rallies in the past and for for even it to be less than that in Washington that's showing people that showing us that there are not enough people who are actively getting involved you know and coming out to support these efforts it's beautiful I don't know how much good it does we handed out pamphlets and some DVDs and stuff but if I don't do anything then I'll go nuts and maybe am i doing the right thing I know I'm not doing enough but I feel as if I have to do something and but can I talk briefly is on movies maybe I'm a glutton for punishment but let me and say something real quick about your effort here does not do something what you're doing you know if you want to step up the effort and do more great do it you're capable of but do something don't just sit there and talk about the problem you know reach out to people definitely get involved you know and and if you're doing that you can say hey I've contributed I've done something at least and another part of this though it without even just doing something you know do what you're capable of do we put as much effort as you feel you can into it but keep it going sustained effort is what this is about that's what will is about will isn't about making one big burst you know effort and then stopping that's not what's going to get this done ladies and gentlemen if you think that's how it's going to work you're sadly mistaken and extremely naive this is going to be about patient sustained willpower sustained effort is what is going to be required you know they say you know slow and steady wins the race and it's true what the chains of slavery are going to break through constant sustained pressure upon them that's how we'll make them break not just one quick you know burst and then boom snap and then it's done it's not going to happen like that it's going to be again of a patient sustained effort where you may not see the the results of your effort at first but over time if it's sustained it's like enough people pushing on a fence or a wall with sustained effort in force and continuing to build and build and build and eventually it goes down that's what's going to be required here so I just wanted to say that and then you can get into your other point yeah well I just wonder how many more times we can have rallies like this before the the hammer jumped on us with the police state so I just don't know you know with economic collapse a looming and impossible World War three how long are we going to be able to have this cover well in all honesty to be to be quite blunt and I really don't care who's listening I don't care who thinks otherwise for me saying this at the point that free speech is shut down then the revolution must go hot that's all I have to say once you stop people from speaking then it isn't about words anymore it becomes about bullets and that's all I have it so it cure it's almost at that point now but I don't talk about movies for a minute because you mentioned them earlier and how they could be used for a particular programming and I pretty much have seen them all for Mad Max I saw in green too if you see in the movie the road ah yes is that the one about the survival about the man is one yeah good motion ethically yes good movie but it is about as weak as it can get well if there's maybe makes a hopeful point though that that there needs to be something that is even beyond our desire to survive which is what the Sun represents getting out of just the r-complex mind a based on survival that the father represents and the son was about trying to treat people humanely it is a very dark story but you know it's all ultimately at that movie is actually about compassion it's about keeping compassion alive especially through dark times and I think it makes a valid allegorical point well yeah it's definitely a dark movie for sure about keeping well by keeping the flame of humanity live an entire world right but the ideas are and I don't want to take up too much time I'm sure you get other people calling to you're really fine show here that's a touch there's a you get back you know there's a new TV series on NBC I think it's Thursday evening at 10 o'clock it's called revolution and it opens with a MP attack on the United States where you know everything shuts down all the cars the breakdown circuits are down or the power goes down then it fast forwards 50 years into the future and it takes off with this one survivalist very small interesting once again real quick will coming up at the station break at the top of the hour what is this show called again it's called revolution revolution it's our saw it's good nbc.com and see it at your leisure I think it's me aunt one or maybe two show so far now you know that's all that's all the time we have for right now we're coming up at the station break we'll be back in two minutes they work [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host Marc patio my website what on earth is happening calm today an all call-in show this is the second hour of the show toll-free number to join us eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the toll-free number to join us in our conversation on the non-supportive dominators eight six six eight four one one zero six five I'll bring the last caller back up to finish this point caller you were talking about the show called revolution that is a new TV show that was about it's partially about the loss of freedom that we're experiencing is that correct well I just basically paint a dystopic future where the population is heavily depleted ninety percent loss after an EMP an apparent EMP attack and above his survivals community trying to get by between the militias and the roving bands of brigands that are in the area and Jericho started out promising I know if you saw that series but I love my Jericho I thought Jericho was brain allegory well I think you know I'm real picky I suppose but I think it started out good but they had some episodes that one of the dead ends of it seemed like it wound up being like a post-apocalyptic cheers where people are sitting around and a candlelit bar drinking booze that comes from God knows where yeah I mean there were definitely some you know story writing issues and plot holes and things like that but the main allegory was about it was a false flag attack the nuclear attacks a false flag and think about it the one bomb that did not go off this was highly symbolic and I have no question in my mind that this was deliberate and symbolic one bomb in that TV series that did not go off that was actually that the city was rescued from destruction from nuclear destruction by the main hero in the in the story Jericho was headed for Columbus the name of the goddess the dove Columbus Columbo means dove and Columbus is named after the goddess figure Venus Colombo and Columbus represents the Sacred Feminine or the heart or care the spirit and that's what was being symbolically said there is that you know we need to rescue care we need to save the Sacred Feminine and that I thought that was very symbolic and then they refer to these attacks as the September attacks because they were false flag and it's kind of like an allegory about the September 11th false flags that we experience in New York and Washington so I thought it was a good allegory while yes some of the writing you know could have been a little bit better there you know and they also cancelled the show and then brought it back you can't forget that too now I don't think they wanted people to see the nature of that allegory and that's why you know the probably higher level executives at these TV stations wanted that show put down but the fans actually responded to it so well they they wrote in and and wanted the story finished and they got a few additional episodes for that second season and got them to finish the storyline so yeah the fan base added a reprieve but if you notice that - like on the fight Fight Club updating to the movie you'll see high-rise buildings going down and condemned Alishan sort a lone gunman episode well I'm suppose hit you know so the Avenger would let us know what they're gonna do you know hey thanks for letting me talk and I'm some of the great work you got it thanks and maybe I'll maybe I'll check in next week after you watch the couple episodes of revolution servers and see what you think about it great sounds good all right take care okay you too alright let's move on to another caller area code 7:03 you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hello this is David I like serious if there's any way you can get their movies it's mentioned for prereq is it I'm sorry can you just repeat the question I was wondering curfew before he had mentioned a movie that you needed to have watched it for calling correct yeah it only if only if the caller wanted to defend the practice of carnism it's called earthlings it has been posted to the podcast page with the previous two podcasts the two podcasts that I did on the topic of carnism and the movie link is directly there actually you can also just go right - I believe it's Earthlings com or you could type right into a search engine Earthlings movie where Earthlings documentary and you can go right to the page and watch it for free right on their website on the home page of their website you guys don't know those two Percy oh how are you doing this afternoon I'm well um yeah that revolution the pilot was not long ago and I believe just a few days ago is the first episode of season 1 but

I'm at nbc.com right now and I don't see the season 1 episode 1 posted yet so I don't know what the delay is on that but it sounds interesting I mean I I don't I don't generally watch television but occasionally I'll download a show if it's allegorical in nature and check it out to see what you know what a moral lesson it may have so sounds interesting maybe I'll check it out well it's not what I originally called in about I was just going to comment on real quick absolutely but it it it does show great promise and I'm with you I thought Jericho is awesome and I agree I saw Illuminati in your face this is one possible plan we have for your suckers more than you know so we know how to I guess all over that when you know how psychopathic these people are you know that they wouldn't hesitate for a moment if it meant maintaining their control they would go as far as detonating nuclear weapons in populated region lovely absolutely but anyway what I called in about what got my attention I've been out building on chicken coops and stuff all day but I came in just about like the last 15 or so minutes of the previous hour so what I didn't catch most of it but what I did catch got me thinking and you were talking about what it takes what it's going to take is would you call it sustainable sustained welp algún yes preservation sustained will sustained effort yes well that got me thinking you know I remember when I was studying law and I never did took the bar or anything like that because I didn't that was never my intention my intention was only to learn the law and how to apply it to my own personal life in my family but when I was studying law we were taught to pay very close attention to case law and how precedent is set and one of the things you look for a very specific standout is kind of quotes that be that the that the court will you know put in their writings and you look at both the the opinion of the majority and the minority you have to look at both of them to see what they say to really grabs a full comprehension of the court's determination in the case and I forget what case it is but the court actually rendered in its determination that the only people and I mean gonna come to a point here the only people who actually will ever because I don't want member the rewarding the actual awarding so I'm just going to kind of summarize but what they were saying the only people who really can ever expect to receive remedy will find the remedy within the system within the court system within the judicial system are those who are willing to be literally a belligerent claimant in person so when you talk about what it's going to take is sustained will and determination if we take that a good the whole principle of being a belligerent claimant in person and apply it to that I think you can be quite successful because if you are absolutely belligerent in remaining three right and sovereign then your will your sustained will and determination is going to take a natural II and you're not even going to think about how to think about what you're doing we're just applying a very simple logical fashion and you can live with her in southern life without any with little or no effort whatsoever and I would also say that is an extreme point of view the truth is extreme it isn't about being wishy-washy it isn't about going half way it's about 100% determination and extremity you know when people call me an extremist I say thank you that item I wear that with a badge of honor I wear that as a badge of honor I am an extremist the truth is extreme it is not moderate it is all one way and none of the other way not even a little bit the truth is that which is and does not waver from that which is so I I think there's a valid point here that we have to stand in the truth which is all one way and not be willing that's belligerence that that's very belligerent that's a belligerent attitude because it's total belligerence against the lie the lie of authority has now I would like I'd like to see us take it even one step further why would we even have to acknowledge that the court system is the only person or the only entity that can insert in any way allow us to be left alone if we haven't harmed anybody and we know that in full knowledge I have harmed none and you don't have a right to a minute of my time unless I'm willing to grant it to you I feel like if I have harm none I don't need to show up anywhere to go to any hoops to jump through one hoop to explain one thing to another person someone else does not have a right to my time to my effort to my will to my money I can apply that but someone else that doesn't say that I'm demanding this of you and you must show up at a certain place at a certain time you know if I've harmed someone then that's a different story then you know I need to make some kind of restitution and you know there could be even possible you know retribution consequences coming my way if in case the fact is I've harmed somebody but for that authority to just be placed in some court in there in that institution's hands I still don't I can't I can't even bring myself to agree with that thing that point it's even like the idea that you know I'm going to file the right paperwork to become a quote sovereign citizen or to be recognized as a free man on the land while I love the idea of having that status the concept is we already have that status that's already present it's already the truth the problem is is that there's this illusory religion that other people believe in called Authority that they believe is vested in these institutions and in other individuals who are members of these institutions that the problem that is the problem is that that lie and that religion is still present and that's what has to be shattered to dust so we so we get to a point we don't even need to justify anything to anybody we don't need to try to prove something to anybody if there's no harm being done by me to another living being I need to be left alone by other people that's the ultimate right that exists but not that's the number one human right is the right to be left alone the right to bow to remain exist and live on accosted so long as I have caused no one else harm to their person or property and that's how that's how simple we have to get it down to yeah and you know I have to laugh when I hear these people talking about you know you gotta call this affidavit of intent and right now yeah thank you wait a minute hold on hold on just a second it's like no more lie and this is what I tell people wait a minute you know this doesn't make any sense you're telling me that I just can't simply stand here and look out there and say look I am a free man you are no right or authority to come in here and get get to me how to live my life what to eat what not to eat what did you think what not to drink where to go who to hang out with that's it Lian ruv died and nothing God's so full stop the end nothing else and that's you want to know how humanity is going to be free that's how it's going to be free with that attitude we project that attitude out into the world nothing can stand between us and our inherent god-given natural rights to be free right there you said it phenomena nutshell but yet they'll sit there and they'll tell you you know just go read this what is it that's lifetime you know if you grow your own food and you got your own chickens for eggs and meat you got your own dick out cattle and goats whatever for milk or whatever you are a criminal really how is this working out for you and this to hope and change you hope that you were looking for America because I tell you what if this is what they would if this is open change you want I want no part of this nightmare this is absolute lunacy anyway mr. Patsy oh thank you so much for your time and awesome great chill man I'm out thank you all right let's move on to another caller area code four as a matter of fact I'll pause here just for a moment because I I do want to bring off before we go to the other callers callers please stay on the line be patient I'm going to get to you lots of other people waiting on the line so that's great that more people have called in I want to just take a couple moments to talk about of the dynamic that I personally engaged at the end of Fed rally because when we showed up I immediately began talking to the police and this is one of the things I think people need to do more and more is like really just directly get involved in conversation with these beings because until we change their minds you know things are going to be increasingly difficult but to say the least we need to reach their minds and hearts and you're going to see how much of a wall how much of a divide is already built by years of indoctrination and by religion and again I'm not using the word religion in the sense of Christianity Islam Judaism Taoism hint Hinduism Buddhism anything like that I'm talking about the universal religions that they are so attached to no matter what religious background they may come from they are so attached to the religion of authority that it Trump's their religion I'm going to give you an example and I going to have some harsh words because I think it needs to be told as plainly and succinctly as possible and unapologetically while as human beings I can respect another individual okay now I could show them respect in the role that these police are playing in the world they are as dumb as a bag of bricks and a lot less useful all right and you could say oh that's being so harsh that's judgmental yes it is on both accounts it's harsh and it's judgmental those who have the knowledge have a right to say other people are really exceedingly dumb that they are completely ignorant you know that's that's not a problem if you really do know better you can look at a child and say that this child doesn't know as much as I do they're very naive and at this point they're not intelligent intelligence is something that has to be built it has to be built over time that's why in the tradition of free masonry it's all about the building of the temple within man it's a process it takes time to engage it and it takes sustained effort to build a structure that is sturdy and worthy okay so when engaging these police officers one of the things and maybe some videos will crop up on YouTube because we had a fairly lengthy exchange in engaging them one of them actually said to me which I thought was a an admission that you know I almost was like sad to hear make it in a way but at least he admitted it he actually said in just hearing you speak for a little bit of time I realized that you are so much more intelligent than me and he used the term intelligent he didn't say intellectual intelligent I'm not even saying this to two my own horn or anything this has nothing to do with me I'm talking about how ignorant the people who think that they know what they should be doing are really truly and were admitting their ignorance he said to me one of the police officers I engaged at the end of the rally said to me you are so much your intelligence is so far beyond mine and I recognize that that it is almost like we are speaking two different languages and I am having a hard time even comprehending the concepts that you're trying to get me to grasp he admitted that to me with his own words which again I thought was profoundly sad and yet I had to at least have some respect because he at least admitted I am NOT at your level of awareness and that's the problem and I told that to him I said I I respect you for saying that and admitting that and therein lies the problem that's the the gap I'm trying to bridge and I'm trying to help you to understand what I've already come to understand because if you and others like you don't come to understand that we're going to be in a world of hurt all of us it's not going to be pretty the eventualities that were rapidly heading toward and at least they were the two gentlemen I engage were willing to hear out of a good bit of the philosophy that I was laying out for them they didn't walk away they didn't dismiss it they were not dismissive at all so I have to have respect at that level that at least they listened for time but the religion of authority has them in its grip I mean deeply one of the things I was trying to convey is that no individual anywhere on the earth or anywhere else for that matter has the right to rule another individual and I tried to keep it at a level of individual see the problem is they're so brainwashed and indoctrinated into collectivism that they can't even any longer conceive that there is action really such a thing as an individual and that's all there is that this idea of a state or a group of people all wanting the same thing we're deciding upon the same thing is an illusion yes there is a whole of humanity you know that is that is right now bound to this planet but the point I was trying to get him to understand is that a right that does not exist for an individual can never be granted to a group or even other individuals no matter whether people believe it can or not so he didn't could not intellectually grasp the concept that there is no such thing as the transference of a wrong you can never grant a wrong to someone to do that's an impossibility doesn't exist you cannot do that in nature you can say you're doing it again it's like trying to advocate responsibility you can make the claim I'm giving up my responsibility to someone else but you haven't really done it actually in reality you haven't you cannot do that it's not possible your responsibility is always yours and can never be given away the same is true with right and wrong a right always remains a right a wrong forever remains are wrong and cannot be turned into a right so I was trying to explain to these police officers that you believe in a religion that states that a wrong can be granted to someone else and then they may be allowed to do it and he couldn't grasp that concept because all he could think about is the collective the people the state somehow gives that power to certain groups to a certain group of people within it I even asked him where do you where do you do you know where rights come from and he got the answer immediately he said rights come from God not men he actually said that and I said well how can you not then see that the concept the very concept of authority is an attempt to elevate man to the status of God to the play of God to reverse those roles and say man is the authority we get to make up what's right and wrong through arbitrary dictates called law and he couldn't see it the imagination was not opened enough you know his in mind was at least open enough to hear some of my words but not open enough to get the concept to integrate the concept but guess what it's progress because if his mind was at least open enough to hear the words the truth cannot be unheard and if that ground is at least somewhat fertile that seed will Nestle there and eventually sprout so with that being said let's go back to the phone's area codes 4 8 0 you're live on what on earth has happened welcome can you hear me yes I can all right this is Nathan again and I don't know how long my phone is for the last year and I apologize for any background sound I mentioned aquaponics at the beginning there and I was wondering I have a website but I'm too embarrassed to put it out or just I still need to fill up you know put in all the meat and potatoes into it but there's a family out there thirdly a website that I would like to - sure and I was wondering if it'd be okay if I put it out there sure okay it's garden pool org family that turned their pool into an aquaponic system and they offer plenty of free resources popping anybody wants to come and check out their website as far as turning their own their own language no matter how small it is and utilize aquaponics and aside from that man oh yeah I hope you take off down the road here because I I really do think that you know my looks like we'll have a lot to offer and I just need to give it out after sure after I really get it going here no problem right thanks for the info and yes we will be taking out other we will be taking calls on future shows absolutely I just did not take them during the non-supportive dominators because I really wanted to hammer home but the concepts in that section uninterrupted so calls will be a regular part of the show as we go forward area code 774 you're live on what on earth is happening welcome greetings mark hey how are you that's freighter Xiao Bai brother welcome ladies and gentlemen one of the speakers for me for your mind to conference freighter X welcome to the show I am honored to be here great show I'm obviously a huge fan of you mark take the Lord Buddha for Mark passio I'm not your show brother as well on American freedom radio I'll give a plug give your website please tell the listeners I'm glad you mentioned that because we actually have a new timeslot the new time next week starting next week for the middle chamber on American freedom radio calm is 6 p.m. Central Standard Time so we're actually 2 hours earlier for all my listeners out there just show up two hours earlier and the same HF awesome give them your website as well little chamber FX dot wordpress.com is the new URL markup reknit middle chamber RF fat horse middle chamber FX wordpress.com all right great all right brother I know you're right I'm sort of dominated I know you're going to have something profound for us yeah I just wanted to say mark I you know I your your campaign on the non non supporter dominated is commendable my friend I was first turned on to this from John lash and his work not in his image the first part of that pointed out the victim perpetrator paradigm yes is the Opera home religious infection produces in the human psyche and it's a transgenerational multicultural information program and you're so familiar with I know yes very very similar to the abuse victim cycle as I've described it on the show yes yeah anybody who learned last night might show with Josaphat well where we talked about features and SIA and the Roman conspiracy to invent Jesus and invent the Christian religion and the means religion as we know is a mental virus a tool of the elite and I commend you sir for being out there in the front lines going into the streets and confronting the police in my position as you know a member of fraternal orders I've come into contact with police I've sat in lodge in a higher rank in the lodge line than the police so that's always been interesting because then we go out into the public and interact and my unique position it's always very surreal and I've been very confrontational as you know you know that the cops the local pigs I mean that's when I got a column because they're mostly asleep you know they're like swine asleep and the local cops they lack the education all of them are master nations and in the fellow craft agreed in the Blue Lodge system it is all about the seven liberal arts the Trivium and the quadrivium that's what you're supposed to be doing and educating yourself and cultivating wisdom and awareness that's right i-i-i-i've all basil I've said on the show in the past the entirety of the true esoteric tradition of Freemasonry ultimately lies in degree to the fellow craft degree it can be setting that is a microcosm of the entire tradition and I feel that almost every Mason that is out there that it's calling themselves a Master Mason or any degree beyond that actually should never have been passed because pass absolutely that what we have heard - when we talk about obtaining degree number two the fellow craft entered his first degree passed the second and mastered his third there are made the most the Masons out there should never have been passed because they do not grasp the lesson at all of degree number two which again I feel at the heart of all Freemasonry true freemason absolutely anisia the original initiatory system was a seven year process from initial to fellow of the craft direct for journeyman you know the secondary was a journeyman like in the local the modern traits they use that term Jerry misses we do not would be a fair assessment to to say how much time would be required to take really in the level of information and knowledge that is required to process to really change your mind that sounds about a fair assessment and now it's done in what a day so if that week we might have would watch it yeah it's it's really not not very not comprehensive at all and not on I don't want to hold in time true but mark I wanted to just that you know to throw out that look and I've been I've been really appreciating the the most recent series that you're working with and I stand you know with relation to the subject of carnism which I am both intrigued and convicted by thank you very much sir but I have to say in fact you have diminished my carnivorous experiences okay I apologize I'm sure you appreciate that well no you actually don't I'm sure you appreciate that I don't want I know Eamonn that's what I read but I'm you get the same process of you yourself you know I've gone through and but what I wanted to ask mark because I think keeps coming up in my thought process I'm listening to what you're saying I just I wanted to get your take on this my question to you and probably someone Richards might appreciate this and then well no work with relation to the idea that you put forth in the most recent shows probably two shows ago you spoke about the furyk universe the energetic universe that they're in which we all exist within and how the suffering of a living thing within this that spirit realm has an effect on all living things within the realm yes and you mentioned how the idea of carnism you know the idea of our awareness of suffering and then the reception of the flesh at the form of sustenance as a result of suffering we actually continue the suffering and a fear that's produced and so what I wanted to ask you mark was with because I can really I can really understand that and I and that that is very compelling and convicting for myself to think about and I think there's a lot of a lot of merit in what you say about the effect that could have on humanity to ingest fear and then to produce it once again and continue with it and so I know that would resonate with someone like yourself because you are studying the occult aspects to creation that which is hidden or is not easily revealed to the sight which takes a lot more introspection and and deep study and work with these concepts to really bring it to the to the surface so that it can be seen that's the difference between one who is an occultist who studies the hidden laws of nature versus those who do not think that it's all about just the physical level of our existence so I guess but that's great point very applicable yes because it's already I'm already aware of that I'm already thinking of charge and so right what I immediately the thought process it takes me to the idea one of the animal kingdom mark what are the predator-prey dynamic how does that relate to what we understand with regards to the moral implications of the awareness of fear right okay so I'll bring up two things regarding this and that's a phenomenal question we're in natural law when people say well animals eat other animals so why shouldn't do it it seems like it's natural human beings because of the the complexity and the different nature the higher nature of their consciousness and their ability to think and reason and comprehend and delve into the laws of nature and understand them so their ability to reason and understand ultimately holds a human being to a higher standard when it comes to moral law than animals are held now that isn't to say that when an animal you know eat another animal that's wrong for them we are held to a higher standard because of our higher consciousness so natural law is going to have an effect upon us for doing that there is also another consideration to take into account when it comes to this and something that has been hinted at in ancient writings that it is very possible that perhaps even in the the quite ancient past or maybe even not in the so distant ancient past but in the near ancient past that this even was not always the case for animals people believed in this linear progression that that species cannot fall from a place that they once were from a higher place they once were we have this erroneous notion through archeology and anthropology and other Sciences who haven't really seen the full picture in scope about how cycles of time work okay and the people think we're moving in a linear progression from less advanced to more advanced and nothing could be further from the truth we have seen higher places of our civilization we have seen lower and time moves in cyclical progressions that are not we're not bound to those cycles but they are tendencies and our choices will ultimately determine what we experience as a result of those tendencies and how we react to those herbs and flows in time of those cycles of time there is a high degree of probability and a lot of evidence through some ancient records that animals were not even always at the base level of consciousness that they were at and perhaps did not engage in the types of practices that they engage in in what we call the natural kingdom you know at some past moment in time so animals may not even have always been like this we're looking at their current condition and just accept accepting the notion just because we see it like this and it for as long as we've been paying attention or keeping records in the modern world believe it it has always been like this and therefore that is how it always should be again this directly relates with worldview what you believe we are or are capable of becoming and I talked about one of the defense's for carnism or justifications for it as the we are argument and you'll hear people saying this all the time we are hunter-gatherers that's what human beings are no that's a condition that human beings were experiencing and actually really even aren't experiencing that except in isolated pockets of the world today we are not anything we can be what we want to create ourselves into other than the makers of right and wrong we can basically be anything we want that's not man cannot ever make that but man can evolve and not be bound to certain practices or ways of being in the world that he may have once bound himself into or environmental conditions may have temporarily bound him to or to to engage in we are not anything that's the whole thing to keep in mind here that's the worldview if you're stuck in the world view that the current condition is eternal you might as well hang up your hat now and walk out and give up and why bother saying a word talking to anybody trying to affect any change except their situation because right now you're a prisoner so could we say human beings are prisoners and that's just eternal and you must accept that and be like that forever no it's ridiculous it's nonsense you have a choice choice is what's keeping us in the prison of our own design of our own making we can choose something different if enough of us wanted the same is true when it comes to what we call nature what we are caught what most people are calling human nature has nothing whatsoever to do with what the real essence of humanity is it's the current condition that they are attached to and identified with and think can never be changed I think that just always was is now always will be and it has to be accepted and that is a poisoned worldview attitude and way of looking at the world so I don't even look at it as animals have always been like this I think animals were once at a higher level of consciousness and didn't do this to each other how about that I think we were out to the higher love that consciousness didn't engage in carnism we're now in a low level of consciousness and we have an opportunity to move to a higher level of consciousness based upon our choices and our consciousness what we can perceive what we can become aware of that is taking place within us and around us and we can choose in any given time once we've developed that consciousness to be something other than what we currently are so those two things together that we're held to a higher standard because of our capability of understanding the the realm of the unseen and the laws of right and wrong we're held to a higher standard than the animal kingdom who is not capable of reasoning at the level that we are that's number one one aspect to the answer to your question number two is that you know people believe that you know this is just the nature of things this is the quote natural order in their mind and I believe that they're fundamentally mistaken that's a fundamental axiomatic flaw on their part not to see in the grand picture of time things have not always been as we see them now that's a great great point mark and you know the funny thing is is that one of the one of one of your listeners in the chat buran mentioned it in the idea of moralistic evolution the idea of moral evolution and what it would at what you said with regards to ancient beliefs triggered a thought in my my picking was the ancient belief that the animal kingdom each species has an over soul which governs that species of the animal kingdom which which changes the dynamic of predator prey there's no awareness of suffering as with the keywords with humanity yes we are aware of an acutely animal yes and it makes it quite a distinction Antonette it's a moral distinction and so that's that's great I'm so oh yeah that really answers the question mark well thanks I really appreciate the question I think that's profound and I hope that that will help clarify some of that in the minds of listeners so I really appreciate you all calling in with that question no problem great show mark and I'll let you get on I'm sure you get other collar and thank you for your time and yeah everyone just uh you know just to make note two hours earlier next week we got Yan Erving coming in to continue his research so I we're really going to have an exciting show thank you Mark for other thanks so much for thanks so much for what you do sir all right Cheryl talk to you soon have another great night bye bye right ladies and gentlemen Frey directs one of the speakers at the free coming up at the free your mind conference in 2013 all right let's go to another caller let's take a call from Philadelphia area code two one five you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hello am I on yes Tim and without mic Tim Smith ladies and gentlemen one of the organizers for the free remind conference welcome Tim thanks for calling in man what do you have for us hey I just want to mention first as it a great to hear all your top scholars it gives me so much needed at positivity and optimism you know hearing these people these initiatives on the path of Congressman I've said it before this show has the best callers of any club any show on the Internet as far as I'm concerned yeah I agree man um before I got into the topic I want to cover I just want to reach out to your first caller I think the thing with Nathan yes um I just I feel deeply for him because he said his daughter has leukemia yes and I just wanted to recommend to him a couple movies like as a movie the beautiful truth it's about the Gerson Therapy and not dog therapy to do one also as cancer the forbidden cures and cancer is curable now it I I just covered the cancer conspiracy and you know from what I've looked into the cancer thing is just a part of the eugenics agenda to take down the populations to uh you know a lot of numbers so uh i've been i've been pretty involved in exposing this conspiracy and I just want recommend that you need to absolutely give them the titles one more time okay so it's the beautiful truth covers the Gerson Therapy then there's also the forbidden cures and off I can't do the forbidden tours and then also cancer is curable now great I've seen all three of those in their phenomenal documentaries all of them I know that's I know that's one of your big fundamental issues that you work toward getting out there that there's alternative treatments out there to cancer cancer can be treated holistically could be treated you know through we could prevent it through what we do with our diet and you reach out there to people who are suffering from this you know horrible condition um you know on a day to day basis that's one of the big aspects of your work so thanks for doing that oh you're welcome I want to uh he we went out to the a Susan G Komen Race for the Cure we're out there and handed out information everything is double in fat people want to watch those videos marks in the video too and to go to youtube / signs of the time media and that's my YouTube page and they can I have watched a video called the Campus Crusade I give that one a yute youtube.com slash signs of the time media right okay signs of the time signs plural time singular signs of the time media yep great Pullman um so I wanted to cover a topic of bonanza sort of dominate urges I kind of want to fill in something here that I'm not sure if you talked about yes go ahead I first bought that not only do we not I want to support dominators but we don't want to support ourselves being dominated so that sometimes when we all do a little bit of power we kind of that's right that's right and that's the whole issue that people take down one system of control and then they become the controllers and erect a new one you know we have to take down the system of control and replace it with nothing replace it with no control except self control meaning working with yourself to understand the difference between right and wrong and then choose right action over wrong action that's involves discipline and self-control that's the only kind of control that's real you're in control of your own thoughts your own emotions and your own actions and exactly nothing else so that's a great point Kim we can't become the Dominator ourselves yes yes we call them my free movement where you know everybody just wants to kind of change the system for their own belief system rediff let people be free you know that's right clapping that but I'm not sure if you covered this aspect respond to the non-sport dominators but I find it very important in understanding the causal factors how people have gotten this way and how my people support as a very same people that inflate those I mean personally I find hard to understand like people would want to be controlled by other people you know because we're all just people and why would you want somebody else because person just like you yes I taught you I watched I touched on it a little and I think it all comes back down to the the dynamic of personal responsibility you think about it a master/slave relationship in any engagements with anyone who may be outside of that relationship let's just talk about one master and one slave let's say the master is interacting with another group of people who aren't his slaves you know they may be masters of other slaves or something would be other people that are going to go and interact with the master go and ask the slave anything interact with him on any level that means anything you know other than maybe you know give him a suggestion or command no he's not interested in what the slave thinks he knows that the slave is has abdicated his personal responsibility or at least attempted to to the master and the master is saying I'm your owner you're my property and if the slave accepts that he's basically saying you know the master does all my thinking for me he clothes me he feeds me he keep gives me shelter he does you know I do whatever he says that I have to do but ultimately uh you know once that obligation is fulfilled to him I don't have to do anything I don't have to worry about anything for myself I don't have to be self-reliant I don't have to make my own decisions he tells me what to think he tells me how to dress he tells me what to do on a daily basis you know and that's it and I you know none of those decisions they're all out of my hands and they belong to the master you know even in civil war slavery period in America you look at the dynamic from studying in writings and letters etc that are that were left behind and you realize the slaves that were kept the blacks a lot of the black slaves that were kept in America enjoyed the condition they as I understand how absolutely horrifying that sounds to be in people's minds but many slaves did not want to be freed and many slaves after they were freed in this country they they wanted to go back to the plantations where they looked at it as they had it easier than being free and then having to make a way in life for themselves and that that's also difficult because guarantee they didn't set them free with much money you know and and the system was still controlled by money then and they had to fend for themselves with very little resources at their disposal so most people wanted to go back into dependency into total dependency so it's not a not in any way blaming them for that condition please don't take it as such I'm saying that even when they were being held and viciously beaten and kept in deplorable conditions many of them accepted it because they did not know any other way of life they came up in a system like that many of them had come up from the time they were young raised in a system like that and that's our condition globally that we're raised in a system of slavery and so many people since they don't know anything else they're comfortable with it and somebody telling them this is slavery here's what freedom looks like they say oh my god that's what freedom looks like you can keep it they want to be dependent I also address this issue in the speech at the end the federales that so many people are hopelessly dependent on the system as they say in the matrix you know they're so inured you know they have been so beaten and downtrodden that they are completely dependent on the system and they've grown to like it they like their dependency because it means they don't have to make their own hard decisions they don't have to be self-reliant and ultimately they can pretend to advocate their personal responsibility to someone else absolutely my key factor that I have picked up on the causes a condition of people see that they're dominated is the same people and their children yes I was only I don't parenting skills for the lack of yes absolutely parents treat their children as property as if it's something that they own like that their job is for child until that child comes first instead of actually raising their own children in crisis not it thank you Oh base mindset of you know reactive mindset mindset where it's all respond exactly that's a brilliant point and and this this goes right down to the to the root causal factors we raise our children like we own them you know Adam Mike Adam macrocosmic level the states treating us like they own us you know do this because we say you have to do it or else and that's a lot of parents go about parenting so-called parenting their children that isn't raising anybody raising someone involves helping them to understand the why that's where all the power is at you want to empower somebody you have to help them to understand the why any given situation or problem and this way they know why they should act a certain way what are the consequences and repercussions of choosing unwisely that's what education is real education is all about and it comes from the Latin Educare a a do care a means to lead out from okay what you're leading someone out of is darkness and ignorance you're leading them out of the darkness and into the light if there's a real education conversely if there's an indoctrination that's all based on fear and it's all based on my way or the highway type thinking which is all control based you know you do this because I said so why how many kids that that the two words kids come into this world saying ladies and gentlemen the two words the kids you know maybe they'll say mama or daddy for you know first words but I guarantee you the words that they will be saying in their childhood more than any other words here they are is know and why that's what children come into the world saying and then we breed that right out of them we indoctrinate that right out of them and parents do that most of all don't say no don't ask why just do it because I said so if that's the thinking of a parent you're going to raise your kid to be a good little slave to the state so great point in yeah kids always say why and parents just always say because I said so I think it's important playing so why so then the children actually understand why yes you saw them why you're gonna have two different actions and kids I think one the child's gonna lose respect for you please you'll never give them a good reason why you take the time you take the time to explain your your knowledge your understanding to them that's what parenting is all about a spending time with your children to help them develop understanding that you currently have you know sadly the part of the problem is so many parents don't have that understanding that it's the blind rate you know not raising the blind you know so God continued with your point but yeah I mean just you know definitely brilliant and very apropos to the situation for sure yeah so you created that has no respect for ideal created kids and obedience plays right and then that grows up to be funded Society and this is why we have this problem we have done so absolutely on obviously out a couple things I don't see it because I spent okay I don't say caustic names and say what is wrong with you or what do you stupid or something like that or coal sounds because that goes into this that goes into the subconscious and then they begin to believe it about themselves then they stop trying because oh well I'm stupid and I've always been like that I probably always will be like that and why should I bother to try to educate myself you know you see that with so many people that that's what they've been told and that becomes subconscious programming that is continuously reinforced through their lives another great point God continue instead of a negative one and just tell them things like you know you disappointed me because I know you know exactly and again that's really what parenting is all about and that's what this is all about as education you hear the intro the outro music coming up Tim phenomenal police other callers who are on the line sorry we didn't get a chance to get to you but that's all the time the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Mark Pascoe [Music] welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm the networks website Oracle broadcasting calm today is Sunday October 21st 2012 the show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time we have a good show lined up for you here today I'm going to be talking about solutions continuing our ongoing solutions section to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness today we're going to be talking about the power of true positive thinking and one's responsibility to teach others once they have acquired an accurate understanding of in fact what is taking place in our world so that's coming up today on the show before we get started I have some event announcements and I want to tell people about why I haven't been on the air in the last couple of weeks I'm not going to spend too much time on that just to say that three weeks ago it was a scheduled rebroadcast the last two weeks were not planned I was planning on being on the air over the last two weeks but technical difficulties made that impossible I've been having some problems with my main computer which I'm not going to get into the details of just to say that it really set me back as far as work that I wanted to be getting done and was not able to do that due to some technical problems and three weeks ago I was of course one of the speakers at the Pennsylvania MUFON East Coast conference so that was again a scheduled rebroadcast and I want to say thank you to all the people who made that conference possible it was just an awesome event and I was really proud to have been a part of it I want to thank John Ventre Jennifer Stein Michael Melton Bob Gardner Jeff Strauss Michael false Etta and everyone else who was involved with the Pennsylvania MUFON East Coast Conference I really especially want to send a shout out - Travis Walton who to me was probably the most impressive speaker there I'd like to really thank all the speakers everybody who was a speaker at that conference was really really great and it just went over much better than I even anticipated so it was really great to be involved in that I want to send a thank you out to John to Vani who helped me get back up and running due to some of the technical problems that I had by really helping out and making a donation for a part that I needed so John thanks very much and I probably won't have gotten back up as quickly as I did if it were not for his help so with that having been said let's jump into some of the really big event announcements now that people know why I've been away for the last couple of weeks the free your mind to conference of course coming up here in Philadelphia April 25th 26th and 27th of 2013 free your mind returns to Philadelphia with a three-day conference featuring top caliber whistleblowers from across the country who will shed light upon our world's problems and bring forward empowering solutions this unique event will build upon the success of the first four your mind conference with a continued focus to spread awareness on the topics of consciousness mind control subversive occult influences holistic body mind spirit health and solution oriented approaches to the problems humanity faces in these challenging times the location the Arch Street meeting house at 3:20 Arch Street here in Philadelphia doors will open at 8 o'clock a.m. each day and ladies and gentlemen the big announcement of course many people have already seen this on the free remind website but we have confirmed for the free your mind conference for free your mind to Cathy O'Brien and Mark Phillips the authors of the book the transformation of America yes they will be speaking both of them speaking at 4:00 your mind - on April 25th 26 and 27 2013 we're going to be announcing when we finish confirming all of the guests speakers we're going to be announcing a schedule coming up in the near future the future speakers booked so far we have 22 confirmed speakers probably going to be booking an additional two or three when it's all said and done but right now confirmed Allen Steinfeld Alfred Webber Andrew basiago then Stewart Bob Tuscan Cathy O'Brien kertus davis dr. dream freighter X Freeman fly Yan Irvin Jay Parker Jim Fetzer Larkin Rose Laura Eisenhower Lennon honour myself mark passio Lauren Marais Mark Phillips Randall Carlson Ross Ben and Sonja Barrett just a tremendous line-up of speakers the the lineup is getting better and better the ticket prices are priced extremely reasonably with the Thursday conference only $30 the Thursday meet and greet with light vegetarian cuisine is going to be $20 the Friday conference $40 Saturday conference $40 and if you get the entire package including the meet-and-greet $120 for advance ticket sales I'm going to again implore people please if you plan on being at the free your mind conference get your tickets in advance advanced ticket sales are better than making a donation for the effort because it's going to help us to pay for all of the expenses involved in putting a conference of this size on we have to fly the speakers out to the to the Philadelphia area we have to lodge them in hotels we have to pay for technological cost for printing costs for advertising we're getting thousands and thousands of 5x7 post cards printed up to promote for this event all across the Philadelphia region so please if you can get your tickets in advance first of all you'll be saving money instead of getting them at the door and the further in advance you get them you will be helping us to host the conference by helping us to offset all of those costs for travel arrangements and for promotional needs so again I I can't implore people enough if you know you're gonna be going to the free your mind conference now is the time to buy your tickets an advanced ticket sale is better than a donation so with that being said the next event announcement uh actually one more thing on the free your mind conference we are still very very light in the way of organizers for this conference and we really wanted wanted to set up some teams of organizers but we can't even do that or each organizer is really having to focus almost entirely on you know each on the whole effort as far as promotion and booking and fundraising fundraising is something I really wanted to try to hand off to a secondary team but we don't even have enough organizers to do that so really the core group of organizers is you're being overworked we need more dedicated people if they want to become involved to really and people who are self driven you know who can take initiative that's what we're looking for here people with some organizational skills that understand what this conference is about why it needs to be hosted and who can take initiative to help to organize it and host events if you're of that skill set and you live in the Philadelphia area please get in touch with me at mark at free your mind conference calm or mark at what on earth is happening calm and you you know I'll let you know how you can get involved in helping to organize this great conference coming up but we still need help so and hardly anyone has really come forward and stayed you know dedicated to this effort and really I guess worked on their own you know shown initiative on their own to really help make this better the core team cannot do it alone there's only a few of us and we definitely still need more help so again that call is is going out there once again let's move on with another event announcement the truth freedom prosperity documentary night will be taking place at the last Thursday of this month as it always is October 25th 2012 at 6:30 p.m. a 6:30 sharp start time at a scene food market and cafe 719 South fourth Street here in Philadelphia this month truth freedom prosperity is going to be screening the film ethos ethos is a documentary hosted by Hollywood actor Woody Harrelson it's a documentary that takes a look at where the United States is heading as a society in the 21st century and explores the mechanism in our systems that work against personal liberty I think Harrelson did a good job in hosting this film the film brings up a lot of interesting points so we're gonna be screening it as part of the truth freedom prosperity documentary screening and discussion evening as part of truth freedom prosperity for more information on these film screenings and all of the work the truth freedom prosperity does please visit their website at truth freedom prosperity dot org the what on earth is happening ad-free chip in effort has been reset the new chart is online we already received one donation it is it stands at fifty dollars right now for the next three month period we need to raise approximately one thousand dollars by January 31st in order to keep the show ad free through the February March and April time period so that has been reset and if you're in a position to do so any donations no matter what size are welcome and appreciated to keep the show ad free okay so let's move on to our topic for today and this topic I'm introducing two basic solutions today and if we get through them all we'll open up the phone lines and take your thoughts on these and really any solutions that we have talked about so far so as always you can go to the what on earth is happening radio show page if you're not already listening through that page and underneath the player there on the page you can see images for today's show now we've looked at image number one which was the free your mind to poster and by the way let me just say this if anyone wants to do any promotion for the free your mind conference on your own you just download these posters print them out you know that's why they're up on the site just print them out and you can you know promote in your local area especially if you're around the Philadelphia area or Greater Philadelphia area that would help a lot so anyone that wants to do that on their own just feel free to go right ahead put them in coffee shops bookstores libraries etc and anywhere where there's people who are gathering and who may be thinking a little bit feel free to do some promotion for the conference on your own so image number two is the entire solution section which I call the way out and image number three is simply the grassroots solutions for real positive and lasting change which we've been talking about on the show for several weeks I have 10 basic solutions that I list in the solutions such and we've already covered I believe eight of them or a seven of them and we're going to be covering two of the last three today I'm skipping over the use of entheogens in a conscious context because I want to dedicate a little bit more time to that topic and also more likely to not have some guests come on the show to talk about that topic as well so that's going to be coming up in a future what on earth is happening shows dealing with solutions today of course we're going to be talking about the power of true positive thinking which is different than the concept of positive thinking as put forward in the New Age movement so we're going to talk about what that really is and then of course we're going to talk about the responsibilities that each one of us has to use the power of our voice to teach others once we have understood what has really taken place around us that is not the end that is the beginning and it is the beginning of us taking full grasp of our responsibility to go out and bring that message of awareness and freedom to other people whether they're ready to hear it or not so these are the two topics I'm going to touch on today but let me give the call-in number before I even jump in so people can get in the you hopefully there will be time for calls in the last hour of the the second hour of the show so the callin number for the show today is 866 841 one zero six five once again the callin number eight six six eight four one one zero six five so let's jump in with positive thinking and what this really means what is this all about you hear that a lot you know stay positive think positive you know don't get down on things and whether people can hear it in my voice or not I I am not always the best at following this knowledge of remaining in a positive mental attitude I find myself slipping out of this mode constantly and a lot of times it does seem hopeless to me so again knowing the path and walking the path are two different things this is one I struggle with the most and still do I said this even before in my presentations on the videos on my website and I have not really fully been able to conquer that in myself and that no one is perfect everyone is still growing and struggling in their own ways and this is one that I struggle with the most I know that my mental attitude should be improved and better I try to be a realist as well and look at things from a realistic perspective but at the same time what the true meaning of positive thinking is about is not this new-age notion that if we only focus on the positive that that's what we'll get and we'll be keeping the negative away from us if we never talk about it please do not interpret what I'm saying as that nothing could be farther from the truth this is a new age deception as far as I'm concerned and is it is put out there by the dark occultists and many well-meaning people have accepted it and grafted onto it and are teaching false information as far as I'm concerned when you ignore the negative as far as far as I'm concerned get more of it because you're not addressing the causal factors that led to that negative manifestation so to ignore something is the worst thing that you could possibly do to address it and be realistic about what caused it is the best thing that you can do to try to learn the causative factor the causative agents that led to that particular manifestation that you do not want is what you do need to be doing so to address the dark aspect and to address the the shadow side of things is one of the most important things if any solution could possibly be worked out that doesn't mean you dwell on it and let it consume you and let it take over your entire mindset and poison you with negative energy because you know the true nature of how negative things really are right now in our world the the aspect of positive thinking I'm trying to explain to people is and again I can't tell you I'm perfect at this because I'm most certainly not again I have have the understanding but perhaps have not developed wisdom in this aspect yet and I'll be the first to admit it because putting it into direct practice in one's life and keeping it there is what wisdom is all about while I understand the power of this solution I may not be the person who applies it in one's life the best or maybe not even that well at all so I'm being directly honest about that ok so and and this has been more true recently than at any other time in the past for me especially with things you know technologically falling apart on me maybe that was you know to really think about what I'm going to be saying here and and being honest about it and talk about it a little bit more because I don't want to get up here and tell people that everything is going to be fine that's the last thing you're going to hear from me things there is a possibility for things to work out and there's also a possibility for things to go to hell what's going to determine that outcome is what kind of willpower we put behind the our desire to see a particular manifestation happen and I think I do do that very effectively I have willpower and I employ it as far as maintaining a positive mental attitude throughout that process that's a different story because you can easily take a look around and see how bad the situation is I think everybody who listens to this show and is even partially aware of what's going on in our world can acknowledge that things are not good things are not where we want them to be the world is in darkness and ignorance but in the respect that I'm talking about true positive thinking it doesn't mean you don't look at that negativity it means that you look at it and you try to make an honest assessment of it and then you try to use your employer willpower to change that situation by using the power of your voice and your knowledge to bring that to other people in as wide of a way as it is within your power to do it and never stopping and giving up doing that and what you're really thinking positive about is your own ability you know it's it's faith in oneself which if you really know what your capabilities are and you know the self it's not even a matter of faith it's a matter of knowing what your capabilities are knowing what your limitations are and then using them to their fullest extent and employing constant effort constant effort constant willpower behind that and never giving up regardless of what the outcome looks like regardless of how dark and dreary the future may look you're gonna do it anyway you're gonna continue to do that make that effort and the employee that will regardless of what the outcome is going to be I'm not gonna stop doing this no matter what the outcome is in some form or fashion you know I constantly think about just completely giving up because oh it's not having an impact it's not having an effort I don't care whether it is or not how about that it doesn't matter I'm gonna do what I know is right regardless of what kind of a now come or in effect it has doesn't make a difference I know what the truth is I'm gonna speak that until the day I die and that's it that's the kind of willpower that it's gonna take to get out of our current mess that we've worked ourselves into so the power of true positive thinking has nothing to do with refusal to look at what makes you uncomfortable as proposed by the New Age movement they say that's gonna draw more of that to you and that's utter nonsense you know looking at a potential destructive energy coming toward you and then making yourself aware of what that is and then taking the necessary measures and precautionary steps to perhaps strengthen yourself and insulate yourself from the damage that that's going to cause is true intelligence it has absolutely nothing to do with drawing that to you that has come from mind controllers that want people not to understand what's really going on in the world because what's going on in the world isn't very negative and they don't want people to look into it because they don't want people to understand the causal factors involved in the problem because if you do not understand the causal factors of the what is creating that negative manifestation you're powerless to ever change it so this injection of this false teaching of positive thinking in into the New Age movement is actually done by people who want the status quo to remain just as it is what I'm talking about here is what I call true positive thinking and again we have to make the distinguish we're using the same term but we're we're separating it from this New Age notion of positive thinking of never looking at the negative we're separating this from that I'm calling it true positive thinking and what this means is honestly assess the situation but you know with a positive mental attitude in mind if you're constantly thinking that it's hopeless and there's no point in doing it you're not going to want to get up and make the effort you know you you can't just sit there and say well it's an impossibility it may look like it may not be willed into existence right now from where we're at I'll be the first to admit that but that doesn't mean I think that it's not possible see and this is where we have to make a big a clear distinguishment between can and will and true positive thinking in the sense that I'm talking about engages the can part of it your actions then engage the will part of it the thinking part is about what is possible and then your actions your working with what you have to work with to attempt to will that into existence so let me see if I can put this in a little bit of a clearer way the the possibility of what can be done is involved in worldview healing if someone is of the attitude that it's impossible okay you can never create change it isn't even possible that capability doesn't exist things are the way they are have always been are now and always will be just as they are you hear this from so many people who you try to explain about what's going on and even if they admit to some of the negative they're like well it's just always been like that and you're not going to change it neither am i this is part of the argument that I hear for people saying why do you even bother to do what you're doing why do you even take up one millisecond of your day attempting to explain anything to anybody because it's never gonna change anything they believe it cannot be changed see now this is real negative thinking to actually have gone so far into a dark worldview that your entire mental attitude is that change is completely impossible it is not even possible to change anything in that aspect people who have accepted that dark and poisonous worldview I say to them well what you've just basically accepted is that you're in hell and you deserve to be there and you're there's no possibility for you to ever get out of that torture and they're okay with that usually they usually don't even offer an argument to that because ultimately the same kind of person who is in this negative poisoned worldview that believes that change is impossible is the same kind of person who ultimately hates themself and is in a state of extreme self-loathing and somewhere in their subconscious mind they feel they deserve what they have they feel they deserve the enslavement that they have and should continue to experience it and an even darker part of their worldview is they actually believe and have accepted deep in their sub consciousness is that so should everybody else continue to experience this suffering just because they are in the self loathing worldview may they not only hate themselves they are ultimately deep down inside have no love for anyone because if you don't love yourself you can't display love for anyone else so this extreme negative thinking about change being impossible is what I'm talking about overcoming it isn't to say that change won't be extremely difficult to achieve if I said that I wouldn't be a realist okay from where we're at it's a long shot folks from where we're at in the 100 practically 100% total attachment to illusions and deception and lies which people have wholeheartedly accepted as reality as their reality and believe that that is how it must be don't think that if this is going to be an easy ride to create real change because it's not it's gonna be a war a war and nothing short of warfare in the spiritual and mental domains and possibly the physical domain very possibly so I'm not saying that it's going to be easy please not confuse anything I'm saying with that either okay what I'm saying is if you start from the Poisson worldview that change is impossible you might as well just sit back and do nothing because if you that's what you believe why would you bother to say a thing why would you bother to try to change anything you know this goes for people that believe that it's impossible for individuals to change to not just as a society but a lot of people think you know a lot of people would look at my background from the Church of Satan and say well this guy is a distant phone he can't possibly be saying anything that's true or real because look at where he came from and this is more this is a deeper part of the poisoned worldview aspect that everything is eternally the way that it is and cannot change we talked about the concept of the we our worldview you know Humanity is this and that's eternal you know it's always been like that is this way now and always will be that way people have to understand as long as that's your mental attitude you're done you're enslaved you are owned owned whole sale in in 100 percent totality you are owned if that's your mental position this is what I'm talking about when I'm talking about developing true positive thinking everyone is not an agent people who came even from an institution that is working toward the goal of evil have a potential in their mind in their heart in their soul to change themselves just because someone was once affiliated with someone who's working toward the dark doesn't mean that they could not have turned their life around and worked toward the light you know and you get so much of this in the you know quote unquote freedom movement they my freedom movement that wants to talk about everybody being an agent so many people you know are of this completely poisoned worldview mind controlled state of mind and don't understand individuals can change they can and if you really pay attention to what people are saying that's what you need to do instead of just looking at a particular background or an affiliation you need to pay attention to what the person is really saying and that's how you're going to gain a holistically intelligent view of what the person is really about because you're going to hear it for you know and look and filter it through the mental process but in in following their work for a long period of time you're also going to get a feel for their heart from an intuitive aspect and that's what real intelligence is it is not just left brain filtration it is not just logical deductions it is also about intuitive processes and feeling the heart of another being and this is what many people still lack the understanding of so the in the sense the true positive space the true positive thinking that I'm talking about here is one maintaining first and foremost faith I will use the word faith okay but really what it is is is deep introspective knowing of what your own capabilities are and being honest with yourself an honest self assessment let's call it that with your capabilities resources knowledge etc and continuously maintaining an attitude of I can do this work I can go out there and help to affect change in others you know I believe that is possible that's that's what we're talking about when we say when I'm using faith in this connotation if I didn't believe that that was possible that's a positive belief that's a true belief it isn't believing in something you can't prove I can prove I have the will to go on and forge forward regardless of what you know the current situation may look like that's self belief in oneself and that's what I'm talking about here as part of true positive thinking that's that glass being half full aspect well okay most of the world is in darkness but I not in darkness you know that's where you're looking at the glass being half full that perspective and I am capable of helping to affect change in others with the power of my voice and and putting forward my knowledge and understanding out there freely for other people that's what I'm talking about when I'm talking about true positive thinking it's its faith in oneself an honest self-assessment of one's capabilities and then its willpower and courage to go out and put that out into the world it's believing that change is possible for other people in addition to yourself you have to know that change is possible then you have to embody that change then you have to go out with the attitude I also believe others can make this change it is possible for them because it was possible for me nothing is eternal there is no such thing as eternal programing that it has to be that way whenever I hear well it's always been that way and it has to be that way why why would anything have to be an eternal way except natural law natural law has nothing to do with man's choices okay man has free will to choose how he will be as long as he's not violating natural law so you have free will to choose how you will be but not without consequence this is part of what understanding natural law comes down to you have to understand you can change yourself what you can't choose free through your freewill is to attempt to break natural law without consequence there's going to be consequences if that's what you want to turn your freewill toward doing oh sure you can go and do it but again not without consequence okay there's always going to be repercussions for breaking natural law when I'm talking about creating positive change you have to know that it is possible to do that nothing is eternally a certain way then it happens to only be the current condition see this is where the other aspect of world poisoning comes into this you could say this is part of worldview healing it's it's part of it it's part of the process of worldview healing it's what you're going to use once you have begun to heal the worldview you're gonna use this solution of maintaining this positive mental attitude to continue the work that you're doing if I didn't have any part of this if I didn't know any part of it I say I need improvement in this regard but at the same time if I didn't have any part of this working for myself I probably would have given up with encountering all the problems over the last couple weeks that I've had because it's been rough okay and I'm tired okay and it takes effort and willpower to keep wanting to go on the energy level that I'm at working with right now is definitely at a low but that doesn't mean I'm going to just say oh screw and I'm not gonna do it I'm gonna continue to use whatever is there as long as I'm drawing breath and again that's what will is all about that's what care is all about so what I'm saying here is part of this is regardless of what the outcome may look like it's going to be never give up refuse to disengage the will once the will is this engage you're done so part of this worldview healing is looking at the potential for others to change and realizing that that's possible that there's no such thing as an eternal way that something must be there's only current conditions that's why you know the negative aspect of worldview poisoning is one of the negative aspects of the poisoned worldview is believing that things are eternally the way they are and must be that way for some reason see this is part of somebody being so beaten down that they have accepted that something must eternally be that way and again I call it the acceptance of Hell the yeren hell and you just accept that that that's where you're at you belong there for some reason and so does everyone else well I don't accept that this realm is just simply an eternal prison I believe we're creating the conditions I don't believe we're creating the conditions I know we're creating the conditions we have freewill to create whatever conditions we want as long as we're operating within the parameters of natural law what we want to do is break all the parameters of natural law and still think that we can operate somehow freely in this realm and that's impossible you operate within natural law and then you could make whatever you want here you don't operate within the parameters of natural law you yourself as a society collectively are building a prison for yourself that's what we're doing that doesn't mean that that prison is eternal and it must be that way you change your mind then you change your behavior and then you can create a different manifestation and that's possible possible again we're talking about possibility here as part of this positive true positive thinking solution to understand what's possible now that's not saying that you know what will be chosen I don't think anybody definitively knows what will be chosen we could look at general trends and and extrapolate from the general trend and if you're gonna do that I can understand how your attitude might not be so good because it doesn't look like from the general trend that many people are really waking up and certainly not waking up in any level of fullness but that doesn't mean it isn't possible it can happen are people going to stay attached through their free will stay attached to illusion see that's what we have a free will to do we have a free will to engage in reality and therefore learn about natural law and prosper and create any manifestation we so desire or we can continue to stay in illusion to use our free will to stay engaged in things that absolutely aren't true and are based in lies deception misunderstanding and complete falsehood and then we're going to build continue to generate through our thoughts emotions and actions ultimately we're going to generate a prison of our own design and we're going to stay there for as long as we continue to engage in that illusion the difference here is in what I'm talking about true positive thinking is knowing that that's always created by us and is never an eternal quality of the universe or an eternal you know law of creation that must remain that way it is not natural law that this place is a prison it is the current condition that this place is a prison because we made it like that and that's as far as I'm concerned the most positive thing that you could ever know come to a full understanding of because that means that you're not being tortured eternally just for the hell of it just for the sake of it just for the hell of it pun intended okay you're we're all collectively creating this manifested outcome because most of us are in the mental state of wanting to stay in that illusion because it's comfortable there and that's not something that can't be changed it is something that can be changed but you people have to provide a support system for that level of change to help someone to acquire intelligence to help someone to Riva fie their care because their care is largely dead and we have to resurrect care to bring it back out of the tomb that it is in bring somebody's heart back to life so that they start caring about what is going on and ultimately to resurrect right action in the world but that's not going to be done if people continuously believe that they're going to that that change is impossible and that this idea of we are this way eternally and it must be this way eternally I don't you know I almost want to hear that coming out of people's mouths unless it's connected to natural law when it comes to natural law you can say it is this way eternally and you're making an accurate statement blank you can make a blanket statement if you have the fundamentals of natural law understood properly and say it is this way eternally see this is what goes back I've alluded to it on past shows there's a prayer in the Christian faith I believe it's called the prayer of st. Francis that talks about having the courage or the wisdom to know what is possible to change and what is not possible to change I don't have the exact words in front of me but it's like knowing what is possible to change in what's not and the wisdom to know the difference between those two things you know that's very very powerful knowledge what can be changed is the current condition because it's based upon our free will choices what cannot be changed is natural law because that's not made by man that's not put forward by man that is a eternal condition of the universe these are the boundary conditions of the entire universe that we're living in so you know talking about what's possible to change we also have to know what's not possible to change but the human condition is not one of those things that's impossible to change it's just exceedingly difficult to change it because of the level of comfort of attachment to illusion that humanity has worked itself in so to many it can seem impossible but it is not the reason they think it's impossible is they think that not enough people can ever develop that will and again here's where will can and will diverge okay we have to also understand that this is a matter of willpower to create change alright and knowing that we have to assist in the development of that willpower we have to be like strength trainers you know like people who help people in a gym the who know the truth you could look at it as their personal trainers but their personal trainers for the aspects of consciousness their personal trainers to help people come into true intelligence to help people to develop true care and get out of their apathy their trainers to help people develop courage and willpower to then go out and themselves affect change in the world and become a change agent so that's a difficult job it's the most difficult job that's why so few people really wanted to get engaged in it and stay engaged in it you have a lot of people that want to skirt the periphery of this and say a few things do a few people and then oh and they encounter some resistance and I don't want to hear it then they just back off and that's going back to sleep folks that's what that is that's just going right back to sleep all right because if you're not actively continuing to attempt to influence change there's no power in your actions you knowing is practically meaningless it's not meaningless but I say practically meaningless because if you don't do anything with knowledge and understanding what's the point of having it you might as we well be one of the ignorant asleep sheeple as people call them the the point here is using the will to put forward what you haven't come to know and part of the problem is you know there's a lot of people who are putting out stuff that isn't true and think that it's their responsibility to put it out there and they haven't even vetted the material enough you know and a lot of these people are you know putting out things that are very negative destructive and based on complete misinformation as well and some people are well intended and believe that they're putting out the truth again the New Age aspect is one of those things that this notion that oh never look at the negative you know where you'll draw it to you you hear that from so many well-meaning people it doesn't mean they're all agents of disinformation but they could have grafted that belief you know taking it into themselves and you know grafted it onto their worldview and now they're just propagating it because they've accepted it it doesn't mean that they're evil you know they've been misguided by something and they believe what they're doing is right you know so we have to again make that that distinguishing between someone who is deliberately and in full knowing putting out bad information and then someone else who you know happen to look at it and say well I could get behind that I could accept that as being true and is just putting it out there because they think they're gonna help somebody else with it which is true for the majority of the New Age movement not saying all of those people who put out that info regarding not looking at the negative are evil people but I guarantee you who originally injected that into the whole movement had a plan in mind and did that by design knowing that it would get picked up by people who with positive intent and propagated and it has been tremendously propagated and I'll tell you what we're going to do - one of the things the the free your mind organizers are going to do is we're going to the big New Age Expo coming up here in Philadelphia the mind/body/spirit Expo and we're gonna promote the living hell out of the free your mind to conference there and engage all of these New Agers and say do you know what's really going on in the world or you just lost in your meditative trance mind mode you know and not really looking at what's truly taking place around you you know because that's what most of the these New Agers are all about they're all about just feeling good it's a drug to them it's a drug to them they're it's just about feeling good being in a community that's uplifting for them and the suffering of other people is their own problem and that's largely true I'm not saying that as a blanket statement not everybody in the New Age movement feels that that way but to be quite honest about it that is largely the case ok you saw I'm making a generalization there and that generalization largely holds true the New Age movement is misguided in the in the aspect that they put forward these this fall teaching of what positive thinking is all about what one of the aspects that I cover that also differs from classic New Age teachings on positive thinking is not only about how it differs from what can be changed and what will change and being honest about that but also looking at this from a perspective of illness that the people who do not have an understanding of true freedom who do not have an understanding of rights who do not understand and have have an understanding or knowledge of right and wrong or developed conscience in other words and who do not understand anything about how natural law works and our free will decisions works in conjunction with natural law to bring us the manifested reality that we must then experience those without any of this knowledge we can't look at them as just evil we have to look at them as ill this is illness they're they're broken in many ways but not irreparably broken but they are broken see the word broken is an interesting term because we use the word broken when something doesn't work when it doesn't work properly it's broken but we also use the word broken to mean some what some a being that has accepted their bondage so when a horse is broken okay that means they are now accepting that they're a work animal that they're our slave to them to the farmer or the rancher or whoever who broke them so this analogy this word play here holds very accurate the people who were trying to help are technically broken their consciousness is broken there are fragmented individual they are dismembered they are torn apart internally they don't have an integrated consciousness their thought thoughts emotions and actions are all over the place they don't have real telogen they don't have care they're drowning in apathy their worldview is completely shattered and drenched drowning an illusion and they have accepted that this is just the way that it is and it can never be changed totally poisoned worldview these people who I'm talking about our ill they're broken they're ill their consciousness is sick and as a holistic being as the total being is very sick so part of true positive thinking is not treating these people as simply bad and evil and that's another thing I often wrestle with believe it or not while I know this fully I hear some of the statements that come out of people's mouths and I just think well you're totally given over to evil you know you are evil maybe you're the essence of evil yourself that's just in a human body I think that all the time about P of minus T I hear things that come out of my own family members mouth and I think wow you are just the essence of evil because they're so brainwashed and their worldview is so sick and poison I have to consciously try to force myself to remember this person is just damaged and broken and that's a very harsh way of putting it but a very accurate way of putting it there are damaged being they're broken they're beaten up and crushed their soul is just crushed in so many different ways it would take a long time to list them all and that's a sad sad sad thing it's a sad state of affairs but what I'm trying to say here is part of true positive thinking you you have to try to disengage the the passion and the emotional aspect to this when you're looking at other people and you have to look at it from a perspective that is pulled back a little bit and is dispassionate from the perspective of getting angry at these people and again this is why I started with this fact is because I struggle with all of this the most as I've already said I struggle with looking on the positive side and I struggle with looking at these people as simply broken and ill and misguided and undermine control but that is the case I do know that that's the case I understand why that's been done have I converted that total knowledge of that being the case and the understanding of how it's been done and why they are like that to wisdom yet in this regard and I'd have to honestly assess myself and say no I have not because I get so angry with these people that I almost go back to the same eugenics worldview of the darker cultists and think they all just need to go constantly and you know I understand why some of these darker cultists who are a billion times more intellectually advanced I don't notice I did not use the word intelligent a billion times more left brain intellectual in their capacity to understand things than the average human being is I understand why they would want to do away with 95% of the world's population most of the time that doesn't mean I agree with their agenda to actually do it I think people can can change I didn't say they definitely will they can change if the proper information is put before them and the poison stream of information is is dispelled from going into their mind going into their eyes and ears and therefore into the mind and their and also the poison that's going into the body is quelled see the part of the reason people are so slow to accept the truth is because they're not only mentally and spiritually broken most of the time they're physically broken they have damaged brains literal damaged brains their brains are so messed up they can't focus on anything I mean I know members of my own family they cannot have a conversation that is in any way directed or focused for more than two two minutes opps tops and they have to go start looking at things in the physical environment playing with you know some type of physical toy or piece of technology or go and doing an actual behavior or activity someplace but to sit and talk which is what we're going to talk about in the second hour we're going to talk about conversation as being a big part of the solution to have them sit and engage in anything that requires the mind or thinking about anything in any kind of a deep level for any amount of time forget it and that that is a sign of brain damage physical literal brain damage I can't stress that enough that means that this person has not used the aspects of the brain for attention on any kind of abstract thinking for so long that that aspect that part of the brain is actually atrophied and if you looked at the brain in an advanced skin like a SPECT scan or something like that it would show that the parts of the brain that deal with that level of thinking are not firing the neurons in that part of the brain are actually have been become deadened and it we require small efforts over long periods of time to constantly go and reengage that person's brain to get them draw them into conversation and hold them there make them pay attention for a little bit longer and a little bit longer and a little bit longer you know hard work that is to do and people say oh that's not your responsibility that's what I say back to that it is your responsibility to do that if you know the truth it is see you know I should just I should just drop names here in in saying some people in the actual new-age community quote unquote I'm not going to even do that I've talked to people personally at book signings and and lectures and things like that and asked them about this well once you come to understand the truth shouldn't we be developing methods methodologies on engagement for other people who are still asleep after all they're affecting everybody else is free they're affecting the state of affairs and I've heard back from some of these people sitting there signing books and getting thousands of dollars to make appearances multiple thousands of dollars and make appearances oh that's not our responsibility we only need to concern ourselves with ourselves and once again I call on that okay because that is not what it is all about it is not about just you knowing and changing yourself and then saying I'm okay so screw everybody else and anybody out there in a New Age movement that's putting that out there is a deceiver it is about using that knowledge in full responsibility to take it to others to help them to affect the change of themselves as well No [Music] [Music] okay folks we're back after the station break at the top of the hour this is the second hour of today's what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're talking about solutions in the form of the power of true positive thinking and how that differs from the new-age notion of positive thinking and talking about the responsibility to teach others which I was just bridging into as part of that that segue at the end of the last hour so many people within certain new-age circles also have accepted that it's only about changing yourself well the dynamic of the total change that could possibly happen on a societal scale is about changing oneself but how do you think that that's going to be possible if you're not putting information out there into the world to influence that change and it is about making people pay attention to it by putting it out there in such a way that it cannot be ignored see that's the problem we're still so fringe and our numbers are so small that people can just ignore it and say well oh this is the other thing that the people who don't want to accept the reality always talk about and I get crazy when I hear them say this oh how many people think like that as if that makes a difference as if it matters the number of people that are saying something is if that has anything whatsoever to do with whether something is true or not I ask people all the time if 7 billion people are repeating a lie does that suddenly make it a truth no it just means 7 million people have accepted a lie and don't know what the truth is regarding that thing but the live remains a lie and if only one person speaks a truth and 7 billion other people think he's crazy does that suddenly make it not true no of course not well if one person speaks it's a truth and it is true it remains true regardless how many people reject it the truth remains the truth even if no one accepts it and a lie will remain a lie even if everyone accepts it and people have to understand that and you know this is what you hear a lot of times with these close down people they because they have no confidence or faith in themselves to be able to recognize truth from deception and they just want to graft on the numbers of people well if this is the status quo and more people think this then than other people then that must be the truth when in fact nothing could be farther from being true it's a matter of fact then more generally accepted something is you can almost guarantee there's some aspect of falsehood and deception within it but true common sense is what we're trying to develop here people being aligned with what actually is and once you have acquired that in yourself and you know that that's the case you don't just believe it you know and you know through direct experience you can test this in your life the quality of your life will change for the better or the worse as you test the parameters of natural law many people have done experiments regarding this I tell people check out the works of Richard Wetherill who shows enormous examples in the way of how the laws of nature regarding consciousness though and right and wrong the the consequences of our actions can be tested repeatedly over and over again with the same results you know it's a science and Sciences works through a method of discovery the scientific method that involves repeatability and understanding through observation direct observation gnosis natural law is no different once we have acquired this understanding of how we are creating our own experience then we inherent by taking in that knowledge we have also taken with with it a responsibility this is part of the reason so many people do not want that knowledge they want to remain eternal children and they want to sit back and they want to not be involved but that's impossible if you're here you're involved and part of our taking into take knowledge into ourselves is the understanding that with it comes responsibility to teach others and this is the second part of the conversation here today which is what do we need to do to really affect change in other people okay what do we need to do to fully step into our role as a teacher again I'm not doing this radio show just to help make other people aware and in that sense I am NOT doing what is called horizontal integration it has been called by many people heart horizontal integration I've explained this briefly before and I want to clarify because so many people constantly think that my goal for this radio show is something different than what it is they think I'm trying to reach the asleep masses and I am NOT and never have been trying to do that okay I am trying to reach the people who are capable of going out into society and teaching those asleep masses in other words what I'm trying to do and you know maybe some of my work will do that and if somebody who's completely asleep will encounter and wake up from it it's possible but that's not my intent okay my intent is something somewhat different than that and if that happens as a result wonderful okay if that happens as an ancillary effect then great I began this show and all of the stuff that's on my website to try to identify and pull forward people with the willpower to become a teacher of this information so all of this that I've done so far all the work I've put out there is not to reach the end result people it's not to reach the people on the fringe who are totally in the matrix quote-unquote so to speak they're totally engulfed in the illusion I'm trying to put build a form a platform here that can help to influence people to become a teacher for this information and therefore instead of there being one person who's putting out some info we have a thousand or ten thousand or a million and then the messages everywhere so what I'm attempting to do here is to influence someone else to step into the role of a teacher and you know I in no way have ever accepted thee and will never accept the appellation or tagline of leader in any form or fashion I've said from day one on no one's leader not I'm not going to be your leader you have to be your own leader okay but I have accepted the tagline or whatever you want to call it the appellation of teacher because that's what I'm doing I'm teaching spiritual truths about how our reality the experience of our reality is created and how were the ones who are creating it there's no one else here creating the experience of our reality except us you know aside from setting aside nature okay natural laws you know weather phenomenon things like that okay that creates a part of our reality that's the randomness aspect of our reality but as far as the deterministic aspect of the reality there is natural law and then we have a free will weather to come into accordance with it or to completely to flagrantly violate it and therefore that setting another aspect of our experience that's determining another aspect of our experience natural law is not negotiable but our actions are changeable okay so what I'm trying to develop here is other people who know natural law well enough that that they can then go out and teach it to other people so we stop choosing poorly unwisely and creating effects creating manifestations that only lead to more self-inflicted suffering that's the goal of this show which I don't know if I ever really clearly stated you know from day one people think oh a mark you're trying to reach all of these people I'm not not trying to build horizontally and reach the court unquote dead one person cannot do that maybe a million teachers with this level of knowledge could it through it dispersed throughout the world then we'd have a real game on our hands instead of the slaughter fest that's taking place right now with people who don't have any knowledge of the entire workings of the game that's going on quote/unquote game you know if we had a million teachers with deep understanding of natural law maybe we'd be having an impact maybe we'd be putting a dent in the dominators agenda but you know so many people are still largely asleep to that aspect of things even though they know that there's a problem you know they know that freedom is on the on the decline but again they're all about their freedom they're not interested in understanding natural law so many of them want to deny themselves that that exists and put labels on it as a religion or something when I've said from day one this has nothing to do with belief nothing to do with religion this is a science of how nature operates but it is an unseen that this these laws are largely unseen and you only acquire knowledge about them through experience and the testing of that working of that natural law by testing it through behaviors and finding out what you'll get in other words an expression like genetics a lot of times the science of genetics is a hit-or-miss strategy you have to do your splicing and then see what expresses in a particular culture and then you find out what the manifestation or the expression is now the testing of natural law works the same way as a science of like genetic manipulation you know you you have to test it see what expresses and now you have knowledge of you know if you do this then that results like an if-then statement because ultimately folks this is all a computer this whole reality is a computer you know and natural law is the if-then statement of the programmer if you choose to do this with freewill then you will get this manifestation or result in that respect this entire reality is so much like a computer program that's running now I probably would go so far to say that it is a computer program that's running but that's for another show let's talk about one's responsibility once you have this kind of knowledge to then communicate it to others and I will use the term forcefully communicate it to others okay not violently communicated to others there's a big difference force means you're standing within the force of truth and you're not going to just baby spoon feed it or back off when the person and can show you that they're gonna be resistant to it you're going to say this is your belief right now but you're still incorrect there is a reality to this that doesn't involve how you believe currently and you're still wrong and you're still causing harm to yourself and others that's when I talk to people who are asleep and are giving me a lot of resistance to what I'm saying that's what I tell them I don't sugarcoat it a bit you are doing disservice to others by sugarcoating the way things are you're keeping them babies you're keeping them babies you're keeping them babies don't worry about what their sensibilities in ego are hammer them with the truth hammer them with the truth the more you baby spoon feed them the the more they're going to stay attached and think that what they're doing is okay staying in the level of ignorance that they're staying in believing in the level of illusion that they believe in they're gonna continue to think oh this isn't causing any harm that's just one person who had a quirky weird idea and you know I told him I absolutely completely believe otherwise and now he's not saying anything to me anymore so he just must have been a fringe not that you know and I'll go back to believing what I was originally thinking we have to cut through the signal with force they're constantly under a bombardment of poison food and poison information we need to cut through the signal with force force is going to cut through the signal not laying down to their ego the ego has to be fought in this regard it's a war you're not going to baby spoon feed the ego out of existence it's not gonna happen that way the ego has to be broken here's that word again the person through the process of the breaking of the ego is going to become unbroken they're not going to be dismembered anymore they will be remembering their true self putting it back together building something that's strong okay the ego is what has to be directly encountered directly encountered because look you look at it this way if the ego isn't directly encountered at some point there's going to be a collapse which directly encounters the ego which is using force to break it down one way or another I've said it before nature's going to solve this problem if we do not and it can solve it in a billion different ways of its choosing of its design and in its time and it's going to solve it for us if we don't do it for ourselves because the ego in its current rulership is going to be smashed if it has to be done through the forces of nature then nature will eventually do that because this level of rebellion is not going to be tolerated for eternity it just will not I suggest we encounter we engage that force and smash the ego by a power by the power of our will and that means when somebody's in a level of resistance you have to stand forcefully in the truth and not back down and and not and you be willing to use the words you are simply wrong you are incorrect and think you are correct okay you are in correct incorrect thought leads to incorrect action which leads to incorrect results or manifestations under natural law and there is no baby spoon feeding way to get somebody out of that you have to say this is what you say you want yet what you're doing is in complete contradiction to that and therefore you're going to get the opposite that's it and the universe doesn't care the universe does not care that you don't understand that it doesn't care the universe isn't a person who cares like you care about something to attribute emotion to all creation in the same sense that you look at human emotion is a totally 100% flawed viewpoint to look at creation from you have to look at creation from a perspective of a computer program it does not care whether you as the programmer have zero knowledge of what you're doing it's still gonna spit back on to the screen which is what your experience is okay what you programmed into it whether you're a master programmer or you're a complete drooling idiot who has no clue what you're doing banging on the keyboard you're going to get a result that you put into it the end it's gonna say here's the the input I process it and manifest the output and that's it and this is what people have to do when they're teaching be as this passion and we're actually cold about it you could say it's very passionate because yeah you're getting fired up over trying to explain to somebody how something works but I'm talking about in engaging the ego you're talking to the ego to try to break it down it has the person see people say well everybody has an ego wrong everybody does not have an ego the ego has everybody it's exactly the other way around or I should say the ego has almost everybody the point here is to destroy the hold that the ego has over the being because that's what's keeping them in that broken state in that enslaved State so in beginning to teach the first thing you have to recognize is you have to be dispassionate about what someone thinks now and simply engage it as forcefully in truth as you can you are doing no service to somebody by giving them tiny little baby spoon and in other words what I'm saying is don't be gentle on their ego you could be gentle with the amount that you feed them in any one given time but if you're talking and that that's an important thing to distinguish okay whether you're being forceful with whether the information is true or not doesn't mean that you need to be forceful with the amount that you're giving them that I would say okay you can't cram so much down somebody's throat at one time that they are overloaded I certainly didn't take in all of this information at one time I did it over a period of years but I might case of the ego wasn't so deep even being a priest in the Church of Satan my ego wasn't so deep that I could not recognize the truth when I was hearing it and ultimately admit that I was wrong the problem is I was a mild case of how much the ego had me compared to where most people are at most people the ego has them so far totally that you can barely see the light at the end of the tunnel a pinprick of light coming through from the the box that the ego has them in so you can't try to give it all to somebody at one time but what I am Telling You somebody to do is stay forceful in speaking the truth and don't back down when their ego when the ego responds you have to recognize that's not the being responding the ego still has the being it's the ego responding you're talking to a program that is running that has the being and has broken it to its will so that that being can never see outside of its parameters its programming so let's look at the power of words in this regard because that's what teaching is all about that what we're talking about here is all about the power of words words hey the universe is spoken into existence the universe is spoken into existence that's how creation is done through word the logos the power of the word someone who I consider a teacher Terence Mckenna once said that the unive the world is made of words and if we know the words the world is made of that we can make of it whatever we wish extremely powerful and poignant if you know what it means if you know what it means what is the power of the word the word reached me through other teachers I put their information together a map completely amalgamated it all you know accrued it assembled it put it together and saw the big picture if it wasn't for all of those people putting forward the word their words I could not have helped I could not have changed myself they were alchemists in my alchemical awakening in that process just like you have to be have to strive to be that alchemist or that assistant in the awakening process for another person and I say to people every day if I had more help this process would go faster all of the alchemists in the world they need more help this is the clarion call the trumpet blaring to come forward and be a teacher you knowing is not enough you knowing is not enough you have to teach others that is your responsibility once you have come to a place of knowing and you're going to encounter extreme resistance it's the hardest work there is to do to speak the universe into existence to change the current conditions is the hardest work there is to do that's why so few want to do it that's why so few are doing it that's why the ones who are doing it are feeling drained and with low energy because there's no one to tag out - there's no one to tag out - if this were common sense knowledge you know you ever hear the phrase many hands make light work that's what we're talking about here there's so few people who know and are speaking the truth in their responsibility that it's a burden at this time and place to do even do it I look at it as probably souls who are coming in here with a lot of spiritual knowledge or thinking why would I want to go in there hardly anybody's helping that means all the weights gonna be on my back and that's the case on earth the worlds is plunged in darkness and most people don't want to help to enlighten it you know like Carl Jung said enlightenment is not imagining figures of light but it is making the darkness conscious making it conscious through constant effort that's what real alchemy is constant effort constant effort not just saying oh well he doesn't want to hear it and that's it I'm with them no continue to speak if no one is is willing to hear it doesn't matter we are charged with speaking the truth into creation that is our charge as teachers for those who are listening and thinking about you know the attempt at this work to begin to try that's who I'm trying to reach it's you build horizontal integration we need more people who are fully awake not a whole bunch of people who are half-ass awake that's not going to help anybody we need fully awake people even if you're not perfect no one is perfect you're you're engaging in a pipe dream thinking you're gonna have to reach some kind of spiritual perfection that doesn't exist before you start saying a word to anybody one of my biggest laments is I waited as long as I did to start doing what I do because I knew it for years before I started speaking it but I wanted to get better I want to improve myself even more and more and more and not begin you know actually putting information out there I wanted to vet the information enough that I knew I wasn't gonna be doing harm by putting it out there and I almost look at it as it was a bad decision in some ways because I feel I waited too long to even begin we need more teachers that are fully conscious to come out there and start working with others that's what our work is our work is not just to work on ourself that's the beginning anybody that's telling you that's the be-all and end-all is either a liar a deceiver or a useful idiot that's the beginning of the process working with others is where it needs to go so what is required in that process well I call this I have a simple catchphrase the 3 R's will lead to the three C's ok the 3 R's that lead to the three C's ok and if you want to then take it further ultimately the big a ok that's what we're gonna talk about here we're going to talk about 7 words in a seven step process which is what becoming a teacher is all about and this is respect remembrance responsibility conscience conversion conviction and atonement and the power of these words when we break them down people have obviously heard all of those words but many people don't even know what they mean even from an etymological perspective from the perspective of the roots of these words and their origins in language where do they cut where these english-language words come from well we've talked about respect a lot on the show and this is the first thing one ultimately needs again if you don't have self-respect you can't begin to teach others because that means you can't possibly have any respect for them for the student while I'm not advocating being non harsh on the student or in other words baby spoon feeding them the truth that doesn't mean you don't have respect for them and what I mean by respect is true respect it's comes from the latin language ree is a prefix in Latin that means again and now we're on image number seven in the slideshow on the website or with the podcast the word REE the prefix re in Latin means again and the second part of respect SPECT comes from the Latin verbs SPECT re SPECT Oh SPECT re which means to look at so you put them together and respect simple simply means to look at again to take another look at to reexamine well what are you reading that means the true development of respect your reexamining the self you're taking another look at yourself that's what true respect is to look again at yourself it comes right in the word the meaning is right in the word you just have to know where the word came from in ancient languages so real respect means you have taken a look at the truth you've taken another look at yourself whether you're in alignment with that truth or not and now you're working with yourself to bring yourself into alignment and accord with that truth that's real respect so unless you're embodying the truth you don't really have true self-respect if you're not living the truth in your own life I would suggest don't try to become a teacher because that means ultimately you're hypocritical and somebody else is gonna look at your actions and say well you're not doing this how do you expect me to do it you know the old phrase of the Buddha you know a child being brought to him after a long trek and the parents saying my child keeps eating candy that's no good for him can you please explain to them why that's bad and to tell them to stop doing it and the Buddha says well I can't do that you'll have to come back in a month and he goes I just made a huge journey across hundreds of miles that to have an audience with you and you're telling me to come back in a month yes you'll have to come back in a month the man comes back with the child in a month and says the Buddha says immediately child stop eating that candy that's no good for you and is doing harm to your body and guy says why couldn't you just do that before and he says because I was still eating that and I couldn't tell him to do it when I was still doing it because I'd be hypocrite so this is what I'm talking about if you have true self respect your actions are not going to be in contradiction with your thoughts and emotions and therefore you're going to be really effective you'd be ineffective as a teacher if you don't have that level of true self respect you'll be the most effective as a teacher if you truly have taken another look at yourself and then corrected those actions within yourself the next R is remembrance okay and one more thing about respect people think respect is something that you give to someone else it is not it is something that you develop within the self that's what real respect is so then you can see the aspect of the divine in someone else and treat them accordingly as you would treat yourself that's what offering self respect is it doesn't it doesn't isn't something you can't give something to someone else that you don't first have not acquired yourself you can't give someone a cake unless you have it first you have to have it in order to give it so you have to have respect in order to give respect this is where people confuse the the actual meaning of the term so the second term is remembrance we talked about being broken most people are broken they're disassembled they are dismembered their consciousness is fragmented it's all over the place we're largely as humanity fragmented beings our thoughts emotions and actions are not aligned they're not you they are not unified excuse me they are not unified okay they are completely separated they are broken down they are in contradiction with each other and they are dismembered dismembered means torn apart ripped up broken up okay the process of remembering means to bring back together you are putting the pieces together not only of the truth but of your own consciousness you're bringing together all of the aspects of the self and you're putting it all back together okay like pieces of a puzzle that have been scattered all over the place that's what we need to do with ourself once we have developed briefs respect there is a process in this it is a it is a stepwise linear process respect has to come first in aspirations for one being a teacher for this information to others I'm not saying these are hard and fast rules these are I would consider these general guidelines I'm not the authority on this okay I would say that I'm putting forward some general guidelines that will help people this is the understanding of this helped me when I was getting ready to come forward and start speaking okay so I feel if it helped me it can help other people and it has held true to this day so remembrance means you've truly remembered who you are you're not engaged in the world you're in the world but not of it you're not engaged from a $0.05 perspective only or a left-brain perspective only if that's the case you haven't really remembered you haven't truly been reminded of who you are that's what remembering is it's a reminder like an alarm going off okay we have to be reminded which is also think about it re minded to reacquire the mind okay to put the mind back together getting a new mind people say well what can I do the first thing you need to do is change your thoughts you need a new mind a new perspective on everything in life a whole new world view if you don't have that that new healed worldview if you have not been reminded then you're not truly remembered you're not put back together yet there's parts of you that are still broken and then going and spreading that to other people is going to have a poisonous or deleterious effect upon them and you're not really assisting in the alchemical process so we have to make sure that we have true self respect develop within ourselves and that we have truly remembered that which we are as a being that is within all consciousness that is an aspect of all eternal consciousness and is not just a five sense being we're having the expression or the experience of being a five sense being but we are ultimately a spiritual being and being reminded the process of remembering is about happy is about developing a new mind from the old poisoned worldview mind to a new healed worldview mind and if that's not the case like I said we're going to be doing a disservice to others when we start bringing this information to them it doesn't again mean that you can't have any harsh words for others or tell them that they just have their head up their ass when they need to just hear that because that's the case with many people with many people they're just completely wrong brainwashed and totally have their head up their ass to be quite frank harsh and honest about it that's the case you know I'm not trying to tell people everybody is in a great place and this is gonna be easy work you're going to practically be trying to practically be trying to do what is have bit has been considered throughout the ages to be practically impossible it's it's not impossible see that's part of healing the worldview recognizing that it's possible to do but we just need more help in doing it we need to awaken more teachers only until more teachers are awakened are we gonna ever reach the masses the amount of teachers in the world is not sufficient to awaken the masses of sleeping cattle let me just say that again the amount of teachers currently present in the world who are fully awake is not sufficient to awaken the hordes of sleeping cattle that exists on the earth it's impossible from where we're at now what we need to do is awaken more teachers to the hut to the extreme level of awakening the totality of it then it will become possible and we will start making a dent and an impact on the masses quote unquote that's what that's what the goal of this show again has been to try to remind that that the potential teachers who are here that this is their responsibility which brings us to the next thing true responsibility and what it is this is slide number nine true responsibility means fully owning everything that we do fully owning our thoughts our emotions and our actions and what we're putting out into the world that's going to lead to a manifestation and that means that we are taking 100% full ownership of our inherent ability to respond to a given situation within the parameters of natural law and I'll say that again we're taking full ownership of our inherent ability as a human being to respond in the world to any given situation within the parameters of natural law that's what responsibility is it's response ability you know just because the end phrase is response ability okay it's just a way of taking a verb into a noun response responsible responsibility you know an adjective and then a noun response responsible responsibility well being responsible having responsibility we're really saying the response ability with an A it's our ability to respond within the parameters of natural law and this is what the control system wants to usurp from us and say oh you're not responsible were the responsible ones and you'll do what we say to do and not do what we say that you may not do you know they want to take that away from people and that's why we have such an irresponsible society people have believed in their claim that were the responsible ones as the quote government you know and the quote authorities and will be responsible and everybody else is just children and we're the parents taking care of the children and we wonder what when billions of people have accepted that lie we wonder why there's so few truly responsibility responsible people in the world true responsibility is about owning your actions it's about not having not engaging in cop-outs okay and saying oh well I'm doing harm but it was only my job to do it I was told it was okay no cop-outs take full ownership of your behavior if you're causing harm with your behavior take the apophatic approach and stop doing it say no and that's what most people refuse to do they're so afraid of the consequences for stopping doing an action that they're already doing that is causing harm we have to get out of that level of fear and say I'm not going to be made to engage in a behavior that is causing harm to another person and I'm going to stop doing it I don't care if I starve to death in the street I'm gonna stop doing it I'm not going to give a dime a penny and iota of energy to someone to go and wage war I'm not gonna do it you know I'm not gonna give one iota of energy to a system that is enslaving me and everybody else and is willing to usurp somebody else's natural rights you're not you're gonna have to kill me but then you'll have a body to clean up but I'm not going to cooperate with your agenda in any form or fashion and people want to turn that around and say well because you eat you're somehow involved in that because oh you know there you know there may be taxes on this food item or that food I look I'm talking about how it is within your ability to pull back from the system and still be in the world in the world not of the world that doesn't mean that because I want to teach people what's really going on I can't interact in any form in society I'd have to go live in the forest or something this is what some lunatics actually believe not cooperating with the system is and here's another big crock of if I may say so myself that people actually believe well if you want to if you want to live free and you want to you know maintain the ability and not be a hypocrite then you need to go live in the forest away from society well you know what you could take that whole nonsense and cram it where the Sun doesn't shine okay because I have the right to be in society and eat okay they're my natural rights that and that's where I'm going to engage the people with information I'm not going to engage them in the forest someplace so nobody's gonna tell me because I have views that are in accordance with truth and natural law and just because they differ from the brainwashed cattle that I'm not going to stay in society be able to eat be able to protect myself from the elements and be able to speak the truth to other people so again you could take that and cram it where you know we're OK the attitude of if you don't agree with the people who run the society now and you know and or quote-unquote you're a hypocrite because you live in a house or that you eat food because you can't 100% pull back I'm gonna pull back from cooperating with the system with whatever is within my ability to do maybe even if it means I end up on the street and then I'll speak the truth from the street if I had to I currently live in a place that is made possible by someone someone else helping me and being able to and supporting my work otherwise I probably would already be in the street but the point here is don't tell me I need to go live in the street or I need to go live in the woods someplace to speak the truth alright that is not what I'm talking about here as far as pulling back from the system ok pulling back from the system I'm talking about stop complying with all of the ways that are clearly in opposition to someone else's natural law rights stop working for the government stop working for the police stop working for the military if you're involved in that in any capacity you can't be truly reminded or remembered you are still torn apart in some form or fashion and you're still ultimately complying with the system so true responsibility is owning that action and saying I'm not going to do it anymore I know that this is my action and you're not going to use it for this purpose I know what the real purpose is and I'm going to stop doing it even if it means in the short term I may suffer that's what real taking full ownership of your responsibility is all about now let's look at the three C's which is what these 3 R's if we put together these three R's the respect remembrance and responsibility into effect in our lives what it's going to lead to is the three things that are ultimately necessary for the manifestation of true awakening in the population and true healing in other words the true solution the real solution that is really going to create lasting positive change for the betterment of everyone in our world and the reestablishing of our natural rights and true freedom is conscience conversion and conviction it all starts with conscience if you have developed self-respect truly remembered who you are and owned your own personal responsibility you are going to come into the full expression of conscience the definitive knowledge of the objective difference between right and wrong knowledge is what conscience is okay it comes from the Latin language con a prefix meaning together and ski o ski air a meaning to know or to understand to know or to understand putting those together and we're on slide number 10 now we get to know together or to understand together that's what conscience is conscience is common sense it's common sense knowledge of the difference between right and wrong many people don't understand conscience as knowledge or as understanding they think of it as action the exercise of your conscience is action that is in accordance with your conscience that is in accordance with natural law in accordance with the laws of right and wrong so conscience is the understanding the application of conscience is wisdom all right conscience is the knowledge and understanding and then putting that into practice in one's life which make turns it into wisdom is the exercise of one's conscience so that's what conscience is about and that has to be the first thing that is like fully developed this is what if that's fully developed in our self then we're going to be able to take that development to other people and make them and help them to make themselves into a being that is awake in that respect and has developed conscience or common sense knowledge and is then practicing that in their life through applying it through exercising right action the second C is creating a conversion and the reason it's number two is because nothing the true change cannot be made without conscience first being in place okay the conversion is the change that we're alternately looking for the change that we want to create comes from the Latin language also it comes from Khan which means together as we saw in conscience and the verb verso verse Ra which means to change verse re means to change in Latin so what we're looking to create is the great change the conversion the worldview shift the paradigm shift as they call it in certain circles okay the complete change in one's in the collective worldview of humanity and ultimately then the behaviors of humanity to bring those behaviors into accordance with natural law parameters conversion comes from Latin it means to change together con vers re to change together okay so creating a conversion a mass change see people look at this as a religious word while he had a conversion this is only a one connotation of the word we're trying to create a conversion together a conversion not to any religion but a conversion to the truth that is beyond all religion religion is what's holding us back from the truth from the Latin relic relig are a meaning to hold back to tie back to thwart from forward progress the the real conversion is going to take us out of the religion the things that hold us back you know and in the the sense of the the true meaning of religion that the positive connotation of the term relig re can mean to reunite with to retie to the truth and to the light to reunite with the truth that's what a real conversion is going to bring about reuniting us with the truth with God if you will so conversion is what we're trying to create a mass change chain all changing together for the better and that is made possible through conversation the power of the word this is why these words are almost identical conversion conversation look break them down green language terms in our chemical green language conversion con means together verse over sorry means to change conversion con verse I on converse ion when the eye goes on there's a great change together there's a change that's happening together the ion okay or you can look at it as changing the ion together changing the all-seeing eye that exists within all of us the spark of the divine turning that on you know the idea of the awakened all-seeing eye being the full expression of consciousness awake within the individual look at the word conversation con verse re at eye on converse at eye on it's right in the word folks right in the word all you got to do is break it down to change together at the eye on at the third eye at the place of spiritual understanding spiritual awakening that's what a conversation makes possible unless you're willing to talk to other people and forcefully stand in your truth and help to get them to an accurate understanding of what's really taking place and in the spiritual laws of creation that we're operating within whether we understand that or not we need to converse in order to do that to have a conversation with others the universe is spoken into existence the reason that the bad guys are winning folks is because they're engaging in the word their signal is always bombarding people 24 hours a day I go into anybody's house and my family who was asleep yeah t-that television is on and blaring and more often times than not it's on a channel that's it on the propaganda news almost guaranteed every time their signal is always on and until we can cut into that signal and stop it from reaching the brains of other people we're not getting out of this cage and that's our task to override that signal with a trumpet blare of truth that is so loud that it drowns out that poison signal that's how many people we need speak in the truth that they can't get away from it that's what I mean when I say force that everywhere they go they're gonna see the truth hurt they're gonna hear it they're gonna see it it's gonna be being spoken in their presence and and people say to me this is all you do mark you don't do anything else they look at it as can't you see that that's not balanced yes I can see that what do you think I'm trying to do with this show I want to be able to tag out I want more people at the level of knowledge as me and with the willpower that I have to teach this I don't have that opportunity I don't have that comfort there isn't that well there's a million other people that got this thing that's not present so I can't afford to just stop doing it and you know what I have a problem with that you know if I told you I didn't have a problem with that I'd be lying I don't like it the way it is it's it's a burden I've said this a million times many hands make light or work do we have enough people No so there is an incredible weight upon the people who do truly understand this all of this information and the call is going out that if you understand it you got to stand in your truth and deal with the people who don't that's what our work is that's the great work in case you haven't figured it out yet it isn't about just knowing and saying I'm okay gonna try to escape or I'm gonna try to make my nice little comfortable hovel someplace and go bury myself in it if that's your attitude you don't understand anything it's about engaging the darkness and making it into the light and that's the hardest work there is to do ladies and gentlemen and that's why so few people are doing it but if we do it and we're successful in that great change we would come to slide number 12 which is conviction and again just break down the word you know this is part of why they want to say they part of why that the controllers use the word convict meaning for meaning someone in a prison this is the inversion of green language they know what convict really means so they want they use that term deliberately to represent a prisoner someone who stands convicted but when in fact that's what we need to have conviction we need to stand convicted why do I say that because I know what the word convict conviction actually means it comes from the Latin con together and vinco van carry or vin Chavan chary which means to win to win for it you know people have heard the phrase vanie vidi vici or as it's really pronounced wainy we do Ichi in Latin I came I saw I conquered I came I saw I won the last part of it then she comes from victory to win it's the verb to win in Latin VIN cherry so put them together con then cherry to win together to have arrived at a place of country conviction is to have won together you know they want to tell you that a convict or a conviction is a bad thing well in the sense of it being a prisoner that's why they're using it in that term to take you to make it have a negative connotation in your mind when in fact becoming convinced and fully know the truth without any doubt is where we have to get to when we do that then we will have one together we will have one together we will have arrived at a place of true conviction which is what what we're really saying is the the willpower to live an honest life the conviction that we need to develop to truly live in the parameters of truth and natural law when we do that when we develop the 3 R's which lead to the 3 C's as we've talked about on this show ultimately we will arrive at a place of atonement and we just need to look at this from both an etymological and green language perspective atonement comes from Latin a the prefix means to depart from or to go away from tone are a means to make noise to make a din or a great amount of noise and men's means mind atonement to depart from making noise with the mind to create harmony with the mind in other words not disharmony not discord but accordance to create accord with the mind in other words to become at oneness in the mind act one mind right in the word at tone meant at one mind and what we really are talking about is we are at one with the mind of creation because we understand fully natural law and we are using our willpower to stand in that truth and engage it that's all the time we have on this edition of what on earth is happening ladies and gentlemen I hope you enjoyed it I didn't have a chance to get to the phones we'll do that next week how about this we'll have an [Music]

shell out so much money out of pocket so again an advance ticket sale better than a donation and also if people are live in the philadelphia area and are interested in helping out with the organization of this conference we still need help please get in touch with me at mark at free your mind conference calm I know a couple of people I did respond and I will be getting back to you this week if you responded to that with some details on how to how you can help us out in the organization for this event okay last week I neglected to mention an announcement that I wanted to talk about and that is the what on earth is happening website are the videos all the videos for the website are now in html5 format that means that they do not require a browser plug-in to play in the web browser and that they will also be able to be played in any handheld devices that anyone may be using to access the site so video on the what on earth is happening website is now all html5 compliant very closely connected with that announcement is that I have set up a YouTube channel for what on earth is happening that's a long time coming I should have probably done that a long time ago but there is now a YouTube channel for what on earth is happening and you could visit the YouTube channel at www.youtube.com/whitbypubliclibrary all of the water on earth is happening videos are there I also have some videos up from my speeches at the end the Fed rally I have other lectures that I've given including The Wizard of Oz presentation that I gave a couple of years back and coming to the both the YouTube channel and the water on earth is happening website I will be posting the entire matrix series that the the lecture that I did on the Matrix trilogy called the Matrix trilogy decoded and I will also be posting the recent lecture that I gave the presentation that I gave at the MUFON PA East Coast conference which was entitled morality and disclosure so that's coming to both the what on earth is happening video section the what on earth is happening website videos section and also the what on earth is happening YouTube channel the ad-free last event announcement is the ad free chip in for the what on earth is happening radio show needs to raise $1,000 by January 31st in order to keep the show ad free through the February March and April time period the fund for the ad free shipping currently stands at $200 and we haven't yet entered of the month of November so we're just at the end of October and we have $200 in the fund so far so good work on people making a kind and generous donations to the ad free shippin please let's keep that going so we can keep the show ad free for both hours okay so today is an all call-in show and the topic is solutions I'm not limiting the topic to any particular solution although I would like to hear people's take on the show that I did last week on the power of true positive thinking as opposed to what the New Age movement talks about in regards to positive thinking and also the responsibility that we each have once we know to then speak the truth into the universe and to teach others what we have come to understand so the call-in number once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number for the show eight six six eight four one one zero six five we already have a couple of callers so let's go right to the phones here we go area code area code six zero two your I flaunt what on earth is happening yes there's a lot of noise coming from four line I don't know if you could do anything to push that up okay almost completely unintelligible so I'm going to I'm going to let you go and if you could call in on a different line I'll bump you right back to the top of the queue but unfortunately there's so much static in your line that it's impossible for us to take that call because we really can't hear what you're saying as it was coming through on the air so please call back and I'll definitely bump you up to the top of line if you call back in okay let's go to another caller caller you're live on what on earth is happening we have for us well yes yeah the context of positive thinking but I guess one thing I'm one thing I'm doing right now is I got this this speech I'm trying to write or I got this speech class because I hunger you saying something about you know that the world needs more teachers and stuff but I think my problem personally is is that I'm not really sure you know the right way to scientifically kind of go about disseminating as I know we know with the right that's the right tool so that's why I'm taking these all these each class as all these writing classes right now and I'm giving my speech actually on uh on the vaccine controversy yes and I notice I know the you know government's trying to mandate and they children take that so yes this kind of getting that out there and then for an argumentative paper which I'm trying to get into my college trying to spend like spread it around to Zia without faculty there is a something with it focuses something on that with the the cult of abomination kind of it's a whole Authority domination type thing right so regarding your confidence level I think you know that's something that you have to work on and just if you know that you're standing in truth just continue to put the information out there and even if it isn't the you know greatest rhetorical argument that is going to 100 percent convinced you know the most left-brained of people out there you know that you're doing the right thing by putting the information out there as a seed for people to take and even if a few turn it look into it you know it's helping them so it's making a difference and it's helping people that it wouldn't that that information may not ordinarily have reached so that's really what we need to stay focused on we're reaching those who right now can be reached and who knows who you're going to wake up as a result of that process who knows who's going to look into this information and really wake up fully all the way and possibly even become a teacher in their own right so you know I would say the main thing when it comes to this is if you know that you're onto something you know that you're onto something that is good for people and will help to alleviate suffering don't second-guess yourself try to develop that confidence that you know that you're standing in the right you know you're doing the right thing and then just do it so what you're doing I think is great and you know put that information out there for people and those who are ready to take it will take it and they'll run with that ball and they'll do something good with the information that you're given to them yeah I had one more thing um what do you think my uh looks like different types of renewable energy like it say we didn't have this you know like everybody was fighting over Africa kind of thing right um say that that could actually have the Sahara they had this access to like solar power you will serve Apollo the wind power and we actually applied you know instead of our creative technology all going towards war right you know if our creative technology was towards like you know Tesla's kind of work I mean just I mean Africa is it completely rich as far as potential lies why it's amazing that it's so interfered with yeah absolutely I've talked about this a lot on the show and people know that I'm you know a member of the Tesla Science Foundation here in Philadelphia and our am really trying to put out the word regarding the fact that these renewable clean energy free energy technologies have been with us for over a century and are actively suppressed throughout the world because they want to keep people in the paradigm of manufactured lack when you're in lack because everyone needs energy to live when you're in the perception that there is lack everywhere and there's only limited amounts to go around that puts you into the r-complex fight-or-flight fear response mode of the brain and from that that modality of consciousness that's how you can easily be controlled those who are controlling energy on the planet controlling those resources are ultimately controlling people the control of energy is the control of people I've said that hundreds of times and will continue to say hundreds more because it's true those who are in control of the current energy paradigm are ultimately controlling the people of the planet so all these new free energy technologies we need to break that open out into discussion in the world as much as possible so that people know not only is this a potential not only is it possible it is already developed and has been waiting in the wings so to speak for over a hundred years since the days of Nikola Tesla and even arguably a little bit before Tesla these technologies are real and they are in existence and they are actively being suppressed you know I mean hundred there's hundreds of stories about the suppression of free energy Tesla type technology cold fusion other the types of generators that are basically overunity devices and again these big oil cartels they want to mean their domination because they're living high off the hog from all the people consuming the types of completely obsoleted fuels that they're putting out there to them in dribs and drabs and they think that they can continue that indefinitely and it's possible that they can if people refuse to wake up to it because i do not believe that oil is a non-renewable resource I think it is something that the earth perpetually generates it's like blood in the human body when you take a pint of blood out of us the body eventually manufactures more blood it's not like you take a pint out and the body stays at that depleted level forever it's the same with oil it's like the blood of the earth and it keeps regenerating it as our haemoglobin regenerates our blood in the body so they couldn't keep this scheme going indefinitely if they if people don't wake up to it and realize that their being had so that's my take on all renewable energy I think I've made that very clear throughout the entire series of shows that I've done and that's why I stand so strongly behind the work of people that are trying to bring the science and the technologies of someone like Nikola Tesla out in the open like what the Tesla Science Foundation here in Philadelphia has been doing over the last several years also the types of technologies that we're talking about not only are they being suppressed for the general public for energy usages and energy requirements but they have been weaponized they have been turned toward their worst possible purpose of you know mass murder and genocide even and they're being ramped up and scaled up to the most unimaginably horrific weapons of mass destruction that one can even imagine and I would endeavor to say they're even being deployed at a lower level scale on targeted individuals to harass and silence people who are who are whistleblowers and want to come out and talk about the the fact that you know we live in a completely totalitarian controlled system and a controlled paradigm so these technologies not only are being actively suppressed for the right reasons they have been weaponized and developed all the wrong immoral reasons and applications of war as well as something people really need to come forward and talk about out in the open more and more and help people to understand you're driving in a car that's burning this you know so-called fossil fuel that needs to be taken out of the earth and refined and that hasn't been necessary for over a hundred years people think we you know that one of the big arguments for statism is who will maintain the roads and I keep asking people why do you imagine that we need roads with the level of technology that we already possess today now not in 20 years or 50 years or a hundred years now today that is actively being suppressed we don't need roads today we can rip up all the roads we have technology that is an Tigra vidiq in nature that um that could be used in a totally free energy system that wouldn't need to be plugged into any electrical grid and this the prototypes for this were developed over a hundred years ago when Tesla lived and you know we don't even need these ancient dinosaur technologies and ways of thinking in two dimensions flat to the ground that we're thinking about these things now people again it's all about limiting what people believe is possible not only what they believe is possible but what they're willing to accept it already does exist things not only are possible they're already in existence and people you know are their mind is so shut down they can't accept that so that's my take on the whole you know suppressed energy paradigm again I talked about it on past shows a ton and done shows with individuals from the Tesla Science Foundation who are involved in bringing this type of work forward so definitely check some of that material out in the podcast archives right oh right um totally I totally agree with you but now I don't know I can I can imagine being pretty bad I'm actually looking to get into my house I'm looking to get into the a renewable energy and architecture and stuff so I can I'll work on that like you know getting the idea of you know we didn't there's no there's no need for this whole scarcity based I guess yes it kinda mean with you know gives a the internet gives you a uh is pretty much like free education absolutely it's amazing that what the internet is it's if you wanna know the state of the world you can find it on there well you can look at the worst things you could possibly find you know and then that's the state of a really really bad the shadow part that nobody sees if you want to run down like I wanna go young like break it down that's exactly under the shadow you can find it out it's you know it's terrible it's out there it's that same tanning stuff but then you know but then there's also there's also so many ways to connect with other people ways to learn you know ways to innovate ways like a watchdog you know you know watched other leaders and watchdog at what's going on in other countries and stuff so it's really that's where that's where the you know the modernism and I think is being created right now left over that that medium I mean that's really great points that you brought up there and uh you know I want to comment on that what the listener just the caller just talked about regarding the internet the power of the Internet to help us to understand the truth that's why this has to be protected at all costs you know we have the opportunity to learn about what's going on all around us and learn anything that we want that we have a desire or a thirst for knowledge to learn and it's at our fingertips and this has never been available to humanity in this way before this modern time period and it's a precious resource that we shouldn't squander you know I was talking to a family member the other day and what and this individual was saying well how do you know all the things that you know and I said well hey you have one of these truth devices right in your hand just like I do just like we all have access to you have a computer you have a cell phone you have a tablet whatever you're using tap into the Internet you can learn about anything you want to know about you could download books from throughout the ages and read deep wisdom and philosophy you could you know read about anything technical and learn how to do things you know there's no limit to what you can learn now are we going to use these devices and the access to this incredible resource of knowledge known as the internet for frivolous things are we going to use it to play games you know we're going to use it to entertain ourselves are we going to use it for our edification and our growth you know and then helping to put more knowledge out there for others to share freely with others so that they can also edify themselves and become better people you know it's a choice and that choice is available to us and we have to choose wisely so great points caller um you know and best of luck with your you know foray into true education hopefully when it comes to learning about these energy technologies and then get involved in I highly recommend going to a resource like the Tesla Science Foundation and getting involved in their work or any other Tesla groups for that matter because that's at the forefront of this emerging field of science and I think you know breakthroughs are going to happen in these fields over the next several years that are going to make you know the existing paradigm that we are locked in to seem almost you know completely crazy and unimaginable from where we will be and if we do it right if we do it for the right reasons for the betterment of humanity instead of weaponizing you know technologies to kill people more efficiently like the military-industrial complex wants us to do then you know if we do it for the right reasons that we're going to see a transformation in human consciousness that is going to be you know partially driven by these emerging technologies and new energy technologies so best of luck to you in that in that regard so let's go to another caller here we go alright caller on skype you're live on what on earth is happening welcome ro mark hey Who am I speaking with you hear me fine yes which is as well from New Hampshire will how are you I'm doing just well well you're you're fading a little bit can you come in a little bit closer to the microphone and speak strongly into it I'm settings here yeah better that's much better fine right I don't know why the volume control is going nuts on me so I hope it stays can you hear me fine yes I can okay I wanted to thank you and let you know that your work has really inspired me to get a get out there and and start learning some more and doing the best I can to figure out what's going on in this world well thank you I appreciate that yeah now the conversation with the energy before yes I thought that would be kind of interesting because I was looking at Einsteins equation equal e equals MC squared right and if you look at that it's energy equals mass times the speed of light squared now when you look at that equation you really got to break it down and figure out what mass and the speed of light are really describing mass to me equals space while the speed of light squared equals time okay so really energy is the the synthesis of time and space it's the current moment it's the here and now right okay I'm just a way of looking at it and in that in that regard would it not be infinite yes very much so because we do have any infinite quality of space and time right I agree with that yeah absolutely now when people take over the I have to keep adjusting my volume I don't know why it's going nuts you're coming from fine now okay I hope it just speeds there it keeps creeping down on me I don't know why that is really weird anyways it's a level of dependency that the people are ending up in they're ending up in a state of dependency because dependent on the the systems that exist which are not controlled by those people so it's that they have to get their energy needs and requirements from somewhere who are they getting it from they're getting it from these you know multinational corporations and these large fuel companies that are controlled by you know government and at least corporate figureheads it's really ridiculous to think about it that way but it's true absolutely and that's exactly what they want they want to feed off the needs of others to have them dependent on them to go to them for their resources instead of tapping into the abundant wheelwork of nature you know which is infinite and supplies infinitely to us without asking or demanding anything and it isn't about owning nature it isn't about just taking more than you need or and hoarding etc it's about you know what we require each day and using you know what is within our need not about greed and selfishness and just you know using up you know the tape making throwaway mentality that's not what I'm advocating here in the sense but I'm saying that energy is infinite I'm saying there is more than enough present for all of our need and if we simply take the approach that energy itself is free it's it's a it's a gift of God if you will to gift of creation if you will no one has the right to control that and meet it out to people in dribs and drabs in tiny increments that keeps people completely dependent and also in a fight or flight mode ality over the perceived scarcity of it that's not a right it's not a human right to do that exactly and then you have to keep running around in that hamster wheel that proverbial hamster wheel to try to you know make the money so you can pay the pay the rent and pay the fuel costs and pay for your heating and all of these different things sure and that's the structure that humanity really has been in for the last several thousand years right I find it interesting that when I open up the topic of discussion to solutions in general this is the first thing that has come forward that people are recognizing that the control of energy is one of the major problems it's one of the absolute major issues that we're facing that we're up against and the solution lies in overturning that energy paradigm it's one of the biggest solutions you know it's not one of the solutions that I've put on my solution section but ultimately perhaps it should be included in there it certainly is you know my solutions are more abstract and thought based and to about changing our mind so then therefore we can go and change these you know that this paradigm of energy that we're basing the whole planet upon but the absolutely the the overturn of the current outdated and immoral the outmoded and immoral energy paradigm that we're all living on on this planet is probably one of the ultimate solutions and perhaps we should do you know an entire show on that when it comes to solutions of course I you know really kind of did that when we talked with the people from the Tesla Science Foundation that talked about all the different energy technologies that were showcased at the last Tesla science conference but absolutely I think it's one of the most important things that we could discuss when we're talking about solution oriented approaches and for the you know the ultimate form of energy dependence what is money that's really energy that feeds the entire structure which makes all the you know everything turn and everything work that's work but you know I've got a YouTube channel can I try for the link out sure okay it's what makes it tick youtube.com slash what makes it tick you bet okay and uh I've included some of your work in there I've got a three-hour documentary I do presentations with a lightboard a lot of it's esoteric a lot of its you know I guess you could say magical based okay but the information that I do is all you know based in scientific principle things that are evident logically and I'll use things like the Trivium to try to express myself I do the best I can you know I'm just one guy and that's all anybody can ask will thank you so much yes yeah a mess is on population control in particular I don't mean eugenics I mean it's the different systems and structures of institutions that exist and the fact that they are systems of population control absolutely that is going on out there without any doubt and people will look around and you know see well there is a whole lot of people concentrated in two particular areas and it's true but it doesn't mean that if we changed our mind about the way with a manner in which we are living and decided to make more sustainable systems and to instead of hoard people into compact jam-packed cities where we're trucking in all the resources instead of growing the resources that we need all around us you know we what the the population it would not be a factor whatsoever the reason that it's a factor in most people's minds is because it's set up in a sense of energy dependency and lack and manufactured lack and that's because of the way that we're living in these concentrated regions that we call cities if the population were to spread out and the population were to grow their their energy resources that they need in terms of food around them every day in a sustainable way this pot this planet could sustain probably I would endeavour to say possibly ten times the amount of population that we currently have now and a lot of people will disagree with that but that's my take I don't see that that there being a an overpopulation problem on earth at all I see there being a paradigm problem on earth with how people think that we could continue to live in an unsustainable fashion which isn't even possible absolutely hey thank you so much mark for all that you do great well thank you so much great call all right let's move on to another caller I'll give the call-in number once again all two hours your calls on solutions any solution oriented approaches that you want to talk about I would particularly like to hear from people about the responsibility to teach others and how they are doing that and if they're not doing that yet then why the calling number for the show to join us toll-free eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the call-in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five let's go back to the phones area code five zero three area code five zero three you are live on what on earth is happening welcome welcome thank you very much for taking my call this is anthony from portland yes until just one fine on the responsibility thing looking I've done it I just bought a domain name and my plan is to put a website on that and kind of document my process of what I'm going through trying to wake up and whatnot other thing is I've been studying this kabali on yes wondered if you would take a question on that sure well anyway on the principle of rhythm they mentioned something in there called the law of neutralization yes and there's another thing they called the law of compensation and for my take on it is a lot of neutralization is everything's going to swing back you're going to pleasure and pain and whatnot but by using the law of neutralization which from my understanding is you basically bring yourself up to a higher plane you can avoid that swing back into the negative and whatnot and how do you do this was my question my thought was you going there with some kind of meditation sampling that too you think well I don't think that this could be interpreted in the literal sense that if you you raise yourself to a certain vibration you're going to phase out of physical existence and maybe not experience negative consequences in the physical domain of what's happening around us that is not what this refers to I would say that this refers to mental consequences and the consequences that govern our behaviors in the sense of natural law so whereas the rest of the population may be experiencing all kinds of consequences because of how much that they are contributing their energy to the control system if someone raises their consciousness up to a higher level and is no longer feeding that which is immoral then the overall consequences to them in the general sense in what is being generated - for them to be to experience will not be as harsh as many of the people who are ultimately serving that system whether knowingly or unconsciously as the effects that they will themselves experience so it's I believe that this is about natural law consequences not necessarily the fact that you know we might not experience the same physical results the same physical things that are going on in the world like let's say if there is a you know a crackdown on American citizens in general like there was in the Nazi regime it's not to say that people may not experience the negative consequences of something that goes on on a mass scale like that or if there is perhaps an earth event you know an actual earth changes event that you know affects the entire planet in some form or fashion it's not to say that you're definitely going to be insulated against that or you're going to be you know in some kind of an energy cocoon protected from physical results in the world it's I believe that what it's talking about here is that you're raising your consciousness up to a level of non-cooperation with evil non-cooperation with immorality that other people are still contributing to and still going along with and in doing that you're the karmic consequences that you're going to experience in general in your lifetime whether it be in this physical reality or another reality that you'll experience it sometime in the future you will not you will not take on the brunt of those consequential effects as severely as many other people will who did not do that work upon themselves yeah it's pretty understandable conscience doesn't mean that you're not going to experience what every other physical being on this point very right so you can have to experience that but you think of it more as like just changing your constant as you change your frame of reference the things happen but they don't affect you the same way that you say well it's not just about changing your mind it's about changing your mind and then changing their actions see the actions have to follow the change in mind if you know again the old phrase applies to know and not to do is not to know so if you know and and you say that you understand but you're really not changing your behaviors then do you really no absolutely not you know real wisdom is in having an understanding of what's generating the experience and then changing your actions in accordance with natural law to then change the outward experience so you know the action part of that is the most important thing and that's what would ultimately have to be changed if you really wanted the lesson the impact of those consequences on an individual scale or on a mass scale oh one last thing sure I've been experimenting a little bit with these any think these binaural beats oh yes supposedly it's important they give an effect like a brain entrainment and you're talking about balancing the brain they had been effective but the one thing I found if anybody wants to get into this don't drink caffeine in the daily unit say I have some experience with this I'm familiar with what you're talking about and I do think they're also pretty effective and they're they work well the caller is speaking about HemisFair sink which is a their sound patterns and frequencies that basically attempt endeavor to whom through listening to them with headphones to help to bring both sides of the brain to balance through vibratory tones and energy and it's a very interesting thesis that the people who put these out are working with because we are all vibratory energy and we do have resonances within the body and within the physiology and within the brain that can have the resonances when applied to the physiology can have an effect on the way certain structures and functions within the brain work you know we are energy we're existing in a sea of energy and when you change the frequencies around us then the the physiological structures within the body can also be changed healed restructured it's a very sound premise actually and I've actually used some of these myself in the past you could download them on the internet just type emma sink or you could buy them from some of the people to put these out and i feel that they are effective pattern effective frequency tools in helping to balance the hemispheres of the brain now that being said i'm not going to say you should rely on that totally you know not read not learn not understand not you know work deeply upon the self even it within a conscious state but this can definitely help in a relaxed almost meditative type setting to out to work on this in an ancillary way so i think that they are effective and uh you know I'm not telling everybody going rush out and buy them but look into it research it see if you find it of value and if you do then then employ it put add it to your you know arsenal of other brain balance technique and self-improvement techniques but I definitely think there is something to it and there is value in it yeah it so people that have problem with just a strain of meditation it gets you into that state quite a bit quicker yes um anyway that's it for the call I want to say thanks mark take care brother okay sir you got it great call okay hey let's move on to another caller okay caller from Philadelphia to15 area code you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hey what's up mark ladies and gentlemen Tim Smith one of the organizers of the for your mind to conference welcome Tim amen I just wanted to uh I got some things written down here on the topic of that positive thinking sure a secret movie sounds like kind of cover some of that my take off sure Tim just speak up a little bit louder or coming a little bit closer to the phone you're a little bit low on on volume there that's much better great all right so when it comes to information you always need to learn how to filter out to bed and taking the good yeah there is always food information within everything but important you take for I think that's that's that's very powerful understanding that we can't throw the baby out with the bathwater even in many things we don't agree with you can filter it and take the things that are true from it and leave the rest so the filtration system when when applying it to information you know many will call that the Trivium process or the Trivium method it is very important in doing that and also recognizing that even if again there are people we don't agree with they could have made contributions in certain ways that you know are valuable and true and then you can leave the rest and the same is true for people you mostly agree with they could put out certain things out there that are that are false and that doesn't negate you know or maybe you know not entirely accurate and that doesn't necessarily negate good things that they put forward you know I'll give an example and then you can continue with with the list there Tim but look at a lot of people are suspect of someone like Terence Mckenna who I say is like a mentor to me because of so much valuable information he put out just because they don't like the fact that he talked about overpopulation he bought into during his lifetime the overpopulation myth and accepted that into his worldview so in that sense was his worldview poisoned yes partially it was but that doesn't make him one of the bad guys just because he happened to fall for that aspect of what the genisis were putting out there and telling people the oh it's it's all about the overpopulation of the world you know it doesn't negate everything else that he talked about make him an agent of some kind just because he happened to buy into this one aspect of worldview poisoning so you know it swings both ways there are people out there who could be put out putting out tremendously positive transformative information and tools for people and they have some things that they aren't accurate on and then there are people who you know might really be the bad guys and they're throwing out some elements of truth out there to lure people in it's about being discerning and filtering the information to take what is true is really transformative in a positive sense and leaving the rest so that's a great point Tim and I would say that's that goes a long way toward a solution because it helps us really to purify you know all the methodologies that we're looking to distill here toward the you know ultimate solution of being truly free and being sovereign individuals and you know living in a non-violent way and you know being in the world but not being of the world and really respecting the the you know divinity and sovereignty and all others and that's ultimately what we're trying the distillation that we're trying to synthesize here that will really truly train form this world for the positive for all of us so that's a really really poignant aspect a very powerful point that you just made there about the way that we have to filter information so good point what was your next though your next point when it comes to the movie I think there is accurate to be taken from it that the law of attraction is real um at consciousness and different types of thought I think this within different vibrational construct and there a magnetic energy and that as you as you focus your mind on certain things that exist in a particular frequency Asian in that frequency people come to you we will come back to you in a synchronous manner and as you practice controlling your add mental focus you will notice this type of synchronous happening to you all the time absolutely you know let me add to that a little bit part of this um the true aspect of the law of attraction that they're putting forward in the New Age movement and in the secret is that if you believe you can or you believe you can't even either way you're right so if you focus if your focus is constantly on that's not possible that's not possible then the the intelligent field of creation that exists all around us is going to rearrange the world to make that not possible because that's what you believe that's what you are insisting that is true you know so many people say well it's not possible for people to really understand rights you know for everybody to understand rights for that to be common sense knowledge I hear this from people all the time I say look the solution is everybody simply has to know what a right is and what a right is not or in other words what a wrong is and then they have to be willing to extend that courtesy of you know choose the right over the wrong when it comes to their interactions with other people oh they say they want that for themselves and they don't want to be wronged by others but they have to be willing to simply do that to live that way to put that into practice in their own life when it comes to their interactions with others and you have people say oh that can't be no one everyone will not do that well if that's how you think about it and probably the universe is going to rearrange things to make it happen that way for you you're going to envision that it's not possible it's not possible then what are you going to be doing to make that the reality nothing because you didn't think it was possible so you won't put any energy behind it you know that's why so many people are not active they don't believe that it's possible to do anything about the situation that we're in and again that's what the dominators want to control the sense of possibility is what they're ultimately trying to control if they have you in that level of mind control you're done like I said the ultimate form of mind control is the extermination of the imagination what you are willing to perceive as possible if they can control that they got you they got you and there is no escape but if that is free if the imagination can roam free then your your mind can envision possibility and if you can envision possibility then you're going to be willing to put your willpower behind that vision to make it a reality so great point Tim and I think that is the true law of attraction and a true you know way that we're going to generate and create our own reality and it's all about possibility what we will what we think is possible and again then what we're willing to put our energy and focus and willpower behind it to create that possibility in reality so good point because they kind of tell you not to look at positive it's not to look at negative things I think it's a little different you need to look at the negative in a positive way and turn the negative into a positive no like that you know true out to be like that so learning from that negative so you can overcome it and if you don't focus on the negative you can never overcome that negative situation that's right learning from mistakes learning from learning in the apophatic sense in other words understanding what not to do so look at the negative is to say hey this isn't working and now I'm understanding that that doesn't work and I'm going to learn from that I'm going to change the behavior but if you don't look at the shadow material if you don't look at the demon side of things so to speak you're not going to learn from that you know and the apophatic methodology of learning is probably the strongest again direct knowledge of something in the way of you did something it gave you the wrong result is probably one of the most powerful teachers again I give the example of a kid who touches a flame over a hot stove you know did he have to experience that no he didn't have to experience it but I guarantee you that's going to be an even better teacher when he gets his fingers burned and blisters up his hand then someone telling him that's hot and because it's hot you shouldn't touch it because there are negative consequences for putting your hand over that flame King doing it himself in contravention to the warning is going to teach him for all time for the rest of his life and he's never going to forget that lesson and you know maybe that's what humanity is trying to do here to to go directly into the flames themselves because they don't want it they don't want to learn from a word teaching from the teachings of words and communication they are only going to be satisfied if they go into the prison themselves but unfortunately I don't know if there's any turning back from that you know I think you know just burning a few fingers is a little bit different than what humanity is seemingly trying to do here by stepping into the the big flames you know of prison planet so to speak and there might not be any return from from that abyss which we're seemingly so keen to go over the cliff and directly into but that gnosis that direct experience of the negative is a powerful transformative tool and again it's one of the best teachers I believe I haven't definitely decided yet but I am leaning toward making my talk at the free your mind conference of for your mind to conference about this event about this dynamic the experience of chaos and the embrace of the potential for chaos may just be my topic acting at the event and I'm gonna be deciding that over the next month or two but that seems to be what on the meanings word because people really need to understand that chaos fees not necessarily the enemy here it can be a palatal teacher it is one of what I call the two teachers so Tim stay with us we'll be right back after the station break then listen to what America's happy [Music] [Applause] we defended [Music] welcome back everyone what on earth is happening here on the world that broadcasting radio network today is Sunday October 28 2012 we're in the second hour of the show let's go back to the phones Tim are you still with us you were talking about some of the positive aspects of the secret and the law of attraction when it comes to positive thinking yes great I think in a matter of vibration and as you as you raise your vibration a higher consciousness will come back to you and if you live exist in a lower base desire type of vibration that's where you're going to exist in life um I think pay to raise your vibration is to learn from your negative experiences in life problems that exist around it so it's not to not look to negative Pleasant work at it deeply as you can and learn from it and raise up so it so then you can commit exactly I think that's what we really need to get out of the law of attraction there sure and and if not if we don't do that what was the suffering for what did we gain and what was the net gain for having gone through that experience nothing you know so I totally agree that is what the reason for the existence of the negative aspects are and if we don't pay attention to them and ignore them as many in the New Age movement would have us do we are completely squandering the lesson it is it absolutely is about looking at and learning from the negative experience without any question and we've talked about that a lot here on the show and talked about how that is a deception in the New Age movement to not talk about the negative things that are going on all around us because again those are some of the most profound lessons that we could learn from so great point Tim what what else do you have um so guys from learning from the negative this is how we raise our consciousness and the vibrational frequency that we distance and as we change our frequency all new information will appear and a new life will emerge for it yes and I think it's all matter of focus help us focus our minds and a matter of that through focus in our mind it's a matter of frequency - sure Tim can I ask you to just speak up a little bit or come closer to the phone again you're fading into the background a little bit again any better here much better thank you continue okay yes so as we are as we learn from the negative and raise our frequency on all new look will emerge around us and I think it's all a matter of being able to control our mental focus so many people in the world nowadays do not know how to focus and control their focus throughout the day you know that's right they're scattered you know and their will is quite low when it comes to putting their attention on something and holding it there and you know the point that you made about if your desires are oriented toward base things that's going to be your experience if your desires are focused on a higher life as it is known then that's going to become your experience if your desire is on freedom and truth and justice and harmony with natural law and respect true respect and consciousness and responsibility you know and uh you know conscience doing the right thing then if all of our focus is on that what do you think is going to express in the world what we pay attention to is ultimately what manifests in the world what is true about the so-called laws of attraction is put out by a lot of the New Age movement is energy flows where attention goes this is 100% the case that is true at all times in places where we put our attention that's what's going to manifest in our reality without any doubt whatsoever that is how it works so then you simply look around and ask yourself the question what are people focused on what is their attention on on a daily basis and the answer if we're being honest with ourself is junk trash garbage low things low vibratory energy low vibratory things you know and it's the big part of the focus is on money and so what do you think's going to be fed by that you know money is going to take the biggest precedence people are going to want to put more attention on that and that beast is going to grow you got to put your attention on freedom you have to put your attention on morality and that means understanding why those things are being diminished in the world it's not to say or don't look at the reason why it's it's it's you know those things are going away no you have to look at the reason why it's going away because if you don't know the reason why any problem exists you're powerless to solve the problem you don't know the causal factor that led to the effect and this is one thing that you'll see is very very mysteriously or maybe not so mysteriously maybe conspiratorial missing from the court unquote New Age movement is the law of cause and effect they don't talk about that one much very occasionally you'll hear it but they'll very rarely talk about if you don't pay attention to the causal factor you cannot solve the problem because you're operating in the realm of effect and you're never going deeper than that to the realm of causality to understand what generated the problem to begin with because you may have to look at negative things there in the lot in the realm of causality and this New Age movement you know this you know fake aspect of the New Age movement they want to try to take people focus and energy off of that those causal factors and that's where they're not doing a service to humanity they're doing a big disservice by telling people don't look at that you're telling people in telling people not to look at the negative you're telling them not to look at a cause and again if they don't understand the cause they can never understand what generated that effect what generated the manifested reality that they are experiencing and therefore there is no way to change that reality so what part of what we're going to do Tim I'm really glad you brought up this aspect okay because part of what the organizers of the free your mind conference are getting ready to do coming up in the next few days actually um it'll be next weekend Friday Saturday and Sunday the second third and fourth here in Philadelphia we are going to directly engage the New Age movement community because there is a big conference coming up here in Philadelphia that a lot of New Agers are going to be present at it's called the mind/body/spirit Expo I'm not telling people about it to promote the event although I think there are some good that you can pick up by checking out an event like this absolutely there is good there um but we are going there to hand out flyers for the free your mind to conference coming up in Philadelphia to try to take the large numbers that exist in this community and try to get them to understand some of the really deeper occult aspects that are taking place around us and start to get these people who partially care but they are still lacking a lot of knowledge about causal factors that have led to the problems we are experiencing and they need to be exposed to more information like what we're going to be putting out at the for your mind to conference so we're going to do heavy promotion at the mind/body/spirit Expo for the free your mind to conference this weekend in Philadelphia so the organizers will be there many of us will be and we'll be handing out we got 5,000 full-color postcard ARDS already made ready to go we're going to be handing them out like crazy at the mind-body-spirit Expo next weekend in Philadelphia so Tim great points what else you have for us oh yeah I just got some Lima where you're explaining I like I like to think of the law of attraction more as the power of thought it's the power of thought on the field of consciousness that exists all around it otherwise the way we think and how it affects through cause and effect and natural law you know that's exactly right a book that I would like to recommend that's helped me a lot understand this stuff is as a man think just by James Allen great book acted at the very easy and short read and but the knowledge is infinite in its wisdom and I he says that a man's character in being is to complete some of his thoughts that's example right yeah I there's a that's a great book and I've read that about seven times it's a short read too for anybody that wants a good introduction to of this you know way of changing one's paradigm and worldview and understanding how we're drawing realities to us by what we perceive as possible it's definitely a great read in a short read as well okay so I just have one more thing on positive thinking something that really real quick before you get into your next point I would like to recommend a couple of books I mentioned his name last week Richard W Wetherill and these are also short and easy to digest works on the book Tower of Babel by Richard Wetherill and that you can you could download these in the first of all you can go to his website and download them for free or you can get them right from the podcast section I actually add in his works to the natural law the first podcast that I did on natural law which I believe was back in the in the 60s oh no I'm sorry in the 70s someplace I can't recall the exact podcast maybe 72 or something like that but Rick any of Richard Wetherill works I would also highly recommend right is might by Richard Wetherill right is might also there's a good synthesis of his work that was written I believe posthumously and it's called be right or go wrong and this is about essentially the law of attraction the the way that we our actions and behaviors are either in harmony with natural law or in contravention to it and therefore we're ultimately generating a you know the consequences the experience and it is if we're operating in the parameters within the parameters of natural law the experience is going to be positive and beneficial and if we you know completely trounce other people's natural law rights and you know refuse to live in harmony with the laws of right and wrong then our experience is ultimately going to be negative and painful and full of suffering so he does a really great job of explaining it the simplicity and understanding how we can really come to understand this at a deep level and test it in our own lives so those two books Tower of Babel and Wright is might by Richard Wetherill and also again the synthesis of his work which can be found on his site or on the what on earth is happening podcasts on natural law which is called be right or go wrong if people are interested in you know doing a little bit of reading when it comes to the real laws of attraction then this is the gentleman that one of the gentlemen I would recommend as the previous caller brought up I would also highly recommend the work of hermetics known as the Cabal Eon so definitely check that out as well so Tim continue your next point so the idea that everything happens for a reason helps a lot helped me a lot with positive thinking yeah it's enough every happens for a reason the one negative thing is it negative anymore everything happens to you for a reason that reason is for you to learn from it exactly learn it consciousness and then what you learn is up to you to find out so that's that and that everything happens for a reason instead of saying what something bad after all why me right think well what to learn from this that's right we're driving that that's what it is we're driving no one's directing this Big Spaceship Earth except us we're the ones who are driving our experience here and we have to own that responsibility we have to come to terms with that and own it if it's happening here on earth we are doing it okay and I'm you know of course the exception of nature as far as the forces of of the physical aspects of nature hurricanes earthquakes and maybe in a lot of ways we might be doing those things too in the modern day at least you know but barring those acts of God quote-unquote we are creating we are generating our experience here on earth we're the ones driving and we have to again come to terms with that and own it and accept the responsibility that goes hand-in-hand with that understanding great point Tim what else ya got the kabali on I think the law of attraction ties in with the the seven principles of Hermeticism especially principle number one the all is mind also the pixel of Correspondence that what you put out contact you I just wanted to throw that out there two of the most powerful pieces of understanding that anyone can incorporate understanding that mind is the generator of everything that we're doing and ultimately it's what we care about that is acting as the prime generator you know what we are taking from our heart and putting into our mind the hearts really the generator you know it's about what we care about and that's where it ultimately stems from the heart and that's what's driving what we're doing with our mind our cares driving the mind but the mind ultimately then expresses what we experience that's the principle of mentalism that the all is a mental construct that is a creation of mind and the principle of Correspondence I mean I can't say enough about that and hopefully my breakdowns of natural law have helped people to really understand that the universe is a mirror and that which we are putting out into it is coming back to us that we will experience that which we generate and put out there into the field of creation it will always come back to us and we will experience it we are experiencing ourselves ultimately well what we are made of is what our experience will be also made of that will be the quality of our experience so absolutely powerful points that people need to accept to understand and accept it isn't about belief it is about these are forces that exist in nature this is just how the laws of the universe work man didn't create them we are subject to them you know there's one thing you're not going to be free of you're not going to be free from natural law natural law is what this entire domain is governed by and again if you can figure out a way out of the physical universe you let me know where there is no natural law you know and there are no contours action without consequence because in this entire universe there is no such thing as action without consequence what you do you're free to do what you will that's freewill but you're not free to do what you will and have no consequence so we have free will but not without consequence there is free will with consequence this is a free will with consequence domain that's where you're at in a domain where there is free will with consequence and that's what the law of Correspondence is all about and in understanding that it has nothing to do with religion it has nothing to do with belief systems it is just like understanding gravity or any other force that exists within nature it is simply that which is man did not create those laws they are in effect you are bound by them the end for all time and again if you don't like that you let me know when you could figure out a way out of this universe and I'll be right behind you but until then you better understand and accept that there are laws in place that govern the consequences of our behaviors and then try to bring your behavior into accordance with those laws so you don't generate self-inflicted suffering it would probably be a wise thing but hey most people don't want to hear that they want to think they can act without consequence and they're going to bring down heaps of suffering down upon them just like bring in a building write down on their head you know detonating a building and being in it at the same time that's what largely humanity is doing here on earth at this current time so 10 phenomenal points do you have anything else for us I just wanted to say that you know you've helped me a whole lot of understanding that fundamental laws and I just want to thank you for that and and that's all I got to have a good nightmare Tim always a pleasure man you keep up the good work that you're doing my friend great call always a pleasure to hear from Tim Smith again Tim is one of the organizers of the free your mind conference and the free your mind conference would not be what it is without his help so let's move on to another call let me give the call-in number once again we'll be taking calls throughout the end of the show not many people in the queue so if you want to call in you'll pretty much be bumped right to the top of the queue um you shouldn't have to hold on for that long so calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again toll-free call in number to join us we're talking about solutions anything that we've covered in the solutions section I would also really like to hear from you about the responsibility of teaching people the information that we've been talking about here since day one on what on earth is happening if you're doing it how is it going if you're not doing it why aren't you so I'd like to hear that dynamic the toll-free number to join us eight six six eight four one one zero six five okay let's go back I believe that this is Kevin who had a problem with his phone earlier let's go back to them and ask if these don't ever are you with us area code six zero two you're live on what on earth is happening welcome is Ivan in Phoenix a little better now Ivan I can hear you much better now there's still a little bit of static but you're definitely coming through okay now okay well it's not very static it's a bunch of background noise I'm at work I don't know much I really want to talk to you about and put out there but that's on yet but you know it that is understood and we'll deal with it because I can at least hear your voice well now so you go right ahead okay I'll just try and throw everything out here in a minute and then you can take it from there I guess I'm pretty much your media correspondent because a lot of my stuff is a reference from movies and TV shows I don't know if you're familiar with the TV show fringe yes I am it has during job okay yeah I don't know if you know this during opening credit I have not watched that I'm checking out season one right now people thinking that's odd somehow but I just actually done really into it a little bit watch out of political connection and see where they're going so I'm kind of okay okay you probably noticed doing G opening credits that they have a lot of words coming across the screen like quantum physics and how long alternate universe and stuff like that well this season is pretty interesting that during the opening credits they show the word unity joy education free thought and the last word assured freedom wrapped around those thin barbed wire and one and all those words are inside a prison very interesting and not for the showing in our future doesn't even take place in the future very interesting yeah I did not I was not aware of that so thanks for that I'll definitely be working my way up to that great and then another thing to more media related things the films and the trust are the second part is out I was not aware even ever I got into pain lines work after watching these two films that's also very interesting concept there which that can be taken in either way the other rich to you know maintain society the way it is or for the regular people like us to realize why things are the way they are I think there's a lot of value in in Ryan's work I don't think that she was like so like why instructs the imagination or no understood a lot of the aspects of the conspiratorial system that you know work all of editing but there is a lot of value in the free market aspects of her work when it comes to promote innovation and freedom so I said so when I wash agree and then there's some aspects of her work that I don't agree with but definitely valued studying her work I would definitely and people to check out Cosby it leans a bit to into the selfish side from agent so actions events like hot over that off what's up all right right and I want that quickly assessment there but not yes one one that quick thing then well I still have a few more things but real quick on up on the movie side there's a film that came out this weekend called Cloud Atlas by the Wachowski siblings who did the matrix and I've seen film already twice it is excellent it's in the top ten list for me and it's very a lot of information that you would probably love and pick up on and listeners of the show Donegan Cloud Atlas flies on a book that came out in 2004 okay Red Cloud Atlas Rada good dialogue and concepts in this film also one particular dialogue that stands out for me is one of the main characters says every crime and every good deed create our future Wow is that we are very very deep very uh you know fundamental kind of ideas that a lot again the Wachowski brothers put in the film yes a lot of people are really getting the idea and putting it out there that we Clark who sees the experience that we can have we're making our bed just lay on it that's all really comes down to it escapes the log for putting us forward in our in elegance so I'll check that one out that's me right right and then one one quick comment or something else up go out there it's past weekend yesterday Saturday morning with David Icke Wembley Arena lecture for what a presentation I don't know if you caught all right or watch it he brought one but a friend of mine Hawk Woodley and is office here not an app the next night was dog food that's when not walk down right yeah it was very informative it's lots of good information from digitized again you found two words regarding Saturn and the moon and stuff like that my thing is that I have a meetup group set up for that I don't know how your meetup groups go back there Phoenix in Philadelphia this searches on your topic of responsibilities I get about 10 to 15 RSVPs for these meetups yes the disappointing part is not only about four or five actually show up so there are people that know the information well or know all the information but they don't really take the time to put in the action the effort into being part of and participate in it so that's a little bit of us being holding us back as you or okay I agree with you and I will share a little bit of the experience that we're having this part of the truth freedom prosperity documentary night meetups I mean it could possibly because they just think that they know this information but we get into discussions there but I guarantee that people who can really learn a lot of the discussions engagement we're also seeing very low numbers issues to have twenty five thirty hundred come out and now over the last couple of meters Nathan had probably fun she's not encouraging and especially now with the time that the critical time that we're in right on how you know I know this is weekly for certain verticals now I'm more than ever so I'm kind of discouraged in seeing the numbers of people who are willing to come out and spend their time to know edify them stop action rather like wow mark I could hardly make you out here I'm I'm losing the constants I'll let you go and I'll try and call back one of your next show them all right Ivan thanks so much great call okay so at least that'll knock out the background noise and I'll continue with what I was saying yeah we're seeing a diminished uh amount of numbers in people who are coming out in the documentary screening and discussion evenings even the last fundraiser for the free your mind conference was very very low on people even though I gave a presentation that I worked for weeks at really putting something very nice together and I thought that the information there was top-notch and yet we had a very disappointing turnout it's very difficult to get people to sustain their energy sustain their effort and that's what is is the solution it's going to take sustained will constant willpower constant effort constant work that's what the process of alchemy is about now is no time to be quitting I feel the the low surge of energy as well I've said that a couple of weeks back or last week and there's no question about it the times we're living in are as far as knowing what's going on truly it's draining on the psyche and that's why you have to build the will build up the will I understand what the strength of will that I have I still feel the pressure to you know of oh it's not having enough of an impact or you know we're not getting enough done or it's it's you know too much of the negative dynamic and we're never going to overturn it but again I even if that's where my current thinking is in any particular day I still say it doesn't matter I'm gonna do what the right thing is for that reason alone because it's the right thing for no other reason again the idea of Smith grabbing neo by the neck and saying why do you continue to fight me when you know you can't win or you know at least a dynamic looks like you can't win and his answer is simply because I choose to free will that's how I'm going to use it I'm not going to squander my free will I'm going to use it and employ it through constant effort even if I feel like giving up I'm not going to and believe me I'm on the I am sometimes on the verge of giving up but I I make a continual renewal a continual renewal in the moment to press forward and that's the kind of effort that this is going to take to get done if you don't have that get off the battlefield you know because again if you think this this is going to be an easy you know stretch and it's not going to be an uphill climb you sorely mistaken I didn't say it would be you know difficult to understand it's simple but easy and simple are two different things okay it's not going to be easy where we've worked our self the corner we've worked ourselves into it will not be easy but the truth is always simple and it requires no special magical effort to understand to create that change though is go is going to be difficult and require a Herculean effort of will and we should psychologically prepare ourselves for that encounter you know because we are pedaling uphill there's no question of that but yeah the the numbers of people again to go back to Ivans of point that he was making about being disappointed about numbers it's the saint we're seing the same dynamic here in Philadelphia you know people say that they're going to come out and then the number the turnouts are always less than the RSVPs but again I think it's because a lot of people are feeling that pressure and they're they're down on things you know it's up to us to renew it and to come up with some creative things to regenerate their interest to help them make that renewal of will and effort that's what it's all about and if we're going to do that you know if we're going to be effective teachers in that regard or at least wayshowers you could even look at it as we don't even like the word teacher just a wayshower you know then we have to at least steel ourselves against that F of energy that we're feeling and say I'm going to make a continuous renewal because I know it's the right thing and then try to reach down into ourselves and generate some creative energy and put something forward that might rejuvenate their interest that's the best advice I can give at the current time close I'm feeling the same thing you are my friend we're seeing the same thing here does that mean I'm going to give up absolutely not so let's go back to the phones we still have some callers on the line for this last half hour of the show caller from the five one three area code five one three you're live on what on earth is happening welcome five one three will be from Cincinnati Ohio of welcome ladies are telling occupants Maddie thank you market is your friend live in Cincinnati mark please you know and I know that we don't we do use you the crutch we please don't be disheartened sir it is it is tiresome there is a an array of electromagnetic low-frequency LF waves constantly bombarding us weakening our sense of strength I myself can literally hear the frequencies in the quiet of the night used to be at three or four in the morning one could quietly gather their thoughts and meditate as we hum of the natural day of the modern world had subsided now this non-stop the electromagnetic low frequency wave is running during this array of towers we must be aware of it I'm like Don Quixote striking the cell towers with my Lance but you know and you're right understand that our strength our resolve does weaken but please keep your resolve up sir trying to I'm doing my best and I know you were recently under some kind of computer attack from your last show you spoke of the all manner of computer things going down there was I wasn't an attack it was simply hardware failure from a design flaw that had existed and I did get it taken care of and it was a painful process but I'm working to ensure that even if something similar to that does happen again I have some I have some insurance in place and you know back up and of course I meticulously backup my actual material and documents on my computer that was know Woori ever but it was simply a hardware issue that I at the time really did not have the did not even have the funds to solve the problem and a friend helped me out by you know coming forward with some funds which I you know thank up John last week on the show if he hadn't done that yeah I might still be down so uh that was just great that you know friend helped come forward with that with that our financial effort when it was needed as well so uh yeah I don't believe it was an attack from anyone anyone outside it was simply hardware failure but again when that one that strikes and you don't have the means for correcting it or the financial means for getting what you need then you know that could be a big problem and that was a problem with me for you know over a week you know it mean into the second week and you know things didn't really work out that that second week so I couldn't come right back on the beard then but uh it's all worked out now and you know I'm again I'm working to take a measure of insurance so things flow a little bit more smoothly for me here in the in the technology department luckily I have a lot of skills in that regard because that's what I used to do for a living you know I work as a technical specialist so you know even with that this really set me back a little bit but it's worked out now and things seem to be going pretty smoothly so thank you you're not CERN in that regard oh we're all concerned mark we appreciate your fine work as always two things to comment a question the comment is congratulations on securing a heavy hitters to the for your mind to conference yes in the form of Mark Phillips and Cathy O'Brien very interesting should be quite a treat it's going to be great I'm so looking forward to their information that they're going to present and it's an honor to have them as part of the conference absolutely their story is intriguing to be sure and then a question mark I know it's a negative combination of numbers but there are 77 it keeps popping up in my world and I remember that it was a dark occultic configuration can you remind me please and others why it is a dark occult symbol set Shattuck thank you again for your voice mark Wilcoxen yeah I could briefly talk about some numerology in that regard and 77 is generally known as the number of sorcery in the occult I would say that the one exception to that rule would be Crowley's book 77 which I think has very powerful spiritual truths contained within it which is known as Li bear Oz the book of oz um but to go back to the question about why 77 is seen as a sorcerers number and dark occultism that's because it is being looked at in connection to the number 777 in occult or gematria terms 777 is seen as the number of man's completion or man's activation if you will so you're seeing the number seven seven to 777 in relationship to the three sevens the triple seven the triple seven generally represents again man's consciousness coming into full activation and into a state of non-duality meaning that as one thinks so one feels so one acts and there is no contradiction there is no separation between those three modalities of consciousness so your thoughts your emotions and your actions are in alignment and non-duality that is man's positive awakened enlightened activated state from which he is going to generate true freedom if one of those components is in failure or missing altogether then the solution is not possible to enact it is not possible to create true freedom it is not possible to create one's reality wisely because you have to have your thoughts your emotions and your actions all in place and working properly toward the same end in non contradiction non duality therefore the seventy seven represents two of those three aspects but nothing in the way of the other in the way of the third and of course when it comes to the dark occult and sorcery in general the two aspects that are complete are the thoughts and the actions in other words the intellect and the will have come together to their full expression but the thing that is the zero is the emotions is the heart so there is no emotion present and this is what a sorcerer is a sorcerer is one with no emotions but who has intellect and the willpower to back up the intellect to carry out what they want to do but there is no true care there is no true heart involved and therefore that is why seventy seven in certain occult systems of numerology has become associated with the dark occult or the concept of sorcery in general and I would say the again the exception to that is book oz that Crowley wrote which is about the expression of the natural rights of men very much in harmony with natural law as a matter of fact and talks about man being the generator of our experience here that we are actually the creator of our experience and then goes on to list the universal rights of men and it's something I haven't talked about much because I haven't really gotten much into thalamic philosophy on the show other what other than to comment about what the leymah in general represents and some of the things some of the concepts numerologically and in gematria that it works with perhaps I could do a whole show on the thalamic philosophy in general the general tenets of the leymah at some future point maybe break down a cup of Crowley's writings like the book of oz Li bear 77 or perhaps parts of the book of lies that he wrote which is an interesting name doesn't mean what people think it does but part of that is chapter 23 which is one of my favorite pieces of Crowley's writings I've never really talked about the numerology of the number 23 either which I'd like to get into at some future point I think that's very powerful and almost as powerful as the number 93 when it comes to conceptual ideas that it represents you know the chapter 23 in the book of lies is all about getting out of the mental prison that most of us are living in freeing ourselves from mental bondage from the head cage the beginning of book 23 is sefa a cagey cephalic a pajama sefa lay in greek means head and then a cassoulet is the exact correct pronunciation and then the letters kg is green language for caged so Kepha lake a Kappa Gamma head cage TEFL a means head in Greek and then kg cage Kappa Gamma so he wrote in code he wrote in cypher and you know the number 23 is all about getting out you know represents escape not in the sense of escapism but of release from attachment of getting out of your current shackles of your constraints that you're currently under there there shackling you and enslaving you so it's all about getting out of the head cage maybe I'll break that down at some future point maybe you know who know maybe we could do a show on the Lima on a Colt Empire Bob who knows you know we could tackle that at some future point or maybe again I'll do a show on it here on what on earth is happening is another breakdown of an occult philosophy but that's the breakdown of seventy-seven as I understand it in geometry terms and why that has become known as associated with dark occultism and sorcery so I hope that answers the question let's go back to the phone area code two five zero you're live on what on earth is happening welcome roll mark see Who am I speaking with my name is Brad hi Brad how are you doing complete when I write today great just calling because I've listened to you for quite a while and a couple little things maybe you haven't covered and I'm kind of interested in on your take on them so there's not a question the feels the first question is how does natural law view pro-life pro-choice abortion yes that is definitely doing harm so harmony with natural law would not include the practice of abortion charm is being a friend to the living being okay so uh natural law wouldn't wouldn't be affected of course by rape or incest it wouldn't see those two things as a correct those who would be working in harmony with natural law would be attempting to get at the root causes for why anyone would do those practices and therefore address those causes which would then not lead to those eventualities and the problem would take care of itself okay um so it did happen and hopefully it would resolve before it happened well this is the entire problem it's a chicken and egg scenario people say well what about the people who are going to murder people are going to steal from people what do you do about those people well yes you have to address those people you have to deal with those people and you know it isn't about drafting laws that say you can't do things that are already in contravention to natural law it's about simply taking action if someone is going to take those behaviors and act upon them but the problem already exists that the failure is already present because you allowed someone to grow up in the world view in the world view poisoning that would lead to that condition you didn't deal with the problem you didn't nip it in the bud so to speak through proper education in the developmental period of youth this is the entire problem we're a nation of grown children world world grown children that know nothing about how the laws of nature operate and think we're adults and there's 80 year old people who are mental midgets mental infants complete spiritual and mental infants who have never thought about anything worthwhile or anything higher than the most base of functions and needs in their entire lives and are totally self-serving in you know and totally reptilian mindset and then there are 13 year olds with profound spiritual understanding you know so age is meaningless physical age is meaningless when it comes to knowledge about how things actually operate it's all about were you nurtured were you truly raised out of base consciousness how was that how was that computer that we call the human brain programmed what kind of software went into it during the formative years of development which largely determines the worldview and behaviors of an individual and that can be changed even if it's even if it's been a very badly badly programmed as I was when I was a child the worldview that I was taught by my family members was atrocious an atrocity and it took me years to overturn that programming but I did it in an act of will and this all comes down to the effects you cannot treat the effects so when we're talking about what people are willing to do for money or to sate their base desires rape incest theft theft you know murder etc these are the effects the effects cannot be treated you have to treat the causal factors and the causal factors is the programming that we're receiving the mis-education that we're receiving that has nothing to do with truth and has nothing to do with an accurate understanding of how the laws of nature function that's where the problem has to be addressed from and then you will not manifest those behaviors the society will not manifest those behaviors why do you think these behaviors are largely not present and the manifestations of those behaviors are largely not present in truly shamanic cultures because they treat the issue and nip it in the bud they teach people the true way of being in the world that doesn't lead to chaotic conditions like that from the time that they're young and they are not permitted to refuse those teachings they hammer them forcefully into the child and people will say oh that's a form of mind control yes it is it's a it's mind control that's the time to engage true positive mind control you're putting programming you're putting software into the brain of a child so then what gets output on the screen is beautiful and harmonious instead of a piece of junk which the the parents of today's society are children themselves and even but even people who do have a somewhat adult mindset from a spiritual perspective they don't want to do that work they want to leave it to somebody else this is what responsibility is all about this is what the shirking of responsibilities is about a friend of mine or I'd only want to use the word friend because I want to be more selective about who I'll use that word to describe an associate of mine who I do not dislike I actually like at a point in the past said to me I'm not concerned about other people's education that's not my responsibility and I said you obviously don't understand what's driving the dynamic the mis-education and if you know then you will have a responsibility to try to balance that by putting out the information and and helping them to rewrite that software code that is in their brain and is driving their worldview in their behaviors and yes it is your responsibility to educate others especially if you really know the dynamic that's operating so I hope that in general did helps you to understand my take on something as complex of an issue is what when people bring up abortion is it in harmony with natural law it is most definitively not in harmony with natural law it is not a right it is a wrong you are doing something to another being that is harmful and therefore it's not in harmony with natural law regardless really of why it occurred the best way to deal with that bad situation is to avert it by teaching people how to behave in the world that is in harmony with natural law so you don't have people who are going out there raping people so and again rape is one of the big the big four incursions against natural law the big transgressions against natural law murder rape theft trespass so again people want to bring up all of these exceptions it's the old adage two wrongs don't make a right just because someone happened to do that there's another being that's involved now and the right decision would be to figure out a situation in a communal aspect the community would need to step up and address that wrongdoing by doing right by the mother and the child at that point I don't think aborting the fetus is the right solution personally and there are many who will be outraged by me saying that and this and disagree and they're fine to go right ahead and do that I know the difference the definitive objective difference between right and wrong and abortion 100% stands on the side of wrong am I still on the line yes okay great I didn't know if you put me on ute the only circumstance that I see would affect it in a very strange way would be the circumstance of a mother during birth and having problems with that birth and right doctor having to decide whether to save the mother or the child now that this has come up throughout human history and of course you know that there's again more delicate sensibilities involved there but that would have to be a medical decision based on probably what would be more likely to happen in the event that you didn't have access to you know modern medical facilities to do a cesarean section or something of that nature so I would probably tend to agree with you on that sign yes one of the exceptions - it's probably one of the only ones I can think of to actual audit one has to make a decision right Karam yes okay okay the other question I have and hopefully it doesn't we can get you too much fired up it's just a question basically it's a little bit warm the non-supportive dominator side which shown a stepping back um and I'd like to say that as far as I'm concerned the real solution to the problem is the children of the future because without the proper education we're just going to keep doing the same things we buy I agree well that is really the biggest solution is teach your children that's right a difference wrong that's wrong but the other the other question I had was moving quickly is at what level do we decide unfortunately we have to decide to draw a line whether life is insignificant I mean that because you know you talked about animals and humans and trees but there's other life forms on this planet that are much smaller right and make up a larger amount of actual life on this planet and we're into you know the insects bacterial fungal cell for sure whether they fall on the scale of natural law and deciding whether their libraries are just as important why are well well look I wouldn't advocate people being in abject terror of going out and stepping on their lawn because they might step on an ant in the soil someplace that this you know we have to apply some degree of common sense and recognition that okay we are affecting physical matter that may involve some smaller forms of life you know what I'll give you an example of this the other day I did the dishes that were in my sink after a meal okay and I set a pot off to the side and there was some water you know trickling off the edge and pooling in the pot and a fly flew into the water at the bottom of the pot and I actually saw this happen and saw the fly drowning and struggling in the little minor pool of you know droplet droplets that had gathered in the in the bottom of the pot after I had done the dishes for the night and I tried to you know move the water out so that the fly wouldn't drown you know and it was per in pretty bad shape it looked like it was going to die and I said well look what you know do I just get since I'm going to dry these and put them off the shelf do I just no smash it when I'm taking a you know a rag to or something no I set the pot off to the side it's not going to harm me to sit there for a little bit I let the fly dry out and I came back and he had flown away so it for the couple of minutes it took me to make a decision well do I just end this or you know it has he suffered too much earns he is he already drowned really I let time sort it out and figure no if he's going to dry out then he'll be okay and he'll fly away and it's you know what's the big deal so that's what I did and what I'm trying to say is if it's our intent we have to make a decision and make an intent and say am I going to interact with what's there now and I know is actively present and there and make a decision to be kind or make a decision to ignore it and just you know do whatever so again that's another delicate sensibilities freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Mark Pascoe [Music] welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website Oracle broadcasting dot-com today is Sunday November 4th 2012 this show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time 4 to 6 p.m. central we have a good show lined up for you here today I'm going to be introducing some material regarding solutions to the problems that humanity is facing in consciousness and the and to help to rectify the brain imbalance amongst the human population that is resulting in a horrific loss of human freedom globally and that's what we have been talking about over the past many months is solution oriented approaches we covered all of the problems over the first year and a half that I did this show and we're going to continue to be talking about solutions as we proceed today's show could be considered quite controversial because one of the solutions that I'm going to be getting into today is the employment in a responsible way and in a way that is conscious and in a way that is respectful of oneself of entheogenic compounds or what I would call spirit helpers spirit guide helpers that are of the natural plant kingdom people know these as psychedelics and this is going to be some introductory material to psychedelics or what has come to be called nto gens today on the show so if we have time we will get to some calls later in the show but I'll give the calling number if again if we have time we'll take some calls in the second hour the calling number for the show toll-free is 8 6 6 8 4 1 1 0 6 5 once again the call in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five Before we jump into the material for today I do have a couple of quick event announcements of course the free your mind conference coming up here in the city of Philadelphia April 25th 26th and 27th of 2013 a three-day conference featuring top caliber whistleblowers from across the country who will shed light upon our world's problems and bring forward empowering solutions this unique event will build upon the success of the first for your mind conference with a continued focus to spread awareness on the topics of consciousness mind control subversive occult influences holistic body mind spirit health and solution oriented approaches to the problems humanity faces in these challenging times the free your mind to conference will be taking place at the Arch Street meeting house 3:20 Arch Street in Philadelphia the doors will open at 8 o'clock a.m. on each day with the program beginning at 9 o'clock a.m. on each day featured speakers include Alan Steinfeld Alfred Webber Andrew basiago then Stewart Bob Tuscan Cathy O'Brien Curtis Davis dr. dream freighter X Freeman fly Yan Irvin Jay Parker Jim Fetzer Larkin Rose Laura Eisenhower Lennon honor Lauren Marais Mark passio Mark Phillips Randall Carlson Ross Ben and Sonia Barrett and we will probably be adding two additional names to that lineup to bring the speaker total to 24 speakers so those a couple of last-minute speakers will be announced shortly as we confirm them but the the lineup is looking absolutely incredible so far the advanced ticket prices are $30 for the conference on Thursday $20 for the Thursday meet and greet with the speakers including a vegetarian meal and possibly including a music event we are working on that as well and I'll be announcing that if we can get it confirmed over the next week or so the Friday conference $40 and the Saturday conference $40 for all three days plus the meet and greet and possibly the musical event again once that is confirmed 120 dollars for more speaker information speaker BIOS and ticket information please visit the website for the conference at WWF or your mind conference calm I've been telling people for the last several weeks the best way that you can help and support this conference is within advanced ticket sale get your tickets in advance you'll save some money instead of buying them at the door and you are will be helping if you buy them now if you buy them in advance you will be really helping us to offset the tremendous costs associated with bringing all these speakers from all over the country Travel is very expensive it is not cheap lodging is very expensive it is not cheap we're putting a lot of money into bringing all of these people together that's what a conference is that's what makes it different than any other kind of event it means the word conference means to bring together this is about bringing people together to help build upon their knowledge base and activate them get them motivated have them activate their will to go out and spread this awareness to other people that's what the entire event is all about so we tried to make it as reasonably priced as possible and the best way the people can support this event is to pick up your tickets in advance go to the website and you'll get information on how you can do that I've been telling people an advance ticket sale is better than a donation to the event it will really help us again to bring all of these speakers into town the second event announcement I have is the ad free chip in for the what on earth is happening radio show stands at 200 dollars we need to raise $1000 by January 31st in order to keep the show commercial free through the February March April period so please keep the kind donations coming for that purpose it's been very success so far but again if we don't raise the required amount by January 31st the show will go back to having ads so we don't want that to happen so please continue to support the what on earth is happening radio show and let's keep it commercial free during the two hours of the show I also want to say how the last couple of days have gone with promotion for the free your mind event I told people last week that I would be going to the mind/body/spirit Expo event here in Philadelphia this weekend to do some promotion for the free your mind conference and I have to be honest about what I saw at the mind/body/spirit event there was a lot of nice well-meaning people that turned up but overall I feel that this event is entirely about money and about just you know vending items to people as opposed to really reaching out to people and teaching them something powerful and transformative now not that's not to take away from the speakers that did do presentations and event an event and had a lot of information to share but I feel that it's way way too leaning toward just the positive and not talking about not exposing the negative and that's typical of the New Age movement as I've talked about in the past but overall you see this total hard sell on a lot of what the vendors have to present and and try to sell you there and it really was about product placement and you know getting sales in and a lot of these items too or way overpriced in addition to some of them of questionable usage but I do think that the people are well-meaning and are into what they're talking about but overall I think the event is a way to in the new AG category for for my liking there were some people there who do understand the dark side of things and are working to try to bring some awareness to that and bring some balance to that but for for the amount of speakers that they have if you were to compare the value compared to what something like what we're doing for the for your mind conference there is no comparison only a few speakers for this event and if you paid to go to all of the events that would have put you up back almost $250 or maybe even more than that I'm not quite certain about the exact cost of that but um for 24 speakers and a nice event at the end of the night on Thursday evening on the first day of our conference it's for far less than even half of the price that an event like the mind/body/spirit Expo was charging that being said we did reach out with a whole lot of postcards and promoted for the free your mind conference in April and a lot of people got those and seemed pretty uh psyched about a conference of this kind coming into Philadelphia so I think overall it achieved its goal but as for the event itself and you know some of the people's mindset at the event again to me it was very commercialized and largely about money unfortunately so that's all I really have to say on that let's jump into our topic for today and hopefully if there's time if I cover all of the material that I want to cover on this topic we will go to the phones later on in the show so as always with what on earth is happening you can visit the radio show page of my website what on earth is happening calm click on the radio show tab and underneath the player for the show if you're not already listening there you will see images for today's show and there will be listed numerical links that you can click on to bring up a slideshow of related images that go along with the material that I'll be presenting here today on the show image number one of course was the poster for the free your mind conference and I'd like to continue to reiterate that anyone that feels like they want to help with the promotion of the conference we got 5,000 full-color postcards printed to do promotion but if you want to help do promotion on your own if you're in the general area you know on the east coast of the United States and you want to promote this conference feel free to print this poster I put it up there in color in high resolution you can print it in whatever format you see fit full-page half page color black and white doesn't matter and you know hand them out in your area or post them in libraries or coffee shops etc so that would really help from a grassroots effort to help get the word out about the free your mind to conference the second image is one I've had up on the site for many many weeks because this entire section of what on earth is happening of the world on earth is happening radio show is all about solutions and what I call the way out it's the way out of the complete prison that we've worked ourselves into as a species because we do not understand how we are effectively creating our own reality our own experience through our thoughts our emotions and our actions the third slide is the grassroots solutions for real positive and lasting change that I've been talking about over the past many months we've covered all of them except the topic for today which is the use of entheogens in a conscious context and we'll be talking about what entheogens are some of the the words involved in what have characteristics that have been ascribed to antigenic substances and we'll be talking about what a conscious context is what that means because as anyone knows I am not simply here advocating the use of what people would call illegal drugs these are no more legal drugs than mark passio is a politician okay um that's what people who have no understanding of the transformative power of these natural compounds that are contained in these plants are or what they have the ability to do if we commune with them which is what they're here on the earth so I'm not talking about drugs I would not even call these things drugs people who call them drugs are ignorant of what they really are they are consciousnesses here that we can commune with and learn a great deal from about how to be in the world and how to interact with other people if we use them wisely if we commune with them wisely see use isn't even really the proper term I'm going to be talking about the use of these things versus their abuse their abuse but that's not even really the proper term either no more than drugs would be the proper term for what entheogens really are I would call them again spirit helpers or they are consciousnesses and we're not using them so much as we are we are yes we are ingesting the physical substance but we're doing that in order to commune with a frequency with a signal this is a these are carrier signals that are carrying vast quantities of information in the form of visionary experiences to us if we approach them with great reverence and respect which is the intent of how to put them to use in our lives or to commune with them so I want to make that distinction very clear before we even begin the fourth image on the page introduces the term entheogen and there is an image there of the Amanita muscaria mushroom people know it as the narcoleptic mushroom because it's not so much a active visionary trance state as something like the psilocybin containing mushrooms as it is a sleep experience in which there are dream visions communicated to the participant in the in the communication with this helper or guide it's a very well-known art title image which is why I used it for this section to introduce the section because people you know basically have seen this image in fairy tales and books and things like that and it's been associated with the the Christmas season you know the red and white colors been associated with Santa Claus etc okay there's a lot of myths that go along hand-in-hand with with that with these mushrooms and ancient shamanic cultures that have used them over times over time but I used it because it's a familiar archetypal image in people's mind of the red and white capped mushroom the word entheogenic and again when we break down words and we understand their real etymological meanings we can come to understand what's really being said through the word and why it was constructed that way and this reveals a great deal the word entheogenic and it's been proposed by modern researchers to replace the word psychedelic because of some of the negative connotations that psychedelics have picked up due to some of their abuse by people I think that's still largely fear-mongering the stories of their abuse and there hasn't been as much widespread abuse of psychedelics although it does exist I'm not trying to say that doesn't exist that almost certainly does there are people who will use these compounds on wisely but not nearly according to the media hype that is put out there by the mainstream media and people disseminating disinformation as part of a fear tactic to get people not to look into this material okay but on slide number five shows the breakdown of the word entheogen again proposed as a kind of replacement a more accurate definition of what these things really are a versus psychedelic I personally prefer the term psychedelic even to Anthea gen but I like the word Anthea Jen as well because I think it explains it very fittingly once you understand what the word means through its etymological breakdown so slide number five breaks down the word into its atom etymology en n the root n in the Greek language means within is a prefix that means within okay so that begins entheogenic the part of the word Pheo comes from the greek language as well which is Theo's Theo's means God or the divine okay so the heavenly the godly the divined okay then the last word the last piece of the word Jen comes from the Greek from Latin excuse me Gennaro Gennaro means to create okay so we put them all together and we have create divine within so entheogens are helpers that can help us to create the divine within us and I would say the word genera isn't even as appropriate it sounds very good but we're not really creating the divine within add so much as we are rediscovering it or revealing it it's already there thats part of the divine is already present it may just be completely covered up by all the world view poisoning the dirt the grime that we have accumulated you know through the mask conditioning since we've come out of the womb basically and uh we're not as a species the majority of the human population is not expressing that divinity within them it is completely covered up and suppressed so what I think entheogens do very effectively if they're used properly they're put to use properly is to reveal the divine within okay so I think that would even be a better way of putting what they do as opposed to creating it it's not really creating anything new or that's not already there it's kind of wiping away all of the grime and dirt and showing you what is already there revealing the divine within so image number six on the slides if you're following at the what on earth is happening comm radio page breaks down the word psychedelics psychedelics are what people have traditionally been calling these substances compounds guides helpers however you want to look at it um for many many years probably for decades since probably about the 1950s I I think the term was coined then I'm not exactly sure but of course we've known about these compounds and generally calling them hallucinogens for you know over a hundred years but uh the word psychedelics I believe was coined in the 1950s if remember mocks bacon Sony may correct me on that it may be earlier than that but let's break down the word into its etymology which is the first part of the word psychedelic is psyche okay the word psyche means in Greek mind that's where we get the word sigh the prefix I like psychology study of the mind psyche psyche means the mind and then the verb in Greek de lune means to make clear okay or in other words to wipe away what what is already obscuring something to get all the dirt and grime out of the way and to reveal what is underneath it that's de Lune okay so it means to make clear so what we're doing is we're changing the mind we're making the mind clear we're getting rid of things psychedelics entheogens are things that are purgative they get rid of things that we are attached to that are doing harm to us through our attachment to these erroneous and irrational beliefs and mental attachments the fundamental axioms that are completely untrue and are harmful that we have become attached to through mind control psychedelics can help us to make our mind clear of them to clear the MA in other words basically reset us back to what we should be which is someone who is open-minded so I would say they open they make the mind clear by opening it to possibility is it is if they are employed properly they can help us to heal worldview and that's what this section goes also hand-in-hand with is the healing of worldview and we talked about what is a very powerful aspect of the healing of worldview when we did the worldview healing section as part of the solutions we talked about shamanism and what shamanism is well shamans traditionally have employed and used and helped others to responsibly use these entheogenic compounds these psychedelics throughout time you know we have been calling them these names okay for only a couple of decades a few decades in human history but these actual plants helpers have been here with us for as long as we have been here they have just been on the earth nature provides these for this function to help make our mind clear they are healing agents that's what they really are if they're properly understood again for anybody that thinks that these are quote-unquote drugs and even worse quote-unquote illegal drugs and should remain as such and not be studied and not be used in a respectful and conscious context you have no idea what you're talking about plain and simple straightforward just telling you right to your face you have zero idea what you're talking about you don't know what they are regardless of whether you may even have experience or have heard of someone else's experience with them because you're only reacting to a fraction of what these things are totally about and not seeing the bigger picture the biggest part about what they are about is the transformative possibility that they hold if they are again used wisely and respectfully that's largely due to people buying into a particular worldview and listening to poisoned mainstream propaganda in the form of mainstream media and/or reading one small thing or accepting the quote-unquote authoritative information that comes out of medical literature or even worse politicians mouth or lawmakers mouths okay well I'm going to get into in the second part of the show the issues of self ownership that go along with the exploration of the self through these substances and how that is the only thing that should have any bearing on whether anyone uses them or not there's no other consideration as to the legality of these things and so people will say well are you advocating that people break the law yes I would say I am advocating that because that is an unjust immoral law that assumes the ownership of yourself because if someone claims to that you may not put something into your body they're claiming ownership of your body and I say that that should be wholly rejected at all turns you don't own me you don't own my body you don't determine what goes into it the end the end and that's the only consideration that exists when it comes to any compound whether it be a particular kind of food raw milk sheep you know whatever um any substance if I want to go and take some rye and and drink it down with some water then that's my business because it's my body and somebody may not say oh you may not do that why that's it that's a claim on your own body so we'll be getting into that and how that is slavery by definition as we look at this issue to get back to the breakdown of you know what these things are and what they can do for us ultimately we're talking about real Sacre that's what they are this is these are the active sacraments of old the active sacraments of ancient communication not religions but direct gnosis communications with otherworldly realms that's what these things are this is where religion came from as it became watered down and the direct gnosis the direct experience the direct knowledge from these realms was began to be removed and said this is off-limits for you humanity and now there will be a priest class that will commune with the realm of the divine and we will tell you what its dictates are and we will tell you you know um you know what it wants of you because this was all about control so shamans that had once helped people navigate the landscape of the self through these substances became degraded and became sorcerers and eventually that they just became the common everyday priest the priest class the ones who still maintain connections like this with these otherworldly realms through a lot of psychedelics and entheogenic compounds have become the dark priest class at the highest levels of the occult if you don't think that they're working with these substances and as a mechanism of control in the wrong way because again this can be done to properly help people to navigate the waters of the of the Spirit to properly help help them to come to a greater understanding of the self and as any other tool which is ultimately what these things are yes it's their spirits in and of themselves but again we can employ them in a particular way in which you could look at them as a toolset and that's how certain shamans will look at them as and these tools can be used for ill as well if they're not used wisely and if there's a level of ego into which they're of this priests class is taking these substances from so I would say that is absolutely what has happened and if you look at the dark side of the occult today this priest class absolutely works with these compounds and tries to keep them off limits for other people because they're keeping that their intellectual in the sense that they these tools have helped them to gain great knowledge but they're still not holistically intelligent because they're using them for a completely immoral reason which is to control other people as opposed to help to enlighten other people so we have to understand that the higher levels of the occult this is one of the tools in their tool set as well but that is not to say that the tools are bad in and of themselves if they are used for the right reasons again they can be powerfully transformative of the mind and they can help to affect great healing as far as our worldview goes and I will tell you this before we move on with some of the breakdown of some of these words that are related to psychedelics had I not employed entheogens in my awakening process I don't think I would have come out of the dark and poisoned worldview that I did emerge from and I would not have started exposing all of the elements of the dark cult and it may be possible that I may even still be of that mindset and still working with those elements had I not employed the help and the guidance of entheogens psychedelics I greatly attribute my own awakening process to the employment in a knowledgeable and respectful way in a conscious context and again we'll be talking about more about what that means in my own past had I not employ that in my own past I probably would not be here doing what I'm doing exposing the dark occult and the mind-control techniques and the solutions that we can employ to free ourselves from all this darkness and negativity in which we find ourselves so in that respect they were for me true sacraments true sacraments again the religions controlled by this priest class who is still directly assessing these realms through these substances detaches humanity from them so it can't receive the balance that they can provide and what we'll talk about that in the next slide how they do bring us to a center point or a balance point and act as a true medicine and they become the priests class that is now giving people proxies in the form of sacraments well here take this inert bread you know take some unleavened bread and receive it as a sacrament it's not going to do anything to your mind it's all about your belief in it you know drink this wine this sip of wine and take that in as a sacrament but it's not really going to do anything to you and these are all symbolic analogues for what was really once done taking the small amount of a substance eating it and it transforming you drinking a small amount of liquid and it transforming your mind giving you a visionary experience helping you to commune at a deeper level with yourself and with the divine energies that are all around you and now it has been turned into a proxy of itself now you're receiving an inert sacrament as a part of religion and the priests class the real priests class even controlling the other believers you know who have become priests and are giving this to you know the art the unknowing giving it to the even deeper unknowing okay you know the real priest class controlling Hall religion at the top which is our dark occultus are laughing at people laughing hysterically they find this completely and utterly amusing and hysterical because they're saying look we're giving people what once was their birth birthright as a proxy is we're not giving them the real thing we're giving them the fake thing and telling them it's the you know and to commune with these other realms as our human birthright that's been removed and legislated away by people who actually believe they can do that and other idiots who then go and follow them follow their orders and will will arrest people and put them in cages and try to take their freedom away because of something that is their natural right and their birth right so you know for anybody that's listening involved in law enforcement probably no one like like that probably listens to my show and I know that that's a generalization that I'm making but I feel anyone that's actively involved in that task is completely and utterly asleep whether they will admit that or not that's the case and probably can't hear anything I'm saying because they're so deep in the trance so deep in the mind-control you know and if they got hit with a really big dose of something like what I'm going to some of the substance I'm going to talk about today maybe that would show them you know a different aspect of themselves and show them an aspect of truth that they completely continuously resist in this world because they just love following orders and they just love listening to Psychopaths who tell them what to do and then these people who follow them believe they're real men somehow when they're little infant boys that don't have a lick an ounce of courage in their entire lives and probably never will and dare to think they own somebody else's body and they're going to go break somebody's door down for four you know smoking in a plant or taking some natural substance that grows in the earth the nerve of you is all I have to say the nerve of you to think you ever have the right to do that I would say the nerve of anybody to ever believe that anybody has the right to do that to another human being now again I'm going to talk about the responsible usage I talked about health extensively on this show and I would never say do something that pollutes the body that's not what this is about this isn't about abuse as with anything you can abuse it can these be abused I would say yes they can some of them are would be very difficult to abuse because of the the power involved in them and many people would not start you know doing them at a you know an insane pace or dosage because of you know what some of the experiences would become like so I would say they're probably the most difficult thing to abuse when it comes to any substance but can they be abused yes it is possible to abuse them okay especially if you're approaching it in the wrong way for why you should be using it in the first place and we're going to talk a little bit about that in the form of escapism okay but to go back to the fact that anybody listening if you still think that this isn't a natural right of man to explore his own consciousness and to learn more about himself and the realm that he's operating in you yourself are sick I don't know how much clearer I can put it you are ill it's not even that you're just wrong you're wrong and you are sick and you yourself would benefit from an experience with these compounds because you're the sickness that you have is worldview poisoning you are damaged inside your brain is damaged your soul is damaged and I'm not going to give it you know sweetly to you on a baby spoon or with a little milk bottle I'm gonna tell you you're ill and you need this that's what shamans of old simply would have done they're not going to baby spoon feed people into this they're going to tell you here's what's wrong with you do something about it or continue to be sick and create damage not only yourself but other people around you and then you're going to live in that experience so you're you're you think you're going to be isolated from it somehow that you're separate and you're not you're not separate from it people who would continue to advocate the prohibition of any substance you know I talked to people about prohibition of alcohol here in the United States in the 1920s well when it wasn't prohibited before prohibition laws passed well it was what that is okay well okay that's a moral activity and you're allowed to put alcohol in the body if you want then prohibition laws are passed and suddenly the people who are doing that yesterday aren't going to be jailed for it and their freedom taken away so how is something being illegal how does something being illegal legal or illegal make it moral or immoral it does not that's the answer it's just the arbitrary dictates of a psychopath and thinks they're God telling people what they can and can't do which has it has nothing to do with whether it is right or wrong because if you're doing it to yourself and there's no one else involved with it you have the right to do it the end because it's not affecting other people but if you're doing it like let's say if I was taking LSD okay if I took a hit of LSD that's my right no one has the right to tell me I may not do that or to possibly do harm to me for doing it now if I want to ask if I had LSD and wanted to ask somebody else if they wanted to participate in it and they said yes and they took it from me or even if I sold it to them at a specific price that's also a right a human right because it's a non coercive contract being made by two people and that person has the right to engage in it and I have the right to give it to them or to sell it to them whether anybody believes that or not is irrelevant that's the truth that's the case unwaveringly until the end of time and get over it if you think otherwise it's you're wrong you're wrong and sick if you don't know definitively that that's a human right okay so now people will start bringing up the you know completely extreme situations do you give it to children you know oh what about people who will give this to kids well of course it's not right to give it to children who don't know how to navigate these realms you would teach them you would prepare them for that if they were going to do and then they should make that decision on their own not be forced into it necessarily you know the whole point here is freedom of choice I get to choose what I put in my body someone who has some discernment chooses what they put into their body and then the other rationale goes well people are going to do drugs and then they're going to do harm to other people as a result well then you need to gauge them or you need to treat them accordingly based upon their action not whether they were on some kind of a substance when they perform the action if you take a substance and then go do something harmful you did something harmful you didn't know yourself enough to know what your limits or capabilities were during taking a substance of any kind whether it be alcohol cocaine heroin it doesn't make a difference psychedelics large amounts of sugar it doesn't make a difference redbull you know what you do based on what you had in your body what you had in your body is not does not have necessarily any direct repercussion on what you chose to do yeah your judgement may have been impaired but you need to be responsible for that because you need to take personal responsibility for the act if you drank and then you went and killed somebody because you drank too much then that's your responsibility it has nothing to do with your right to put what you want into your own body the two things are separate and people think that there's somehow completely connected they're not connected whether you do an action on something or off of something you know on a particular compound or off of a particular compound you did the action and you need to be held responsible for the action okay people blaming this all on just whatever compound somebody may have ingested is nonsense now again taking the substance and then going operating machinery you're placing other people at harm in harm's way so I'm going advocate again and this is all part of set and setting which we're also going to talk about I would never advocate taking something like this and trying to operate in normal society especially if you're going to be sponsible for operating the piece of equipment or machinery that would be utterly irresponsible and immoral and of course you shouldn't be taking this and then going and driving or taking this and you know going to work and were you know taking psychedelics and then trying to you know care for the treatment of others like in a healthcare profession or something like that you know while the experience is happening you don't you want to be in your fully functional state of consciousness not in a visionary state while you're interacting in a capacity that entails responsibility you know that doesn't mean that you should outlaw the substance and saying nobody may do them because there's a potential for a chaotic outcome when people interact on these with other people absolutely not that still is your right and if you do something harmful you need to be held to account as an individual according to your own personal responsibility so I hope that clears that up as well okay so again anybody who's advocating that this is not a human right you don't know what you're talking about and your world view is completely poisoned probably because you watch too much mainstream media and you believe in things like man's law you know out of telling people what's moral or immoral so like to go back to the example of prohibition suddenly prohibition alcohol consumption and sales went from being moral to being immoral and now people can be have their freedom taken as a result of participating in that activity well either if the activity is moral or it's immoral there's no in-between either it is a right or it's not a right man does not get to make up what rights are you cannot create a right rights are self existing they're inherent to creation the Creator in created right and wrong rights okay it has it is inherent to the universe that's what rights are man didn't make them man cannot make new ones man cannot unmake rights cannot take rights away that already exists Oh the disease psyche of man believes he can do that but it never actually occurs in point of fact reality which is different than the diseased distortional thinking the act the constructs that exist in a completely diseased brain that has abs one has nothing to do with the other and I'm talking about the actual moral right to do something based upon moral right and wrong is inherent so it is a right for me to consume alcohol it is a right for me to say I'm going to give this other adult human being alcohol if they want it that's a right the same thing applies to any substance any compound doesn't make a difference what it is I don't I think injecting heroin would probably be one of the worst decisions anybody could possibly make but I would die for their right to do it I would die for a junkies right to inject heroin into their arm I would protect that right by whatever amount of force is required to protect it and unfortunately not enough people are willing to step up and do that to take that action to even agree that that's right to do to protect someone else's right to put what they want in their own body because they're trapped by fear fear all about what might happen the fear of chaos and this is again this is part of what I'm going to talk about at the free your mind conference the fear of chaos is what's keeping humanity enslaved the possibility for chaos has to be embraced without embracing chaos itself you need to embrace the possibility for chaos otherwise you cannot be free so I tell people hey drink as much as you want do as many drugs as you want it's your body you're harming it if you don't use it if you abuse it okay but if you go and start harming others then if he comes everybody else's business that's where it's about a right because you've engaged now in a wrongdoing that the understanding according to natural law taking a substance everyone has a right doing an action that causes harm you don't have a right to do so you need to gauge the action that the person is doing to know whether it is a right or not a right if I take a whole bunch of psilocybin mushrooms that is my right if while on the substance I go and damage someone else's property or hurt them that is not one of my rights and I would need to be judged based upon the action that I took that harmed someone else not that I happen to do it with a substance in my body that has nothing to do with and again I would say there would be no excuses if you're drunk impaired and you go and shoot and kill somebody that's on you you did the action if you weren't responsible enough to be able to rein in your action because your judgment was impaired because of what you put into your body that's on you and people need to understand this and make the discernment make the understanding between the two things so anybody that believes in prohibition first of all you got to look at how it doesn't work anyway look in the law Enforcement Against Prohibition leap who I feel doesn't go far enough because they never talk about the self ownership issue but you know look at why they're telling you that that all forms of prohibition don't work you know and you need to look deeper than that at the moral issue involved that you can't make something immoral one day and then then you're going to repeal that law and it becomes moral again either it was moral to begin with or it was in world to begin with and if you understand it has nothing to do except with anything except self ownership then you understand the putting of any substance into the body no matter what it is is moral what meat which means it is within the parameters of right under natural law it is a right and not nothing anybody can ever say or has ever said from the of time until the end of creation will ever change that or make it a different way that is the case that is the truth that is simply the way it is so I don't know how much more definitive and could 100% I can be about that and the proof is in the understanding of Rights and if somebody will say what proof do you have of that the proof of the objective knowledge of the difference between right and wrong is the proof the understanding of natural law is the proof of that statement that it is true and will eternally be true so to go back to psychedelics or entheogens as sacraments as active sacraments we can break down the word sacrament this comes from two Latin words and I'm on slide number seven now the etymology of sacrament sacrum in Latin means holy sacred like the divine sacrum it would be actually pronounced sacrum means holy sacred or like the divine and then we have meant a and again look at how similar this is really almost the the same as Anthea Jen and psychedelic if you really think about it especially entheogen to reveal the divine within and psychedelics means to make the mind clear okay or to unpolluted from the you know worldview poisoning that has it has been infected with okay so the word sacrament means from sacrum holy or sacred and then men's men kay in Latin means mind the actual first-person form I'm sorry dia strip form of the word meant a is I think the objective or ablative form of the word in Latin but the for the first form of the noun is men's men's mentis in Latin so meant a means mind just like psyche a in Greek means mind okay so meant a is a Latin word for mind so when we put them together we have sacred mind sacred mind or to make the mind sacred to make the mind holy to make the mind resemble the divine and I would say to make the mind whole wh o el e to make the mind one because what an active sacrament in the form of entheogens or psychedelics actually do is help to create balance between the two hemispheres of the brain if it is used properly and I would say largely if there is a predominance or a predisposition to the left brain hemisphere chronically these helpers or guides help to bring the mind to balance specifically if it is chronically engaged in left brain modality so it will help nudge that left brain modality toward the right or toward the center now here's what I would have to UM put out a word of caution to people that if you're already of a rut too much of a right brained bent okay and you are much more in the intuitive or nurturing capacity but you have a difficult time with concentration or standing up for yourself or you know grounding in the real world then I would say an overabundance of exploration and the psychedelic or entheogenic domain would probably not be a good thing for you you need to know where you're at before you start engaging in any substance that you're going to put into the human body you need to know what your limits are you need to know what your capabilities are you need to be comfortable with yourself and who you are first I wouldn't advocate for people who are just completely a wreck to just dive into this especially not on your own you would want a guide or a helper in the physical sense who understands this this map of consciousness a little bit better than you do and can act as a an assistant to you and that's not to say turn them into a guru or a priest that's not what I'm saying at all or a leader saying you need to do your own research you need to do your homework your own due diligence and understand what you're going to be doing read experience reports we could talk about all of that and some you know places to do some of that at some resources but this is about largely helping people who are in the left brain mind state to come to a place of balance so I would say for the right brain among us you probably would not want to again engage chronically in the use of psychedelics I would say it would be okay for to revisit this as a cleansing experience every so often but if you got into doing it too much you're going to push yourself toward that extreme form of right brain imbalance which is lack of grounding in the world and therefore it's going to make you ineffectual to do real work here stay focused say uh you know a high level of focus or or energy or concentration to carry out real-world tasks which is very important about this is connected with will that left brain side is as important as the right brain side it has to do with getting things done with engaging the will with reaching out to others and you know holding of point of attention and focus so the right brain among us I would say could Bend from the usage of these in a sparing capacity but the left brain among us would probably benefit in a much greater way from these substances and probably need it more so much more so than those who are already have characteristics that are largely skewed toward the right brain in their personality already the left brain need it far more because they're of the dominating type they're of the completely worldly with no spiritual vision with no open mindedness toward the spiritual world and therefore these substances can really help them to open their mind and break out of that prison of the left brain that we talked about as one's a big packet of mind control and helping people to stay in the denominator of mindset it's up on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening right back after this crook station [Music] okay folks were back this is the second hour of what on earth is happening for this November 4th 2012 edition we're talking about entheogenic being used in a conscious context as one of the solutions the grassroots solutions that humanity can employ to come back to a place of balance and consciousness to heal our worldview and get over the problems that we're currently inflicting upon ourselves in our ignorance as a species so we were breaking down some of the words that are associated with entheogens or psychedelics they are true sacraments they are active sacraments as opposed to being inert sacraments which modern religions offer the proxy of a once active sacrament but moreover and I would say probably more so than anything else what these things really are is medicine true medicine is what these things are and in the sense that they heal or help us to heal worldview we have to be open to working with the spirit to commune with the spirit that we are working with okay we have to be open-minded enough to do that this isn't about just that you take it it does all the work you have to take it again in a proper set so set and setting is something I wanted to touch upon that is often heard regarding the proper respectful employment of antigens set means mind set it's short for mind set your mind set should be prepared you shouldn't be looking to do this for escapist reasons and if you're looking to do it as such very few people get away with that at least for any length of time that they're going to be working with these things yeah you might get a joy ride once or twice but after that you know Terence Mckenna described it as you know they're there with a clipboard you know these these spirits and the other and the other realms that you'll be communicating with they're like you know got a clipboard saying well has he been here before why is he doing this has he shown any progress in the real world when he goes back you know and they're there ticking off the checkmark boxes on that clipboard and they're going to give you the that the spirit guides in that realm are going to give you the experience that you need if you're using it for the wrong reasons and that's why it's difficult to get into an abuse pattern with some of these things I think with some of the synthetics that is more possible and we'll talk about cannabis abuse a little bit toward the end of the show too but in general some of these things I'm talking about are so powerful and transformative that it's difficult to abuse them many would say that us psychedelic mushrooms don't have an abuse profile nor does dimethyltryptamine which I'll be talking about as well but I would say with anything be potential for abuse is there it all depends on the level of self-knowledge that you're bringing to the table in your approach and set is part of that you need to know your own mindset I wouldn't say if you're you know in a completely fragile state of emotional you know of upheaval that it may be a good time to do that I mean some people think that that is the time to do that again you need to know when is the right time as far as your mental preparation and your mental stability goes for the mentally unstable I wouldn't recommend you know using this at all I would say get your mind to a stable place first by you know confrontation with the self but again some of these compounds can do that they do provide confrontation with the self so you need to try to make your own fully informed decision based on research based on you know not just jumping in and saying oh let me just try this you know because somebody told me it was cool you know that's not what I'm advocating here I'm advocating doing your own research understanding what you're going to be ingesting and communicating with and doing that for a reason that doesn't involve escapism or just wanting a joy ride on some substance that's what this is about this is about transforming consciousness for the better activating oneself getting to know oneself at a deeper fundamental level and getting over existential angst about consciousness ceasing at physical death I think some of these substances can help one to do that in a very profound way dimethyltryptamine certainly helped me to do that in a profound way I tell people after I commune with that spirit helper if you will that that was the end of all my existential angst about consciousness being the cessation ceasing at physical death death being the cessation of of consciousness when the physical body dies because there is nothing that could possibly explain the strangeness and the profound spiritual connection in that realm um when when you're looking at it from a perspective of consciousness versus the the physical world so I would say that people really need to have some basis of self knowledge before jumping in with both feet into the water so to speak it's not about just going into this blind and there's a lot of research on the internet there's a lot of experience reports you won't you want to be familiar with what you're going to be quote-unquote getting into okay and you want to be going into it again for the right reasons which is knowing the self even better okay coming to understand natural law even better because these things will put you into touch with what you're doing to others they will make you empathize you will be confronted with your own negative behaviors in many cases these guides do this in the throes of the experience I would say there's a compound while psilocybin certainly will do that LSD has been known to put somebody through the rigors of self psychoanalysis as well if boga has that potential as well in African um entheogen so if someone isn't ready to confront themselves I would say these are substances which most people will want to steer clear from again and that's many people's take on them wow that really made me confront my own shit you know so I don't want to go anywhere near that again a lot of people have that experience the first time and then they never want to go back and and go for another spin luckily I that wasn't my case ah fit I did some I had some experiences where it was really making me look at my own worldview and how I was completely mistaken and I went back and repeated the experience over and over you know so it's a level of courage is involved especially if you go to higher dosages with some of these substances because it can get into deep waters uncomfortable places DMT is about as strange as it gets I mean to me that's about as far as you can go and still maintain any connection to the physical world at all you know still still come back to the body you know some people express amazement at coming back to the physical body after the immersive DMT experience we'll talk about that a little in a little bit but I wanted to uh continue to talk about how these things are truly medicines they are true medicines because they can help to bring the brain back to a point of balance and heal worldview that's what they're healing that's the illness that they're healing if you're open minded to that healing you have to be open to it you have to work with them it's not like one and done it's not like you do one of these substances once or commune with these substances one time and then you're going to be healed immediately that's not how they work okay about revisiting that realm and working in that realm and confronting yourself when you are not on that compound and you know after it drops you back down and takes you up the elevator and drops you back down on the ground Florence and so now you know where your work is what your work is to do upon yourself that's how it's been described by many researchers you know it doesn't take you up to the top floor and just leave you up there it takes you up to the top floor on the elevator it opens up the doors show you shows you what's up there and it says that's what you have to work towards closes the doors drops you back down on the first floor and let's and kicks you out of the elevator and says now go and do the work to get up there on your own that's that's the best play I would have to describe what entheogens psychedelics are true sacramental medicines really are they show you what your work is to do but you have to do it yourself this isn't a crutch anybody that thinks that this is a crutch you're sorely mistaken anybody that thinks this is all about a joyride you're sorely mistaken this is about a tool through which you need to do work that's what entheogens are actually about if they're used properly for those who know what their intended use is and yes there is an intended use I hear people say I can use them however I want well yeah you can you can use a hammer however you want to it doesn't mean it's always going to be in a wise capacity yeah you have the freedom to go and abuse them but good luck with that let me know how that works out for you especially with things as powerful as what I'm talking about okay so medicine let's break down this word it comes from Latin two Latin words many people never looked into the etymology of the word medicine and it's fascinating when you do so true medicine okay which is what entheogens are meant the word medicine comes from the Latin Medi which means the middle the center or the point of balance the middle the center or the point of balance Medi in Latin m e di and then see INE the second part comes from the Latin Cena's sin us as most people would pronounce in Latin it would actually be pronounced penis penis means ruin or destruction ruin or destruction so let's think about this for a minute Medhi penis right to bring ruined to a place of balance to bring destruction to a point of balance back to the middle back to the center to bring devastation or destruction back to the center from the from the total extremes that aren't assisting us or helping us back to balance so from either you know particularly what they're talking about is left brain imbalance but medicine can bring one back from in the in the in the case of psychedelics or entheogens medicine in general can bring you back from either right brain and balance left brain and balance but different forms of bodily energetic imbalances it's about bringing ruin back to a place of balance back to the middle back to the center from the imbalance that led to the destruction so very interesting etymology of the word medicine in and of itself that many people do not know so let's talk about what some of these medicines are and how they have been used traditionally in shamanic cultures by shamanic cultures to do worldview healing to assist in worldview healing one of the most known entheogens which many people will not categorize as an antigen i certainly would is cannabis the two main forms of cannabis being cannabis sativa and cannabis indica cannabis sativa this is you know more commonly known as marijuana it's a family it's the the cannabis is within the hemp family and this is um you know commonly known as pot weed marijuana a million other names eh but cannabis sativa and indica are the two main varieties of cannabis which contain THC tetrahydrocannabinol tetrahydrocannabinol which is the active psychoactive ingredient in cannabis the sativa variation of the plant will give an energetic change in consciousness or an energetic high it will basically put you more into an active modality where you want to do things or be up a wake aware you know during the experience the indica variation again and it's very rare to even find a 100 percent strain without any because a lot of hybridization has occurred with these plant species over time so there is almost invariably a blending between the sativa and indica varieties but the indica if it is much more of an indica screen or hybrid will produce more of a body effect and a calming effect or a Down type of effect than the sativa variety this plant in general has been demonized for reasons that are very understandable if you know the real reasons why they're demonized this substance can help one to transform their worldview heal many physical illnesses not necessarily in the smoke form but in if you take a tincture a tincture of its oil the oils contained in the plant have very powerful healing properties from a physical point of view especially when it comes to different forms of cancer and the dominators want all of this ability through this plant suppress now if you even look at the variations that don't contain tetrahydrocannabinol or THC these are powerful building materials because they're so Hybris they form fibers that can build materials harder than wood or even concrete and at a much cheaper price so the corporations that control building materials don't want to see this use the medical corporations and form big pharma don't want to see this medicine used because it will put them largely out of business in their cancer treatment business because it's all about a business it's all about raking in the dough from sick people from dying people with their nonsense chemotherapy that is just murdering people and people think it's doing some kind of good when in fact you know you got to pray that it kill it kills the tumor before it kills you because it's totally indiscriminate radiation but the other reason is they don't want people to experience the transformation in consciousness if the substances use wisely and again can it be abused can cabinet cannabis be abused absolutely it can it will probably be an abuse profile that is far less dangerous than something like alcohol or heroin or cocaine or anything like that or crack or you know things like that much harder and more dangerous substances that are totally synthetic we're talking about plants that grow naturally in the earth and you want to get it organically grown if possible not treated with any chemicals because a lot of since it's illegal black markets open up things all kinds of further degradation you know and there's very unsavory types in many cases growing this because there's a market for it and you know who knows what they're adding to it are spraying on it so you do have to be careful for the very reason that it's illegal you go to a place like Amsterdam where it's legal you'll get some of the highest quality strains you know we're cared for grown by conscious people and it's absolutely amazing what the difference is that you'll see compared to you know some generic cannabis that is grown in the United States simply for profit by who knows what drug cartel down in Mexico or anywhere else so the illegality actually the quality all the time and that that actually makes creates more harm that there's prohibition laws passed in regard to these substances making them type 1 compounds even you know they're that they can't even be researched on by the medical community no because they don't want people understanding their transformative capability they don't want that they're not interest the dominators are not interested in that they're interested in keeping people totally in the left brain prison because that's where they can either be controllers for them or become controlled by other people especially if there's two forms of brain and balance present towards the left and right side where you believe you can be a controller and you can control other be controlled by others or answer to others in a hierarchical system and this form of left and right brain imbalance is highly highly prevalent when it comes to anybody in the control system thinking that they're you know the controllers like military and police military and police aren't just in left brained by imbalance they're in left and right brain and balance I've talked about that many times where they believe they're in charge of somebody else but they also believe they have to completely answer and follow the orders of someone else so you know wanting to dominate would be left brain and balance and accepting that someone else gives you orders and you follow them unquestioningly is the ultimate and right brain imbalance so there's nobody who could probably benefit more from some of these medicines than people in the state of consciousness or I should say unconsciousness as people like that but um the the substance is suppressed the plant is suppressed for a reason they don't want the communication this is communion that's another word I should have should have put up as a breakdown maybe I'll add it afterward okay communion is what these things are see that's what we call a sacrament in traditional Christian religion the sacrament that is given is called communion which means to come together okay and muni ohm unary means to think so it's thoughts together okay it is it is interaction at a mental level at the mental plane with this these spirit helpers you're taking the mind into that realm that's why it's called travelling tripping in many cases with some of the substances we'll be discussing you are traveling you're traveling into a different mental domain and you're encountering knowledge information knowledge about the self knowledge about that realm in many cases as with of psilocybin based mushrooms and DMT you will encounter what would be considered spiritual or noncorporeal entities and again you also have to realize you'll be encountering consciousnesses in here some people will say these are all aspects of ourselves that we simply have to deal with and come to confront and know better and some will say oh they are actual this corporate consciousness is in the you know a spheric field of energy that exists all around us I would say both are true you encounter both aspects of the self and you probably encounter aspects of entities that are do exist around us hey when you will understand the unified field of existence of course it's all one thing and that is all just consciousness and it's all aspects of ourselves okay so fear cannot be taken in to this realm it's difficult because you're you'll be encountering encountering strange places especially at what people call heroic dosages of these compounds and well one of the substances that makes travel like that possible is the psychedelic mushroom that contains psilocybin you see some of these substances that are all-natural grow from the earth I'm not going to talk about any synthetics at all in my opinion the stuff that grows in the earth is what we need to commune with and the exception that I would make to that is the extraction of DMT into its actual base form of the concentration of DMT coming out of leaves grasses or root barks um I still look at that as a natural psychedelic people will look at that as a synthetic because it is going through a chemical process to do that but the the alkaloid is simply being removed from the from the plant um there is a slower form of DMT absorption known as ayahuasca which I'm going to break down as well so let's look at the we talked a little bit about cannabis and it is a entheogen particularly in a higher dosage I would say it can produce a similar mental effect and a similar immersive effect as something like LSD especially if it is consumed as opposed to being smoked that's why many people will bake it into cookies or brownies etc and eat it it definitely has a more powerful effect when consumed orally ended directly into the the stomach and gut than it would if smoked so um we looked at cannabis a little bit let's look at psilocybin containing mushrooms so a siphon produces a when ingested and again mushrooms usually taken either in smaller doses is up to about you know maybe be five six seven gram region of dried 50 gram 50 to 60 gram region if they are still fresh very high dosage would produce an effect almost similar to the dimethyltryptamine experience but would last several hours so Simon and DMT are chemical cousins very similar in dole ringed molecules okay and the if you look at the chemistry of these compounds they're very very simple they're not very complex molecules the DMT molecule only 20 atoms I believe the psilocybin molecule which is for phosphorylated DMT is very simple and the molecule the molecular complexity would account for the variety and strangeness of experiences that is that is encountered Dornan's people say well when you engage these compounds how do you know you're just not making up the experience with your own mind well that's a question that obviously is asked by someone who has not experienced some of these realms that I'm referring to now with cannabis you probably won't get into any kind of a deep immersive otherworldly realm but certainly with a high enough dosage of psilocybin containing mushrooms such as selasa baked you Benzes and others you most certainly would so psilocybin mushrooms are what are traditionally called magic mushrooms very much differ from the mushroom that I depicted in the the background of the word breakdowns and on the introductory slide for antigens that is the Amanita muscaria mushrooms which mushroom which greatly differs from the psilocybin containing variety if you are going to attempt to commune with the mushroom in general please be sure to most certainly know the difference between these two forms of mushrooms especially if you are going to perhaps get one of them obvious some sort of a botanical supplier are coming to muscaria they call it the narcoleptic mushroom is not a active experience it is again an experience that you engage in during some sort of a trance type sleep so you will be unconscious to the real world the physical world in taking a large dose of on the needs of muscaria whereas on psilocybin containing mushrooms you will still some what it you know be able to engage the real world on lower dosages but very higher dosages it will also put you in more of a trance-like type mind state for a couple of hours now the and again the entirety of the experience the rise peak and and return to normal consciousness would be in the realm of several hours with the psilocybin mushrooms possibly up to eight or ten depending on what you took and the the dosage and strength but it's a very visual experience in comparison to something like cannabis which largely will work upon the mind and body the divisions that you will see are highly geometric often containing you know of all the audible hallucinations and are often involving communication with seemingly spiritual realms or entities and again you want to know yourself first and you want to venture in to the lesser waters before you go plunging into the greater waters there are people who disagree with that approach and say just jump right in with both feet and take the heroic dose immediately I am NOT an advocate of that I know Terence Mckenna sort of advocated that I happen to disagree with his approach in that respect I think for more experienced people that's fine I think that uh you would not want in many cases that I think that will scare people away who don't have enough open-mindedness and willingness to work upon themselves and their own you know shadow aspects or the shadow self I think for someone with a little bit of trepidation or hesitancy you would want to start off small and work your way up to the bigger dosage I think that's more prudent quite frankly and I think it's better advice I would say you know maybe the one place that that doesn't hold true because I almost look at it as the dimethyltryptamine experience is practically all or nothing that's not exactly true you can have a non immersive experience that is somewhat you know transformative but with with DMT you want the full shebang so to speak and it can actually be difficult because of the method of ingestion which is smoking unless people were you know actually had medical grade DMT and we're going to take it intravenously which I also don't really recommend because you want to be comfortable and that to me is in a comfortable way of experiencing a spiritual helper but um when DMT is smoked it is active because it is inactive orally because of its chemical structure on the mono amine oxidase of the intestinal tract breaks it down and prevents it from entering the blood barrier if it is ingested orally therefore you would need to take DMT with some type of an MAO inhibitor a mono amine oxidase inhibitor if it is not extracted in its base form from whatever plant material you would begin extracting it from so DMT or dimethyltryptamine another indole binary ring indole molecule that varies is very very very similar to serotonin or 5ht serotonin is the neurotransmitter that is essentially responsible for our normal waking state of consciousness when you ingest DMT the serotonin gets pushed out of the neural pathways DMT latches into the receptor sites and provides an completely immersive hallucinogenic experience or psychedelic or entheogenic experience in which the visual aspect is the most profound there is auditory elements as well but visually the real world in if you get enough of the dosage into the bloodstream and into the blood-brain barrier the immersive experience is total meaning that the real world with eyes open or closed goes away so to speak it is not there you cannot interact at all with the real world you are completely immersed in a geometric realm that contains consciousnesses that you can communicate learn from etc very strange experience strange beyond any words you know I could go and try to tell you my experiences but they would all fail in attempt in their attempt to communicate the experience through words because it's so strange it cannot be even imagined if you have not experienced that you can not imagine it it's not anybody could try to tell you what it's like I have a few images listed to even begin to scratch the surface at attempting what the visuals you know approach but they don't even exactly depict it some of them get sort of close the ones I chose but I would say they do not depict it exactly and it's almost impossible to imagine that's and that's the way I the way I look at it is that experience was so strange it most certainly did not come from my mind it was made possible by the carrier signal through the the substance the helper Spirit that I am communing with in order to produce that experience that's that's why it was possible people would say well can we get there on our own through meditation I would say a similar to McKenna's um a take on that I would say if somebody got to the DMT experience entirely on their own I'd be almost a little bit worried because um yes meditation can put you in you know highly relaxed mind states that you can get some immersion similar to DMT but I would say it is not the same as the the entering of what people call the DMT space again a breakthrough experience is different than any deep meditative experience I have ever had in my life a breakthrough DMT experience you'll know that you're there you'll know what the difference is but again to talk about doing getting to this level of consciousness on the natural as they say I think it it is possible to transform one's consciousness so that you're at such an elevated state of consciousness that you would not need the assistance of DMT or any other psychedelics such as psilocybin or THC or LSD or any anything like that to remit to stay there in consciousness say people will say well you have to go back and revisit these realms constantly I would say no that's not necessarily true if you truly transformed yourself if you've truly healed your worldview if you're healed you're healed and the medicine would not be required on an ongoing basis you would not be addicted to it or have to take it forever okay some people over all of that opinion that you have to or should go back and revisit it I would say if you that is your desire and you would want to then absolutely that is within your right but I would say at some point of transformation of the world view that it would not be required to continue to revisit that and I differ and disagree with certain you know a shamanic communicators in that capacity and you know that may make me unpopular in that regard so be it but I don't think anything is as far as communicating in this realm or you know engaging in a substance of this is eternally required or necessary okay once it has done the task at hand then I would say you can choose to participate in it or not but many people stop working with these substances out of fear of what they are basically being made to confront during the experiences and therefore they stop their work and do not go all the way to that level of truly transforming one's worldview and getting out of the fears you know associated with not changing their actions and behaviors and ultimately their thoughts so I want to talk about a form of DMT which is a known as a DMT containing analog known as ayahuasca many people will be familiar with this and is gotten a lot of press and a lot of hilarity over the last few years due to several documentaries made about it and information basically brought back from largely South America where people engage in ayahuasca and have for you know hundreds of generations but Iowa's qey is again it's a plant analog which means it contains two active compounds or ingredients the first is DMT now being the DMT component is not what is known as the ayahuasca vine and many people confuse this and think it's the other way around that the ayahuasca vine is what provides the visionary experience and that is not the case the ayahuasca vine which is called its scientific name is banisteriopsis caapi okay Donna stereopsis copy is the ayahuasca vine and that is the MAO inhibitor containing component of the ayahuasca a DMT HANA lock okay um that is the substance that will make DMT or dimethyltryptamine orally active if consumed orally okay the DMT containing component can be anything that contains DMT in nature and there's many many things that contain it the most popular usages in modern culture because they have the higher concentration of dimethyltryptamine containing grass leaves barks I'll give you one of each the leave that is the most popular is called chacruna that's the native name for it but its scientific name is Socotra viridis psychotria viridis or otherwise known as chacruna this can be combined with banisteriopsis caapi to make traditional Amazonian of style or Brazilian style by Maya wasa okay so that's one of the analogs another or of ayahuasca is combining the banisteriopsis caapi vine with the most hospitalists root bark okay and mimosa hospitalist has a very high concentration of dimethyltryptamine alkaloids in it as well that's another ayahuasca analogue a third would be combining the vine with the the phalaris grass okay it's called phalaris or Indonesia or I believe it's called Rio canary grass reed canarygrass something of that nature but if you combine any of those three DMT containing plants with the ayahuasca vine which is the MAO inhibitor then you will have an ayahuasca experience which is a slowdown of the very intense pure DMT immersive experience and it will stretch it out it will it will make it more gentle and stretch it out over a period of four to five hours this is the traditional way that the DMT substance has been ingested for visionary experience in indigenous tribal or shamanic cultures throughout time especially in the Western Hemisphere and that form of taking DMT as a visual visual visionary experience through ayahuasca is how the indigenous peoples consider is the proper way to commune with the dimethyltryptamine visionary component and when asked how they understood out of all the species how to combine this vine which is what makes the DMT orally active the answer that many of the shamanic cultures and the shamans of their culture gave was we were told to do this by the plants themselves by the force we commune with them in our normal waking state of consciousness by simply coming into our you know own presence and our own quiet state and listening and meditating and we receive this information in those altered states of consciousness that they said if you want a deeper immersive experience then this is what you combine these are the medicines to combine and is looked at as a sacred indigenous medicine by many religions throughout the world I believe the you know to vegetal is one of the more widely known they want a big court case that went up to the Supreme Court about the right to use this as their sacrament because they wanted to try to make it illegal in the United States sick people who think that they have a right to tell other people what they can and can ingest when so far as to try to take a sacrament away from a religious group and say you can no longer engage in the traditional traditional tribal sacrament that you've been engaged in your people have been engaged in for thousands of years I think that's you know just as insulting as them telling that any anybody else that they may not ingest anything into their own body you know but because it was for a religious purpose it garnered a lot of media attention and they did finally win their court case from the dominators uh you know court ruling to finally say we're allowing you as a as a religious sacrament to be an exception to our law you know but again that's all I really uh there's one other psychedelic that I think I want to cover which is iboga okay at boga tavern anthem boga it's its scientific name and this is a root bark that is traditionally commune with in the african continent namely the western region of Africa the Gabon region and this is a helper that definitely is can bring balance to the brain especially when one is in the severe state of imbalance through the abuse of their substances this is also why tavern and iboga and its extracted form which is Evo gain is not promoted in the United States and many people do not know about it because it can help if it is used properly and again iboga can be one of the more dangerous entheogenic compounds because at a certain dosage it can actually kill you it can become poisonous and kill you you have to very carefully weigh out the dosage of a compound like that which is again why caution know yourself know what you are about to engage in do your research before attempting to do anything as with with anything it's all about knowledge it's not about this again I'll reiterate it's not about a joyride it's not about escapism it is about knowledge and transformation so know what you're dealing with and in the case of iboga strong caution if you're whatever attempt to engage in it you need to know exact kilogram Nolan two kilogram ratios of you know how much you weigh versus how many milligrams of active ingredient you're going to be putting into the body or it can kill you so if boga can actually be and it can and is being used in treatment centers through its again it's a derivative form known as ibogaine to treat addiction and again they don't want this known in the United States it's actually illegal in the United States of course because they hook people on methadone when they're addicted to harder street drugs such as heroin which is arguably ten times worse than even doing the heroin itself because it's systemic it gets into your bones it's more addictive it has a higher that the profile then even heroin and it's a very very much more difficult to even come off of then heroin is itself so with that being said I'm not going to go deeper into a breakdown of more of the entheogens or psychedelics I wanted to touch upon and this is in no way meant to be any kind of a extensive or all-encompassing presentation I'm putting some of these out there for you to go and do your own research on and decide if one of these medicines would be something that would be needed based on the level of consciousness or imbalance as the case may be that any one happened to be at if you want to take a look at some of the visuals I put three very very nice and cool and beautiful visuals regarding what some of these realms can look like in the mind's eye under a stronger dose of psilocybin or dimethyltryptamine or ayahuasca so um the first one is image number 10 which has a lot of green and blue hues and a lot of spirals and is similar to fractal patterns see that is what some of these antigens will do is show you the fractal holographic nature of reality this is the unified realm from which all consciousness arises I would say this is the realm of the real the truly real not the Maya or the illusory realm that is the physical domain the the physical matter that is being imbued with vibratory energy and appears solid this is the void where the the the the room if you will that we enter into through these spirit helpers and the carrier signals that they help us to engage and lock into to see the base version of reality you know this is the construct so to speak this is the the holographic realm that then gets infuses through the void through this actual geometric the spiritual room infuses the vibratory energy into this realm which we call the physical world and that's how it generates this seemingly physical holographic reality that we call the universe I like the work that david icke has been doing on the nature of reality I like the work that David Talbott in his book the holographic you um or what Michael Talbot I believe his name was the holographic universe I like the work that Terence Mckenna has done in explaining trying to verbally explain the experience in some of these realms and I like nassim haramein x' work with the void the potential energy of the void and another gentleman to check out when it comes to the unified field of consciousness is John Hagelin who is a physicist Kozma theoretical physicist I don't know if he's a cosmologists but definitely a theoretical physicist that has talked about not necessarily psychedelics but the unified field level of consciousness and how that is the projector for the physical experience that we day-to-day experience that we live in so a lot of this backed by hard science but again these are the helpers to get to the realm of realizing this of showing it directly to yourself in a one-to-one experience it's gnosis it's not theory it's direct experience with that realm of the divine and on another image slide number 11 if you're following on the slide shows a depiction of what might be considered a being a noncorporeal being or entity encountered in one of these realms and yes it does get that strange have I encountered uh entities are being similar to this who during the experience with deep DMT absolutely and it gets stranger than that that would I would say would be mild if I encountered a being such as that it gets even stranger no people could say oh what is it just geometries blending you'll know if it's just geometries blending together looking like a face because they will attempt to communicate with you most certainly and again I could go in my experiences they get very strange most certainly but um it's again it's almost pointless because words would fail and it would be impossible to describe and it's also impossible to really describe what they're communicating because they don't communicate like us it's almost nonverbal communication and it's often communication through geometric forms so you know different people can decode it differently and it can actually be uh you know that information can be taken into the real world and employed in different capacities so it will be different for everyone the key here is the existential doubt that it has the power to remove and therefore transform your understanding of reality as a result one of the most accurate depictions that I've seen so far is image number twelve and this is very similar to what an immersive DMT experience will produce and I mean you will be that will be wrapped around you and it can get even stranger than that the motifs of the Aztek the Maya other set Inka other South American cultures um the hawaiian motifs of the Tiki idols the Tiki gods etc you will encounter these types of motifs very very often often you'll see the green motif the the forest woodland the green man motif comes up over and over again elfs fairies gnomes all different types of entities you know descriptions of entities ascribed to different things that are encountered in some of these realms is it real I would absolutely say that it is is it powerful it is beyond powerful if you approach it the right way again the set and setting being important setting meaning the actual physical surroundings the physical location that you're going to choose to partake in such an experience you should have a exorcise a modicum of control over the environment you're going to do it in again as I said mindset is the first thing to consider but then the actual physical setting that you're going to partake of whatever experience you're going to partake in you want to make sure you're going to control that environment you know make it comfortable make sure there's no distractions or noise as I would say as quiet as possible unless you prefer music but the setting can be as important as the mindset that the experience is approached from and again this is all about personal responsibility you need to be responsible for your own actions I'm not again advocating the irresponsible use I'm advocating the responsible employment of substances that can be powerfully transformative in human consciousness it is all about the balance of the human brain particularly if again you are the left brain bent these can help bring that devastation that has been done through the imbalance of the brain to the middle to the center to the point of balance and to a point of healing if if big if it is approached with the proper mindset okay which is that sacred context but I'm talking about the use of entheogens in a conscious sacred context and again many people will disagree with that and say go and use it however you want again I feel that's foolish I think there is a proper use and an abuse there is a proper way to use a tool and there's a proper way to really screw things up using tools well so with that being said it's all about self respect as everything else comes back down to responsibility and respect okay and those are two of the r's the third are in the solutions that I talked about is remembrance this can bring us back together if it is used wisely and ultimately okay it is about self ownership the the prohibition effort has gone on for too long and needs to just be refused refused and people need to step forward and say yes we are going the experiment with our own consciousness yes this is a human right no you are not going to jail anybody for doing it and if you attempt to do so we're going to put down that effort by whatever means we have to do to put it down and that's the courage it's going to take to say no because these Psychopaths are not going to stop with their abusive immoral laws they're not going to just stop doing and say oh we were mistaken sorry that's not going to happen where we're at believe me I would love to see that happen but unless more and more people educate cops as to what rights are and what they are not don't expect to see that happen if you continue to buy into the ball bowl that this isn't a human right to use your own consciousness as you will and doing just whatever you will into your own body as long as it's not harming someone else then you don't understand enough to rectify the wrongs that are being done by police and governments throughout the world it's telling people what they can and can't put into their body that's called slavery ladies and gentlemen when you say to someone else you may not ingest this that is a claim of ownership on their physical person on their physical body and that's called slavery to tell someone I'm telling you that's off-limits for your consumption now again that doesn't mean certain choices the put of what to put in the body would be not be bad ones there are bad choices of what to put in the body and again I'm being discriminating here I'm exercising discrimination and discernment okay it is not about harming oneself it is about working with the self okay working through the dark aspects of the psyche working through different encounters and experiences that can help us to come face to face with who we are and we so choose than to change that for the better that's what this is about and that is a human right to do that and anybody telling you you may not do that needs to be thoroughly thoroughly rejected and told no you are not going to stop me from putting what I will into my own body the end so we need a complete radical readjustment in our thoughts when it comes to all kinds of prohibitive laws about what we do and do not have a right to ingest if it's your body and you own it and you're not the slave of someone else you have a right to ingest what you will into it again providing you're not harming someone else so you don't have a right to take as much alcohol and pour it down the throat of another person as you want but if you're going into your own mouth then that's fine do I have a right to dose someone else with a hallucinogen no because they didn't agree to that's coercion that's not right that's wrong but to take it into my own body of my own free will of my own accord not being coerced that's my human right so I think I will leave it there because we're running out of time I'm sorry to anyone holding on the line that I didn't get the calls this week how about this we'll do an all call-in show on the topic of entheogens next week antigens and psychedelics anything you want to call in to talk about questions that you may have and we can even open up the line for some experience reports next week on what on earth is happening we'll continue the discussion on truth sacraments angiogenic substances that are televising spirits

freedom mat that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host Marc Pascoe [Music] welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website Oracle broadcasting com today is Sunday November 11th 2012 today is 11:11 a huge day with spiritual significance as far as numerology is concerned because the 11:11 in numerological terms occult eclis is a light workers call and I would suggest that's why it is also Veterans Day because the dark occultists who own the minds of order followers want to associate that with doing the light workers work when it has absolutely nothing to do with that when in fact the following of orders without question which is what all military service my light awry service is all about it's about dispelling the light and it's about doing the bidding of one's occult globalist masters it has absolutely nothing to do with spreading the light but of course they want to associate it with that great that true great work so 11:11 the light workers call many people have brought that to the forefront over the last many years and many people have experienced the synchronicity of seeing the numbers 11:11 especially those who are waking up to the true nature of the reality in which we are all embedded so today on the show we're going to continue with solutions oriented approaches and I'm going to open up the phones for the whole show because last week I had apologize at the end of the show I did not get around to getting to your calls we talked last week about the 10th and really the final grassroots solution that I wanted to outline in any kind of depth of course we can get into many other solutions as the week's progress but as far as the Big Ten grassroots solutions for positive change as part of the section that I call the way out in the presentation of the material here on what on earth is happening we talked about entheogens entheogenic compounds also known as psychedelics and how if they were used in the proper context they could significantly open consciousness and open one up to the nature of the true self and essentially motivate someone to take part and take responsibility in a deeper sense of exposing the truth in our world and working toward really empowering people to make positive and lasting changes in their lives so that we can rectify the problems that we've been experiencing here on earth in human consciousness so last week we got into things like how entheogens if they're used properly can help to bring the brain to a place of balance and that it can set right in certain imbalances in certain modalities of consciousness in the physiological sense within the brain we talked about the importance of set and setting the mindset that you approach such an experience with and the the actual environmental conditions that you are going to engage such work within we talked about the difference between the use of these helpers these spirit helpers is what I call them and the abuse of them using them for the wrong reasons or just simply in the wrong ways and I believe there are proper methodologies for their use and improper ones we talked about personal responsibility being something that has to be engaged in this type of activity if one is going to undertake it at all times and places you're always responsible for your own actions and we talked about a of all else the concept of self-ownership that no one has a right no one has the right to tell you that you may not engage in such activity of the employment of entheogenic substances if that is your will to do so because you own your own body you own your own mind your consciousness is yours to explore as you see fit so long as you are hurting no one else therefore no one else may say that that is off limits for your exploration and before we move on and get into this in a deeper way I do have a couple of quick event announcements before we do that I want to give the call and number for the show the calling number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number toll-free eight-six 6-8 four one one zero six five call in and get in the cube because we're going to open up the phone lines for the entire show your calls and I want to hear from you on the topic of entheogenic o dellux okay we're talking about psychedelics here that's what entheogens are just a different name for these spirit guides that are here to help us to expand consciousness when in fact we find ourself backed into a corner as far as consciousness is concerned and having a difficult time breaking out of the very shallow confines that we've worked ourselves into as far as what is possible what is real truth versus falsehood etc so I want to hear from people who have successfully employed entheogens to their benefit as far as opening up their own awareness goes I want to hear personal experience reports if you care to share them I want to hear your thoughts as to the the absurdity of the continued prohibition of these compounds and sent people saying they have absolutely no therapeutic value when in fact that is exactly what they are intended to be use for by nature itself if you've had a negative encounter or experience with them I want to hear about that too so your calls will make the show today we're talking about an theo genic compounds or in other words psychedelics and we're talking about them specifically in the context as a solution to help us to expand human consciousness and awareness and how they can be used as such if we take the time to understand both themselves and ourselves and they can be tools and helpers to help us to understand ourselves better but if we employ these tools with a healthy level of respect in their proper in a proper context in a sacred context I have called it so that's coming up on what on earth is happening today and I have a couple of quick event announcements of course coming up in April of 2013 the free your mind to conference a conference on consciousness mind control the news section you'll see the the link to make a donation to the chip and effort and you will be able to see the chart at where the the donation stand currently alright so last week we talked about psychedelics as a solution in Christmas to help expand awareness if it is if they are employed if they are communed with in the proper context now two things I did neglect to do I actually talked about one of these things but I said that I was going to post the picture I didn't get around to making that until the middle of the week so I posted it with the images for today's show that are up on the radio show page or with the podcast image number nine you can go to in the radio show page underneath the player where you'll see the numeric links listed for images for today's show and image number nine is the image that I briefly talked about last week that I was going to post the word communion and I did have an inaccuracy in last week's broadcast regarding the etymology of the word communion which I want to clarify today I inadvertently said that muni ohm unary meant to think but it does not it actually means to build up or to strengthen or to fortify that's what muni o means so communion then means to strengthen together which is why it is a coming together okay in a communal sense and communion is sharing together and in doing so you are building strength among the community okay so true communion is strengthening together fortifying together and what I would suggest that internal communion does when you take true a true sacrament not an inert one an activated sacrament is it is strengthening together the left and right hemispheres of the human brain to build that temple that is within mankind to build it more strongly to build it up to strengthen it to fortify to protect this is what the word the verb in Latin muni o muni rate means okay so when you put it together with calm communion it means to build up together to strengthen together to protect together a very interesting connotation regarding what the word communion actually means from etymological point of view the other thing that I neglected to do last week that I want to do briefly here at the the top of the show before we start with starting with callers is there was a quote on the last slide last week which I didn't get to read because we you know we ran out of time by Terence Mckenna who I consider a very very profound influence in the employment of entheogens psychedelics in my own life and many will have you know different takes on McKenna and that's fine I happen to think he largely was a very well-intentioned human being and he was off on some of the things that he got into and spoke about but I don't hold that against anybody not every single person will have every single aspect of the picture or puzzle therefore I do look at McKenna's work as very valuable I highly recommend his books especially food of the gods and the archaic revival if you haven't already checked those out they are I think essential reading he got into his time wave theory in depth within his book with his brother Dennis McKenna called the invisible landscape which I think was also excellent but a very technical read but um Terence Mckenna was a wordsmith he understood the power of words the power of language to affect and influence the mind and he had a way with words and he could also have been you know comical and ironic at times as well so I had a quote at the end of last week that I didn't get to so I want to read that now and it's a quote by Terence Mckenna Terence once said that if the words life liberty and the pursuit of happiness don't include the right to experiment with your own consciousness then the Declaration of Independence isn't worth the hemp it was written on and that's just it that hits the nail on the head as far as I'm concerned because the entire issue about an Theo genic employment has everything to do with self ownership then if you are the one who gets to decide how your consciousness is going to be directed and steered okay if you're the one doing that and no one else is actually in charge of that or owns your consciousness then how can anyone say that an experience that exists within a human being is actually off-limits that's the definition of tyranny as far as I'm concerned that is the definition of slavery as far as I am concerned because what someone else is saying to you is that they own your body and they own your mind that it is theirs and they can get to determine what you may experience with your body in mind so I don't see how it could possibly be any more clear-cut but maybe we have people who actually disagree with that so let's go to the phones and we'll take your calls for the rest of the show the toll-free number to join us once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five call to join us on what on earth is happening our topic for today is psychedelics okay here we go area code six zero two you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hello exciting from Phoenix Ivan welcome good to hear from you I found much better this week yes not bad connection okay because I'm at work but not in a different section so no problem okay well yeah I looking to you show last week and that you were speaking there are a few thoughts that came to mind so when you were talking about infusions and the mind being kind of dirty or in cleaning it out that reminded me of micro cesarean the the word sanitize yes the clean make clean yes and yet how that word it's so close to the word insanity right where the mind is dirty underneath to be cleaned and that's right that's always stuck with me that's always stuck with me how everybody everyday brushes their teeth takes a shower bathes and all this to be clean but yet no one thinks to cleanse what's in their head in their mind and the brain that was acting and and I would think that these entheogen these natural plants are like a natural way of cleansing the mind and surrounding the brain the word psychedelics itself the etymology of the word psyche in Greek means mind and delune were the word the second part of psychedelics comes from de Lune is a verb in Greek that means to make clear or to make clean amazing that the right in the word means to clear the mind or to clean the mind and in that goes hand-in-hand with sanity sanitized sanitation to keep clean and insanity is the opposite its dirtiness of the mind it is you know you know sludge built up in the mind all the negative and untrue and completely erroneous axioms that we have taken into ourselves and built up over time these things can help to clean to cleanse to to clear away very powerful as far as words just the simple meanings of words go how much we can understand about you know what these helpers are really here to do to help us to do right I agree and there was another thing I call on the same line how some people kind of don't require and seojun's on their own to their own life experiences they can free themselves from the dirty mind this insanity whereas some other people like let's say law enforcement or left brain people right they kind of need that extra boost they need the soap they need the concentrated dosage and what the infusions I would suggest is for people of that mind that it's something that forces them to face you know dirtiness or whatever I would agree and I would say that you know the individuals who may not require such deep cleaning so to speak are those who the the the balance of the brain hemispheres is probably not that far out of alignment maybe slightly have a slight tendency toward one side or the other but it's not really way out of alignment and it's not chronically out of alignment when it's chronically out of alignment one brain hemisphere particularly the left brain hemisphere that's when these helpers these spirit helpers and guides can really be of very beneficial use if they're used the right way right right and then one last thing along the same lines that reminded me of a story that ROM das1 mentioned about his teacher how he gave him a whole bag full of bees and Theoden and his teacher consumed the whole bag and after May is this working and in you know Wanda my world I took the whole bag and nothing's happening around I was like oh my god you could overdose and he talks about how someone who was already but open mind already and likes and can take these things and it's like yeah I'm already there where's it supposed to take me right right it's all about cleansing the mind's eye it's been called many different things it's been called the third eye you know it's been called the one eye it's been called the center of the self it's been called the seed of the soul it's been called you know the doors of perception many different things that's been called but ultimately it's our connection with the higher self and our ability to see reality as it truly is and that's really that what has become fogged and clouded up and you know just tons of dirt thrown on top of it and again these things can be cleansing agents if they are used properly and if they are used with respect in a conscious context if we have the will to employ them in that way I think they can be very beneficial symbionts for Humanity to really help us to get through the the dangerous and devastating stage in consciousness which most of us here on earth are trapped in at the current time in history exactly and that's why the powers that should not be will tell people you're not dirty that's the way you should be is being covered in gook and you know being on that that that's fine that's the way it should be that way people won't go out and look for ways of cleansing themselves for example cannabis that's bad that's illegal marijuana mushrooms ayahuasca all the stuff those are illegal don't do that that's wrong because they know once people try these things their perceptions will change and see the crap for what it actually is and again keep it mine ladies and gentlemen none of us are advocating irresponsible usage or AB use we you know we accept that there is a proper usage for these helpers and then there is an abusive use or even to use them for simple escapism you know and I'm not saying you couldn't uh you know smoke some cannabis you know to relax or to just you know kick back with friends or something like that but I'm saying if you're going to really use psychedelics in their proper perspective and their proper context it isn't about just escapism or having fun and I talked about the joyride experience that you may get on the first couple of usages in that in that mental frame of mind but that won't continue really indefinitely from the majority of people they will begin to make you start to look at your own shortcomings and make you analyze yourself you know make you do some psychoanalysis upon yourself in the throes of the experience whether you really want to or not and I would suggest that's why they do not have any kind of a high abuse egde rate because when people attempt to use them for the wrong reasons oftentimes they get bit in the process by the the helper or the consciousness that is within these compounds itself it actually will bite them and say hey this isn't how this is really intended to be used and you don't see a lot of people abusing these because one of their extreme power as far as being able to change and modify and expand consciousness and - that they will make you look at your own crap it for lack of a better term they'll make you turn and look at it you know it's like holding your face in front of a mirror kind of and at least that's been my experience and been many other people who I know is experienced with them so that's I believe why there's some of the most difficult things to abuse can they be abused yes they can we talked about that briefly last week it is possible to abuse even these substances but it's much more difficult than something like you know a street drugs such as cocaine or heroin or crack or something like that these are not the same class of compounds and that's the first myth that really needs to be dispelled is that all drugs can be categorized in the same class as the same class of substances and that is absolutely not true whatsoever but that is what the dominators want people to think is true because they want to lump all of the beneficial things like cannabis or psilocybin or dimethyltryptamine in with the more possibly destructive or abusive classes of compounds such as heroin and you know concentrated cocaine such as such as crack that you know they want that obfuscated in the human mind to say oh it's all just grouped together you lump that all together and those are drugs and like I said last week that the compounds we're talking about here are no more quote-unquote drugs than I am quote-unquote a politician they're worlds apart world separated from that anybody that doesn't understand that clearly has not done the research they have not actually looked into what these compounds actually are so ivan a fantastic call thanks so much for calling always bring some great perspectives I did you have anything else not right now offhand but like I said I'm at work and I'm listening to your show through my phone so I'll just stay on the line and if you have another you know any downtime or anything to go is just come back great always a pleasure to hear from you my friend you take care all right you too mark thank you all right let's go to another caller area code five six - you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hey Mark thanks for having me on hey what's your name Raj Robb Raj Raj Raj welcome what do you have for us first just quick shout-out to Popeye he had you on I don't know a couple years ago wherever I listen to my show and you were talking about the occult in your tithe to the church as a nerd forget which position you held when you were on the dark side so hop on these preciate Papa having you on and now I'm on your show and your show has a lot of insight and great I just I feel like you offer a lot other shows have been offered even other great shows show hosts and so I really appreciate your work yeah I appreciate the compliment and Popeye from federal Jack he's a great guy he has me on frequently onto his show on Orion talk radio so that's great that you are heard about me in the show through Popeye and you know glad that you've been been listening and taking the information in and find it valuable exactly and back to the subject I guess I guess I want to touch on the historical aspect first because it's funny how I just you know what 15 60 years ago these drugs were just all illegal pretty much and I remember advertisements hundred years ago said if you had a toothache just rub some cocaine on it right so I guess it's I'm not advocating advocating cocaine use or heroin use or anything but ever what you said last week now you must fight for someone's right to use even heroin even though how hurt or crazy that might sound because that's personally knowing people who've used that and just not not fun stuff oh absolutely well as far as that I guess it's funny how people forget you know it's just very their grandparents and even their parents they listen times when everything's legal is just second nature go to local drugstore to get errands to get cannabis to get whatever and now it's just Australia's 1971 the drug war it's put all these memes and then people and people having researched MKULTRA which which is funny I find that because US government believe that the LSD that they're dosing people with could actually change them and mold them which I think that can if they keep on doing it every day right but I feel like it's do it once in a while it's exactly the effects the opposite effects proven for to help people with PTSD man-made version of some of the other options available at rooms in DMT but my personal experience in shrooms and DMT I think we're more on the joyride level and I feel like I agree with what you're saying is that I don't think I took in the proper environment so I feel like I need to you know get that set up get my mindset set up and write this when you're in college when I guess when you're in college or whatnot it's just a joyride everything is it's so important the set and setting it could it could make or break the experience because I think it it is really determining the the respect that you're approaching the entire experience with and III believe that the the consciousness that you're communing with in that in the psychedelic experience kind of can sense that or it feels that and it knows where you're at and therefore it's going to kind of the experience is going to be tailored for how you have prepared yourself to approach it without any question and yeah what you said I wanted to touch briefly on what you said about the government attempting to use these substances for mind-control purposes people really need to look into that and that's definitely accurate MKULTRA if people who aren't familiar with this should definitely research it we could do you know ten shows on MKULTRA there's so much material and talk about the sick doctors and scientists who did these experimentations on human beings you know back in the the 50s and 60s and you really and leading up to the current day this is really an ongoing thing but you know they tried to use psychedelics to control the mind and really I feel that that fully backfired on them people will say oh well you know they were successful in a certain regard but as far as the psychedelics goes largely that opened up people's mind to a higher level of awareness and let them look at the absurdity of what was taking place all around them I don't really think it succeeded to the extent that a lot of people believe that it did I think it really backfired on them and they kind of let the the jack-in-the-box out so to speak and it was very difficult to put that that cover back on that lid back on after that you know that possibility escaped of what these things could be used for in a transfer transformational capacity so that being said it isn't to say that there can't be abusive usages of these against other people they absolutely could be done but again these substances are actually much more difficult to employ or use like that and I think that's what some of these mind controllers who are you know trying to use them toward that aim found out as part of MKULTRA is that hey this had an actual opposite effect and we're getting blowback from even attempting to have done this with the wrong choice of compounds in effect it got out and helped spark somewhat of an awareness now I still think that that usage back in the night the way that it was used in the 1960s wasn't as responsible nearly as responsible as it should have been and therefore it really didn't have a truly powerfully transformative effect on consciousness globally but it did open up some people's minds at least temporarily to see you know that society was largely about control and violence and you know help spur a lot of people on to dig deeper and do some further research in their own respect that being said not every one of the people that you know experimented with psychedelics back then fully awoke and many of them got a glimpse and then went back to sleep so you know it's all about sustained effort and it's all about really understanding the tool that you're going to be working with and then understanding yourself enough to engage a level of respect with you know your toolset and with the the the consciousness that you're gonna commune with however you want to look at that you know I want you could look at as a tool you could look at that as a consciousness that you're actually going to be interacting with at a personal level I think either way of looking at that is basically fine as long as you you understand it in in context of why you're doing this you know what you want to achieve and then again doing that in a responsible way and to bring it back full circle set and setting is one of the most two of the most important elements regarding that the mindset your pre-existing mindset has to be in the right place you won't want to do this in states of you know extreme emotional trauma or stress and you would want to do it in a trusted environment in a secure environment in a place that is set up for such exploratory usages and a place where you feel comfortable and safe and you can really you know delve into the experience in a immersive way and in a way that you're not going to be you know putting yourself in a position of irresponsibility by you know being around circumstances and situations that you might you know do something or mess something up in some sense or you know hurt somebody else you know it says make making the environment around you during the employment of these substances as safe as possible so that you one you feel safe and your experience is as transformative as it can be and again you mitigate the possible dangers that you might employ somebody else in a altered state of consciousness again we talked about last week you would certainly not want to be in any kind of a position of you know responsibility for other people in engaging these substances you would certainly not want to be around operating any kind of equipment or machinery that would be a completely irresponsible usage of something that is potentially transformative in a positive sense so great points that you've brought up regarding mind control and regarding the personal responsibility that needs to go into the the choice of the the proper mindset and this and the environmental setting when you're going to do such work so great points do you have anything else for us yeah yeah points and I wanted taking about comments on that soon heard anything about Silk Road and the online Silk Road and B connection with bitcoins I am not familiar no have you heard of what because I know that Bitcoin yes okay so what these people have done these quote-unquote drug dealers then created an online system through tor or nothing or Toria store is the free internet VPN virtual private network service it's basically a no so you could surf the web and on exactly log on or and you use the board and I think the website you can look you can search this up obviously I'm not advocating it but I think it was awesome article but no quite quite interesting yes for those who don't know what bitcoin is very briefly it's simply an online secure currency that is an electronic form of currency that is very secure and anonymous and it's relatively new it's been being used for the last few years it's starting to become a little bit more popular and I guess they're using Bitcoin in conjunction with an anonymizer a web anonymizer called tor and explain what they're doing with it yeah so what they're doing is they're bypassing to the you know the FBI V of all the law enforcement and they're going privately and they're having this forum this marketplace for drugs basically and you could buy anything you could buy in the ethno gin are you ask a les D shrooms DMT ecstasy cannabis I mean you name it you can get a prescription drugs and it's all anonymous you pay through bitcoins it's all pretty much done trackable it's like ship it to wherever you want I mean they've it's busy I mean they're estimating it I forget the number a couple million right now in sales but you know you know how it is it's all under the table so we don't know the way I'm amazing is heavens inherent rights are being abused they're gonna do whatever and runs they can to get around that abuse in a non-violent way and in that sense I don't see a problem with anybody doing that because it is a voluntary transaction and again there's no violence involved meaning there's no violation of someone else's inherent rights if they're all adults if they're all consenting then there's no no harm no foul it is a right that being said I think that the people who are so attached to want to control other people's body and mind are going to basically have there will be blowback from that and they'll try to shut this down you know as they always do because their will to control is so strong and they're so disease than sick they're gonna keep coming and coming and coming and coming because they actually believe they own other people's body and minds they believe they are our owners that's all this ultimately comes down to and I don't think that that's even going to be sufficient to just get around them at a technological level I personally think eventually someone is going to have to stand up to these people let them know 100% openly and forcefully we are not your slaves you do not own us I own my body I own my mind I am the one who experiences my own consciousness and therefore I may do with it as I choose so long as I am harming no one else and I'm going to stop you in whatever way I need to employ to stop you from abusing and usurping other people's rights because you are not in the right to do that you have no right there is no inherent legitimacy for you to stop anybody from exploring their consciousness as they see fit so long as they are harming no one else that is not a human right and it needs to be stopped people not only need to try to do end runs around these people or ignore them they when they see rights being abused they need to actually stop people from doing that behavior because to just continue and allow that behavior to go on unchecked is not it is wrong in and of itself its participation in or wrong you're watching somebody else do harm and you're sitting there and ultimately doing nothing and that's why I think there needs to be even stronger pushback against people who say no you don't have a right to explore your consciousness as you will we do it's a natural inherent right it is a right that is given by the creator of the universe and no man or group of men or women can take it away the end so I guess you could say I support efforts like that you know I I don't see any moral reason that doing something like that is wrong so um that's my take on on that yeah yeah no it's tough it's great that people are fighting back in their power in the technology and everything just synergistically working together and people just not waiting on the sidelines saying hey we're not going to wait for the government or whoever we're gonna create our alternative systems to combatants and you know they created the internet through DARPA and you know I'll take nothing else Rockefellers words you know he said we should have never created the internet so they created it we use it against them and I feel like we have to do that in every front you know it's same with YouTube they're censoring a lot of videos but it's still where most people get their videos and you know I'm happy you got kind of YouTube channel an outside I subscribe to that so thank you for having me on in Florida absolutely thanks so much great call okay I mean when I agree that that I believe there are positive uses of technology to get around the types of control that people believe they have a right to and have absolutely no right to I think ultimately what we need is a whole lot more confrontation with dominators who actually believe that things that they do are their rights to do when in fact they have zero right to do what they're doing see no police officer can ultimately be a moral human being blanket statement folks get as offended about it as you like blanket statement if you're a cop you're not a moral human being no truly moral human being throughout history has ever been a cop upon becoming truly moral if one was a cop they have to stop being a cop the end that is a blanket statement extreme absolute truth why because a cop by definition is the follower of orders called laws which are arbitrary dictates of men that do not always align with morality with the laws of nature with the laws of right and wrong under the creator of the universe therefore they're saying this arbitrary dictate is law now and I am a follower of the people who dictated this law court unquote therefore I'm going to now enforce I'm going to use force against anybody who is going against this arbitrary dictate so if I see somebody driving down the road and they're not operating their vehicle in properly you know they're not operating their car improperly they're just simply traveling on their way and they have a substance that I deem that the law quote/unquote has deemed isn't is off-limits for human consumption consumption and ownership then I get to physically stop them physically take their freedom away find them demand money of them demand their property take what is theirs take their property from them the nerve of this attitude this is violence and people can't see it because they're so brainwashed they initiated force when they had no right to initiate force because no but because no one else was being harmed the only time anyone has a right to initiate force is when someone is being harmed and you are attempting to stop that harm from continuing then you have a right to initiate force you never have a right to initiate violence because violence by definition is the initiation of force that you had no right to initiate see the differences who started the force if you're the one who started who or initiated the force you're not in the right there is not a right to begin using force when no harm was taking place and this is what every single cop throughout history does not understand and the people who support police and support military they don't understand the non-aggression principle they don't understand that none of this is a right it's always based on violence the entire institution of police is based upon violence because all enforcement of law are enforcement's of arbitrary dictate you do not need law enforcers you need people who are willing to exist in harmony with natural law and if people abuse them people in the community already possess the right to stop them from doing it the problem is they want to shirk their personal responsibility and hand it off on to someone else and say no you act as the protectors of society and people will say well then all people would be doing is for trying to protect what they already own in their own prime maybe that's what it would be but why would it be like that because you didn't educate people from the beginning about what a right is and what a right is not it isn't because human nature is so bad that people the majority of people would just act as complete lunatic animals and go and steal rape and pillage that is not human nature and anybody that believes that it is is sick themselves with a poisoned worldview it's the current condition of ignorance about what a right is and what a right is not and that not being drilled hammered into the brain into the mind into the psyche of the youth from the time they're out of the womb and people will say well isn't that mind-control yes it is ladies and gentlemen and I've said it before on the show that's the proper use of the influence of the other of another person's mind you start when that computer called the brain as young and you have to put proper software into it the problem is we have viruses we have virus programs running in the brain in the computer called the brain right now as an entire society as an entire species because proper software wasn't loaded when we were zeros six years old when the brain is a completely absorptive computer taking in everything all stimuli from its environment practically unfiltered and accepting it running it through that computer that's how the brain operates at a very young age they call it the formative years why do you think they call it the formative years ladies and gentlemen what's being done is a format of the hard drive a format that's why it's called format of years format --iv formative the format is being done to the harddrive formatting a hard drive is setting up the file system so then it can accept an operating system and it can accept software see the whole analogy to the computer system to the matrix is so relevant to the actual reality of this world and people don't think about it at that level because this all is a computer folks if you haven't figured that out yet you're living in a quantum hologram it's a quantum computer that's what you're living in that's what the whole experience of life is all about and if you don't believe that if you don't accept that as true then I would suggest that dimethyltryptamine might be able to help you out our friend Demetri might be able to render his services for you okay and he'll show you that this is a quantum hologram very very abruptly he will show you that okay and those who have who have been there understand exactly what I'm saying you'll know you're living in a quantum hologram believe me but see that that's the problem people are attached to this notion that they're distorted perceptions are reality and they're attached to the notion that because some six psychopathic lunatics calling themselves lawmakers told them so that they have rights that they don't have like to take people and take their freedom because they're engaging in a substance in their own body or even perhaps dealing with another human being you know and and and conducting a voluntary transaction of a substance that harmed no one else that both parties were fully consensual for you know they had fully had their consent on both sides there's no violence no violation but the word violence is based on violation the violation of another person's rights has to have taken place in order for there to be violence so who's initiating violence the police are when they try to take someone's property away or someone's freedom away because they're engaging in a consensual or nonviolent behavior it's absurd anybody that can't see the absurdity on the face of it for the drug laws is undermined control and guess what I was once under that level of mind control I actually believed in drug laws years and years ago in my youth I thought it was right I thought it was acceptable you know I had to admit I was wrong a long long time ago I had to admit that I was wrong and see it from a perspective of rights of natural law forget man's law from a perspective of morality is it right for another human being to engage in violence against someone else because you don't approve of their behavior that's consensual and not harming anybody else of course that's not a right to do so all police are engaged in this even just by being in the police force you're you're part of an organization of a structure of a strata of society of an institution that supports violence against other people and therefore you cannot be considered a moral human being it is an impossibility for you to make the claim I'm moral when you support violence no one who supports violence can be a true moral human being and in order to stop supporting that you would have to walk away from that the answer is quit your job literally it isn't about trying to you know just say to other people hey this is wrong maybe we shouldn't be doing this it's about saying I'm not gonna be used for this purpose under any circumstances no matter how much I'm paid and therefore withdraw withdraw support that's the answer in every situation where there is injustice where there is a wrong taking place simply withdraw your support from it and stop engaging in that behavior that's the answer and that is that hard yeah you damn better well believe that can be very hard to do is it a simple solution it is very simple realizing what the solution is is not hard is not difficult to recognize but doing it is the hard part the willpower to actually do that because of all the attachments that are entailed that go along with working in this position that this has become your identity you're surrounded with certain kinds of friends you have a certain lifestyle and a home and a family etc and therefore all these these attachments come into play and then somebody just becomes committed to just doing what they know is wrong and that makes it doubly worse and I'll bet you there's a lot of cops out there who know what they're doing is ultimately wrong in a violation of a right they're not so brainwashed to believe that this is actually good what they're doing that they're acting they actually have a right they know that and still do it which makes it willful partition participation in evil and that is what has to ultimately stop and if they're not going to stop it on their own I suggest that other people have the right to stop them from doing what they're doing we're coming up to the 2-minute station break we'll be right back and we'll continue with your calls on the other side of the break you're listening on what to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting we'll be right back [Music] I was born a shotgun in my hands behind the girl I'll make my day [Music] that's why they call me [Music] how appropriate just as I was talking about the fact that there may come a time to have to physically stop people from abusing other people's rights that song plays and like I said and have said many many weeks on this show every single piece of effort that I put behind anything I do whether it be my presentations my videos this radio show all of the information that exists on my website everything I do in personal interactions and communications with other people is 100 percent all of it is geared toward attempting to stop or prevent that eventualities I am doing this to try to raise conch to raise consciousness to a level such that we don't have to have a hot revolution I don't know whether it's working so well folks though you know the more and more I see the state of people's consciousness out there in the world is it changing yes but all too slowly all too slowly and I think that the people who are still attached to the pods of the matrix so to speak they love it in that little comfortable warm pod they love being attached have all having having all of those hoses you know all of those hooks in them and they're willing to fight on behalf of the machine and so be it is what I have to say because a lot of the people in this world who do understand freedom aren't going to go quietly into the night ladies and gentlemen you can bet on it so that being said the topic for discussion today on the show is psychedelics entheogenic employment the employment of entheogenic compounds for the transformation of human consciousness regarding what last caller said about YouTube I do want to reiterate there over the next couple of weeks I'm you know working try to get some of these videos up very shortly I will have some time hopefully and I will get the matrix present up online on my YouTube channel and on my website and the presentation that I gave at the MUFON PA East Coast Conference as well I also have coming up another presentation on natural law a condensed presentation on natural law similar to what I gave a couple of years ago at survive and thrive coming up at a future survive and thrive meeting here in Philadelphia so hopefully I'll get that on tape as well and be able to put upload that to the website I think that will be very beneficial to have out there in video format and I will also be speaking I haven't announced this yet I'm gonna get all the exact details and hopefully make a public announcement next week but I'll be speaking at the Tesla memorial conference in New York City at the New York or hotel on the anniversary of Tesla's death on January 7th I'll be speaking the day before that on January 6th in New York City on Tesla and covert free energy technologies that have been hidden from the public and not brought out for reasons of control so hopefully that will also be put down on video and I'll be able to get that up on the website as well I really want to enhance the video section and start to build a little bit more on the YouTube channel so I just wanted to briefly mention that before we go back to the calls all right the calling number a toll-free eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again toll-free call to join us the topic is psychedelics and drug prohibition in general eight six six eight four one one zero six five your calls this whole hour here we go Dave in Montana you are live on what on earth is happening welcome what do you have for us good to talk to you clean leave a can of this yes a cop thought one time he had the right to smash my head against the wall and kick me in the shin me smoking plant for possessing and smoking a plant imagine that imagine clothes house you makes you threw you medicine that's right that's right but uh I called up about the psychedelics I think it's like everybody should witness a birth yes change the world I think yes the same way with psychedelics I think it's like open my heart to more love that I never experienced before can be amazing that I would something that I wouldn't attempt to think you know and stuff like that yes I was in communicate like communion with the earth because I could feel you know it shows you a penny how many perceptual blocks that we really have operating within ourselves because it opens those gates so to speak and allows information that is always all around us to be directly experienced and communed with and it shows you when you when you engage this experience it shows you how formerly shut down you really were and then hopefully we can maintain a level of openness as we go about our daily lives after that experience happens to be over but we're we're changed at a fundamental level that makes us a little bit more open to the totality of what is really there and all around us and within us opens your eyes up to the discipline of life yes it's it's so amazing how many people are just so dead set against that level of possibility it's like what do they hate so much within themselves they would make them want to lash out at somebody for just wanting an experience that is all about more connectivity to the the all to the totality of everything around them and that has the potential of making them a more empathetic and sympathetic being what would they be opposed to what could they possibly be afraid of what could they possibly fear you know it's all about them ultimately not liking who they are it's about them hating their SLOS it's a level of self-loathing has to be present in within them too for them to lash out like that against another human being just for having an experience experience and what witnessing of birth as my eyes to I think if everyone witnessed a birth by the time they were 16 years old and was part of a delivery right there would be a great great change in the world did I go through the whole life without even witnessing that anything it's like the same thing with with these like mescaline mushrooms LSD PCP that's now can I ask you a question why but you worry might in Betsy we determine I personally but that's like the mess in your mind like you were talking about you have to you have you have to have be be open kind of yes like in a good setting you know like you all you guys I was talking about before it's it's a certain level of preparation mind the work Minds me I've learned this word animosity yeah that's what it really does man it shows that we are all divine right and we all are do this divine respect that is within a soul right and namaste such a beautiful word is to recognize the divine another I recognize this and in you right I respect it and and you know - we all want liberty and freedom and these things that we're talking about brings liberty and freedom because without trust without respect without onus absolutely can I ask you something the birth that you witnessed you witnessed it in person it wasn't just you know I mean I've seen no food never witnessed an in person that must be really powerful oh man like I said there would be a better world we would live in a better world as everybody witnessed herself a human being and took part and bringing that baby into the room one there's five people in there than all the sudden six it was wonderful a lot of people think it's a bloody mess yeah but that's what life is man right oh that's what life is and we got a deal with that what looks like and if you're an adult you could you could deal with I see a lot of people don't want to leave that on the early of the mom and right so they look to the government they look to religion like real cops they're more like Sanhedrin now they're they're implementing a way of life if you don't go along with this way of life you're a sinner right back you're not going along with the religious midst a new religion exactly yes and and psychedelics also showed me that money is like the most anyone that is had the experience they may think I'm crazy because I'm telling the money is insane anyone who has had on the crazy one because I don't have gold fever anyone who's had the experience of simply even attempting to use over engage the concept of money in during the throws of a psychedelic experience well almost all agree it is the most ridiculous funny absurd thing that you have ever encountered in your life it's how much horror and evil just and then it makes you look at fractional reserve banking you know then you go over money or what's that money about then you learn about low fracture oh that's that's like money so evil and I could see right through it it shows the comedy of our whole experience it really can't you know laughter is a big part of the psychedelic experience the throes of to see insofar as you know getting the laughing fits etc and that's all I think showing us the absurdity of what we have built up around us and out of all possibility that we could have made we chose to make this prison you know it is and it shows yes bid of your existential angst I have called it or your existential doubt you know believing that you are simply the body and and the mind you know you are the the thoughts you know it can get rid of that it can show you that you're something far beyond all of that and you are one with consciousness at a unified field level of reality itself you know that you're you know really at one with the all if you get a powerful enough experience if you you know engage it in a certain frame of mind that can become the experience and for those anyway you don't really need them drugs to do that right exactly it shows you the way yes and it gives me a glimpse into the unseen like the spirit a lot of people think it exists you know but those are the people I think that are caught up into the physical because there's the seen and the unseen and and get a little glimpse into the unseen and sometimes you don't want to see what's in you and seeing because it's you sure sure I think that's again a lot of the reason that many people will dabble in the psychedelic experience but they won't really do much work as a result because they don't want to see what it has to show them about themselves ultimately this is all about self-knowledge and it's what these things are really doing is they're they're forcing us to deal with ourselves at some level you know I don't want us awake they don't want they want us to think that der to God their money is to God in their ways to way so of course people wouldn't you know who are in positions of control and power don't want anybody experimenting with something that can really show you the true nature of reality and the true nature of yourself they want you to continue to exist and therefore psychedelics draws you to earth and you know who is the one that gives us life and the son short dear well you brought up some great points on that very very large it's great talk and you you let me speak my mind you take care of my friend and I I think you have a really really great point of witnessing a birth could really totally help wake up a lot of people because they would you know be able to see that that divine expression you know in all of us through the actual birthing process so really great call and a lot there to consider a lot there to uh to ponder okay let's go to another caller area code 9 0 5 9 0 5 you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hi mark Canada I'm sorry and I think that your name book Lucas Canada Lukas welcome I um today I want to know if it's alright if I go over my dimethyltryptamine experience and salutely hopefully gave your interpretations of it absolutely that's what we want okay so first right after I took the DMT I started feeling a tingly adrenaline rush okay and then I saw vivid colors and sharp edges then all of a sudden patterns started coming up yes Saturn is that were like all encompassing yes then I became a part of the pattern and then there was eyes in the pattern and they seemed feminine and they're looking at me and then the pattern started moving and then I was moving with the pattern Wow and then I felt like I was good and I felt like I was glitching and then um yeah I felt like I was glitching and um I was losing all perceptions so like left right up down we're all collapsing in on each other um I saw my like I saw a bunch of numbers going across the screen like I was glitching in a computer Wow and then I thought I saw my skull and then like some a third person perspective right it kind of like let go like it was it does and I had my last breath and then all these like light alt light just left me like it was like I was made out of like legging it was all leaving me and I was all in darkness I was kind of sad because I thought I'd died and then I I guess I like I was I was just floating in space at that point and then I felt like I was in a rollercoaster like it was bringing somewhere through space sure it was it wasn't intense but then I was moving towards something I the only way that I could describe it as a highly advanced collective database and I felt like I was I was a storage like saved file on it and then it showed me like my I guess my file wouldn't complete like that's the only way I interpreted it was showing me like I don't like a file or a battery of some sort and was like green on the inside but it wasn't cold yeah but I thought it was like it's not like I'm not dead you know and then I went into the the database and then it was an entity of itself and then I was still moving towards it like God all I thought was like a blue light and then I was running by like these blue or clear loving entities commands they're they're just they're just showing you like love and then I recognized the police before I like I knew I've been there before I guaranteed I was laughing I was how and I was like huh I've been there before I've been here before and then they brought me into like a white box like a giant white box and then the feminine entities like left me and then I was a swirling ball of like blue light in the middle of the the white box and the boxes they look transparent like there's a lot of other boxes surrounding and then a black and white face popped up on the screen and one color was like inverting and yet one was like expanding and he felt like well it felt all powerful and it could be scary and dangerous to mess with but I felt like it was like loving and kind at the same time and I showed a bit of fear and then it like it sucked up like my fear like it ate my fear like I don't know it was like yeah I don't know how to really explain it but it was the fear of sand disappeared and then I felt like get it pardon I'm sorry it's amazing the level of clarity you were able to remember the the experience and the the progression of the experience in usually it's more hazy for people but that's great that yeah what did you happen to write it down like after it happened is that how you wrote yeah I had a yeah I had a recorder going so right when I came out I started but I recorded it that's a great way to do it yeah okay yeah continue I just wanted to clarify that but and then I felt like he liked that entity like that was on the front screen of the box looking at a block and wait I felt like it had expectations on me like I was like mighty at some point right now I felt like really embarrassed like I don't know I didn't know what to say and I felt really awkward and then he just kept laughing at me like it just just kept laughing at me I didn't understand and then I kind of felt like I was at its heel like I was a like a dog kind of in a submissive you know like head down and he was kind of like the more like I don't like above like looking at me you know like on a higher level and then and then then since I didn't say anything like I felt like I was leaving and then I think he ate me but then I I saw like black and white flashing like checkerboard and then I was always leaving like I didn't want to waste my time because I wanted to say something and I said I'd help defeat the New World Order and then I was like spinning out of it like in a vortex and he was laughing at me and I felt like everything had been predetermined like everything I don't just didn't feel like I don't know and then I felt like getting more in contact with my body or like a vortex feeling and then I thank the spirits for my experience I felt very clammy and like I was a like a big energy conductor like I was a big watery energy conductor like my body and then I just felt more in touch with life and like less stressful and everything Wow now this as seemingly bizarre as it seems to people is somewhat typical of the strangeness of a really deep experience with dimethyltryptamine what would be considered a breakthrough experience with complete with entities I liked at the beginning how you described that the geometries that you were seeing became you became that you were like at one during the entire thing this is something I've experienced during the employment of dimethyltryptamine as well that it's all one substance if you will that you're visually seeing a representation of in the throes of the experience because I think what that is is you're seeing the unified field level of consciousness and it's all one thing but presenting itself in different forms or structures or geometries and the the entities that you encountered I feel are representations of the higher self and they're they're beings they're presences that are there to alert you to certain work or changes that perhaps you have to work on in yourself and I think you becoming the the submissive dog is you saying I'm open to the work that I still need to do and I am willing to do that it isn't that you know you were like in a challenging position with him it was like them saying well you know you were saying that you were under them and they were over you so I look at like that is like your lower will is saying I'm willing to do the higher wills work the higher wills bidding the bidding of the higher self you know to help raise consciousness up and defeat this dark cabal that you know you as you said you called the New World Order and basically I think it the laughter is all about the the Divine Comedy the the absurdity of everything that we've built up around ourselves and how really what we need to do is simply take a step back from it take a look at it and realize the absurdity of it and then leave it let it go release it release attachment to it so many people don't have that connection with that you know complete absurdity of what we've built up around us that they are still in that serious frame of mind to believe oh that all of this stuff that we think is real actually is real you know and it matters and it has to be protected and we have to make people conform like the gentleman on the last call said it's a new religion and it's all about making people accept that making them conform to it and I think an experience like this shows you how important the release from attachment is and what you're ultimately doing in releasing from that attachment is you're stepping into the slipstream of the higher will and then the journey of life becomes more enjoyable bearable tolerable and you know that what you're doing is geared toward the the the higher will and it's geared toward the right you know so that's to me is my interpretation I'm an experience like that but in all honesty no one can really interpret your experience but yourself and it sounds like you've integrated it very well there's you know the that after experience known as integration where you have to really attempt to make sense of what you were shown because what you were shown doesn't necessarily translate in this world you know you have to revisit it mentally and go back over it again and again and you know take a deeper look at some of the symbolism or geometries or presences that you experienced in the throes of the experience or the trip and again travel you like you you said you were traveling that's another big motif in the DMT experience of actual travel you know from one place they would not yes so um it sounds like you did a lot of good preparatory work your set and setting was very good and you integrated the experience very well especially through writing down you know actually taking a pen and paper and writing the experience down afterward so that you could have clarity because the freshest that's going to be is as soon as you come out of it and that's the time to record it and that's something I didn't really take work to do I have a fairly decent memory which you know I'm lucky to have but I wish I would have even written down some of my experiences right after because it does seem that they really dissipate very quickly almost as if a dream right after you're out of the experience so that's something the I think you did that is very good that other people should take note of to thank you and just a little thing like I remember Terence Mckenna he had a quote saying that uh dimethyltryptamine was like divine wisdom falling through the cracks of your fingers yeah yeah exactly yes it dissipates very quickly once you know the the experience is wearing off it's it's like a dream leaving you that you're you know struggling to remember kind of hazy even though the experience is very vivid and distinct you know afterward it's it's very difficult to remember or to really attempt to make sense of and again I think that's why it's a good technique to use an audio recorder or to have some form of note-taking capability by your side so that you can you know put as much down as you can and then go over it so that is an awesome experience report I want to thank you for sharing that did you have anything else for us no Beth oh thank you very much absolutely : great colleague and it gives people a little bit of a verbal um you know ability of through words to try to put it into words for people to take in the experience from a verbal point of view and what I would say is of course words are always going to fall short when it comes to such a deep level experiences of the psyche so the only way to really understand what this experience can show you is to engage it and that has to be done in a respectful way and let go of fear and simply want to engage in an experience that can show you some higher aspect of the self if you so wish to see it and what I would suggest for people is to go and read and listen and watch other people's experience reports you can go to youtube and type in DMT experience you know DMT report you know DMT type DMT experience reports ayahuasca experience reports on the web read the experiences see what other people are encountering and that won't necessarily color your experience I found that even engaging in the experience multiple times with similar substance it can be completely diff each time and have a completely different motif and a completely different message for you for me it was different every single time and I've seen other people that will say the same thing that they'll pull different things from the experience at different times that they did it around different situations with different people so it's a unique experience it's tailored for you it's personalized for you there's a message in it for you and ultimately you know you can go to other people for their interpretations but ultimately the introspective work that you do to decode the experience that's what it's all about and it's there for you so again thanks for the very interesting report and a very detailed vivid a recollection so thanks for that let's go to another call and see what we have here area code two six nine you're live on what on earth is happening two six nine welcome to the show what do you have for us hello mark yes thank you for doing what you do who we speak wanted pardon me who are we speaking with my name is Kyle Kyle welcome thank you I just wanted to relate a healing experience I had entheogens sure a number of years ago I had a near fatal asthma attack okay and and was hospitalized and intubated and while I was so I went through this experience for ten days and then I was I was thought to I was it was assumed I would die and somehow I came out of it and sometime after that I was around a group of friends who began to tell me that while I was in the hospital they were sexually abusing me Wow while I was being intubated and so it is I mean you talk about mind body consciousness and natural law every one of those was violated in just just in being told this and I've always been an intuitive person who's been very you know giving and and so I began to feel very betrayed by this circle of friends that were telling me this right and and at first they were telling this I thought it was some kind of a joke and because this particular hospital I was in was he had a very open attitude about allowing people to visit and you know they were very loose about allowing friends and and family to visit okay you know I don't really have a family you know my family I always thought my family was my friends and so they began telling me one after the other that they were abusing me in various ways while I was under the influence of whatever drug they were keeping me under while I was intubated Wow and just began to freely break me down hello did we lose you know I'm just having trouble talking about I've never talked about this before and I began to realize that all these people that I thought were I trans warrants because what friends would say that to you right and so anyway one more time went on and I you know just kind of sucked it up and dealt with that and I put these people behind me and um not not as far as they should have been behind me at the time and then I went on I went to Europe to do some work and and then I experienced DMT while I was in England okay and that began to open doors to make me realize that that these people were sick sure they were saying and and it began to uh it really helped me and and the more you know and and when I came back I I began to experiment with more entheogens and it's it's I just wanted to say that that it's it's been very healing for me at least to understand the sick the sickness of the people that would say this to me you know as helpless as I was tell me that and I don't know it's very it's very difficult to talk about I've never spoken about it before so these words have never really you know passed my lips before so it's you know as I'm getting a little emotional ISM oh that's fine that's understandable but the the experience of looking at it from a different perspective through the use or the employment of the antigenic substance really helped go a long way toward your healing and actually moving past and you know and getting over the the trauma of that experience would you say that that's yes it yes mark it really helped me get past that I mean I mean there were several elements one of these people were my employer okay Oh ever since then I'm not I'm no I've not been employed for several years I mean it's in many ways the whole thing destroyed my life and and left me you know without many friends really even to this day and this is writing six years ago this happened and you know I found myself rather removed from the rest of the world because of that and but I will say so I was I was I you know I began to shake uncontrollably at one point and I really at the time it started happening I didn't really know what caused it I just started shaking and so I saw a doctor and he put me on some antidepressant medication mm-hmm this only made things worse sure I think citalopram was the drug I was put on but yet thankfully they want people on these substances to numb out the emotions so that they can't actually come to a level of empathizing and come to a level of deeper understanding through work within the self of you know the imbalances that do exist both within themselves and other people they just want people ignoring that and pushing it away pushing it away and not being able to experience the emotions which is the worst thing you could possibly do because those are our guidance system for the proper direction that we need to go in life as far as compassion and empathy toward other people goes so I assume you eventually worked or weaned your way away from those compounds and you know really did that the internal work that you needed to do with you know with yourself your own consciousness your you know working through these issues within exploring you know again the underlying reasons and imbalances that these people did what they did and hopefully coming to you know some level of being able to you forgive at a higher level and then move on with you know your life for yourself but you you eventually weaned off of these antidepressants that these doctors had you on well I was on the citalopram and it really made me worse right because there was an inner an inner force that was causing me to break through whatever mask the pharmaceutical was trying to plan yes yes and so it broke out even more so I finally and then people kept true these people actually had the nerve to keep ribbing me about this and in my it did this bled into my entire social life and I finally went to the police it made me feel like I was raped I mean here I was intubated and helpless and I actually began to remember things and whatever medication they had me on and that's another discussion I was traveling through time on this stuff and and all sorts of things but when I finally came out of it you know when I finally came out from under the citalopram I went to the police was who laughed at me and and then they investigated it but only on the most perfunctory level and it was kind of you know it just didn't go anywhere and I felt like you know I shouldn't have I just it just drove me to crazy point so I finally turned to because it was hard to find any and I had remembered when I was younger taking certain entheogens like mushrooms and things like that and now of course it's difficult to come by these things some insurances of course but I didn't want to make it as difficult as possible well they sure did and but I'll tell you our healing substance that I found was something invented by Sasha Shulgin who was who I'm sure you know I'm talking worse who was experimenting with synthetic forms of mescaline and one of his synthetic forms of mescal a substance called 2c e right and twos bi well I found to see I was an extremely healing substance it was the best thing I could come to you know to getting my hands on legally because a number couple of years ago you could actually buy that stuff right but I actually found it and got some and was working with it and it really really helped me and it helped me get off the the citalopram and and I'm obviously I'm still dealing with this ashram maybe I'll always deal with this satanic situation that was being imposed on me but at least I think what these substances helped you to do is build up your own will to actually deal and confront the situation instead of numbing out the emotions that the situation may have made you feel and I think that's better than you know doing nothing or just accepting what conventional quote medicine is going to give you in the way of antidepressants you know that that means you're not actually dealing with the root causal factor of the trauma you're just burying it and masking the symptoms so that you're closing receptor sites so you can't experience those emotions and that's always a bad thing because those emotions are there for a reason and ultimately to do the work to deal with that shadow material with that darkness is uh will bring you through the experience stronger on the other side so it sounds like that you're it sounds like that is what happened ultimately with you and you came out on the other side stronger as a result in spite the experience right I really did and and you know I'm it's it's an ongoing work and you know I'm I'm getting better and I feel better about it I'm glad I was able to talk to you about it to the extent that I've been able to communicate it and sure well I want to thank you for for sharing the experience we've had so many great calls and uh you know that takes a lot of courage to open up about a traumatic experience and share with how entheogens helped you to move through that and you know like I said emerged stronger on the other side very much so thank you Mark you got a thanks Kyle for the call and for sharing that experience Wow we've had some great calls here today so far and that was really uh you know again took a lot of courage for someone to come out and relate a traumatic experience like that but that is the power of some of these compounds they can really help us to engage the emotions and work through something that has been traumatic and you know show us deeper levels of ourselves and even confront the all-powerful but very difficult work of you know moving past something that has been extremely painful for us also forgiveness can be incorporated in that as well which is a big part of moving through trauma so a very very interesting call there let's move on to another caller let's hear from Nathan in Arizona Nathan you're live on what on earth is happening welcome I'm well I just a couple things I'd like to bring to light be honored uns recent research anybody you know it seems like it's created quite a wedge and then psychedelic community and I really think you know we want to just point out that without critical thinking you know psychedelics have been used for manipulation and be done right and yeah and it has been well I don't write and John Irvin is gonna be there for long conference right sure yes yeah you know I I have countless experiences throughout my teens and twenties I have a family so you know pretty much pretty much now but I'm frustrated with the fact that they are scheduled one most long to do drugs and we can't get proper research we cannot get proper set in settings and our mind our minds as the general public have you know we haven't been provided we've been provided compulsory curriculum you know like Russian education system all these years and generations have gone by and critical thinking everybody puts their logic before their grammar and to really get the full potential out of an experience or a psychedelic re experience if you don't have proper filters installed from you know the Trivium and quadrivium right it's not putting the cart before the horse more or less you know I think that's really really haven't gotten as much you know we really have not been able to progress and the most important area that we need to progress I think as a species so I would like to just say you know like a guy was talking earlier about some seeing the birth of a of a human being happy sure you know would it be too much to say what's everybody you know that the chat all these experiences consider I mean all we all view we all have most of us sometimes fine but really this um you know if we want it to not be expendable one animal to drug we want to be criminalized all these these things that can actually get real progress and not in this world but and I guess maybe the kingdom from within actually letting it come out you know maybe we should all be a little bit more summer in determined and use that determination to really figure out what it is to be liberated what it is to be independent from and I don't know that that's the only thing I have so many experiences that I can share with you guys I'm sure well I think I think those are all really great valid points and you know we have to be aware that yes anything can be used for good or ill depending on whether it is being used for its intended purpose or whether it is being abused used in the wrong way for methods of control I think there's probably many other things that have worked more effectively for control of in the dominators toolset than psychedelics television being the biggest drug in the world I think the most abused drug on earth is television and television is a drug that's something that people would not consider a drug and it is and these things which are psychedelics and and entheogens which many people would consider drugs I don't consider drugs I consider television a deeper hardcore drug than any entheogenic compound in the world personally and that's a drug that most people are hooked on and you know couldn't put down for a day without serious withdrawal that's a mind-control drug you know they're being fed a specific version of reality that they're addicted to that they are hooked on and you know it is about breaking those attachments and absolutely what you said is valid you have to go in with knowledge you can't you know the like you said people put the logic before the grammar and that can't be done you have to gather your information first ladies and gentlemen don't step into something blind do your homework do your research the reason people have experimented with certain things and put out information there is so other people won't necessarily have to take the torturous route route of trial and error and you know self-experimentation and you know making a whole lot of painful mistakes you can gain a lot of knowledge simply by doing your own homework on all of this material and entering into the experience in an informed way so that's really good advice as well regarding um you know the infighting that you were talking about in the psychedelics community about who's involved with what and you know whether somebody was genuine not every single person is going to have the full picture there are statements people are going to be made that are wrong that are based on their worldview not being you know fully healed and intact there are also you know you know things regarding um you know what is actually going on in the world the people have wrong or could have bought into that are put out there by others but that doesn't necessarily make one you know an agent of the dark side either so I think we have to engage you know logical filters there as well to say okay someone might have held this opinion which is kind of similar to an opinion of one of the dark you know side but that doesn't necessarily make them one of them it just might make them uninformed or wrong about that particular aspect that they happen to be talking about so I mean that's what I try to also caution people to just because you don't agree with what one person says doesn't make them working for you know a you know a mind-control operation or you know means that they're their it shadow op insiders it simply means they might not be correct about that one aspect of reality that they're talking about at the time and their worldview may not be fully healed and integrated so that's another thing I think we should be careful about but all really great valid points especially the part that you bring up about really you know doing your homework knowing what you're getting into before engaging it and that's all openly available to us at this time in history through that little thing called the internet if we use it properly as a tool you know for our edification and our uplift in conch so thanks so much for the call nation real Nathan really are great points that you are brought up for consideration so thanks let's let's take another call at area code 6:02 I'm sorry six one seven six one seven you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hey Mark my name is Brandon Harry hey Brandon how are you coming in loud and clear alright great I just wanted to thank you for didn't listening to the show since the very beginning and he's taking me through quite the journey my friend so um during supporter of everything you do you're so passionate about everything and you use open my eyes to symbol literacy which I really wasn't getting but uh so I just wanted to thank you but honor blossom I appreciate that very much thank you yeah I start trying to pull you up here in Boston as much as I can but uh you know the prints of the fliers around the colleges for the free of mind to conference but uh I wanted to talk about it in Jim's stay on topic here sure what I would have experienced as a friend who you talking about that that crucial chakra let's say part moment where it's me and Joseph Campbell talked about this where you can either go up or down right you cannot invade it or you can how to go to the deep level of it and I'm a friend we're kind of opposite I'll take the anti Asians and I'll go inner and I want complete darkness I want to talk and have a anion battle conversation with and symbiotic entity that is exactly as it seems like you know they have a pattern to almost a scientifically verifiable method it can be falsified you know all these different things about it but a great whereas he he doesn't really want he's afraid of going down I think it's not the heart chakra but one was astonish opera he's afraid of going below and really facing the demons that are within himself so what he does is he opens his eyes he runs around and you know plays gaining those push-ups and runs up mountain yeah that's all great and great experience nature and touch and feel and see all these great things and stuff and but I mean I think the real way to do it the proper setting is to experience and high doses and complete silence and documents and yes many advocate that approach yes yeah yep and what I've learned is you know when I was that first time have it's me I started to get nauseous and I ran to the hillside just kind of collapsed that's what I was going to die and then I heard a buzzing in my ear kind of kind of lose almost like at home who is this got really loud and after that I love solids and almost in tears and I close my eyes and the darkness all of a sudden I could I could focus on little little pieces of light and when I did they became clear and they trance into those photonic solids that we talked about they overlapped each other and they were geometric and I realized it was an entity and and I laughed and the first thing I said was there you are that's the thing I've been looking looking for for my whole life it was right there and Brayton between my temple very my eyes between my eyes so well another thing that's my experience is not one more thing is it something it brings to that archetype what a level as well you get to see people as archetypes and friends right that I turn old man at one point I think it is a important thing about you know stimuli during a trip or experience but I setting setting should be really reverential to the to the the plants or substance itself and you know because we really don't know too much let me know a lot but we don't know too much and I and it has to be combined with some sort of other spiritual practice whether it be you know some kind of meditation or you know even if it's you know read again you're not going to read anymore sure my meditate is reading and I think you know if you don't combine spiritual practice with infusion the combination of both is great but if you just go would be anything agent you get things like burning and yeah you'll end up with a right brained form of chronic imbalance if you did only that with no you know other practice like you're talking about we maintaining balance is the key here and again these are the most transformative to those who are already in a left brain overly five sense attached a worldview that left brain modality that when it's chronically dominant one becomes like a Dominator or you know you know overly analytical logical and and you know not engaging enough in the intuitive and in the creative aspects of life and in the nurturing and empathic side of the personality so that's those are the people I think that it can have the greatest benefit for if they're open-minded enough to give it a chance to and it can work wonders on them if they have that open minded approach but I agree it is not simply to engage over and over and over just because you feel like doing it and therefore you know can put you if you did were to do that in order to use it in some form of escapist means it can put you toward that right brain form of imbalance in which case you're not really paying attention to much of what's really going on around you and you end up not caring because you're like drifting in some sort of a spiritual haze or fuzziness that is there's no grounding in the real world then you know right and I'll give it just a really quick example this this friend of mine they were always opposites he went up to a place in California to paying a canyon right off the cliff some mouth called it's called tribal laces this big kind of Burning Man 13 acre Indian Reservation place so we went there and did took some do Jennings and I sat there and I sat in one room in one position and you could hear every little noise making of from I mean it was a whole village can make the sense is extremely acute you know yeah and this is assume the mites nature he's sorry but he just he he we came in he was so loud he was like looking at Hey look at this look at Matt he's like you know what no look I'm gonna do it you're doing I'm gonna sit and meditate right and that's the you can't will you don't will yourself humidity I'm so first laughing to myself and then men blown behold a person came up and said me shut up no we're trying to sleep and I said man he was very much aware of what happened right right yeah it can definitely in that heightened state and get you to a tune your sense is with nature and again it can also expose things that you are doing that you're not consciously aware of and you know expose that and then make you aware of your own behavior and how you might need to make course-correct mints or adjustments to that behavior so I want to thank you for sharing that experience and we're running almost out of time here on the show us a minute left but so thank you so much for the call and all really phenomenal calls the whole show today uh the the listeners who called in I want to thank for sharing their experiences with us and bringing up some really valid points remember this is all about use versus abuse and understanding the proper calm that the sacred context the conscious context to employ these powerful transformative tools in it's all about personal responsibility and ultimately it's all about self ownership
